BED WETTING: I have a son 14 years old who still wets his bed. The doctor claims he is physically okay and will eventually outgrow this distressing habit. Is there any way in which I can help him over this embarrassing period in his life?

Answer: Our doctors say that bed wetting at this age is a nervous habit. They advise no liquids after 5 p.m. and suggest an entire change in his way of life. Even a change from one bedroom to another might help. They all say—Don't scold but encourage.

INK: I've a child's pink cotton broadcloth dress, marked with blue ink. Can this be taken out?

Answer: Washing with soap and warm water will sometimes remove ink from washable fabrics. If this fails, pour glycerine on the stained area and rub lightly between the fingers. Rinse and keep applying glycerine until no more ink comes from the stain. Rinse thoroughly.

UPSIDE DOWN COATS: Of your broadcast you suggested hanging a fur coat upside down in the frost to help the sheen. How on earth can you hang a coat upside down?

Answer: Two or three clothes pins a line, and hang it by the skirt. That does the trick. Fold a piece of wax paper over each pinning section so the pins won't mark the fur.

CHEWING GUM: How can I remove chewing gum from clothing without spoiling it? The dress is wool gabardine.

Answer: When the fabric is non-washable, place it in the refrigerator overnight; the low temperature will make the gum brittle. Scrape off the brittle gum and sponge the spot with carbon tetrachloride.

Airborne Hunter Game Threat

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 — (CP). — The airborne hunter and fisherman, becoming more common in Canada in recent years, should cause "tremendous damage" to the wildlife of Canada, a government expert said Tuesday.

Dr. Harrison Lewis, chief of the Resources Department Wildlife Division, told the Dominion-Provincial conference on tourist trade that more direct control was needed over the use of airplanes to get into inaccessible game areas.

Aircraft, he said, enable many hunters and fishermen "to reach easily all the remaining vrigin areas that have hitherto been natural sanctuaries for game and fish."

This method of hunting enables "hunters and fishermen, in out-of-the-way places, to carry on their operations without surveillance....to spot large game from the air, so that they can land nearby and shoot it...."

Youths Freed By Magistrate

Five youths were freed on charges of vagrancy and carrying offensive weapons by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC in police court Tuesday.

The five were Gerard Clancy, 12, charged with carrying a knife with intent to do injury; Norman Howard, 19, charged with carrying knuckle dusters with intent to do injury; and Ronald Gilmour, 20. Albert O'Dette, 17, and Ted Bosley, 17, all charged with vagrancy.

The charges arose from an incident early Sunday morning in a downtown restaurant. Police were called by the proprietors about .10 a.m. who complained a group of four youths were causing a disturbance in the restaurant.

Some of them had been chased out by the threat of police about 1.30 a.m. Sergeant Leo Murphy testified when he arrived at the restaurant he went directly to the table where the youths were sitting. He said he saw the front of Clancy's jacket open, the flash of a knife blade and then a knife being tossed on the floor. He recovered the knife on the floor under the table.

Howard was wearing one knuckle duster and had another in his pocket when arrested. O'Dette was picked up about two blocks away from the restaurant a little later.

Magistrate Philp said although there was no doubt two were carrying offensive weapons, the crown had not proved an intent to do injury and dismissed the charges on that ground.

The magistrate, dismissing the charges warned them. "Some think they have an inherent right to go into Chinese restaurants, create a disturbance and annoy other customers, but they don't. When ordered to get out of a restaurant, it is your duty to do so."

In dismissing the charge of carrying knuckle dusters with intent to do injury, the magistrate said to Howard, "I am not dismissing the charge through any sympathy with you."

Toys A-Plenty Now In Shops To Woo Christmas Buyers

There is no shortage of toys for Christmas this year and for the first time since before the war, mechanical toys are in abundance. Christmas sales of toys started in most Peterborough stores Saturday and Father Christmas was right on the dot making purchases well in advance. The larger stores are already playing Christmas carols on their record players and shoppers are being caught up in the atmosphere of Christmas.

Mechanically driven trains and cars are on sale again at varying prices to suit most purses. The girls will get plenty of playful practice in domestic chores for there are a number of mechanical devices such as a washing machine with wringer, an imitation electric cooker complete with oven and four burners, and a variety of pots and pans and dolls' tea sets.

Clowns, Birds, Bears

The younger children will have great fun with a plastic clown which, when wound up, spins round and round swirling his umbrella. And there is a bird who pecks when he is wound up.

Teddybears and other cuddly toys are more plentiful than last year, when the supply could not meet the demand. For between two and three dollars there are some beautifully made soft animals and then there are the more expensive ones ranging up to around $10.

One elaborate toy which would be a much prized Christmas present for most boys is a model garage complete with elevator, lubricating and wash room, a gas pump and air pump. For the girls there are some exquisite dolls houses.

Dolls Varied

Dolls are in even greater variety this year than last. Last Christmas the Wetums were all the rage. They are still to be bought but the latest in dolls is a Barbara Ann Scott doll complete with skates which can be removed from the boots. These are beautifully dressed and have attractive wigs.

There are also some rubber dolls with closing eyes.

Trucks of every description will delight the boys. Trucks with trailers, cranes and farmyard animals, ambulances and fire trucks are in sizes ranging from six inches to a foot.

Cowboy outfits and a variety of guns will provide plenty of excitement.

There are more dolls prams in the lower price category this year. For around $6 Father Christmas can buy a pram with folding hood and waterproof cover. The more elaborate ones range up to $15 and $16.

A number of tricycles and sidewalk bicycles have already been bought by early shoppers.

Prices have not changed noticeably since last year. There are plenty of inexpensive toys and among the higher priced articles are some extremely well made ones.

Helping Blockade

TORONTO, Nov. 9 (CP) — Three squadrons of Toronto-built Mosquito bombers are helping Chinese Nationalists' blockade of Communist-held ports on the Chinese mainland, a Toronto aircraft engineer said Tuesday night. The engineer, who recently was repatriated from the Orient after serving as an advisor to the Chinese Nationalist Government, declined to give his name because of his present position in Canada. The 150 war-surplus aircraft were bought in Canada nearly three years ago.

Worked For CPR 44 Years, Agent Retiring

With a perfect service record with the CPR for 44 years, Bruce Scott, agent for the company at Peterborough Station, is retiring at the end of this month. His active work terminates on Thursday, followed by three weeks' holidays beginning the leisure he has earned.

Mr. Scott joined the service in his native locality at Norwood as assistant to George Neibel, and was subsequently appointed to Lindsay, Perth and Belleville before being transferred to Peterborough 15 years ago.

From his CPR friends it was learned that Mr. Scott is leaving the company with a fine record as a thorough-going, competent employee. Likewise that is his rating with the general public, who have always found him obliging and ready to co-operate in every way.

The Peterborough station responsibility is not one of the easy spots in the CPR system.

Mr. Scott remarked this morning that he was looking forward to the approaching season of the Curling Club. Retirement would also provide him with ample time for occasional hunting trips and possibly an odd summer afternoon in paddock shade.

His many friends here will wish to congratulate him on his CPR record and extend to him their hopes for many pleasant years ahead of him.

Bail Of $10,000 Required, Douglas Charged

Bail was set at $10,000 for Jack Douglas, 37, Toronto, who was charged in police court today with being an accessory after the fact in the $100,000 Hancock swindle.

This was believed to be the largest bail set in Peterborough's police court in many years. Douglas, believed to be Hancock's right hand man, was brought to Peterborough Tuesday evening by Detective W. A. Clarke who tracked him down in Toronto.

A dark, youthful looking man, Douglas had not changed his name but he had moved to a different part of the city and did not frequent his old haunts. Police had no picture of their quarry. In police records his occupation is listed as a miner.

Douglas played third base for the Uniteds ball club, the team on which Hancock was playing-manager.

ALDERMAN RICHARD RAINE

Ald. Dick Raine Will Retire; Served 4 Years

Ald. Dick Raine will not seek re-election to the council, he told the Examiner today.

Prudence tells me that I should ease up," he said. "I'm not ill nor have I had any medical warning, but my physical reactions tell me that I have been doing too much. So, I have decided to retire from the council at the end of my second two years that are soon expiring.

"I have come to this decision reluctantly, because I have enjoyed my experience in the council. Those four years have given me a new understanding of the municipal background. It has been a pleasure to try to do something for the city and the people, and I would not like to think I was retiring for keeps.

"I shall be ready to do anything I can at all times. Maybe in another year or two I might find myself thinking of the council again."

Opportunity To Serve.

Ald. Raine said he would miss the municipal service. There was a fine satisfaction in feeling the trust of the people, in knowing that they voted for you, and expected you to do your best for them.

"I think more business men should offer themselves for civic work. I know they say they haven't enough time. A busy man has to make time he needs to give such work. When I started on the council I understood there were demands on your time, even day and night, but I managed to arrange my own affairs so that I had extra time. Many people could do that."

ALD. Raine said he was retiring with feelings of gratitude to the people for the opportunity they had given him to have a place in the city council for four years, and to take part in the administration of Peterborough.

Sale Of Poppies Brings $2,262 To Legion Fund

Receipts from the sale of poppies by the branch 52 of the Canadian Legion Saturday swelled the poppy fund of the branch to the tune of $? 262.72. This is considerably higher than last year, the Legion reports, the receipts then being about $1,700.

Officials of the Legion expressed their appreciation to the factories, the schools and the people of Peterborough for their generous donations. They also expressed their thanks to all who helped in the sale of poppies.

The $2,262 reported does not include receipts from wreaths. The sale of wreaths is still continuing and the final receipts will be announced later.

Money from the poppy fund is used to assist veterans and their families and widows of veterans who are in special need or distress. Each year the local branch of the Legion spends at least $2,000 in this work.

Fire Damage To Shop Now Set At $12,000

A revised estimate of damage to the Blackwood and Freeburn Gift and Appliance Shop, Brock and George Sts., resulting from fire Saturday morning, puts the loss at $12,000.

At first the figure was believed to be as high as $20,000.

The building proper received $7,500 damage according to the revised figures, with $3,500 on stock. Next door the millinery shop of Misses Jane and Agnes Horsfield suffered smoke damage totalling $1,000. These two proprietors are the owners of the building.

Other offices in the second storey, including that of Dr. A. H. Ball, dentist, are grimy and smoked. Loss is set at between $200 and $300.

Investigation Continues

Inspector Percy Harding of the Fire Marshal's Department and Fred Bass of the Fire Underwriters are still looking over the premises to determine the exact cause and spread of the fire. Fire Chief George Smith will issue no statement until they have given their report.

The blaze was discovered at 3:20 a.m. Saturday by Constable Donald Jones of the city police. Centering in the basement the flames crept into the back room of the shop damaging English china sets, radios, refrigerators and other electrical appliances.

Defective wiring in the basement may have been the cause of the outbreak.

Veterans Parade Friday To War Memorial

A large turnout of Army, Navy and Air Force veterans is expected at the annual Remembrance Day ceremonies Friday at the War Memorial, Confederation Park. Then veterans of both wars will give thought to their comrades who fell either in the First World War or the second world conflict.

Beginning at 9 a.m. parades will be leaving the various factories in the city converging on the parade square in front of the armouries where they will fall in column of route for their annual Remembrance Day march.

Veterans of the Western Clock Company will leave work at 9 a.m. and will parade across Hunter St. then up to the armouries. They will meet the Citizens' Band at the Ashburnham Hall and the Quaker Oats Company veterans will join their comrades from the Western Clock Company on the west side of Hunter St. bridge.

Big C.G.E. Group

One thousand veterans, the largest group to parade to the armouries, will leave the General Electric Company at 9 a.m. accompanied by their Pipe Band and the Salvation Army Band. They will parade to the armouries according to the services, Navy, Army and the Air Force. Herbert Butcher will be officer commanding this group while the Parade Sgt.-Major will be Fred Lockhart.

Otto Laderach will lead the navy contingent of veterans from the C.G.E. while the two Army groups will be under Cy Whatley and Forrest Rankin. Maurice Coderre will command the Air Force veterans.

Wreaths will be carried by the veterans for the C.G.E. and the Social and Athletic Association.

Another group from the southend, the DeLaval Company's veterans, will leave the plant at 9 a.m. and will be paraded to the armouries by the Peterborough Pipe Band.

Other companies in the city are allowing their employees, who are veterans of either conflict to leave work at 9 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. to return home to change into their parade dress.

All the companies are allowing their employees off the three hours in the morning with pay.

Annual Route March

From the armouries at 10:15 the veterans of both wars will move off for their annual route march. The parade will go down Charlotte St. to George St. and McDonnel St. to Aylmer St. to north to the War Memorial.

The wreaths will be carried during the parade, begin picked up at the armouries before 10 a.m. Legion officials say that any wreaths that are not picked up by 10 a.m. will be taken into the parade by the wreath party.

Five bands will parade the veterans, the PCVS Bugle Band, the C.G.E. Pipe Band, the Salvation Army Band, Citizens' Band and the Legion Pipe Band.

Leo Cunningham, the chairman of the Ontario Provincial Command, will be guest speaker at the annual banquet to be held in the Legion Hall at 6 p.m. Friday. About 250 veterans are expected to attend the dinner.

Young Hunters Fined

Three youths from R.R. 1, Lakefield, were each fined $10 and costs for hunting without a licence on their written pleas of guilty by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court. The three were discovered by Game Warden C. Stanley Windsor in Harvey township. They were Bert Irwin, Hugh Chesney and Murvyn Chesney.

One fan of the teams said Wednesday with larger crowds going to see the playoff games the city should help the school by supplying the bleachers for the two remaining important weekends for the football teams.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

Two cars collided as one attempted to pass another making a left turn from Lansdowne into Western Ave., Tuesday about 9:45 p.m. The driver of the car which attempted to pass, Kenneth G. Barton, Montreal, told police the other driver, Wilbert Godfrey, 922 Western Ave., had not signalled his left turn. Godfrey said he had. No one was hurt in the accident which was investigated by Constables John F. Morrow and Grant J. Gillespie.

STRIP TO BE LEASED

Nominal lease of an 18-foot strip of their frontage on the east side of Donegal St. is being arranged by the council for Canadian Ventilating Shades Company, Reid St. The company's lumber piling ground is to be enclosed with a fence, and the Donegal St. front will be improved by the planting of shrubs. The council's approval of this accommodation was given in a motion Monday by Aldermen Doug Miller and H. Dodds.

Theft Charge Dismissed

A charge against Bazel Reid, Leahy's Lane, of stealing two window frames and sashes was dismissed in a preliminary hearing by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court today.

The magistrate said there was not enough evidence linking the stolen frames with Reid to warrant a trial by judge and jury. Reid had elected trial by a higher court. The window frames and sashes, the property of contractor J. Arnold Steele, were missing Oct. 8 and discovered in a vacant field about a block away from Steele's building project on the Warsaw Road east of Nicholls Oval. The frames were not found on Reid's property.

Support From CIO Promised As Communistic Activities Of UE Leaders Discussed

By DAVE WHITE

Chargest that the UE is Communist-dominated were repeated Tuesday night at a membership meeting called by the right wing of Local 524. The rally was orderly and floor guards estimated attendance at more than 1,100. M. J. (Mike) Fenwick, district United Steelworkers of America (CIO) organizer, one of several speakers, caught the attention of the membership by stating flatly: "I stand here before you and I repeat: C. S. Jackson is a Communist. And if he doesn't like it he can sue me in court."

A large part of his speech was an account of how as a former Communist labor editor he met Jackson in Toronto and knew him to be a member of that party. The Canadian UE president attended party meetings, caucuses and conferences, he said.

Quit Party in June 1939

An admitted ex-communist who quit the party in June 1939 after a three-year membership, Fenwick said he was the Labor Editor of the now-defunct Daily Clarion. And in this capacity he was briefed on everything the Communist party wanted relating to union matters.

By Fenwick's account he first met "Red" Jackson when the latter walked into the office of the Clarion one day and introduced himself saying "Joe Salzberg sent me."

The red-haired UE boss had just been fired from Thor Electric, Fenwick related, and Salzberg (one of two Communist MPPs in Ontario) as the trade union director of the party had decided to put him to work elsewhere.

In the eyes of the Communists, he said, Jackson is "the darling of the Canadian labor movement." And he jibed at the "superman" accounts of Jackson's labor activities as related in the Tribune.

The Tribune, a weekly printed in Toronto and regarded as the voice of the LPP, could be used as a gauge to measure whether or not any particular person in the trade union movement was a Communist.

"Just watch the Tribune for a few weeks and see if his name appears," stated Fenwick.

Early in the Second World War, before the German invasion of the Soviet, Jackson was told to pull a strike in Toronto although it was against his personal wishes, the Steelworkers organizer related.

Salzsberg apparently wanted the Soviet news agency Tass to run a report on the resistance of Canadian workers to the war effort. The upshot of it was that Jackson was interned.

There were yells of delight from the right wingers when Fenwick said he was later released from interment "because he had a little pull."

"His old man, a former Fort William Mayor, was a big shot in the Liberal party, and got him out," Fenwick stated.

He concluded this part of his address with the comment: "I hope this once and for all settles the matter of whether Jackson is a Communist or not."

Communism Big Issue.

To Steelworker Fenwick the issue in the present struggle between the left and right wings was definitely Communism.

"The trade union movement in the United States and Canada is not going to be vilified because it doesn't follow the party line... we will not have a united labor movement on Communist terms."

In a conversation with Norman Freed, one of Toronto's Communist aldermen, he had learned that the trade union movement is considered "the transmission belt" between the party and the workers. That is its role in the Soviet Union and as far as CP-members are concerned the same holds in the United States and Canada.

He described the Communist party as more or less a military organization, strictly disciplined and "masters of spreading confusion." Some of them are told to come out in the open; some to operate in secret; and still others to pose as Conservatives and Liberals.

"They organize unions not because they like unions or because they like working people, but because they can become entrenched and swing the opinions of people," he contended.

"You are in no position to defend yourselves against a charge of domination," said Fenwick, "because it is true."

He told them he had been authorized by C. H. Millard, head of the Steelworkers, to tell them that "in this fight the USWA will go along with you 100 per cent."

Greetings From The States

Joseph Hawkins of Mansfield, Ohio, one of the new UE-CIO administrative committee, brought greetings from right wingers in the United States.

A resume of tactics of Communist party members in the United States labor movement since 1940 was given by him.

In 1940, before the Soviet was invaded, Roosevelt was to be driven from the White House. After the German attack on the Soviet "the leftists became great patriots."

Lausanne Tourist Office Eagerly Awaits Rita's Baby

LAUSANNE, Nov. 9—(AP) — The City of Lausanne promised today to help spread the glad word when Rita Hayworth's baby arrives.

Rita, the Princess Aly Khan, has been here since Saturday. A room has been reserved for her at the Mont Choisi Maternity Hospital, but no definite word has leaked out as to when she expects to enter the clinic.

Rumorsmiths are busy with various reports, however. Some of the gossips say the end of the week. Others say between Nov. 15 and 20. And still others say "the end of this month."

The prince and princess say nothing. They refuse to see reporters. But Lausanne tourist office is quietly making its own preparations for the event.

The tourist office said it would like to make the announcement directly from the hospital, but is still negotiating for approval to do this. If this is not possible, tourist officials say, they will pass out the news from the official birth registration records.

Rita is staying strictly secluded in a hotel suite. Occasionally she visits her physician.

Popular Consul To New York Hugh Scully Returns To Canada

By FRED KERNER

NEW YORK, Nov. 9 —(CP)— Canada's "Ambassador of Goodwill" in New York returns to private business at the end of this year.

That announcement— meaning specifically that genial Hugh D. Scully, Canadian consul-general in this city, is retiring from consular service—ends a historic and memorable tenure of office. Appointed to the post in 1943 Scully was the first Canadian Consul anywhere in the world.

Considered "one of the best informed minds in Canada," Scully has become respected and admired by the many thousands of persons with whom he has come in contact during the last 6½ years.

His official duties included attending thousands of receptions and found him on the speakers' rostrum more often than not. His quiet sense or humor pervaded almost all his talks—despite the seriousness of the subject matter. Time and again the tall Broadly-built consul would depart from his prepared text to tell a pertinent humorous story or quote several apt lines of poetry.

Recites Poetry

To the astonishment of many, he can recite poetry by the ream. An ardent reader, he has a most retentive memory and often stumps newspaper reporters by paraphrazing poetic stanzas.

The friendly consul-General and his petite wife were always appreciative members of audiences attending debut recitals by Canadian musical artists in Manhattan.

At the Scully's spacious, but unostentatious, Park Avenue apartment, thousands of guests have been entertained in homewarming fashion.

The 63-year-old consular official returns to his Toronto home to pick up a colorful career in Canadian business. After graduation as an honor student in political science at the University of Toronto, he was successively Assistant Secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Assistant General Manager and Director of the Russell Motor Car Company of Toronto and Vice-President and Manager of Stewart, Scully Company Limited, Toronto Investment Bankers

He was appointed Canadian Commisioner of Excise in 1932 and a year later was made Commissioner of Customs, which post he held until he was appointed to head the New York Consulate. May 1, 1943. During the war years he was a member of the Foreign Exchange Control Board of Canada and of the Economic Advisory Committee.

In 1936, Scully was a member of the Canadian delegation which went to London to negotiate renewal of the Canada - United Kingdom trade agreement. He was chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board in 1940 and was steel controller in Canada in 1941-42.

Kenneth A. Green, former Canadian High Comimssioner to Australia, is to succed Scully in New York.

Must Wait For Forms

OTTAWA, Nov. 9 (CP)—Ottawa landlords applying for new rental increase forms Tuesday were told by Prices Board officials that the forms would not be available until after Dec. 15. The forms now being prepared, will advise tenants that rental ceilings have been increased 20 to 25 per cent.

WINNIES ART

DUMFRIES, Scotland, (CP)—Mrs. Winston Churchill donated £500 ($1,550) to Dumfries Y.M.C.A. to improve the comfort and amenities of its hostel. The money was part of a sum-raised by sale of one of Winston Churchill's oil paintings.

Alexander Makes Faux Pas At Investiture Cub 9 Teaches Governor-General Protocol

OTTAWA, Nov. 9—Every good Boy Scout and Wolf Cub shakes hands with his left hand. One of them was gently reminded of the fact this week. He was the Governor-General, who is also Chief Scout.

The Chief Scout was corrected by a Nova Scotia wolf cub—9-year-old Morris Crowell, of Truro, who received the Silver Cross for bravery in a drowning rescue. The award was made at a Government House investiture.

The Governor-General manfully acknowledged the correction in scout-lore protocol, fumbled a moment and came up with the right hand this time—the left, that is.

5 Million Objective

TORONTO, Nov. 9 (CP)—The Canadian Red Cross Society will seek $5,000,000 in its 1950 March campaign, Col. A. L. Bishop, chairman of Central Council, announced Tuesday. Provincial delegates are attending the semi-annual, three-day Central Council meeting here this week.

United Nations' Accomplishments In Field Of Social Service Discussed By Rev. Walter Gilling

Accomplishments of the United Nations in social betterment through some of its operating agencies were discussed by Rev Walter Gilling, rector of St. Luke's Anglican Church, at the Federation of Agriculture's first luncheon meeting of the season Tuesday at the Empress Hotel.

If frictions within the Security Council beget pessimism about the possibility of international agreement, the work of UNRRA, FAO, UNESCO, WHO and other branches on the social and industrial levels provide evidence of collaboration for peace by fighting hunger.

In the substantial help that has already been given to distressed peoples, Rev. Mr. Gilling found hope for understanding among nations in the sphere of politics and government.

W. W. Dawson was chairman of the meeting, and Mrs. Herb MacFarlane of Otonabee introduced the guest speaker.

Backed by 44 Governments

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (UNRRA) was set up by 44 governments in 1943, Rev. Mr. Gilling recalled.

"UNRRA marched into 17 war-ravaged countries to ward off starvation and epidemics and shore up their social structure against economic collapse. More than 6,000 ships carried 25 million long tons of goods from March 1945 until its mission closed in Europe in June 1947, and in the Far East six months later. Grain made up the bulk of the 9,000,000 long tons of UNRRA food shipments. That was enough flour to bake five one-pound loaves for every inhabitant of the globe. At its peak UNRRA was providing an extra meal a day for 10 million children."

"It launched a malaria fight in Greece and Italy. It supplied its aided nations with tools and chemicals, seeds and livestock, which it estimated would put 25 million acres back into production. Three hundred thousand animals were sent overseas in what may be termed the most important waterborne migration of animals since the time of Noah and his ark."

In the details which he reviewed at some length, Rev. Mr. Gilling presented a graphic picture of the extent of such efforts in behalf of humanity.

"They set out to exterminate the anopheles mosquito which spreads the malaria germ by its bite Their employees have sprayed DDT insecticide by hand in every building in the smaller villages, and all the slaughter houses, dairies, markets, and garbage dumps of the towns. Their aircraft sprayed a fog of DDT in all the valleys, the proud and sluggish streams where the mosquito breeds: 17 acres a minute from a height of 20 feet."

"Two-thirds of the whole of Greece has been sprayed at a cost of 30 cents per head of all the people. From one million cases a year, malaria has been reduced to 50,000 new cases annually, and 30 million working days have been saved from the ravages of disease."

Study World's Peoples

One of the first problems UN has tackled is to ascertain the rate of population growth. A Population Commission has been set up, with experts from a dozen countries, to plan studies of the world's peoples, and to advise on trends and policies.

"More than one-quarter of the world's peoples do not bother with the precise measures of current population. So, in or around 1950, a census will be taken uniformly throughout the world."

"The UN is of the opinion that at the start of 1949 the world population numbered about 2,375 million people. There were 85,000,000 births expected during the year had 60,000,000 deaths So the year will bring 25 million extra mouths to feed:"

"What happens if living conditions improve? In India, 10 years of comparative freedom from famine between 1931-41 brought an increase of some 50 million in an already huge population, nearly 15% more people in one decade."

Population was related to food requirements, Rev. Mr. Gilling said.

"One of the first jobs of Federated Agricultural Organizations (FAO) was to collect the calorie figures for the countries of the world. Thus, their World Food Survey shows how 70 countries were managing their diets up to 1939". . .On the basis of calculated calories it was evident that half the people of the world were not getting enough to eat."

Less Food Available

"Nothing quite so complete has been worked out for post-war living conditions. But, studies prepared by FAO in Sept. 1948 indicated that the people of the post-war world, outside the Soviet Union, had 12% less food available per person in the period . . Apart from Argentina, Oceania, Canada, the U.S.A. and a few European countries, nobody can get enough to eat.

"World War II ended four and a half years ago, and such shortages could have made a profiteer's paradise. Virtually the entire brotherhood of UN agencies moved into the problem of food and the world's peoples"

"At the call of FAO, the International Emergency Food Council was created in 1946. In this 38 nations, nearly all the world's major sellers and buyers, excepting Soviet Russia and Argentina agreed to examine available export stocks in specific scarce commodities. Then they would suggest how these supplies might be fairly shared, and not leave them only to the highest bidder It made recommendations for the distribution of some 90% of the food moving in international trade. Nations with a surplus of scarce supplies maintained export controls to make the program work."

Rev. Mr. Gilling told of the enlistment of science in fighting disease among cattle in Africa, China, Ethiopia, especially the war waged on the insect rinderpest.

"Almost every time one of the UN agencies for Peace sets out to help a country, it comes up against the need of food among backward peoples. A prime aim of UNESCO (Economic Security Council) is to encourage the teaching of the world's illiterates, more than one thousand million people who cannot read or write. 'Helping people to help themselves' may be taken as UNESCO's concept of fundamental aducation It goes beyond the teaching of mere reading and writing to include the whole range of community development."

The world Health Organization (WHO) with UNESCO are combining to provide guidance which people need if they are to break the bonds of ignorance, proverty and disease.

Rev. Mr. Gilling quoted the words of Lord Boyd Orr: "Bread means peace", and the quotation on the crest of FAO "Fait Panis". let there be bread.

Appreciation of the Federation was expressed to Rev. Mr. Gilling in a motion by John Kitney.

Mrs. E. Cavano Tells of Trip

BETHANY, Nov. 9—(ENS) — At the Women's Institute meeting at the home of Mrs. Clarke Pomeroy on Monday, Mrs. Ernest Cavano told of her recent trip to the Maritime Provinces, when she accompanied her husband on a goodwill tour of the Potato Growers' Branch of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association.

The trip began officially at Toronto and after a brief stop-over in Montreal, the party continued to Quebec City for an afternoon, touring the city at the expense of the Quebec Government, with Roger Gagnon, Provincial Department of Agriculture representative, as guide.

The following morning they were welcomed to Grand Falls, N.B., one of the most intensive potato growing sections in the country, by J. K. King, deputy minister of agriculture for the Province, and the party left the train, travelling by bus through the district, over to the State of Maine and down the St. John River by boat to St. John City.

Hon. A. C. Taylor, Minister of Agriculture, and G. C. Cunningham, director of potato promotion for New Brunswick, and many of his directors accompanied them.

N.B. Fields Impressive

One of the most impressive sights from the growers' standpoint were the potato fields of Victoria County, N.B., and the adjoining county of Arrostook in Maine, where everything is geared for potato production. The growers saw at first hand how the New Brunswick farmers handle their large crop for the Ontario, Quebec and overseas market.

Stops were made at Limestone and the State Experimental Station at Presque Isle, and the night was spent at Perth. Brief stops were also made at top ranking potato growing areas and at Hatfield starch factory. Saturday night and Sunday morning were spent at the new Lord Beaverbrook hotel in Fredericton.

The Dominion experimental station just outside the city was visited. Here special attention is being given to potato breeding. They also visited the Reversible Falls.

The crossing to Prince Edward Island was made on the new train carrying a ferry which runs between Cape Tormentine, N.B., and Bandan, P.E.I. Hon. W. F. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture, Walter Shaw and R. C. Parent, of the Dominion experimental station at Charlottetown, welcomed the visitors and provided 25 cars for the tour of the island, where the government officials and the Potato Production Committee both entertained the party to dinners. The Prince Edward Island Government provided the airplane flight over the island.

From 14 Counties

On the homeward journey the party had a few hours in Montreal, where they toured the city as guests of The Family Herald and Weekly Star newspaper. Fourteen Ontario counties were represented in the Goodwill Tour, which carried the growers well over 2,000 miles for the round trip.

Music throughout the evening was provided by Miss Betty Waddell at the piano and Mrs. T. Jennings' violin.

Mrs. H. L. Challice, president, gave a report of the newly-organized Junior Girls' Homemaking Club, of which Mrs. Mansell Finney has been appointed leader.

A committee was apointed to look after the details of the coming short course, which the public is invited to attend in the Town Hall on the afternoon of Nov. 22 and 23. Miss Barbara Broadfoot, of the Women's Institute Branch and Home Economics Service of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, will lecture both afternoons on "Your Money's Worth in Food." A complete meal will be prepared each day and a booklet of recipes given to each person attending. Wise spending of food money and meal planning will be discussed.

Make Deal With Council

A vote by ballot decided unanimously that the piano purchased by the Women's Institute be deeded to the Township Council for use in the Town Hall. In return, the Women's Institute is to have the hall free of charge for meetings and five times during each year for money making projects. The Council will assume all responsibility for the piano in future.

A letter of thanks was read from the adopted British Institute at Bewcastle Bailey for a recent parcel of food sent from the Bethany branch.

The president, Mrs. Challice, was requested to approach the Township Council regarding a place for garbage disposal in the village.

Robert Reid, representing the Loyal Orange Lodge, met the members to suggest the Institute and Orangemen have a series of joint euchre parties during the winter months each society to share jointly in the profits. It was decided to co-operate and a committee was appointed to look after details. The first party will be held Nov. 18 in the Orange Hall.

The evening's entertainment was in charge of group two, with Mrs. H. Bristow and Mrs. J. C. Cummiskey joint leaders.

Mrs. Challice moved a vote of thanks to the group; to Mrs. Cavano and to the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. G. Mulligan, Mrs. Bristow, Mrs. Cummiskey and Mrs. Lloyd Capstick for the lunch which was served.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mansell Finney under the leadership of group three.

DOROTHY DIX

You Can't Save a Girl From Blind Infatuation

DEAR MISS DIX. Is an onlooker justified in trying to break up an engagement in which the girl is headed straight for disaster? The girl is attractive, a good cook, thrifty, sweet-tempered. Her fiance is a petted son of a wealthy famliy who has never worked a day in his life, and calmly says that he doesn't intend to until it is forced upon him. If she does anything that doesn't suit him, he calls her all kinds of names which she excuses on the ground that she likes masterful men. His one interest in life is gambling, for which he constantly tries to get her to give him some of her small salary to use in betting on horses or numbers. Yet this girl confidently believes that on their wedding day he will change into a loving husband. She has no one to advise her. Should I take that office on myself?

A WOMAN FRIEND

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: It would be no use. A girl has taken leave of her senses and is blind to every fault the man possesses, and deaf to all reason.

Nobody on earth can explain why an otherwise intelligent woman can delude herself into believing that a man who has never earned a penny before marriage will become a hustler and a go-getter as soon as the preacher mumbles a few words over him. Or how one can befool herself into thinking that marriage will change a sot into a sober man or make a gambler abhor games of chance or turn an abusive sweetheart into a tender and considerate husband. But thousands upon thousands of women do stultify themselves this way and marry on this platform.

Doesn't Conceal Faults

It is very, very seldom that a man has eithe rthe subtlety or takes the trouble to deceive a girl about the kind of man he is. He doesn't bother to conceal his faults and his weakness from her But the poor deluded creatures, knowing the men for what they are, go on and marry them believing with childlike faith that marriage throws some sort of conjure over a man that changes him from what he is into what he ought to be. And against this superstition all argument is in vain. Nothing but experience will teach the truth and then it is too late.

That is why people are so loath to interfere in a love affairs, even when they feel it their duty to at least light a red lantern of warning that might apprise a girl or boy of the danger ahead.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: We have an adopted son who is now 7 whom we took when a tiny baby 3 days old. He has grown into a fine, manly little fellow, trustworthy, truthful and very bright. His most salient characteristic is that if he is fooled or cheated by his playfollows he is through with them and will have nothing more to do with them. He does not forgive nor forget. Now we have never told this child that he is not our own. We love him so that we cannot bring ourselves to do it, but are we right in raising him under this deception? Will he turn against us if he finds out in manhood that he is not our own?

MR. AND MRS. X.

ANSWER: You are doing yourself and the child an irreparable injury by not telling him that he is an adopted child. There is no possibility that he will not find out the truth and with his type of character he will never forgive you for having deceived him. It will make him turn against you and wipe out the memory of your devation to him.

I am basing this opinion on the many, many letters that I get from boys and girls who have grown to manhood and womanhood believing themselves the children of their foster-parents, and who have suddenly discovered that they are adopted children. In virtually every case it seems to bring about a revulsion of feeling that turns the child's love to hate.

Why this should be so, I do not know. Perhaps it is a humiliation greater than a person can bear to know that he has no right even to his name or that his own parents were unworthy, or that he has on sufferance the things that others have by right — that he doesn't belong as a child that was born to a mother and father does.

Familiarize the child from the very beginning with the fact that you took him because you wanted him and that he is your son through love. If you let him feel that you do everything for him because of your affection for him, he will grow up grateful for your kindness and appreciative of it and will not turn upon you and rend you as he will if he finds out when he is grown that you have befooled him.

DEAR MISS DIX: You say that what makes marriage a success is congeniality. What is a man to do when he learns that the most congenial girl he has ever met is twelve years his senior?

JOHN

ANSWER: Marry her.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

Vice-Presidents Mrs. P. Dallin and Mrs. E. Kingdon received at the meeting of Queen Alexandra Home and School Association Monday evening. President Mrs. O. J. Hayward opened the meeting and welcomed the ever-increasing number present. The parents' attendance prize went to Miss H. Bonnycastle's room.

Mrs. Geo. Coleman Jr. introduced the guest speaker, Mr. F. B. Smitheram, who told a highly interested audience the principles of rythmic arithmetic. Colin Selby, Peter Wood, Barbara Sullivan, Mary Jane Simmers and Diane Axford, pupils of Miss Bonnycastle, were helpful in demonstrating the points. The speaker also used the audience for his demonstration. "In this method the child learns arithmetic by experience rather than by memory and imagination," he pointed out.

Mr. R. K. McKee thanked Mr. Smitheram.

Boys' Town provided excellent musical entertainment. Six boys sang Grandfather's Clock, Coming 'Round the Mountain, Old MacDonald and Brahm's Lullaby. Mrs. H. W. Rac was their pianist. Nine-year-old ... Wills pleased greatly with his piano arrangements of Alexander's Ragtime Band and Swanee River. Songs in comedy were presented by four boys, supposedly the Andrew Sisters and Frank Sinatra. The boys were introduced by Mr. Walter Benton.

Appreciation was expressed to the entertainers by Mrs. Hayward.

December meeting is to feature Christmas carol singing and the showing of films.

ST. PETER'S AND ST. MARY'S SCHOOLS

The meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of St. Peter's and St. Mary's Schools, St. Peter's Parish, was held Tuesday evening in the Knights of Columbus Hall. W. J. Cunningham was chairman and the Rev. J. Coughlan opened with prayer.

A solo by petite four-year-old Ann Murray was greatly enjoyed. She was accompanied by Mrs. H. Masterson at the piano.

Principle speaker was Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick who gave an enlightening talk on immunization and its value. The doctor stressed the need of and illustrated the working of these anti-vera and vaccines in the human body. He mentioned many different types of virus and the progress being made in treating them. The RH factor which took the lives of so many infants in the last decade is a new medical finding.

Concluding the speaker stated though there is need for assistance in medical cost, the system of state medicine is not in the best interest of everyone.

The speaker was thanked by P. J. Anglesey.

Prizes for parent attendance were won by Grade Two of St. Peter's, room five of St. Mary's and the kindergarten of St. Anne's school.

Lunch was served by the social committee, convened by Mrs. D. J. Emery.

Mr. H. L. Garner was guest speaker, his subject being: "Newspapers." He was introduced by Mr. Donald Crawford. He asked his audience to think of the newspaper as a huge mirror placed above the earth, trying give a true picture of what was happening. He spoke of the efforts of the newspaper to give the public news, when it is news and not history and of th emodern facilities that have been developed by the press in order to do this. Calling attention to the many features or departments which make up a modern newspaper, he brought to a close, his very fine address by quoting several, amusing typographical errors which have appeared in newspapers.

Another selection by the orchestra preceded the closing, which refreshments were served by Mr. F. Earle and his assistants.

6—In Memoriams

TROTTER—In loving memory of Teddy Wallace Trotter, who died two years ago, Nov. 9, 1947.
"He was a flower, too sweet for earth,
Sent here but for a while,
God marked him when He gave him birth,
And took him with a smile."
—Sadly missed by mother, dad and brother Terry.

WANNAMAKER — In memory of Marshal Stanley Wannamaker, who passed away three years ago on the 9th of November.
There is still a wife who misses you sadly,
And finds the time long since you went,
And I think of you daily and hourly,
And I try to be brave and content,
But the tears that I shed in silence,
And I breathe a sigh of regret,
For you were mine and I remember,
Though all the world may forget.
Your last parting wish I would like to have heard,
Only those who have lost are able to tell
The pain in the heart at not saying farewell.
—Ever remembered by wife Rebecca and family.

Teenage Dances For Weekends

Commencing this Friday night dances for teen-agers will be held in the YMCA gym. The HiY clubs, Epsilon, Omega and Kappa, will sponsor the teen-age dances for the next four weeks as an experiment. They hope to provide some sort of week-end entertainment for the youth of Peterborough.

Donald Duncan Boys' Work Secretary of the YMCA said Wednesday the members of the Hi-Y clubs seemed to think the teenagers have in the past year less money to spend and needed some place where it would be within their budgets to take their dates on the week ends. Music will be supplied by the Doug Dobson Quintet, a group of high school students.

The dances are not just for the high school students in the city but for all youths. They will take the place of the 16-20 Club dances which reached their peak several years ago and the Saturday Night Club which met just before the war.

On Friday the Belleville football teams which are playing the Collegiate teams in the afternoon will be the guests of the Hi-Y clubs at the dance.

Support From CIO

In fact, he contended, the left wingers offered a five-year no strike guarantee at the conclusion of the war, but this was turned down by the CIO.

He gave his version of the role of Communist party members in opposing the Marshall Plan, and the Atlantic Pact and supporting Henry Wallace's campaign.

The CIO finally decided it could no longer "nurse a viper in its bosom" and expelled the leftists.

He paraphrased Philip Murray, president of the CIO, who when queried on the possibility of the leftists going underground to operate, remarked: "If a hole is dug for them it's not going to be under the CIO."

"The CCL has made a very definite anti-Communist stand," Fred Hannah, local CCL representative, told the meeting. "You are really upholding the principles of the CCL, and we are prepared to see you get the help to do it."

Hannah pointed out that, although affiliated to the CIO, the CCL was an autonomous body and before the UE would be expelled there would have to be a meeting of the executive council, formal charges laid, a trial proceeded with. Only then would the offending union be "democratically expelled."

Jock Smith, president of Leland Electric, Guelph, told briefly of his union's swing out of the orbit of the UE.

John G. Morton, chairman, related the history of the break with the UE, and he asked for the support of the membership.

"All I intend to do from now on is tell you people the facts. If you differ that's all right, but I want to be free in my conscience that I've told you," he said.

"I have everything out of this I ever wanted—a clear conscience."

The meeting closed with a question period.

There were a couple of dissenters present. One said that the pledge taken by Jackson and Morton to drop politics during final negotiations with the Company for a new contract had been violated, and he considered Morton the principal offender. He also stated there had been much talk about Communism during the night but not enough on concluding a new contract.

Says Sterling Currency In Most Use

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The phrase "sterling area" recurs time and again in today's news.

What is it? For one thing, in the words of the United Kingdom information office in Ottawa, it is the largest multilateral trading system in the world, and sterling is the most widespread international currency.

It contains 25 per cent of the world's population; and, if you include the countries permitted to transfer sterling freely, it covers 25 per cent of the world's peoples.

It consists of the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Southern Rhodesia; such dependent territories of the Commonwealth as Cyprus, Kenya, Tanganyika, Uganda, Nigeria, Northern Rhodesia, Gambia, Gold Coast, Federation of Malaya, and the British West Indies; also the Republic of Ireland, Burma, Iraq and Iceland.

Other countries allowed to transfer sterling freely among one another are Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, Chile, Czechoslovakia, Dutch monetary area, Egypt, Ethiopia, Finland, Iran, Italy Norway Poland Siam, Spanish monetary area, Sweden and Russia.

Says the information office release, a quarterly review of labor and industry in Britain, in reviewing the history of the sterling area:

Voluntary Association

"From the beginning the sterling group has been a voluntary association. It grew up as a matter of mutual convenience without any deliberate act of policy being involved.

"In the 19th century, when Britain was born the workshop of the world and the world's largest market for primary products, sterling was the most solidly established and widely-trusted international currency, freely acceptable in settlements of accounts all over the world....

"Two events were of special importance in the evolution of what now is the sterling area. The first was the foreign exchange crisis of 1931, when Britain was forced off the gold standard, and other countries had to choose between 'pegging' their currencies to gold or to the pound.

Sterling Bloc

"Those countries which, for a variety of reasons, decided to stick to sterling, became known informally as the sterling bloc...

"The second decisive event was the outbreak of war in 1939. As part of wartime mobilization, it was necessary for the United Kingdom to introduce exchange control immediately, in order to protect the gold and dollar reserves for maximum wartime use.

"It was an enormous advantage that, because of the confidence and mutual responsibilities of the 'inner ring' of sterling bloc countries, trade between them could continue in sterling without any need for financial regulations. These countries formed the new official "sterling area.'

"Controls that had to be introduced were limited, therefore, to transfers between members of the sterling area (which was legally defined for the first time) and the outside world. Membership in this new sterling area involved a very close association with Britain's fortunes in time of war, and most of the outer ring of 'sterling bloc' countries (i.e., those who did not belong to the Commenwealth), were not included in the new formal group."

Children Also Blamed For Upsetting Garbage

The Humane Society said today, in view of the article in Monday night's Examiner about the tying up of dogs before garbage collection, the executive wishes to explain to owners that this should have been given to the press as keeping their dogs "under control" until after garbage collection.

This explanation, according to the society, is due to those dog owners who are complaining that they have seen children upsetting garbage cans. One complainant is reported to have said, "It certainly was not a dog who upset my garbage and carried off the can."

25 Form Club To Preserve Sweet Adeline

Barber shop quartet singing in Peterborough will be preserved and encouraged if the 25 men who met in the YMCA auditorium Tuesday night have anything to say about it. They passed a motion by Percy Harrison, seconded by Ed. O'Brien, that a chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing of America be established in Peterborough.

Jim Ridyard, Ed. Murphy and Ed. O'Brien called the meeting in the YMCA to see how many Peterborough men were actually interested in forming such an organization. Besides the 25 men who attended the meeting Mr. Murphy said that at least six others planned to join the organization.

When asked if any other club would sponsor the local club, Mr. Murphy answered that the Canton, Ohio, chapter of the society was anxious to sponsor the local club. But it was pointed out that the Toronto chapter had said Canton was too far away to actually sponsor the club fully, and suggested the Canton club be the sponsors with the Toronto chapter the co-sponsors.

A committee of five, Vic Farrant, Jim Ridyard, Ed. Murphy, Adam Sands, Ashton Fife, was appointed to make arrangements for the next meeting, which will be in two weeks. Election of officers will be held then and directors of the Toronto chapter will attend.

Jim Ridyard, who has done considerable work to start such an organization in Peterborough, briefly related the history of barber shop quartets and how the society was founded in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Last year, he said, the Toronto chapter was able to donate $2,000 to the Sick Children's Hospital from the receipts from their concerts or parades.

The Toronto chapter, which recently helped Oshawa's chapter financially, meets every Tuesday. There the 300 members sing to their hearts' content and lunch, costing 25c, is supplied by the ladies of the church where the club meets. Vic Farrant, a member of the Sudbury society and now residing in Peterborough, was among the attendants.

The club closed its meeting with "Someone's in the Kitchen With Dinah" and other imitable songs.

Hunters' Faces Red Woman Kills 4 Bears

NORTH BAY, Nov. 9 —(CP)—Mrs. Marlin Gauthier, a farm woman, took a group of embarrassed hunters into the woods Tuesday and showed them four bears she killed Monday with four shots—all between the eyes.

Mrs. Gauthier said she came across a large female bear and three almost full-grown cubs in a clearing. She picked off a cub with her first shot, then the female, then another cub. The last bear she chased over about two acres before bringing it down with a fourth shot.

The hunters confirmed each animal was shot between the eyes.

Comes For Conference

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Nov. 9 — (CP)—Sir Gilmour Jenkins, permanent secretary to the ministry of transport, sailed Tuesday aboard the liner Empress of France for Montreal, en route to important talks in Ottawa and Washington. Sir Gilmour is expected to discuss the North Atlantic Pact in relation to merchant shipping services.

Boys Beat Girls At Scavenger Hunt

HASTINGS, Nov. 9—(ENS) — The Young People's group of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held a social in the Sunday school hall on Friday. Games and contests were enjoyed. The main event was a scavenger hunt; the boys and girls took opposite sides and the boys were the winners.

Lunch was served.

Education Plan May Start 1950

HAVELOCK, Nov. 9—(ENS)—K. O. Birkin of Peterorough, public school inspector for this district was guest speaker at a meeting of the local Home and School Association Monday evening.

Mr. Birkin took as his subject, "Trends in Education" and gave an outline of the new curriculum planned by the minister of education. He said it was likely that the new system would come into effect 1950.

Mrs. W. Corneil presented a report on the regional conference and training school of the Home and School Associations Inc. District No. 10, held in Havelock town hall recently. She also gave a review of publications which were on display, stressing their value for study groups.

Members Entertain

Mrs. F. McKay, program convener presided, while a talk on mental health was delivered by Mrs. L. H. Cooke, health convener. Two solos were sung by Mrs. Y. Pikelis, accompanied by her daughter Yuta; a piano duet by Misses Dorothy Ann and Shirley Holdcroft; community singing led by Mrs. R. Backus with Mrs. H. Pollock as accompanist.

The attendance shield was won by Principal R. D. Buchanan's room.

A sale of home-cooking was held in conjunction with the meeting and the proceeds more than met the balance on the expenses incurred at the recent convention.

Mrs. L. H. Cooke and Mrs. Serecta Buchanan were in charge of the sale.

SYNTONA will relieve acid conditions and make the digestive organs sweet and clean, and give grand relief from acid indigestion, bloating, sour stomach, shortness of breath and dyspepsia.

IT WILL improve your appetite and promote proper assimilation of food for ENERGY and RESISTANCE.

SYNTONA will act as a diuretic to sluggish kidneys and flush out quantities of impurities that may have become dammed up inside, causing BACKACHE, SHARP PAINS and RISING AT NIGHT.

Science brings us methods which enable us to bring this famous medicine within reach of all sufferers. Permits hundreds to get away from the habitual use of nerve-deadening pills and harsh drugs.

It will make your liver more active, thus relieving spells of biliousness and sick headache.

Trade Curbs With U.S. Pearson Hints

Dominion Can't Go On Over-Buying Tourists Splurge Too

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (CP). — Canada may have to restrict her trade with the United States unless there is a better balance of imports and exports between the two countries, L. B. Pearson, Canada's Minister of External Affairs, told the Overseas Press Club in a luncheon address on Wednesday. The Dominion cannot go on indefinitely buying $2,000,000,000 of goods from the United States and selling $1,000,000,000 to the United States, Pearson said. "When we must put on restrictions," he said, "you will become more aware of us. We wish you would become more aware of us before the restrictions are needed."

Too Much Spending

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP)—Canadian tourists taking advantage of increased customs exemptions in force this year, have poured more than $21,000,000 into purchases of United States goods.

W. R. Miller of the Bureau of Statistics, told delegates at the final session of the fourth annual Dominion-Provincial tourist conference Wednesday that this spending would largely offset a marked increase in the amount tourists of other countries spent in the Dominion.

Reflecting increased spending by Canadians was an announcement released by the Finance Department Wednesday that rationing of United States dollars for pleasure travel will continue for at least another year.

Hit New High

Some 45 delegates representing each of the 10 provinces, the federal government and interested travel and transportation agencies, heard Mr. Miller estimate that Canada's tourist trade would reach a new high in 1949. He estimated that during the first six months of 1949, American travellers had spent about eight per cent more than in the similar period in 1948.

However, he said, this balance would be cut considerably by an almost 50-per-cent increase in Canadian spending in the U.S. This was largely due to easier customs regulations. Last year customs exemptions was limited to $5 a person. This year the exemption had been increased to $100.

Slightly behind him and at right is the Duke of Gloucester in army uniform with light overcoat; behind the Duke, holding wreath and wearing Women's Army Corps uniform is Princess Elizabeth.

Broken Heart Brings $1,500

TORONTO, Nov. 10 — (CP) — May Russell, 29-year-old Saskatoon stenographer, today was awarded $1,500 heart-balm money in a civil court judgment on her breach of promise suit against Dr. William A. Baker, Keewatin, Ont., physician.

Miss Russell, who had sued for $10,000, claimed Dr. Baker called off their engagement only a few days before the wedding date, after she had bought a trousseau, resigned from her job, made arrangements for a honeymoon and had publicy announced her coming marriage.

The court also assessed costs of her action against Dr. Baker who during the hearing this week testified he had delayed in breaking his engagement to Miss Russell because he "didn't want to let her down too hard."

Three months after breaking off the engagement, Dr. Baker married Mary McKay, a former Winnipeg nurse.

Saunders Promises Ease Store Lighting In December

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Nov. 10—(CP)—Ontario power restrictions may be eased early next month to permit merchants' display windows to blaze with light during the Christmas shopping season. This was announced Wednesday night by Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman, who said that last week the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission was able to generate, purchase and deliver to the residents of Ontario 26,200,000 kilowatt hours more than the amount delivered during the corresponding week last year.

The increase was due to improvement in stream flow and to higher production of power at various Ontario generating plants, Mr. Saunders said. He added:

"We are this year in a much better condition than we were a year ago. We have been fortunate in having moderate rainfall since September. It is our hope and actual expectation that we shall not be forced to take further steps to conserve power and that in December before the Christmas rush we shall be able to ease the restrictions to the retail merchants who in the last two years have taken the power shortage on the chin."

To Start Power House

Restrictions on use of electricity for advertising and display purposes now are in effect, together with a ban on electric heaters.

Mr. Saunuders also announced that construction of a $150,000,000 60-cycle power plant on the Niagara River near the Queenston power house will start as soon as a treaty for diversion of the water is negotiated between Canada and the United States; that a steam plant near Hamilton will go into operation next Monday, to be followed shortly by steam plants at Scarboro, near Toronto, and at Chatham and Thorold.

Road Bureau For Blizzards

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP) — Ontario's road information service is set to go into action as soon as the first blizzard of the season makes highway travel difficult.

Working from detailed forecasts specially provided by the meteorological service, staffs in the 18 divisional offices will provide 'round-the-clock information service by telephone for motorists checking road conditions before setting out on trips.

The information service, about to start its second season, officially opens Dec. 1. But it will swing into operation sooner than that if weather conditions warrant. At departmental headquarters in Toronto, a staff has been standing by since Nov. 1.

Toronto Mayor Rejects Position On TTC

TORONTO, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum will pass up the chance of a position on the Toronto Transport Commission to run for mayor in 1950.

The TTC post became vacant last week on the death of William Croft.

In a statement, the mayor said Wednesday night:

'The TTC appointment would give me more leisure time to attend to my own affairs and to look after my family. But I feel I must at least complete some of the important projects now under way."

Hint Wrong Radio Channel To Blame For Air Crash

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) —A young airport traffic controller conceded Wednesday at a federal inquiry the possibility of using the wrong radio channel when he tried to prevent an air collision which cost 55 lives.

The testimony came from Glenn D. Tigner, 21, who was one of the several operators in the Washington national airport control tower Nov. 1 when a war-surplus P-38 fighter ripped through an Eastern Airlines DC-4, killing all aboard the transport. Erick Rios Bridoux, Bolivian civil aviation director and pilot of the P-38, survived the wild plunge into the Potomac River, but was badly injured.

The six-man panel, set up by the Civil Aeronautics Board to hear testimony of 50 witnesses did not reach the point at which Rio's story, told to investigators in a hospital interview, would be read. The hearing recessed overnight.

Tigner was questioned for 2½ hours about the 10-minuate period that lapsed between Rio's takeoff for a test flight around the field and the moment the big fighter and the big transport collided. Both planes were coming in to land at the time and the accident occurred just as the airline pilot began to turn away at Tigner's warning.

Investigators brought out that Tigner had to use one radio channel to talk to Rios and another to George Ray, captain of the airliner. The channel is selected by pushing buttons.

Tigner was asked whether it was "possible you were on the wrong frequency?" to be heard by Rios.

"It is possible, yes," said Tigner.

Questioning brought out that Tigner could have broadcast by on both channels at once by pushing both buttons. A board counsel asked: "Would it has been desirable to do so on Nov. 1?"

"It would seem so," Tigner replied in a low voice.

Won't Change U.S. Gold Price

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—(AP)—President Truman said today there will be no change in the value of gold as long as he is president.

The president replied with what he described as a categorical no when he was asked if anyone in the administration was giving consideration to raising the price of gold as a means of reducing the national debt.

Any such action would have to take the form of a recommendation to Congress.

The answer to the question, Truman said, is a categorical no. As long as he is president of the United States, he said, the value of gold is fixed.

Tip Off Police

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 10—(CP)—Children hiding near a grocery store during a game of hide-and-seek told police they saw two men break into the store through the back door. Their parents called police who arrested John Broadbent, 29, of Vancouver and Donald Stickles, 20, of Gravenhurst, Ont., hiding in the store. They are charged with burglary and having shop-breaking tools.

Pulled Jobs For Fun Not Big Loot

Will Lay 100 Charges Covering 6 Counties Never Worked As Unit

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 10 (CP)—Twenty youths, one of whom admitted that they had taken up petty crime as a hobby, today faced charges in connection with more than 100 thefts and burglaries in six western Ontario counties in the last few months.

Arrested in the last two weeks, the youths posted bail ranging from $100 to $10,000. Police said all held good jobs and several were from prominent Woodstock families.

Bail of $10,000 was posted by Ed Stevens, oldest man in the group whom police named as the ringleader. Stevens, married and the father of three children, is said to hold a $75 a week job.

Only other man identified by police thus far are John Caskey, 21, and his brother, David, 19, charged with receiving car accessories. All are free on $100 cash and $500 property bail.

Covers Six Counties

Police said charges against the group covering operations in Brant, Norfolk, Middlesex, Waterloo, Perth and Oxford Counties were so complex that informations were still being prepared Wednesday night, after the group appeared in court Wednesday to receive a week's remand.

A full day has been set aside in Woodstock Magistrate's Court Nov. 22 for the hearing of a variety of breaking and entering, theft and receiving charges involving the group.

Police said the gang's loot was small. Some $1,000 in loot has been recovered and another $4,000 is estimated as missing.

Police said the gang did not employ violence. All thefts and break-ins with which they are charged took place in unguarded premises.

Didn't Work As Unit

Police believe the gang never operated as a unit. A small group would cruise around in a car, looking for possible break-in sites.

Loot from the robberies was found literally scattered about the countryside, hidden in haymows, ditches, barns, homes and business premises.

Police said the youths stole gasoline and cigarets for their own use and small amounts of money, but also a variety of articles including car horns, cash registers and even milk cans, which were sold to dairies by farmer members of the gang as their own.

The break in the case came 10 days ago when a youth was picked up for theft of a small quantity of oil. Questioned in connection with other thefts, he implicated a few other members of the gang.

Work Continuously

Provincial Police Constable Harry Thompson and Woodstock Detective John Anderson took up the trail, working continuously for 48 hours to unravel the gang's complex activities.

Air Gunners Out

LONDON, Nov. 10—(CP) The Air Ministry announced Wednesday that air gunners will disappear from the R.A.F. Thousands of air gunners already trained will be switched to ground jobs or will become aircrew wireless operators. The decision was due to a pending change to jet aircraft by the R.A.F.'s bomber force. In future bombers will carry no defensive guns but will rely solely on height and speed to avoid interception.

Big 3 To Halt Dismantling German Plants

PARIS, Nov. 10 — (AP).) — The West's big three foreign ministers were reported today to have agreed that most dismantling of German industry should stop.

State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain, and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France, also were said by informed sources to have moved closer toward allowing the new West German Republic to join the Council of Europe.

Conditions for discontinuing the dismantling of German plants had yet to be worked out in the big three talks that opened on Wednesday. Britain still insists that such potential war industries as synthetic rubber and synthetic oil should be torn down, one source said.

The ministers reported "satisfactory progress" in Wednesday's talks and expected to wind uo tonight or early tomorrow morning with a definite announcement of agreements.

Diplomatic sources said they had reached accord in principle, at least, on ways to give Western Germany an international voice for the first time since the war's end, possibly modifying the state of war which still exists between the Western Allies and the former enemy country.

Broad policy revisions were being studied, apparently to counter Russia's exchange of diplomats with the Soviet-sponsored Eastern German government and the possibility that Red Army troops might be withdrawn from Germany.

Informed sources said all three ministers agreed tentatively that the West-sponsored Bonn regime should be admitted as an associate member to the Council of Europe—a 12-country advisory parliament striving toward European unity.

Remand Police Rookie Criminal Negligence

TORONTO, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Police Constable George Mitchell, rookie policeman from suburban Leaside, was remanded today to Dec. 1 on a charge of criminal negligence. Bail was set at $1,000.

Mitchell was charged two weeks ago, after his revolver discharged accidentally, a bullet entering the chest of a friend, Vernon Sturgeon, 22.

Sturgeon, taken to hospital in serious condition, is reported much improved.

Fix Rent Boost At 18-22% But Must Give Lease, Latest Move On Controls

Boosts See End of Sundry Allowances As Increases On Current Rentals; Tenants Pay New Rents On February 1

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP)—Maximum rental boosts which can be made on self-contained dwellings next month are 18 and 22 per cent of "existing ceiling-rentals," Owen Lobley, Canada's rental administrator said today. Tenants living in rooms can have their rents increased by a straight 20 per cent. The administrator fixed these rates to prevent "pyramiding" of general cross-country boosts allowed by Finance Minister Abbott's announcement last Thursday, increasing rents 20 and 25 per cent of pre-1948 levels. The new increases go into effect Dec. 15.

But most tenants won't start paying higher rents until Feb. 1, 1950. That is because tenants who rent on a monthly basis must be given a full month's notice of the increase.

Mr. Lobley said that rental orders implementing the recent changes in the rentals regulations now have been completed. Copies will be available to the public in rental offices Nov. 18.

The 18-per-cent increase applies to unheated self-contained dwellings; the 22 per cent increase to heated.

A self-contained dwelling is one in which the tenant has complete use of toilet facilities. If he has to share them with others than his household, then the accommodation becomes a "lodging" or a room.

Rule On Legality

While Mr. Lobley clarified the rentals picture, the government was preparing an order-in-council, to be made public within a week or two, asking the Supreme Court of Canada to rule whether the controls were valid.

Mr. Abbott already has said that if the controls are found valid, he will ask parliament to extend the controls beyond the expiry date of March 31, 1950. This will permit orderly "gradual decontrol" for a period of time. A spokesman said he did not know just when the controls would finally end. It may be in 1951 or 1952 or even in 1953. It would depend on rental conditions across the country.

Lists regulations

In his statement, Mr. Lobley also announced:

1. Tenants who undertake to pay the increases must be given a new lease for at least 12 months. In no case can it terminate before May 1, 1951.

2. Tenants signing leases of two years and more cannot be evicted during the course of the lease to permit the landlord to sell the accommodation. Two-year leases may be signed at any rental on which the landlord and the tenant agree.

3. Landlords who owned accommodation before Nov. 1, 1949, and want to recover possession must give the tenant six months notice to vacate. The accommodation cannot be sold before April 1, 1951.

4. Landlords who want to recover accommodation will have to show a "genuine and demonstrable need." Otherwise they

U.S. Travel Funds Remain At $150 Quota

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 — (CP).— Rationing of United States dollars for pleasure travel will continue for at least another year, the Finance Department announced Wednesday.

Canadians may spend only $150 a year in US money for pleasure travel outside the Dominion. But since devaluation of the Canadian dollar in September, the ration now costs $165 in Canadian money.

The regulation first went into effect in November, 1947, as part of the government's program to curb spending in the US.

Children under 11 are allowed only $100 in US funds.

The regulations do not affect travel in the sterling area and most countries of Western Europe where, in most cases, special arrangements permit tourists to take Canadian dollars with them.

The Department said: "There will be no restriction of the number of pleasure trips taken by Canadian residents in the US as long as the annual allotment is not exceeded."

Canadians spent nearly $160,000,000 in US funds on tourist travel in the 12 months ending September 30, compared with about $113,000,000 during 1948, and "in view of the large US dollar cost of travel expenditures, including tourist purchases, it is not considered that either the removal of or an increase in the US dollar ration is justifiable at this time."

Sailor Jailed For 6 Months

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (CP) — John Hanlon, 39-year-old St. John's, Nfld., seaman today was sentenced to six months in jail for manslaughter. He was accused in the drinking-party death of Stanislas Verkulevicius who was drowned when thrown off the freighter Monroe near here in September.

In passing sentence Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure said manslaughter can be "almost murder or almost an accident."

Evidence at Hanlon's trial, where he was convicted Tuesday, was that he and Verkulevicius were drinking wine aboard the lake freighter. A scuffle ensued on the deck and when Hanlon had returned to his cabin he was reported to have said "I threw him overboard."

Charge Young Father With Baby's Murder

NORTH BAY, Nov. 10—(CP)—Herbert Douglas Merriman of nearby West Ferris was charged with murder today in the death of his nine-month-old son.

Police said the child, Richard, died Monday night while his mother was visiting at the home of her husband's parents in North Bay. The child was left in the 28-year-old father's charge. Mrs. Merriman said when she returned home the baby was dead.

Crown Attorney E. A. Tilley said that he had not received the coroner's official autopsy report, but that the infant's body was nearly half covered with bruises. This substantiated an earlier announcement that the child died as the result of blows.

Attlee Uurges Labor Work Longer Hours

Charges Some Workers Shirking In Efforts To Build Exports

LONDON, Nov. 10 — (CP). — Prime Minister Attlee Wednesday night asked Britons to give his new economy program a chance before "crying aloud to the world that disaster is upon us."

And he suggested that if labor and management really want to help the country they should work longer hours and set higher production schedules to help increase the export drive and bring to Britain the dollars she needs to live.

The Prime Minister also accused some workers and managers of shirking in ther effortsi to build up dollar exports. He said some managers and salesman were ignoring prospective dollar buyers in favor of home markets and business with non-dollar territories.

"There are North American buyers hunting through our markets," he said, "and meeting with little response...."

Attlee, speaking before the annual Lord Mayor's banquet, said several factories were producing more because workers agreed to put in longer hours. One drapery concern in Birmingham started a second shift to produce more for the Canadian market, and certain departments of the mill were working overtime to fill Canadian orders.

Good Example

"These factories were but a few individual cases which go to show what can be done and what is already being done up and down the country," the Prime Minister said.

As Attlee spoke a company official of the De Havilland works at Hatfield, Hertfordshire, disclosed that 6,000 workers engaged in building jet planes had agreed to work a 5½-day week instead of five to spur production and meet the demand from overseas markets.

Attlee's plea for greater production followed a four-hour meeting of the General Council of the 8,000,000-strong Trades Union Congress which dsicussed wage policy.

TUC leaders said they had arrived at a new policy statement, but they refused to make public details until the program first is discussed with Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Foreign Secretary Bevin.

Observers looked on this sudden secrecy as an indication that TUC leaders have been unable to find a precise and detailed way out of their dilemma which was increased by devaluation of the pound.

This dilemma is a desire to cooperate with the government in its "wage-freeze" policy and at the same time keep favor with the many unionists who are clamoring for higher wages.

Parked Car Damaged By Hit-and-Run Driver

A parked car was hit by another car on Park St. Wednesday evening, but the driver of the offending car did not stay around to report it.

The parked car belonged to George Mason, 417 Dublin St., who told police he had left his car near McDonnel St. about three in the afternoon. When he returned to it after eight o'clock, the left front fender had been badly damaged.

A witness said he had heard a crash about 6.50 p.m. He went out and saw something fall from a car going south. The car stopped a short distanee down the street and the driver started to walk back only to change his mind and return to his car and drive off.

The witness picked the part up and put it on a grass boulevard, but it had disappeared 15 minutes later.

Fontaine Given Three Months On Liquor Count

Joseph Fontaine was sentenced in Police Court today to three months after being found guilty of a charge of illegally keeping liquor for sale, today by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

He was also committed for trial in a preliminary hearing on a charge of threatening a witness, Kenneth Griffin, who testified against him on the bootlegging charge. Bail was set at $2,000.

Fontaine also faces trial on a charge of receiving a stolen outboard motor.

Sgt. Leo Murphy told the court he had had Fontaine's house under observation for a week before Oct. 30. During that time numerous people had been seen coming and going from the house at all hours of the night.

About 2.20 a.m. Oct. 30, Sergeant Murphy said he was parked in a police cruiser near Fontaine's house at 75 Park St. with Constable A. G. Edmison. They saw a taxi pull up near Fontaine's house and Griffin get out and go into Fontaine's house. A short time later they saw Griffin come out of the house carrying a case of beer. They took Griffin into custody.

The police obtained a search warrant and Constables Edmison William G. Scott and Andre Dalton raided the house. In it they found nine full cases of 2 pints of beer, two cases of 12 pints several empty cartons, cartons of empty bottles and a 25-ounce bottle of whiskey.

Griffin testified he had bought the case of beer from Fontaine for $7.

Fontaine said he had not sold the beer to Griffin. He told the court that two weeks previously Griffin had come to his house with a case of beer. They had drunk a couple of pints of Fontaine's beer each and Griffin had left the case of beer when he went. The night of the alleged offence, Fontaine said, Griffin was merely getting back the beer he had left.

In reply, Griffin said he had never been in Fontaine's house before the night of the alleged offence.

Defence counsel Saul H. Cohen Hamilton, argued there was not sufficient corroboration of Griffin's evidence to warrant a conviction.

"I have no hesitation in finding the accused guilty," Magistrate Philp said.

In the preliminary hearing of the charge of intimidation, Griffin testified he had called Fontaine aside the day they were both arraigned in court to tell him he was sorry the arrest had happened.

He said Fontaine had told him "You had better not tell them how you got it (the beer) or Ill get you for it."

From that he said he believed Fontaine was threatening to beat him up some time after the trial

A third charge against Fontaine of having obtained liquor by some other means than on his own permit was dismissed when the crown offered no evidence.

The youth said about half the members of the gang owned cars, purchased with their own money.

Fix Rent Boost

may encounter "legal difficulties" if the tenant refuses to vacate. The rule which prevents these types of vacating notices falling due in the winter has been lifted for the winter of 1950-51. It remains in effect for the winter of 1949-50.

5. Landlords who show "grievous financial hardship" will be permitted to regain possession of accommodation which they previously could not recover.

6. Houses erected by companies for use of their employees become free of rent controls.

7. The rental administration will hear cases where landlords want to regain possession of property to expand commercial enterprises.

8. The rental boosts will see the end of "sundry allowances" previously made. These included local increases to meet higher taxes, renovations and property improvement.

Discourage Decorating

Asked by reporters if he thought the removal of "sundry" allowances would discourage landlords from redecorating and maintaining property, Mr. Lobley said he believed it might discourage interior decoration but not outside repair and maintenance.

Landlords who apply for "sundry" increases will have their applications considered up to Dec. 15. After that date, their applications will be rejected.

Generally, the 20 and 25 per cent increases announced by Mr. Abbott a week ago will mean increase of 18 per cent and 22 per cent on current rentals, Mr. Lobley said.

Over-All Increases

It will bring the "general overall" increases since rents were frozen in 1941 to 30 and 40 per cent over the frozen levels.

The new method of computation will mean a slight saving, the administrator added. If the increases had been allowed to "pyramid," it would have meant additional increases of about 80 cents on a house now renting for $44 a month.

The landlord's offer to grant the new lease if the tenant accepts the rental hikes can be made any time after Dec. 15.

If the tenant declines the offer he will be given 30-days notice to vacate. Those who have long-term leases will not be affected until the leases expire.

Distinguish Terms

Mr. Lobley also indicated that one of the big headaches was to distinguish a self - contained dwelling from "rooms" or "lodgings."

"The distinguishing characteristic is whether the occupant is required by the terms of his lease to share a water-closet or some similar equipment with any other persons who is not a member of his household.

"If the occupant has the exclusive use of this equipment for himself and his household, the accommodation will be classified as a self-contained dwelling; otherwise, it will be classified as a lodging."

Those living in lodgings can be given six-months notice to vacate.

After a tenant vacates the accommodation becomes free of federal rent control.

If landlords and tenants agree to leases of two years or more, the amount of rent paid will be whatever the landlords and tenants agree on. This can be greater or smaller than the official ceilings.

But if the tenant takes the two-year lease, the landlord cannot evict him before the two years are up—even though the house may be sold in the meantime.

Spatting Women Need Milk Of Kindness

"A little of the milk of human kindness" to enable people to "love thy neighbor as thyself" was advocated Wednesday by Dr. Harold Worton, city food and dairy inspector at a meeting of the Board of Health, as the best cure for some of the troubles dealt with by his office.

"Complaints about rows between neighbors are becoming more and more frequent" he said "and we are expected to be the judge of situations which ought to be settled amicably."

"The rows are usually between women of course," said Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health. "Someone leaves a garbage can the wrong side of the fence and we are called to settle the dispute," Dr. Worton said.

"The women with new babies are the worst," Gene Clark, superintendent of Public Health nurses told the Board, comprised entirely of men, with the exception of herself.

Dr. Worton said some of the rows had been going on for 20 years and then he was called in to settle them.

So-Ed Plan Speakers For Winter Course

Dr. H. R. Kingston, director of the summer school of the University of Western Ontario, London, has accepted the request of the general committee of So-Ed to be one of the guest speakers on the So-Ed program this year. Numerous requests for a return lecture by Dr. Kingston, who was here three years ago, prompted the committee to ask Dr. Kingston to speak again.

Dr. M. M. Coady, director of extension at St. Francis Xavier University in Nova Scotia and president of the Canadian Association of Adult Education, is expected to be another guest speaker. The Bell Telephone Company will supply a speaker for one of the So-Ed nights with three more speakers yet to be chosen by the general committee.

The committee held a meeting Wednesday night in the YMCA. Mrs. C. K. Hurst presided over the meeting in the absence of Quirt McKinney.

Mother Saves Child In Belleville Fire

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 10 (CP).—Douglas Vance, 4, was rescued Wednesday by his mother, Mrs. Donald Vance, from their burning home at Chisholm's Rapids, 15 miles north of here.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance and four other children were outside the house in night clothes when one of the children remarked: "Douglas is still in there." Mrs. Vance rushed into the burning house, and returned a few minutes later with Douglas in her arms.

Three chairs were all the family managed to save from their eight-room home. The fire was believed to have started about 3:30 a.m. in the attic. The bedroom ceiling of the parents caved in just as they left it.

The family have been given lodging by neighbors and clothing was donated. Mr. Vance a few hours after the fire left for work at Chisholm grist mill.

"They are short-handed," he explained.

Marooned 7 Days Man Died Alone

PORT ARTHUR Nov. 10 (CP)—Harry O'Connor, whose body was found by police in Marathon Lighthouse Sunday, was alone and marooned at his post more than seven days while he lay dying, James Graham, Department of Transport official, said Wednesday.

The body of the Department of Transport employee was found in a bunk in the Lake Superior lighthouse near Marathon, 75 miles east of here. Rough seas have prevented removal of the body but Mr. Graham and a group of men reached the lighthouse in small outboard motorboats Tuesday.

First indication of O'Connor's illness came through the chance finding of a floating bottle near Marathon Monday. A note inside the bottle said:

"Come and get me first chance . . . Sick—almost died." It was dated Oct. 31.

Ballad Singing Features H and S Meeting

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10 — (ENS)—At the regular meeting of the Home and School Association on Wednesday ballad singing was introduced for the first time. Mrs. A. J. Armour gave an interesting talk on the early folk songs and the place they held in the life of the people.

She said that they were the worlds' first newspapers or informal history books. Minstrels ramed about the country putting the news of the day into song. These early ballads had humor, comedy, tragedy and pathos woven into their very texture.

She pointed out that the old folk songs mirrored the character of the people. The English ballads were simple; the Spanish, ornate; the Dutch and German, strong; and the American and Canadian lively.

The American folk song, "The Riddle," was sung by Mrs. Jack Cowell, "The Blue Tail Fly," American, by Mrs. H. R. Hendershot: and "Every Night When the Sun Goes In", American, by Mrs. J. Clark.

Other folk songs, led by Miss I. Stephen, were rendered. Mrs. George Nicholls was at the piano.

Dr. Lloyd Richardson, local dentist, gave three reasons why only 25 per cent. of the Canadian people receive adequate dental care.

They were: ignorance of the benefits of dental protection, fear of pain, and the unwillingness to meet the cost.

He pointed out that parents could prevent early decay in their children's teeth by following four rules. Regular and frequent examinations, the need of operative dentistry, discontinuing the use of artificial sugars and using a safe neutralizing dentifrice.

Mrs. F. Davey gave a report on the Regional Conference held at Havelock on Oct. 28. Dr. Richardson was introduced by the President, Mrs. C. A. Newman, and Mrs. Sid Hopping moved the vote of thanks.

EYE TOPICS

HOW RED IS RED?

The human eye, product of about a billion years of evolution, has learned by experience and it clings tenaciously to the lessons of that experience. Look at a ripe strawberry in bright sunlight. It is unmistakably red. Look at it again in the twilight or in the dim orange light of a candle. It still seems red although the light has changed its color value. In the same way, the pages of a book always seem white, rewardless of the light.

Perhaps the brain is telling us that the strawberry is red an the printed page white, no matter what the eye may see. Psychologists speak of "memory color," and say that the mind paints things as they should be.

Others say that we always relate colors to backgrounds. A gray piece of cloth seen on a white ground in red light appears blue-green, and on a black ground it appears red.

At any rate, artists make allowances for the eye when they paint objects, so that their paintings will be accepted as true representatives of reality. Thus, to make a vermilion cube look convincing, they paint the brightly lighted face scarlet and the shadowed face crimson. But the real cube actually is the same red on all sides.

Our eyes tell us a great deal about color. Still they can be fooled under certain conditions, and faulty eyes are fooled more easily than normal ones.

The Flour Combine And The Delayed Report

The Opposition has a strong point in the present dispute at Ottawa arising from the resignation of the Combines Commissioner, Mr. F. A. McGregor, and his report on the flour and milling industry. According to law, that report, which was dated December 29, 1948, should have been tabled within fifteen days after being received by the Minister of Justice; it was not tabled until last Monday, and then only because Mr. McGregor's resignation forced the issue. As Parliament sat from January 26 until April 30, there was plenty of time to table the report, but the fact was that the Government did not want it to be tabled, and it was set aside at the bidding of the Cabinet. Thus the Cabinet has taken upon itself to overreach the law of the land, and the Opposition would be lax if it did not protest vigorously against such an assumption of power.

• • •

It appears that it is the intention of the Government to strengthen the Combines Investigation Act; proceedings taken under the Act as it stands have broken down because the Act is faulty. But this does not excuse delay in tabling the report on the milling industry. The mere tabling of a report does not commit the Government to legal action, nor does it imply Government approval of the report. As Mr. Garson said in the House on Monday, the Government "may have been guilty of an error in judgement"; the Opposition will try to show that the Government was guilty of more than that. And certainly a Government which forgets the law for its own convenience needs to have its memory jogged.

• • •

Mr. McGregor's report, which is long and complex, presents evidence that a number of large milling firms banded together to keep up the prices of flour and kindred products, supposedly against the public interest. The defence of the milling industry is that it did what it did at the request of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, and Mr. Donald Gordon supports the milling industry in this assertion. So does Mr. Howe, who was the Minister to whom the Prices Board was responsible. Neither of these gentlemen has shown any hesitation about coming to the defence of the industry. The reason for their attitude, given in the simplest terms is (a) that the wartime economy of Canada was very carefully balanced, and fluctuation in the price of mill products was thought to be dangerous to it, and (b) that the milling industry was asked to make special efforts during the war and had to be given some measure of protection in return. The complications of the case are many, but the facts remain that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board proved, in the main, that it knew what it was doing with our wartime economy, and that the milling industry did a magnificent job in supplying produce which was badly needed overseas.

It may be argued that such arrangements between government and industry accord ill with our laws against combines. That is a matter for experts in the laws against combines to decide; few branches of law are so confusing. Since 1889 Canada has been trying to develop a workable law against combines, and it is still without one. The law of 1889 was a failure; so was the attempt to restrain combines under provisions in the Customs Act; the Laurier government's attempt to make it illegal to restrain trade unduly ran aground on the difficulty of defining "unduly". There was a Combines Investigation Act in 1910; during the First Great War it was replaced by a Board of Commerce; another Act was passed in 1923, when Mr. McGregor became Commissioner; it received a new lease of life in 1937. But all these acts and measures have had one grave fault: they have been hard to enforce because it is very hard to decide when a combine becomes prejudicial to the public good.

The Government's refusal to discuss the matter cannot, of course, last for long. When it is debated again the Opposition will no doubt do its best to get a clear statement from the Government as to why a report was laid aside, contrary to law. Whether the Opposition will ask for prosecution on the basis of the report remains to be seen; the political value of such a manoeuvre will no doubt be carefully weighed.

Veterans Passing Out

University enrolments across Canada have decreased noticeably this autumn, although courses and quarters are still crowded. But the post-war deluge of students has subsided because most veterans have graduated from their three and four year courses. At Queen's University, for instance, the enrolment has dropped from 3,200 in 1947, to 2,900 in 1948, to 2,600 this year. Only 55 veterans are now attending Queen's. Veterans' places have been taken by a new generation of matriculated school pupils for whom the preference given veterans immediately after the war was often seriously restrictive. Only matriculants with high averages could be accepted because of the lack of room.

Among the rehabilitation benefits, the most expensive in proportion to the number of veterans receiving them was the provision for a university education. No doubt there will be a full accounting of the costs to the Government, which included fees, allowances to the student-veterans families, and part of the cost of housing them in the university towns. There is little doubt that the cost to the country will be more than compensated for by the benefits to the nation as a whole. They cannot be measured in dollars. University heads and professors have reported glowingly on the splendid way the student-veterans responded to their courses. Many graduated with distinction. Now most of them have departed to engage in business, industry and the professions. The coming years will demonstrate the value of the great educational measure, as the veterans make their ways in their chosen fields and give their interests and talents to the communities in which they take up residence.

The part played by the universities and staffs is to be highly praised. Confronted with thousands of additional students, they quickly adapted curricula and time-tables, expanded their resources to the breaking-point, and were able to accept every fully-qualified veteran and to give him sound instruction and enough of college atmosphere to make the alma mater vital.

The Federal Government in conjunction with Provincial authorities and the universities may well consider ways of extending to able and deserving young people similar financial help to enable them to undertake university training which would not only benefit the individuals, but through them, the country.

The New House Of Commons

Hitler destroyed the House of Commons in a deliberate air attack in May, 1941. If it was an attempt to wound mortally the Mother of Parliaments it did not succeed. Parliament continued to meet elsewhere without disruption of traditional forms and daily business. Next year it hopes to meet in a new building now rising on the foundations of the old.

The new House of Commons was designed by Sir Giles Gilbert Scott, the architect of Liverpool and Coventry cathedrals. Parliament decided under the pleas of Mr. Churchill that the new House should not only stand where the old had been; but that also its shape and size should not be greatly altered. Government and Opposition will sit facing each other across a narrow gangway, which has played its part in the development of the two-party system, and the intimacy of the Chamber will be preserved. It will have the old air of a House, not of a European or American governmental semi-circular amphitheatre.

The finest of Clipsham stone from reopened quarries, the finest of oak from trees up to 250 years old, and the best British craftsmen will make the new building both sound and traditional. But the plans and materials and workmanship do not exclude the use of cunning modern techniques to make the House comfortable and serviceable. An elaborate ventilating, air-conditioning and heating system is being installed. (A bronze panel hidden under the carpet, and kept at eighty degrees F. will warm Members' feet.) All these arrangements will be under the control of an engineer in a small room below the chamber, who will watch proceedings through a periscope. Lighting and acoustics have been improved; for instance, 456 loud-speakers will be concealed in the building—about one to every two persons—to give an even diffusion of sound.

And so the fabric of the new House of Commons is rising. But the world which has patterned its democratic procedure on Britain's Parliament knows it is more than a building. As Prime Minister Attlee said when the foundation stone was laid last year: "It is a living fellowship changing in membership and practice but in essence always the same."

U.S.A. And World Problems

From FRANCIS WILLIAMS
In Washington

THREE factors are likely in the immediate future to play a dominating part in America's domestic policy and in her attitude towards international economic affairs. They must be taken fully into account by European and other nations in assessing the American response to world problems. These factors are: first, the immense federal budget deficit with which America is now certain to be faced next year; second, the growing fear that American industry may be faced with a period of industrial disputes even if the coal and steel strikes are settled within a reasonable period; and third, the accumulating evidence that American capital is less willing to take risks than formerly.

◇ ◇ ◇

EVEN for an economy as wealthy as that of America, a budget deficit of 5,500 million dollars—which is what is expected when the fiscal year ends next June—is a serious one—the more so as it is 4,600 million dollars higher than the official forecast at the beginning of this year.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS, indeed, is miscalculation on a heroic scale, for the deficit is likely to be at this tremendous level despite cuts both in national defence and in foreign aid compared with the original estimates. It faces Congress sharply both with the need for economy and, as the President has already warned, new taxes. But Congress has already refused to endorse one tax increase asked for by the President, and the business recession has brought a fall-off in receipts from existing taxation.

◇ ◇ ◇

FOR this latter reason Congressmen argue, and are likely to continue to argue, that new taxes will provide a fresh set-back to industrial recovery hopes and must be avoided. Moreover, apart from direct taxation federal and State taxes on almost everything the ordinary consumer buys, including restaurant meals, have risen sharply and make a direct impact on the pockets and minds of electors.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT is true, of course, that compared with Britain, for example, the tax burden is not great. It is also true that budget deficits are not now regarded as seriously by governments and economists as they once were. Nevertheless, taxation does hit the ordinary American much more than most people outside America realize, and a budget deficit of the order now forecast cannot, even by those who accept the modern theory of long-term rather than short-term budget balancing, be altogether ignored.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE is also the fact that 1950 is an election year, and an election year—even a mid-term one—is not a good time to ask Congress either to agree to new taxes or carry through domestic economies. It is inevitable, therefore, that this budget deficit will play a big part in influencing Congressional attitudes to foreign aid and especially to what is regarded as European reluctance to make rapid enough progress in developing its own markets and thus advancing nearer to self-support.

◇ ◇ ◇

THOSE budgetary anxieties will inevitably be increased if there is a period of industrial uncertainty affecting corporation profits and wage-earners' incomes and consuming power. And, ironically, many industrial leaders are now becoming anxious that even aside from the coal and steel strikes and even after they are settled there may be a long period of disturbance because of a development of which in principle they thoroughly approve—the explusion of the Communist-dominated unions by the Congress of Industrial Organizations. Industrialists fear that this will lead to a long period of inter-union warfare, with possibly the organization of a new Left-wing organization of the expelled and their supporters and to raids by rival unions on each other's membership—all of which would result in industrial disturbance.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS fear has reached a particularly extreme form on the west coast waterfront where many shipping employers now openly regret the federal action for perjury against Bridges, leader of the Longshoremen's Union, for denying under oath that he was a Communist. They fear that if Bridges' union breaks up as a result a period of actual violence will result on the waterfront while the rival unions fight it out and trade will be brought to near standstill until victory goes to one or the other.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE fear in other industries is not quite so acute as this, but considerable disturbances which could have a serious effect on industry are considered possible—though the ultimate victory of the non-Communist unions is considered certain. All this must be taken into account in assessing American public attitudes in the immediate future which may show increasing reluctance to carry heavy economic burdens.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE third factor is less immediate but is of considerable long-term significance, particularly in relation to hopes of large-scale American private investment in overseas developments. It has been highlighted by two facts. One is that common business in stocks—stocks into which what is known as risk capital normally goes—is and seems to be remaining at a record low level on Wall Street. The other is that investment analyses show that private savings are increasingly going not into industrial investment but into insurance and trust funds which cannot by law be used for possibly risky investment in new projects for industrial expansion.

THESE two facts point to a situation in which American investors appear to be increasingly unwilling to take the kind of risks they used to take. For this reason, it is argued, it will be difficult to persuade them to put up investment capital for new overseas developments which cannot in the nature of things provide an absolute guarantee of security.

It is, of course, possible to overestimate the significance of all these factors. They should not lead to excessively pessimistic conclusion; but they should be borne in minds.

The Windows Of Chartres

By LORD DUNSANY

APPROACHING Chartres by the road from Paris on a day in which the distance was hazy, I saw from a few miles away the shapes of two spires in the haze and gradually their grey grew darker, till it appeared distinctly darker than the haze, and was clearly the outline of Chartres cathedral. My next memory of it is from quite close, where its green roof gleamed with that colour that only the ages give, and the southern of its two spires rose over it on the one side in grey simplicity, and the northern one, built long ago, but hundreds of years later rose more ornate on the other. And then I was standing before the western door among a crowd of saints, shaped so delicately in stone that had mellowed so long that they looked as though they had been carved in wood.

To enter Chartres cathedral is an experience like no other on earth, for like all great works of art it is unique. One feels at once that one has entered a great calm, and that reason cannot interpret it or words describe it. The pillars go up, each one in delicate clusters, as though stalks of gigantic flowers had been gathered and turned into stone. But the wonder of Chartres is its glass. To turn round half-way up the aisle and look towards the West is to see a conception of Heaven held by old workers whose art is lost, a blue intenser than that of the sky, shining in four windows, with colours in an oriel window above them more brilliant than those of the dawn. Below this vision of Heaven in glass shone Earth intensely bright through the keyhole of the great door, the small green light of sunshine flashing from grass.

All the way round the dimness of the cathedral is luminous with the glory of this old glass, for flying buttresses outside carry much of the weight of the roof, so that the whole strength of the walls is not needed, and much of them was able to be spared from their solemner, grimmer work and given over to the beauty of glass. Here and there old disasters shattered some windows, for many disasters have come to Chartres, and these windows were replaced with good glass hundreds of years ago, but after the art that coloured the others was lost.

Since Chartres is like nothing else, no comparison with it could ever be apt, and yet standing in the glow of those wonderful windows, I was somehow little surprised that the memory came to me of Abu Simbul. Yet they are two unique dim things lit with a marvellous light, though the wonder of the light of Abu Simbul is brief, and Chartres is gleaming all day. Certainly no one who has ever seen the blue western windows of Chartres or dawn coming into the temple of Abu Simbul deep in the heart of its hill will ever forget either.

All round the eastern end of the cathedral, in a great semicircle about the altar, are carvings in stone of scenes of the New Testament, done before mass-production was dreamed of in any nightmare. And at the extreme eastern end a little flight of narrow stairs goes up to a tiny chapel, so bright with light from its coloured windows that it reminded me of morning in lands a long way to the South. Underneath it all is a crypt in which Druids worshipped once, and, pagan though they were, they seem to have found the place holy, or made it so by their aspiration, so that Christians nearly a thousand years ago chose that spot for their own worship and built the cathedral there.

AN old idol of wood that the Druids used to worship was discovered in that crypt, like abominations in high places told of in the Old Testament; and for the sake of its antiquity the little abomination was spared though its shape was taken away, and it was carved into an image of the Virgin Mary, and then burnt in one of the disasters that came upon Chartres, and later a copy of it was carved from other wood, which is there to this day.

From the crypt one comes up to the bright air of day and looks out over the town and surrounding country lying below in the sunlight, and goes from that back to the soaring pillars and the old dreams of Heaven handed down the ages by glass, for one could never tire of the interior of Chartres cathedral. As we came away a clock high up in a tower told the time to the town, and we listend to the chiming of the quarters, expecting some great bell to boom the hour. But chimes and bell were only a musical tinkle. So might a queen of Elfland summon her fairies, and just be heard across the borders of Earth.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

There was a man sent from God, whose name was John. The same came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all men through him might believe....

That was the true Light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world....

He came unto his own, and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God. (John 1: 6, 7, 9, 11-13.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Lie not one to another, seeing that ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him. (Col. 3: 9, 10.)

For the earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the sons of God. For the creature was made subject to vanity, not willingly, but by reason of him who hath subjected the same in hope, because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. Famous Plays Staged In Puppet Theatre

A new use for the old technique of the puppet theatre—to present famous plays by authors from various countries—has been perfected in the German town of Braunschweig. There, Professor Harro Siegel, an authority on theatrical art and the history of drama, is staging marionette productions of plays by such dramatists as Strindberg, Thornton Wilder and Goethe. So successful are these marionnette dramas, that there is now a permanent marionette theatre in Braunschweig, as well as a special training centre for marionnette players.

The skill of the marionnette player is a particularly delicate one, and considerable training and a special aptitude for this reduced kind of theatrical art are required. Preparations for the staging of a play, with marionnnettes about 25 inches tall, are very intricate. Each marionnette has to be specially carved, painted and dressed for every play.

The Plowing Match

Unanimously and unintentionally the Ontario Plowmen's Association have shaped the destiny and sealed the fate of Ontario agriculture. We are now and must remain a vast province of plowmen.

New fangled ideas about soil tillage may come, and come rapidly on the farms. They may even be demonstrated at the International Plowing Match; but as an attraction they will prove to be inconsequential. The lure of the plowing match is something intangible, indefinable, unexplainable. The Ontario Plowmen's Association possess something that showmen would like very much to comprehend and master.

Even the Plowmen's Association don't know what it is. They don't need to know. their main problem is to keep the International Plowing Match and Farm Machinery Demonstration from growing more colossal than it is.—Farmers' Advocate.

2 Men Burned In Refrigerator

SYDNEY, N.S., Nov. 10 (CP)—Two men were burned to death when trapped inside a flaming refrigerator compartment and another suffered critical burns.

Dead are Ralph Doncaster, about 30; H. Morrison, about 50.

Jack Nicholson, 30, was taken to hospital in critical condition.

The three were installing a refrigerator when a gasoline torch exploded. Pitch and tar being used on the job caught fire.

Nicholson rushed outside, his clothes aflame. A passing motorist stripped off his clothing and took him to hospital.

"I DON'T TRUST no banks." Miss Louisa Schmidt, 80, holds up some of the bills found pinned to her undergarments when she wasarrested in Los Angeles on a charge of begging. A policewoman found $2,122 in currency on the elderly woman, who explained, "I don't trust no banks."

4 Million Jewel Thief Paroled Will Be Met By More Police

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—The man rated by police as one of the biggest jewel thieves of all time will leave prison next week—only to face some old counts left over from his heyday.

Arthur Barry, now 59 and white-haired, admitted at least 100 burglaries and his loot was estimated by police departments and insurance companies at between $4,000,000 and $10,000,000, of which only $50,000 ever was recovered.

Barry is to be paroled next Tuesday from Sing Sing. He will be met by police with eight yellowed bench-warrants left over from the 100,000 robbery of financier Jesse Livermore.

But District Attorney Frank Gulotta of Nassau County admits he doesn't know how much of a case he has against Barry.

Said Gulotta of the eight warrants charging Barry with first-degree assault, robbery and burglary in the Livermore case:

Doesn't Know Score

"I don't know what I can do with them. District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards is dead. County Judge Lewis J. Smith is dead. Chief of detectives Harold R. King, is retired, and most of the detectives are dead or retired. But Barry will be arraigned anyway, next Wednesday or Thursday."

Livermore committed suicide nine years ago. The Livermore robbery dates back to May 20, 1927, and it was that robbery that proved the undoing of Barry and his partner, Earl Monaghan, known as Boston Billy.

They were captured and tried in 1927 on a number of indictments. Barry testified against Monaghan, who was sentenced to 50 years, and died in prison of tuberculosis. Barry was sent to prison for 25 years.

In July of 1929 he and three other men led a riot of 1,700 convicts in Auburn prison. Two men were killed. Barry and his accomplices escaped.

He was recaptured in New Jersey in October, 1932, and was sentenced to an additional 25 years.

For three years before 1927 Barry and Monaghan were the bane of insurance companies and police departments. They moved in the best society on Long Island and in Florida, attending parties and studying the homes of their hosts with an eye to robbery.

Petes Yank Out a 4-4 Draw Against Meteors In Fair Tilt

Gus Leonard's goal—his second of the night—with two and a half minutes to go gave the Petes a 4-4 draw with Lindsay Meteors in their exhibition puck tilt at Civic Arena last night before 600 fans. It was 1-1 in the first frame and 3-all to end the second of a speedy, scrambly and pretty even joust, which started 20 minutes late when the ice wasn't ready. Of the 14 penalties handed out, the Petes drew six, and the game was enlivened toward the finish by a couple of minor fist fights which threatened to spread. Several heated arguments by the players had the referees in hot water at times, these rival squads of last year taking the exhibition seriously.

Two Starred

Two Petes' newcomers, Gus Leonard and Murray Fife, stood out all the way. Ron Horton also looked good, with Ted Collins turning in a neat effort most of the route. The rest generally worked hard but it was a typical early-season struggle with a lot of missed passes and shinny shown in each chukker. The new Petes gave promise of being strong with more work together. Ray Harding didn't fan on any in this fray. The pick of the visitors were DeLaat, Williams, Sherban, Formica and Lynn.

Montgomery and Tompkins went off early for roughing, with McMasters later going for boarding. All were back when Horton got a neat one in close, but DeLaat balanced it when he scored after Ray saved on Formica well out Spragg was gated for boarding and just got back when he drew a tripping penalty after Legrow tested Lynn. DeLaat drew a minor misconduct for slapping the puck away from the referee as the period wound up in a heated argument.

Petes Ahead

Leonard put the Petes up early in the second with an angle screened shot. Sadler tried Harding and then Fife made it 3-1 when he took Collins' pass and weaved in fast to fool Lynn. Williams was robbed as Meteors swarmed in repeatedly, with Formica finally hitting the hemp on a corner pass out from DeLaat The line of Mortimer-Griffin-Quigley threatened but Sherban tied the count as he got right on Harding's doorstep to ring the bell. West and Garvey came close on a thrust, with a Wasson-Tompkins try also nearly clicking. Collins got the finger for tripping but was back near the close when Leonard had Lynn hopping to save.

Sherban batted home Montgomery's pass—which looked offside—to open the third and it was fast, even and scrambly all the way. DeLaat was thefted on a break and Fife and Sweeney drew minors for tossing gentle punches. McMasters and Montgomery got majors for mixing harder in what threatened to be a free-for-all, Kewley and Harding also getting minors for being more or less in on it—and Mortimer served Harding's sentence. Leonard rapped home the equalizer in close on passes from West and Garvey late in the stanza, and Sadler was thumbed away for hooking as confusion over penalties reigned just before the gong.

Meteors: Goal, Lynn; defence, Butler and Sadler, centre, Formica, wings, DeLaat and Brooks, alternates Kewley, Williams, Montgomery, Sherban, Parks, Spragg, Munro and Sweeney.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Horton and Leonard; centre, West; wings, Garvey and Creighton; alternates Jopling, Coughlin, Fife, Tompkins, Collins, McMasters, Legrow, Marshall, Griffin, Quigley, Mortimer, Wasson and Conlin.

Referees, P. Calladine and T. Giardino.

34 Penalties Dished Out As Flyers Win

By The Canadian Press.

Referee James Crombie had his work cut out for him at a junior hockey game in Barrie Wednesday night.

The Bowmanville official meted out a total of 34 penalties—including four majors and two misconducts — as he toiled through a hectic game between Barrie Flyers and Stratford Kroehlers. The Flyers won the tilt 9-5.

Each team got 14 minor penalties, Barrie got three of the four majors.

The victory moved the Flyers into sole possession of second place—two points behind Toronto Marlboros.

In two other games last night, Marlboros gained an 8-0 win over the seventh-place Oshawa Generals and the lowly Windsor Spitfires trounced the fifth-place Galt Black Hawks 12-4.

Paces Flyers

At Barrie, big Red McCarthy found time during the penalty-riddled contest to pace the Flyers with a four-goal performance. Stan Long got two goals, while Enso Zanatta, Rick Hogg, and Loinel Barber got singles.

Moe Galand, Bibber O'Hearn Dinny Flanagan, Jim Pernfuss, and Wiliams tallied one each for the losers.

The Flyers took a 4-3 lead in the first period, tallied three unanswered goals in the second, and then split four goals in the final session.

At Oshawa, Larry Regan came up with a four-goal display to lead his Dukes to their eighth victory in 10 starts.

Other Marlboro marksmen were George Armstrong with two goals and Jack McKenzie and Murray Grenke with one each.

The Generals stayed with the Flying Dukes for the first two periods despite goals by Grenke in the opening session and a pair by Regan and Armstrong in the middle period. In the third period they wilted completely and gave up three goals.

It was the Spitfires' fourth victory in nine starts and gave them possession of eighth place in the nine-team loop.

Eddie Joss, a pint-sized centre from Saskatoon, paced the Spitfires with three goals. Earl Reibel, Ed Stankiewicz and Johnny Bailey sniped two apiece and singles went to Glen Skov, Erwin Grosse, and Mike Delich.

Pete Conacher led the Black Hawks with two markers. Others went to Ken Green and Tudy Horvath.

All information regarding the Neill Trophy bonspiel is on the bulletin board located at the west end of the waiting room. Skips take notice.

Word has been received that seven rinks from Bobcaygeon are coming down by bus on Friday evening for a friendly game.

And speaking about Bobcaygeon, we understand that the 'Caygeon curlers intend building a new curling rink—four sheets of artificial ice in their Exhibition grounds—they have already 16 pairs of matched stones We join with all curlers in wishing them the best of luck.

With artificial curling ice in Peterborough and Lindsay and with a new curling rink in Keene in use this season, and prospects of artificial curling ice in Bobcaygeon, it looks as if this "old man's game" is on the up and up in this neck of the woods.

All ices were going last night and the boys are getting ready for next Monday—the season schedule commences then.

Many ladies were out yesterday afternoon. Their schedule starts next Monday.

Now they are telling the story about the young man going back to the hospital—he took a turn for the nurse.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

The shades of eve were falling fast when o'er the Quinte line was passed a ball which snuggled on the chest of a guy who yelled: "Excelsior!" A PCVS guy, of course, of senior vintage. With the winning touchdown. Ditto, we trust, with the junior PCI-ers, but their sudden-death COSSA semi-final with Belleville will be over earlier, as this match starts at one p.m. tomorrow in [illegible] It is followed then by the return tilt of the senior COSSA semi-windup series betwixt Belleville and Peterborough Collegiates. A swell grid twin bill for Friday fans, and some fine football is a certainty. It will be the last local look at our juniors, as COSSA finals are away.

Canadian Sport Monthly arrives, and we note a piece in it about the retirement of H. M. Campbell here as president of the Outboard Marine Co. of Canada. It outlines his career—as was done earlier in this paper—calling him the pioneer of the outboard motor industry in Canada. Our own acquaintance with Hugh Campbell goes back to the mid-30s when he assumed the presidency of the Petes' senior ball club and brought in Knotty Lee as coach. Knotty in turn bringing in Eddie Murphy, Chuck Kearns and other classy ballsters. Mr. Campbell also took an active interest in golf, basketball, rugby and minor hockey. We hope he continues his interest in local sports.

Junior Joust On Tap

Good news for puck fans—an OHA junior "B" exhibition is on tap at Civic Arena tomorrow night at 8.30. And the teams will be last year's good group finalists, North Toronto Lions and the Oddfellows. They had a swell playoff series last year (a rough one, too) ere Lions eked out the win. Most of those Lions are back again, while Bun Kingdon has a lot of changes in the IOOF-ers, so this will be a stiff test for the young Petes. There'll be action galore when these husky youths tear into each other on fast ice, so don't pass it up if you like speedy and sustained puck activity. Toronto Morris A.C. will play the Triple Links here next week, we hear.

* * * * * *

It wasn't exactly NHL hockey down at Civic Arena last p.m., nor even senior "B" as it should be played. Nevertheless, this is only early November and you can't expect the same brand of hockey in the autumn as you'll see, say, in February. Give the boys time to make the acquaintance of new chaps on the squad. Couple of new guys—Gus Leonard, late of the TVL, and Murray Fife of senior "A" up Owen Sound way—looked right impressive. So did several of the other johnny-come-latelys. And some of the homebrews, including Ron Horton and Ted Collins. A few more, also, but (like Legion) the team needs a lot of polishing to really click up to form. They drew 4-4 with a scrappy Meteors' outfit.

* * * * * *

Game didn't get underway till 10 to nine, 20 minutes late. But both teams were on hand in good time. Trouble was that the ice was in use till a quarter to eight for a practice, and then had to be cleaned and flooded—so it wasn't either team's fault this time. Confusion was in the saddle near the finish as a few gentle fights broke out and penalties came thick and fast. If we get space here shortly, we'll explain the business of delayed penalties as some of the players (as well as the fans) don't seem to understand it. This classy forward, Murray Fife (No. 18), is captain of the Petes for the season, Coach Ed Foley informs us, with Freddy Garvey assistant and Drake Jopling alternate.

* * * * * *

Frank Buckland of the OHA is trying to arrange groupings up this way. The suggested senior "B" setup would have the two local clubs in with two Belleville teams(Diesels and Northern Electric) and with Kingston Nylons. Running from later this month till out in March. If this suits the clubs, Convener Lorne Cook of Kingston will likely call a Quinte meeting Sunday to draw up a schedule. It might make for four jaunts each for Petes and Legion to Kingston, but it should mean good hockey. The idea then would have the Toronto teams of Meteors, Stouffville, Markham and another in a separate group. Or having an interlocking schedule with our group. Frank would convene a junior "B" meeting shortly if Oddfellows, Oshawa, Belleville and Kingston are satisfied in a grouping together. Oshawa, at present, is uncertain.

Ball Player Swears He's Far From Dead

CROVILLE, Calif., Nov. 10 (AP)—Bill James, who swears—with lots of support—that he is the Bill James of the 1914 Boston Braves, said Wednesday night he got several telephone calls "about my untimely death."

The question of identity arose after a veterans' hospital in Kecoughtan, Va., announced a Bill James died there—and that he was the 1914 Braves' world series pitching hero.

In San Francisco, Walter Mails, former major league and Pacific Coast League pitcher, threw some light on the mixup. He said there were two Bill James in professional baseball at the same time—but the one from Oroville played for Boston.

Richard Pushes Habitants To 2-2 Tie With Rangers

By JACK MITCHELL, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

In the clouds of gloom, rolling out from the Montreal Canadiens management, a silver lining must be the way Richard is rocketing again.

The Canadiens top brass has made no bones about a feeling the National Hockey League club is carrying too many (as yet unnamed) "passenger types." But it's certain they aren't putting the finger on the fiery Maurice.

The 28-year-old product of Montreal amateur ranks scored both goals Wednesday night as Canadiens played a 2-2 deadlock with the Rangers at New York. That gives him nine for the season—almost half of the weak-scoring Habitants 11-game total of 21.

The draw with the fifth place Rangers saved the fast-dropping Canucks from being forced to share their third position. In the only other game, Charlie Conacher's rising Chicago Black Hawks whipped the last-place Bruins 3-1 at Boston. The Hawks now are one point behind Canadiens.

Get Another Chance

The Habitants will get a chance to pull away again in the only game tonight before Saturday starts a six game week-end card But their opponents at Montreal are Hap Day's tough Toronto Maple Leafs, two points ahead of Montreal in second place and as many behind the leading Detroit Red Wings.

Wednesday night's two mid-week games drew surprisingly slim crowds. There were only 10,074 in the 13,900-capacity Boston Garden. The 11,417 at New York was Madison Square Garden's smallest of the season and about 4,000 below capacity.

The Rangers-Canadiens deadlock was the eighth tie in the 32 NHL games so far this season, now about one-sixth over.

Richard's two tallies, both in the first period at New York, brought the Rocket's lifetime NHL total to 216 in his seventh full season.

Move Fast

It was as well for Canadiens that Richard twice beat goalie Chuck Rayner in the first period at New York. The Rangers sandwiched a goal by rookie defenceman Gus Kyle between these two and finished the scoring at 5:16 of the third period when Jean-Paul Denis and Alex Kaleta helped Edgar Laprade beat big Bill Durnan.

Left winger Roy Conacher paced Chicago to their victory at Boston. Coach Charlie's brother broke a 1-1 tie with a second-period goal and set up Doug Bentley for a clincher in the final frame. Rookie Phil Maloney had given Boston the first-period tie after Gaye Stewart put the Hawks in front.

The victory was the second successive for Chicago goalie Frankie Brimsek over his old mates on the Bruins, who sold him to the the Hawks for $25,000 between seasons.

Boston now has gone seven games without victory their only point in that string coming last Saturday night when they tied Canadiens 3-3 in Montreal.

Bisons Trounce Mohawks 7-1

By The Canadian Press.

Once more Buffalo Bisons and New Haven Ramblers find themselves sharing first place in the eastern division of the American Hockey League.

The Bisons and Ramblers have been jockeying for that top spot since the season began and have been deadlocked on several occasions.

Buffalo moved into contention again Wednesday night whipping the hapless Cincinnati Mohawks 7-1 in a wild encounter while the Ramblers were idle.

Meanwhile the amazing Springfield Indians moved to within one point of the leaders by edging Hershey Bears 4-3 at Springfield before 2,500 joyous fans. It marked the sixth straight game without defeat for the Indians.

In the only other game Wednesday night, Pittsburgh Hornets eked out a 4-3 victory over St. Louis Flyers.

At Buffalo several fist fights commanded more attention than the hockey game.

The Mohawk's fiery rearguard Joe Lepine and Paul Meger started things with a first-period fight. Both drew major penalties.

Then in the third frame Charlie Gagnon tangled with the Bisons' Wilf Field. Gagnon received a minor and a major, Field a major. When they renewed hostilities in the penalty box, each was given an additional 10-minute misconduct sentence.

Lepine and Meger came to blows again in the closing minutes with the former drawing a major and misconduct and Meger a minor.

Spoil Renfrew Debut

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 — (CP) — Ottawa Army spoiled Renfrew's debut in the Eastern Canada Senior Hockey League Wednesday night, downing Lions 9-3 in the second game of a scheduled twin-bill. Cornwall Caltmets defeated RCAF Flyers 5-3 in the opening contest.

Underdog Alouettes Crush Ottawa Rough Riders

By VIC MORRIS, Jr.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10—(CP)—The underdog Montreal Alouettes came up with a change of pace Wednesday when they crushed Ottawa Rough Riders 22-7 in the first game of the big four football league's two-game, total-point championship series before a chilled Wednesday afternoon crowd of 15,272. The game, which saw the Riders kick off as 7-5 favorites, was the climax of a bitter controversy between the two clubs over the question of night and day football. Alouettes, bent on collecting a rich gate that 22,000 customers were expected to contribute for the game under floodlights, were forced to play in the daylight after Ottawa appealed to the league executive for a decision.

Saturday's big four winner will go on to meet the Ontario Rugby Football Union champion which will either be Hamilton Tigers or Sarnia Imperials. No date has been set for the O.R.F.U.—big four playoff.

It was a near-perfect performance for the Montrealers, who now have only beaten the Riders twice in five meetings. The statistics proved that the Montrealers were true victors.

Alouettes chalked up 25 firs downs against Ottawa's 17, gained 320 yards over the ground as against Riders' 219, and made 93 through the air against 90.

Montreal attempted 17 forward passes, completing eight and none intercepted while Ottawa tried 16, completed five, and had one interception.

Flinging Frankie Filchock was in good form as he tossed touchdown passes to Ralph Toohy and Tommy Manastersky for two of Montreal's touchdowns. Bobby Cunningham, playing his best game of the season, scored a major when he recovered a fumble and scampered over the goal line. Glen Douglas accounted for the other major.

Ottawa's only touchdown was the result of a Howie Turner effort in the first quarter. His 30-yard heave to Bob Paffrath climaxed a strong Riders' drive. Eric Chipper converted.

Ottawa's other point was scored late in the second quarter by Turner who booted to the deadline.

Ches McCance, suffering from a badly-bruised leg, was able to put the injured limb into operation to convert two of the four Montreal majors.

It was on a third down with eight yards to go at the Ottawa 14 when Filchock fired a bullet pass to Toohy for Montreal's first touchdown that came in the second quarter, McCance converted but shortly after Turner booted his single.

In the third quarter the Montrealers were waltzing away from their visitors. Ottawa's Karpuk fumbled a 60 yard hoist by Freddy Kijek on the Ottawa goal line and fast-running Douglas snared the ball and dived headfirst across the line for the winning touchdown. In the same quarter Filchock again drilled a pass from the Ottawa 14 and this time Manastersky went over for the major.

In the final quarter, Cunningham went spinning around right end to complete the afternoon's touchdown scoring. McCance converted.

Ottawa was without Tony (Golden Boy) Golab, out with a leg injury, and Montreal was minus Virgil Wagner, the circuit's top scorer. Wagner suffered an infected face shortly before game time and is unlikely to be in action Saturday.

Young Lester Felton, of Detroit, whose victory over Kid Gavilan last month touched off a boxing controversy, battled to a draw with tough Tony Pellone of New York at Detroit Wednesday night.

The decision set off a demonstration by an estimated 12,000 fans, most of whom apparently thought Felton had won.

Judges Johnny Webber and Lou Jallos each called at a 50-50 fight while referee Clarence Rosen voted for Felton by a 54-46 margin. Under Michigan's boxing rules it was a draw.

Felton, at 146½, had a one-pound advantage over his shorter foe.

Lady luck smiled on Felton when he won an unpopular decision over Kid Gavilan last Oct. 21 but she was not in his corner Wednesday night.

That Felton-Gavilan fight touched off a series of enquiries by the Boxing Commission and Police officials who sifted rumors that the fight had been fixed. Some of those inquiries are still under way.

Centre Cliff Simpson, leading scorer for St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League, didn't know it at the time, but he played in four games with a broken leg.

And during that time he scored two goals and was credited with an assist.

He was injured Oct. 27 in a game at New Haven, Conn., and thought he had sprained an ankle. He couldn't understand why the ankle continued to pain him when he removed tape from it after each game.

An X-ray examination after Simpson returned to St. Louis this week cleared up the mystery. He has a bone fracture two inches above the ankle.

Dr. Robert F. Hyland put the leg in a cast, and Simpson is on crutches. He probably will be out of action for three or four weeks.

Calumet Farm is splitting its one-two punch between California and Florida this winter, with Citation heading west to Santa Anita and Coaltown southbound for Hialeah.

In announcing plans for the 60-horse string quartered at Pimlico trainer Jimmy Jones indicated at Baltimore Wednesday that Citation will be pointed for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap.

A victory in this one would enable the famed son of Bull Lea-Hydroplane II to overtake Stymie as the greatest money winner of all time. Before coming up with a leg ailment which kept him out of competition this year, Citation had won $865,150—$50,less than Stymie.

Cincinnati Reds recently rejected a pair of big money bids by Brooklyn Dodgers for two of their top-flight pitchers, it was learned at Brooklyn Wednesday. A Dodger official admitted that a flat offer of $200,000 for right-hander Herman Wehmeier was turned down by the Reds' general manager Warren Giles. Another bid of $100,000 and a couple of unidentified players for veteral left-hander Kenhy Raffensberger met the same fate.

A team of Industrial League players is being formed to represent Kitchener in the Ontario Hockey Assocation this season. Officials said a franchise has been granted and they hope the team will operate in the Intermediate A Division. The team, however, may be given a beating.

Legion No. 6 vs. LOL No. 8; Glens No. 10 vs. Big Bens No. 1; SOE No. 3 vs. Legion No. 5; Treasurer's No. 9 vs. Legion No. 7; St. George's No. 2 vs. Quaker No. 4.

The Bakers invaded Old England and as in the days of yore the Sons rose to the task by repulsing them 14-5 in the first siege and on the Bakers' second assault almost massacred them 23-4.

The Quakers almost had the works of the Big Bens cluttered up with dust in the first parts of both encounters, but the Bens managed to clear their balance wheel at the last minute to emerge victorious 8-7 and 12-9.

Legion No. 5 tried their luck at the washrack and King Billie put up a strong front until the 8th frame when the score was 8-all, but was thrown for a loss 19-8. In the second, the Orange were regaining lost ground, leading 9-4 going into the 11th frame, when all at once the poor Orange was squeezed dry, 11-9.

Oh! Those poor Treasurers, and in their own bailwick—they had high hopes of lining their pockets with gold, but the Anglicans had other ideas and not one cent did they leave as indicated by the scores, 18-5 and 12-7. The Old Soldiers' tactics against the Glens did not have enough commando know-how and the Paper Dolls gave them a glueing to the tune of 21-3, 18-6.

Meeting at Legion Hall tonight, Nov. 10th, at 7.30 p.m. sharp, to receive monies re the draw and other business.

Bear Crosses Judge Favorite Law Flops

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 10 (AP) —Judge George W. Folta is considered hereabouts as almost as much of an authority on hunting as on law. He has always maintained that 99 times out of a 100 a bear will run when a human shouts at it.

Back from a hunting trip on Tuesday, Folta told of a big she-bear which came out of the brush toward him as he stood in a clearing. Remembering his "law," the judge yelled. The bear rushed toward him.

When the animal was only ten feet away, Folta fired once and the bear fell dead at his feet.

"It was a lucky shot and if it hadn't been good, I guess I wouldn't be telling about it," Folta declared, then he mused:

"Wonder if that law's no good—or if I got the 100th bear."

GE Deals With Parent UE Unless Labor Board Orders A Change Made

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 10—(AP)—North America's electrical industry today faces a tough problem: will it deal with the left-wing United Electrical Workers or the new opposition union set up by the CIO?

A half-dozen companies already have come to grips with the problem and have met it in one of three ways:

1. General Electric Company has anounced it will deal only with the parent UE unless the U.S. National Labor Relations Board orders it to do otherwise.

2. Westinghouse Electric Corporation said it will be strictly neutral and deal with both left- and right-wing groups.

3. Employers of four small locals in New York and New Jersey already have signed contracts with the new CIO group.

The situation arose as a result of the expulsion of the UE by the National CIO last week. The action was taken on the grounds the UE had too many left-wing policies. The CIO immediately set up its own counter-organization—the International Union of Electrical, Radio ad Machine Workers.

Scores Join New Group

To the new group, by the scores of thousands, have come flocking UE Locals whose memberships are preponderantly right-wing. A national survey has disclosed more than 108,000 have shown a preference for the CIO—either by bolting outright through membership meetings or by other strong actions.

This was to have been expected: most unionists say the UE's 400,000 to 450,000 membership, prior to the split, was about half right and half left.

General electric has a large number of locals which voted "left" on the UE's national convention floor.

GE vice-president L. R. Boulware, who Wednesday night announced the company's stand, wrote James B. Carey, chairman of the administrative committee of the new CIO group, that GE is "required under the law" to continue bargaining with the UE for about 125,000 workers. Only an NLRB order can change the situation; Boulware added.

Boulware said the company has "no competent evidence that the IUE-CIO has been designated by a majority of employees in any bargaining unit."

Strictly Neutral

Westinghouse whose 90,000 production workers are largely right-wing, said it would stay "strictly neutral" in the union's internal problems.

The company adjourned three days of wage talks just ahead of the UE expulsion. No date was set for a resumption of the conference but when it comes, Westinghouse will find two sets of negotiators waiting to deal with it. One group is the original committee named by right-wing elements. The other is a new commitee named by left-wingers.

Four companies already have recognized locals which have seceded from the UE and gone over to the CIO and have signed with contracts, continuing the old UE terms but carrying the new IUE name.

They are Phelps-Dodge Corporation, 1,200 workers, and American Gas Accumulator Company 300 employees, both at Elizabeth, N. J., and the Otis Elevator Company, 1,800 workers, and the Stewart Stamping Co., 75 employees, both at Yonkers, N. Y.

Members of the 13,700-member East Pittsburgh Local voted at an open air meeting Wednesday to leave the UE and join the CIO. Left-wingers declared disparagingly only about 3,500 were present and "most of them striking steelworkers." Right-wing officers asserted 9,000 were present.

The vote ended the 36-hour siege of the local's headquarters in nearby Turtle Creek. Left-wingers, who had kept doors locked on rightists, threw them open and melted away. Right-wingers, however, refused to enter. They say they plan legal action to establish ownership of the headquarters.

On other fronts:

Ohio—Federal Judge Robert R. Nevin tossed out a preliminary injunction permitting 16,700 members of a Delco products local and another at Frigidaire at Dayton to vote on affiliating with the CIO. At Cleveland, Commons Pleas Judge Joseph A. Artl temporarily halted the tug of war by issuing an order which preserved the status quo for 3,000 GE workers. The order cancelled a left-wing minority action of Sunday which expelled right-wing officers.

Turns Money Back

Indiana—Federal Judge Luther Swygert ruled against a move by officers of a 4,500-member Fort Wayne GE local to prevent seizure of its assets by the union's international officers. The local's officers Oct. 3 set up a non-profit locals that such actions are "completely illegal and subject to the penalties of the United States court."

Minnesota—Irving Weir, UE international representative, declared the president, recording secretary, two executive board members and a trustee ousted from the Western Electrical Local at St. Paul for taking part in right-wing activities. This local voted Saturday to leave the UE and join the CIO.

Virginia—Three officials of the UE were chased out of Pulaski Wednesday night by former UE members who considered them "too leftish." About 50 men em-organization to which they transferred about $140,000 in union assets. Judge Swygert turned the money back to the local. UE officials in New York said this ruling should be a warning to other ployed at the Pulaski plant of Radio Corporation of America forced the officials—UE International Representative Henry Rhine and two companions, Frank Connelly and Gene Derrickson—to board a train for Washington. There was no violence. Workers at the RCA seceded from the UE early this week and now are affiliated with the CIO.

FIRST RAILWAY IN CANADA

The first railway in Canada was built in 1836 from Montreal to La Prairie, Quebec.

MAJESTIC ROBSON—This is the glorious sight the rail traveller sees during a five-minute stop a few miles west of Jasper, Alta., in the breathtaking heart of the Rockies. Mount Robson, snow and mist shrouding its silent majesty, rises 12,972 feet into the clouds.

Minister And Woodsman Brave Weather To Conquer Mt. Robson

JASPER, Alta., Nov. 10—(CP)—Just a few miles west of here on the railway line to the Pacific Coast, the train stops for five minutes to let passengers look at Mount Robson.

Its magnificent shoulders covered with snow, and its massive head partly obscured by swirling mist and vapor, the 12,972-foot giant is both beautiful and vaguely dreadful.

Forty years ago a Victoria, B.C., clergyman found it so, accepted its challenge, and conquered it. The story of the clergyman and his compànion, an Ontario woodsman named Donald Phillips, is one of the most thrilling in the history of Canadian mountaineering.

Without ice axes, pitons, or snap rings Phillips and Rev. George B. Kinney fought their way to within 60 feet of the top. They thought they had reached the crest, Robson's mist and storm prevented them from seeing the actual peak. Four years later a party of three made the ascent in vastly better weather conditions, but credit for the conquest sentimentally goes to the woodsman and the preacher.

Kinney set out from Edmonton, 300 miles from the mountain's base, with three pack mules, three months' supplies, $2.85, and the will to climb Robson. Six weeks later he was at the mammoth's feet. He had lost his entire outfit in a swollen river. Indian dogs had eaten all his bacon. Then he met Phillips, an easterner having his first look at the Rockies.

Kinney persuaded the 25-year-old tenderfoot to tackle, without equipment, the "giant among giants" that had excited alpinists since 1863.

Staff And Superman

The pair took appalling risks. Kinney used a rough wooden staff in place of the indispensable ice ax. Phillips was a 'superman of the woods," whose resourcefulness bolstered the preacher's determination.

July 26 they made their first assault. At 11,000 feet foul weather forced a retreat. Two days later they tried again. Again failure. For two weeks weather held them in camps. Food stocks dwindled.

At last, Aug. 9, they set out with 50-pound packs. They struggled up the north shoulder's cliffs to 10,500 feet. A three-day blizzard pinned them down.

On the 12th they climbed. It was fearfully cold. Over ridges to the south, up the horizontal ramparts that sheathe the peak-like armor. Then snow, a storm on the peak, perhaps avalanches.

Provisions were too low to turn back. They decided to dash for the top. The average angle was more than 60 degrees. Visibility was a scant few years—a blessing because they could not see the yawning depths below. One slip meant death.

Finally, the very top. Friday, Aug. 13. Treacherous cornices formed of swirling snow were their resting places. Then, the seven-hour journey down to the last camp, and 20 hours on the trail to the base in the valley. Tired, footsore, frostbitten, but triumphant.

"We had stood on the crown of Mount Robson," Kinney reported later. They hadn't—but no one knew that for four years."

Outdistances Storm

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (CP) — A storm-tossed and partially disabled British freighter pulled free Wednesday from 70 mile an hour Atlantic winds and headed for St. John's, Nfld. Engine trouble last Saturday slowed the ship, the Scottish Prince, and she signalled for assistance. Wednesday the Halifax tug Foundation Josephine reached the freighter and stood by while it moved to port at a reduced speed with 40 men aboard.

Urges Commission

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP)—The government was urged Wednesday to reconsider the suggestion that a Royal Commission be appointed to investigate housing costs. J. W. Murphy (PC, Lambton West) said during the Commons budget debate he couldn't understand why the government has turned down the request which came from A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor. He recommended that Mr. Mosher be appointed one of the commissioners.

Change Positions Of Tires To Boost Mileage

To minimize irregular wear on tires their positions should be changed after every 2,500 miles of driving. This change will result in greater over-all tread life for the whole set of tires. Tests have shown that tread mileage may be incheased as much as 50 per cent if such procedure is followed regularly.

It is very important to include the spare tire in the regular switch of positions. A tire not put in service deteriorates as rubber requires exercise to keep it in good condition. Giving a spare tire its due share of the work means longer life for each tire

The front tires are more or less free-rolling and not subject to the strains borne by those in the rear, but camber, toe-in, and the turning of the wheels in steering affect the front ties and not the rear.

Rear wheels of most cars are the drivers; they take the hardest wear. But the right rear tires wear more than the left, because it is on the "dirch wheel:" It must work harder to push the car into motion. It is subject to extra wear because it is on the down side of the road.

Changing the wheel position of tires not only saves many dollars but gives greater satisfaction with the tires.

Lubrication For All Seasons Important

The most important essential for trouble-free motoring is correct seasonal lubrication, a car service expert reports.

"Cars are turned out at the plant in perfect condition," he said. "To maintain that perfection and to insure safety and comfort, it is necessary to have the car serviced at regular intervals.

"Even under the best driving conditions the effect of the constant jarring and wear on the parts, which is inevitable in driving, causes maladjustments in suspensions, motor mountings, wheels and other parts. This affects the steering, braking, and road-holding. Loss of control may often be the result of poor steering and especially of bad brakes."

The service man also drew attention to the constant stream of dirt, mud and water which is splashed on to the underpart of the car, making efficient lubrication an absolute essential. Canadian road conditions in winter months, he said, are particularly bad, and a special pre-winter check-up involving complete winter lubrication is recommended by all automotive experts.

Safety depends not only on careful driving, but also on the condition of the vehicles. During the winter months particular attention should be paid to the condition of tires and brakes, in order to reduce the possibility of accidents through mechanical difficulties.

No Rift With Mrs. Scott-Gorman

EDMONTON, Nov. 10 (CP) — Tommy Gorman, promoter of an ice show starring Barbara Ann Scott, denied Wednesday there is any rift between him and the skater's mother, Mrs. Clyde Scott.

"There never was any rift between Mrs. Scott and me," said Mr. Gorman. "She is doing the best she can under very difficult circumstances."

Monday night Mr. Gorman's agent, T. A. Shandro, said in a telephone interview with The Canadian Press "there is a definite rift in the organization, with Mrs. Scott and Mr. Gorman differing on whether Miss Scott should make any appearances off the ice." The Edmonton Bulletin Wednesday quoted Mr. Shandro as saying he made no such statement.

The difference of opinion between Mrs. Scott and Mr. Gorman was reported after Barbara Ann failed to make an advertised appearance at an Edmonton department store on her arrival from Calgary.

She Phoned Police 50 Times; Fined $10

About 50 phone calls within two hours to the police station Sunday afternoon did not create a disturbance, Mrs. Emma Condie Bailey, 417 Stewart St., thought, but Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, disagreed with her in police court Tuesday and fined her $10 and costs.

Sergeant Leo Murphy testified in addition to the phone calls he had received complaints from a doctor and a minister that Mrs Bailey was in their houses and would not get out.

"I've been used cruel," Mrs. Bailey complained speaking of the treatment she received from her husband. She said she was seeking protection from her husband whom she said was drunk and was going to beat her.

Police said they had released her husband from the police station just before 3 p.m. Sunday and he was not drunk then.

"I wasn't doing wrong— only phoning," Mrs. Bailey protested.

Switchman Shot By Deer Hunter

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont., Nov. 10 (CP)—Avery Parker, 56, railway switchman from Fort Erie, Ont., was shot dead Wednesday on La Cloche Island, three miles east of this Manitoulin Island town, when mistaken for a deer.

Lloyd Smith, also of Fort Erie, told reporters he mistook Parker's faded blue and white trainman's overalls for a deer in the dense bush and fired from 77 feet. Parker died 15 minutes after being shot in the chest.

Provincial Constable Neville Rose said he would confer with the crown attorney regarding the shooting.

G.M. Talks Continue

OSHAWA, Nov. 10 (CP)—Top level company-union talks aimed at settling the 15-day-old strike at the General Motors of Canada Ltd. plant here continued Wednesday for the fourth day. Trend of the talks was not revealed.

$13,000,000 Licences

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP)—Canadian radio owners shelled out more than $13,000,000 in radio licence fees during the last three years, Transport Minister Chevrier disclosed Wednesday in a reply tabled in the Commons. The fee is $2.50 a year. Those who failed to pay and were caught by the government's radio inspectors paid more than $200,000 in court fines and costs. Figures were tabled for C. W. Hodgson (PC, Victoria, Ont.).

Question Suspect On Burglaries

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (CP)—A man held in connection with a series of recent burglaries in New York and Pennsylvania Wednesday was taken to Westchester County, N.Y., for interrogation by police who sought to establish if he were linked to the activities of Gerard Dennis, convicted jewel thief who preyed on wealthy Westchester residents.

The suspect, Horace Charpentier, 31, of New York City, had been arrested on two occasions with Dennis in Canada, police said.

Dennis, said to have netted nearly $1,600,000 in jewel robberies in Montreal, Los Angeles and the New York district, now is serving an 18-year jail term for the Westchester robberies.

Charpentier is the second of Dennis' alleged former "pals" to get in the news this week.

In Montreal Tuesday police said Ernest Nesbitt, 30-year-old alleged accomplice of Dennis in a series of robberies on west-end homes there in 1945, will face today six charges of conspiracy, armed robbery with violence.

Bus Crashes Freight

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP) — A city bus in which the driver was alone crashed into a moving freight train at an east-end level crossing Wednesday night, police said. Donald H. Ferguson, 26, described as the driver, was knocked unconscious but his condition later was said to be "fairly good."

Crown Says Court Not Collecting Agency

Pleading guilty to charge of false pretences, Joseph McIntosh, RR 2, Madoc, was placed on two years' suspended sentence by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K. C., in police court Wednesday.

While he was in the box, McIntosh withdrew a charge of assault against Orville McFadden which had been on the books many weeks.

Arthur J. Corbin, 956 Western Ave., testified McIntosh had sold him a washing machine priced at $159 for $100 cash April 19. Corbin said McIntosh told him there were no liens against the machine. Shortly afterwards Corbin found that $80 was owing on the machine. He said he had taken over the contract and later McIntosh had made restitution.

Magistrate Philp agreed with Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw that there had been a tendency lately to turn the criminal court into a collection agency. He said the matter was a private one and might better have been settled in a civil court.

Fire Engines Collide

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP) — Two fire engines answering an alarm came together with a terrific crash at an intersection on Wednesday, killing four firemen. Four other firemen were injured, two critically. The fire turned out to be a small field blaze that was extinguished without difficulty.

C. R. Sullivan, UE district representative, accepted the challenge of M. J. (Mike) Fenwick, Steelworkers' organizer, for a public debate on Communism within the UE.

"We will debate anytime the issue of Communism within our union—as to whether it is Communist dominated, and also the standing of our leaders and officers."

He added a qualification, however: "We will not be a party to subjecting the Peterborough citizens to an entire night of hysteria. We will insist that at the same meeting trade union principles be discussed and the record of our union and its leaders be measured against those who are now engaged in dividing the trade union movement."

UE Has Contract

Regardless of the percentage of workers signed by the new electrical union, it cannot be certified until after June, 1950, he said.

"We have a contract with the Company until that date," the UE spokesman told the Examiner.

Even after the anniversary date the contract in June a 51 per cent majority would not mean an automatic certification, according to Sullivan. The OLRB would then determine the validity of the cards and "take whatever action it deemed necessary to determine the legal bargaining agent; and that could mean a government supervised vote at the plant."

GE Not Recognizing

An Associated Press dispatch today says the General Electric Company turned down a request from the new electrical union to recognize it as the bargaining agent for the 125,000 workers they claim signed up.

This was announced in a letter from vice-president L. R. Boulware of GE to James B. Carey, chairman of the administrative committee of the new CIO union.

Boulware said GE is "required under law" to continue bargaining with the UE. This condition will continue until the Company is "otherwise directed by the National Labor Relations Board."

When asked for comment on Mr. Boulware's statement Mr. McRae said he was very interested in this news, but would prefer not to comment.

Regarding the situation at the Peterborough plant, he said:

"We have a contract with the UE and we will recognize it as the legal bargaining agent until such time as we are informed otherwise by the Ontario Labor Relations Board."

Raybestos UE Reject Offer Take Strike Vote

Raybestos workers have voted eight to one in favor of a strike, John Rowley, Local 527 UE organizer, told the Examiner today. The strike vote was taken Wednesday noon as the employees left the plant.

Night shift workers cast their ballots at midnight.

It is estimated that 100 workers participated in the voting.

The organizer approached Robert Abbott, general manager, and asked him for a further meeting to reach an agreement. And it is believed this will be arranged later today.

"The last thing we want to do is take the workers out on the street," Rowley stated.

He added, however, that the union members would have to be convinced the Company was not withholding increases that would at least enable them to maintain their present standard of living.

He claimed the workers in the bargaining unit had to face a 7.7 per cent rise in the cost of living since their previous wage increase in August, 1948.

The Company has already offered a "five-cent package increase" (which is more than recommended by the Conciliation Board) but the Raybestos employees rejected it.

Main Street Topics

INSPECTING WELLS

Annual survey of wells in the south of the city is at present being undertaken by Mr. Harold Worton, Food and Dairy Inspector. All wells inspected so far are in good condition, he reported to the Board of Health Wednesday.

SEEKING GRANT

Renewed attempts to obtain a provincial grant for purchase of a fogging machine have failed, Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health, told the Board of Health Wednesday. The grant has been refused after consideration of the city's claim but the Board is not giving up. Dr. Kelly was asked to make continued representation.

LESS DISEASE

Communicable diseases reported in the city during September were: Chickenpox 1, measles 2, poliomyelitis 3, whooping cough 11. During October the figures were: Chickenpox 14, German measles 1, scarlet fever 1, whooping cough 2, poliomyelitis 1.

665 IMMUNIZATION DOSES

Public Health nurses gave 665 immunization doses during September and October, Miss Gene Clark, Public Health Nurse Supervisor, reported to the Board of Health Wednesday. Immunizations included combined serum, scarlet fever toxin, vaccinations, toxoid, pertussis and tetanus toxoid.

ACCIDENT CRACKS RIBS

Edward Roach, 31, of 581 Elm St., is in St. Joseph's Hospital with minor injuries sustained in a car accident near Bewdley on Highway 28. Injuries include a couple of cracked ribs and a head cut. He was brought to Peterborough by a Bewdley taxi driver and later went to hospital.

GOING TO DUFFERIN

Five local horses have finished workouts at Morrow Park with an eye on purse money at Dufferin. Hugh Davis has sent two, Redstone and Parsons; Mert Storey's good Canada Direct is another, and Charley Quinlan's Peter G. Lee is the fourth already vanned to Toronto. Stan Blewett will be represented by Almira Boy, going at the weekend. The harness races start at Dufferin Saturday.

Overcome By Gas 2 Men Revived

Two men were found in a McDonnel St. barber shop early today nearly overcome by escaping propane gas fumes.

They were John J. Quinlan, 64, proprietor of Quinlan's barber shop, 273 McDonnel St., and Wm. Crough, 75, of the House of Providence.

After firemen gave them a few whiffs of carbogen (a mixture of carbon dioxide and oxygen) the acute dizziness passed off. The two men were found sick in the shop when a customer came in to have his hair cut.

Apparently Mr. Crough had entered the shop for a haircut by Mr. Quinlan but neither noticed that gas was escaping from the nearby jacket heater.

Calls were sent in to the Fire Department for an inhalator and to Drs. Douglas B. Kelly and L. Zacks. Neither of them was taken to hospital and both went to their residences to recuperate.

Three Polio Cases

Peterborough has come through the height of the polio outbreak with only three cases, two affecting children and one case was an adult.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health, reported to the Board of Health Wednesday that the peak of the incidence of infection is now well past but it is still possible for the contagion to occur.

Board To Open 4th Clinic To Aid Babies

A fourth well baby clinic is to be opened Nov. 17 to serve the south of the city, it was announced Wednesday by Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health, at a meeting of the Board of Health. It is to be held Thursday afternoons in a room at the De Laval plant.

Extra medical assistance to relieve Dr. Kelly, who at present attends all well baby clinics in the city, was discussed by the Board. Dr. Kelly said he had received an application from Dr. Mildred Green, a baby specialist living in Peterborough but not practising at present, to attend the clinics. He was given authority to engage Dr. Green providing, upon further enquiry he was satisfied with her qualifications.

The engagement would be on a part time basis and Dr. Green would attend two clinics a week.

Suggests Rotary System

James Dutton, chairman of the Board, proposed adopting a rotary system whereby a number of doctors would attend the clinics on an organized schedule. Dr. Kelly stated, however, that he had learned from several doctors in the city that their time was already fully occupied.

After graduating from the School of Medicine at the University of Toronto in 1943, Dr. Green was engaged in post graduate work at Children's Memorial Hospital, Montreal, Queen Elizabeth Children's Hospital, London, England, and has attended child welfare clinics in England.

1949 Birthrate Second Highest

Birth rate during the first nine months of this year was the second highest ever recorded in the city. During that period there were 1,223 live births, 23 still births and 47 infants died. Maternity mortality rate was five.

These figures were contained in a report presented to the Board of Health Wednesday by Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health.

September was the first month this year when there were no still births. Birth rate per 1,000 population this year is 22.99, which was exceeded only in 1947 when the figure was 23.56.

Still birth rate was 18.61 per 1,000 population, the lowest figure recorded during the past six years and the infant death rate was 24.81 per 1,000 population, a considerable drop from 37.4 in 1947 and 46.03 in 1944.

Transport Damages Car Waiting In Line

Smashed from behind by a transport truck, a car driven by Kenneth Lee, RR 6, Peterborough suffered an estimated $450 worth of damage Wednesday afternoon.

Lee said he had stopped behind several other cars on Aylmer St. waiting for the Charlotte St. stop light. While he was halted his car was hit by a transport driven by W. C. Clarke. The transport was not damaged but the whole rear of the car was smashed in.

ALD. GRANT MILLER

Ald. Grant Miller Retiring From Council

Pressure of personal business is compelling Ald. Grant Miller to retire from service to the municipality and citizens. "That is the only reason why I have decided that I cannot be a candidate for re-election to the council," Ald. Miller said today. "I know that two years are not long enough in the council, but I am sure that none of the other members has so much demand on his time as I have.

"I'd like to have the opportunity of being re-nominated because I am interested in the work and especially in several matters of more than ordinary importance that are before the council."

Ald. Miller said he had considered his position and the prospect of engaging in a building project on the property to the east of his store next year, "and I felt that I could not do justice to the business of the city when I had so much of my own affairs to attend to."

"I'd like to say this, that I appreciate very much the opportunity the people gave me of being a member of the council for these two years. I am not closing the door to future opportunity if it should come my way when my personal commitments will probably be less than they are now."

"There are capable young men who should be willing to offer themselves to the citizens," Ald. Miller said. "Some of them may be a little shy about being defeated. I can't see that at all. What difference does that make? The main thing is to be willing to help in the civic business, and leave the decision to the voters."

Ald. Miller is the present chairman of the property committee, and in those two years, especially this year he displayed a forthright and outspoken attitude on various questions in the manner of "let the chips fall where they may".

Kelley To Visit Offered Land First Of Month

Warden William Darling has fashioned an occasion for a timely visit of Hon. Russell Kelley, provincial Minister of Health, to Peterborough on Thursday, Dec. 1.

That is the date of the Warden's annual dinner at which the Minister will be guest speaker. Peterborough is more keenly interested than usual in the presence of Hon. Mr. Kelley since his announcement that the government was planning a series of mental hospitals to cost ultimately $35,000,000.

In this connection Mayor Swanston received today a letter from Hon. Harold Scott to the effect that he had suggested to Mr. Kelley that he should remain overnight here to see the Hillard Farm property owned by the city which has been proposed to him as the site for one of the hospitals.

"The Minister of Health is remaining until Dec. 2, and we will have the chance of showing him that property and its splendid view of the river," Mayor Swanston said.

City Council has already offered the northend site to the government with a strong feeling that it is one of the most suitable and desirable for mental hospital purposes in central Ontario.

ANCIENT AERONAUTICS are portrayed in these pictures, discovered by A. L. Dawe, of Montreal. They are reminders of Montreal's famous air meet in 1910. Above is J. McCurdy's The Heart of Baddeck, photographed without its wings. The Heart did McCurdy little good at the meet, which was held on the Lakeshore. Reporters said it rose on its second try "a dozen feet, and the band, with a fine sense of the fitness of things, played O Canada. The machine fell at once. Le Scarabee, the 50 h.p. Bleriot, lower, owned and flown by Count Jacques de Lesseps, son of the canal builder. De Lesseps startled the spectators by an "epoch-making" flight to Montreal and back, a distance of 30 miles. The flight took 49 minutes.

German Villagers Choose Innkeeper In Role Of Christ

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, Nov. 10—(AP)—The village elders today rejected 58-year-old Alois Lang, adjudged a minor Nazi follower, for the role of Christ in the 1930 Passion play.

They chose, instead, 37-year-old Anton Preisinger, a father of five children. The mild-mannered inneeper has curly brown hair and beard.

Chose to play the Virgin Mary was Annamie Mayr, 20, blonde daughter of a building contractor. She finished school last year and is studying to be a wood carver.

Age Said Reason

Lang, who played Christ in the most recent Oberammergau Passion plays in 1930 and 1934, lost out to Preisinger not because he formerly was a member of the Nazi Party, but because of his age, the villagers said. He was selected to read the prologue.

Lang told a denazification court last year he joined the party to avoid persecution and financial ruin. He said he had befriended Jews, and Nazis were persecuting him for violation of a minor regulation by his sale of a cup of coffee. He is a wood carver and hotel proprietor.

At the same time, he said he did not think he was robust enough to repeat the Passion Play role.

Strenuous Rolle

The performance, which lasts eight hours, requires the actor of the part to be on the stage for long periods and to carry a heavy cross.

The villagers said Preisinger's devotion to the church was a major factor in his choice over two other candidates besides Lang. He played the part of Lazarus in the 1934 jubilee performance.

The selection committee, composed of 25 elders and the parish priest, met in the town hall and selected players for the 16 major roles.

Solemn Occasion

It was a solemn day in the picturesque village, bathed in bright sunlight reflected from near-by snow-covered mountains. The committee members and candidates for role first attended mass in the village church. Then hundreds stood outside the town hall, as though in silent prayer, while the committee deliberated.

As each role was filled, the name of the successful candidate was written on a blackboard outside the hall by the town crier, a young man with shoulder-length blond hair.

Preisinger and Fraulein Mayr apparently were overwhelmed at their selection for the key parts. They made no comment and were whisked away to their homes in automobiles.

Other choices were Hugo Rutz, a blacksmith, for St. Peter; Hans Schwaighofer, 29-year-old former prisoner of war, for Judas, and Melchior Breitsamter, a sawmill worker, for Pontius Pilate.

The Passion Play is expected to open next May 21. There will be two or three performances a week until the end of September.

The play, telling the story of Christ's life from his entrant into Jerusalem, dates from 1633, an old chronicle says, when the village was stricken by plague. A cast of nearly 600 is required.

2 Crime-Busters Turn Out Thieves

HEARST, Nov. 10 (CP)—Two "junior crime-busters" who went all out to help police solve 14 burglaries admitted Wednesday to being the culprits.

Rene Vandette, 19, and Alphonse Johnson, 18, pleaded guilty to all 14 charges and were sentenced to two years each in Guelph reformatory.

"They were a great help to us, we thought," said police officers. "They were all over town with us on the trail of the burglars."

Information given police by a witness to one of the crimes led to the arrests.

Lothario Sentenced

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP) — Sigmund (Sam) Engel, 74-year-old love swindler, was sentenced Wednesday to from two to 10 years in prison for operating an $8,700 confidence game at the expense of a red-haired widow. The aged lothario was granted a 60-day stay so he can appeal. Engel has a 50-year record of swindling women in the United States and Europe.

Offer Wage Policy

LONDON, Nov. 10 (Reuters) — Union leaders, representing 8,000,000 British workers, Wednesday night announced they have produced a wage policy following devaluation of the pound—but they refused to publish details. Decisions would be first discussed with the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps, and Foreign Secretary Bevin, they said. No action would be taken until then.

Tractor Overturns Father Of 8 Killed

STE. THERESA DE MARIONVILLE, Ont., Nov. 10 (CP)—Albert Leroux, 42, father of eight children, was killed Wednesday night when his tractor overturned.

Mr. Leroux was returning to his home here after a day's ploughing on a neighbors farm when the tractor ran off a 12-foot culvert and overturned about three miles from his home. He was crushed beneath the heavy machine and died almost instantly.

Ste. Theresa de Marionville is near Morewood, some 25 miles southeast of Ottawa.

Britain Prepares Greatest Trade Display Ever Given

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

British manufacturers of machine tools and scientific instruments next year will stage their greatest display ever given in North America.

As part of Britain's drive to earn dollars, the display, covering 35,000 square feet, will be at the Canadian Inuternational Trade Fair, in Toronto, May 29-June 9.

The British mission has been in Canada for three weeks ironing out production methods and inspection practices with the Canadian Standards Association.

"Adjustments have been made," said Sir Holland Goddard, chairman of the Display Committee, "and will be made, to obviate delays in inspection and delivery, and to ensure that our machines can be integrated smoothly into the over-all operation of Canadian plants."

Preliminary inspection has been arranged to take place in Britain and is designed to eliminate delays which have arisen from protracted correspondence, and from having to send back and across the Atlantic, hundreds of samples and prototypes.

The "Story of Oil" is told in the current Monthly Letter of the Royal Bank of Canada. It comments:

"Our knowledge of what lies under our feet is so slim that any attempt to estimate the amount or value of this or that mineral is of dubious value. One thing is certain: "In the past 50 years we have consumed a vastly greater quantity of mineral products than was consumed in all the preceding period of man's existence on earth."

It also raises the question of what would be the consumption if all the world's peoples had the same standard of living as the people of North America.

The Dominion Brewers' Association, in a booklet which will go to the 12,000 employees of Canada's 60-odd breweries, tells them that the "goodwill department," of which they all are members, is the biggest department in the brewing industry. It adds:

"The public could vote us out of our jobs for no better reason than because we forgot about the impressions we make as representatives of the industry."

OLD STYLE LASTS

The ancient tradition of expressing thickness of sole lather in terms of "irons" still survives.

Highest Birthrate In Atomic Village

MONTREAL, Nov. 10 (CP) — The Canadian village with the highest birthrate is Deep River, Ont., where Canada's atomic scientists live while working at the atomic energy plant at Chalk River, J. L. Grey, chief administrator of the Canadian atomic project, said Wednesday.

Speaking before the Electrical Club of Montreal, Mr. Grey said the reason for the high birthrate is that most of the scientists are young and married.

He said that Canada's heavily-guarded atomic project also boasts the most advanced atomic reactor in the world. This, he said, was made possible through Canadian designing skill and a good supply of the precious "heavy water" which the United States lack.

Wants To Know Facts

OTTAWA, Nov. 10—(CP)—T. L. Church (PC, Toronto Broadview) called Wednesday for an early Commons debate on external affairs and coupled it with an assertion that "Canada should soon know what security it has from attack notwithstanding the United Nations organization."

Ashes In Box Cause Of Fire

Use of a cardboard container for stove ashes was blamed for a fire Wednesday afternoon that slightly damaged the residence of Mrs. Rodgers, 242 Munroe Ave. The loss was set at $25.

Fire Chief George Smith said that had it not been for house insulation the whole of one wall and possibly the house itself would have been destroyed.

The hot ashes were placed in the cardboard box on a wooden stoop outside the back door. When the box ignited a hole six-by-eight inches was burned in the wall. The stoop remained untouched by fire.

"They were pretty lucky," commented the Chief. "Only the insulation stopped it from going up to the roof.

Banned By California

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10 (AP) —Lila Leeds, who figured in the Robert Mitchum marijuana case, was ordered Wednesday to spend the next five years outside California. That was a condition of probation granted in court after her arrest on a reckless-driving charge. The 21-year-old blonde movie bit actress was one of those arrested with Mitchum at a party where marijuana was being smoked.

Beverage Room Changes

TORONTO, Nov. 10—(CP)—Earlier opening and closing hours for Ontario beverage rooms, particularly in small centres, was suggested at Wednesday's caucus of Ontario Progressive Conservative members of the legislature, it was learned Wednesday night. Beverage rooms now open at noon and close at midnight.

Weather Aiding Supply Of Milk

Milk supplies, invariably short at this time of the year, are plentiful, Dr. Harold Worton, food and dairy inspector, told the Board of Health Wednesday.

One producer's licence was suspended last month but was renewed after a mastitis test revealed source of the trouble, he said.

Sediment tests taken at dairies revealed supplies to be in good condition. Regular examination of pasteurized samples were taken and some trouble experienced with cream in October had been rectified.

After examining pasteurization plants regularly, Dr. Worton reports the last instance of under pasteurization was in 1944.

During a check-up on restaurants, 20 pounds of fruit and five pounds of vegetables were condemned in one establishment. A general clean-up was ordered and a visit from Dr. Worton later the same day revealed that the order had been carried out satisfactorily.

Two chickens were condemned at the market in October. Food handling there is good, on the whole, the inspectors said.

Duke Ellington's Present Tour Last For Band?

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 —(AP) — Duke Ellington, observing his 35th anniversary as a composer, is on a cross-country tour which may be the last for his famous band.

Rumor—and several trade publications—say the Duke will disband his orchestra after the current tour.

He has announced he will return to New York to work on an all-negro musical "Take the 'A' Train," featuring Lena Horne. The projected musical's title is the Ellington's band's theme song.

Duke refuses comment on whether or not the band will break up—but he does say, "naturally, in a theatrical production you can't use an ordinary band."

New Tonal Effects

"Just say I will retain the character of my music except for the addition of new tonal effects," he suggested.

That, as interpreted in trade circles, means Ellington will build a 40-piece orchestra of symphonic instrumentation around a few key men from his current band and use the expanded group in "Take the 'A' Train." Then, when the show closes, the big band — strings, oboes, French horns and all—is expected to go on tour.

This is sad news to Ellington fans. Although what Edward Kennedy Ellington does with the projected "symphony" orchestra will be interesting, no one who has followed the Ellington band's evolution since it started as "The Washingtonians" in 1922 can see it pass without regret.

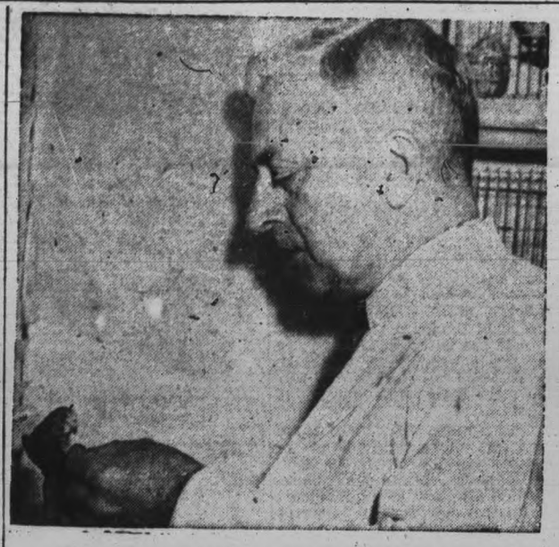
Ellington has been hailed as one of America's greatest musicians by such men as Stravinsky, Ravel, Deems Taylor, Stokowski and Arthur Rodzinki. But men of this stature appreciate him no more than do jazz or swing fans.

Biggest Hits

Some of his biggest hits have been "Mood Indigo," Sophisticated Lady" and "Solitude."

He has also written more serious piece—suites like "Black, Brown and Beige," a tone poem describing his race, and the "Liberian Suite," celebrating the 100th anniversary of the first American Negro migration to Liberia.

Ellington has been called the "hot Bach." As did Bach, he composes for specific occasions with specific musicians in mind—the men in his own orchestra. Because of this, and because his band has always held a nucleus of old-timers, the orchestra has developed and maintained a distinctive sound that will be missed if the break-up plans go through.



CHARLES A. JAMES operates the only bird hospital in Montreal. Here a delicately-colored ailing budgerigar suffering from rickets gets a complete examination.

James To Be Delegate

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (CP) — Cyril James, principal of McGill University, will be among some 30 delegates to an unofficial Indian-American conference in New Delhi Dec. 12-22. The delegates, prominent educationists, newspaper men and industrial leaders, will represent the American Institute of Pacific Relations.

R.C. Officials Deny Statement

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 —(CP)—A spokesman for the Apostolic delegation in Ottawa Wednesday issued a formal denial that any of its members had commented for publication of the Pope's pronouncement last Sunday on divorce.

The pontiff in a speech, was quoted from Rome as saying Catholic judges "cannot pronounce, unless for motives of great moment, a decision of civil divorce (where it does exist) in a marriage valid before God and the church."

In a story from Ottawa, carried by The Canadian Press, a spokesman for Msgr. Ildebrando Antonuitti, Apostolic delegate, was quoted as saying Catholic judges must act in accordance with the laws of the church and "their own conscience" when hearing civil divorce cases.

Today the Apostolic delegation issued the following statement: "the Apostolic delegation has issued no statement on this matter and the statement attributed to a spokesman of the delegation was so attributed by error."

Paris Race-goers Wearing New Styles in Adaptable Fur

By BARBARA STEVENSON

PARIS — Reuters) — The "new look" in furs is appearing on every Paris race course this fall in spite of the unusually mild weather.

Full sleeves, bloused backs, and full and box-pleated models in flat furs such as lamb are stringtied at the waist. One clever model was fitted with three folds of black faille separating strips of fur running from waist to hemline. It was worn with a matching fur skull cap trimmed with a gray osprey soaring skyward directly in front. The osprey was so full that in the distance it appeared to be a silver fox tail.

A swing-back, hip-length jacket in leopard skin, with a matching skull cap, and worn over a black spiral-cut skirt was another notable ensemble.

Smartest colors agains the green track were uranium, gray and Parma violet. But the most popular color is still the traditional Parisian black, relieved this season with touches of bronze or brown.

A deep wine color is used for smart, tapered, high-heeled suede shoes, with handbag to match.

The little boy look, dating back to the middle '20s, with slender silhouette and close-cropped hair, leads the season's fashion parade. Skirts are a good 15 inches from the ground. Wrap-around skirts win the suit race, and the asymmetrical line is found in both necklines, side waist drape, and millinery.

All-Black Ensembles

Several women noted for their fashions have appeared at recent race meetings clad entirely in black, with very large hats. One huge cartwheel hat, trimmed with a ribbon of gardenias at the junction of brim and crown, was made in a fabric which looked like hatter's plush but was really pressed beaver felt.

The most popular hats, however, are small, many dipping at the side or worn on the back of the head. Feathers jut upwards from nearly all of them.

One all-over feather skull cap was fashioned from tiny multishaded blue feathers from the barnyard. Bird of Paradise and osprey supply the towering touches while a few ostrich feathers curl under the tiny brims of head-hugging caps of velvet or velour.

At the "Prix de L'Arc de Triomphe" meeting, one black flat fur coat had a stiffened standalone collar, a box-pleated back and tie belt. With it was worn a straight sailor hat in velvet, piped with braid and trimmed with a spray of Bird of Paradise.

A race-conscious English woman in an impeccably tailored tweed suit wore a jewelled stop watch on a chair around her neck.

A wine-red alligator bag had a binocular pocket in the back and an adjustable strap. Opera pumps to match were matched with sheer, wine-colored nylons—accessories which proved attractive with a bottle-green facecloth suit.

English fashions are also seen on the Paris race course fairly frequently this season. Some suits were tailored with extra pockets for notebooks, pencils and programs.

GROVE SCHOOL

Open school was held Wednesday evening at Grove School on Erskine Ave. and was very well attended by both mothers and fathers.

Room mothers greeting the parents in the classrooms were Mrs. B. Smith, Mrs. M. Graves, Mrs. J. Hope and Mrs. F. Scott, each assisted by the teacher in charge, Mr. J. Barnard, Mrs. Fife, Mrs. Campbell and Miss Glover.

A lively sing-song was led by Mrs. W. Hargrave prior to the inspection of the children's work.

President Mrs. F. Sanders conducted a business period in the kindergarten room. Next executive meeting is to be November 23. It was decided to have the Christmas concert on December 16. Reports on the regional conference held at Havelock were given by Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. W. W. Sheppard and Mrs. J. Coit.

Mrs. W. Huggins, publications convener, had a large display of pamphlets and books which created considerable interest.

Lunch was served by Mrs. J. Ainslie assisted by Mrs. F. Scott, Mrs. R. Clement and Mrs. W. Huggins.

Mother, 28 Only Woman Seeking Election

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10 (CP). — Mrs. Ina Thompson, earnest and attractive and the mother of a three-year-old, is the only woman seeking election in today's Manitoba general election. She has been campaigning 13 hours a day—and loves it.

"I don't understand why more women don't become active in politics," she said in an interview.

"There is everything there — talk, social life, association with interesting people and leaders of government. People don't seem to connect government with their everyday lives."

Slight and ash-blonde, with twinkling eyes, Mrs. Thompson is a CCF candidate in the four-member Winnipeg Centre constituency. She has invaded industrial plants to publicize her party's social welfare program, its main campaign plank.

She has talked to railway men in the roundhouse and the coach yard. She has risen at 5:30 a.m. to catch steel workers going to their jobs.

The 28-year-old Mrs. Thompson has canvassed hundreds of homes. Housewives, she said, were "most enthusiastic" about having a woman in the running.

Eight years ago she married Rev. Leslie Thompson, now a lecturer in English at the University of Manitoba. They have a three-year-old son Tom.

United Counties Council Ask If Unity Is Too Costly

COBOURG, Nov. 10 (ENS) — Evidence that the world is certainly living in the atomic age was apparent at this session of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council during the past three days.

First, on Monday, it was suggested by Reeve W. G. Bowles of Cartwright Township that county council was a thing of the past and for all the good it was, might better be abolished.

Secondly, on Wednesday, Reeve Ted Woodyard of Clarke Township said he would like to see a committee from the government, acting with one from the counties council, look into the efficiency of the two counties as a unit. While he declared he was not advocating that the two counties separate, the thought was still there and was regarded in that light by the council.

Last, and it is a question of whether it is least, was word from the hotel where the warden's banquet is always held, that the management would like things quieted down at midnight because of their commercial trade. In the past, the commercial trade didn't expect to get much sleep on the night of the warden's banquet, because it is a custom among counties councillors to party around after the banquet until well past midnight.

To the few old timers still sitting in counties council it is a bit disconcerting.

In bringing into question the unity of the two counties, Reeve Woodyard said that for some time he had been turning over in his mind a course of action that was stimulated by the fact that this year the balance of the debentures would be paid off. The question was whether or not the counties of Northumberland and Durham should continue as a unit, or separate and carry on as two separate counties. The debenture debt was one factor which made any consideration of that idea improbable until the debentures were paid off.

Seek Unbiased View

"I am not asking you to jump into the idea, but I was wondering about our asking the government to appoint a committee to work with one from the counties council, and investigate the idea and report at the January session.

"Out of it could come the decision as to whether it would be practical to dissolve the counties as united municipalities. The result might be that it would be realized that it was best to carry on the way we are. I think if we had an unbiased investigation we would gain valuable information and after it was obtained, the counties could make their decision," said Reeve Woodyard.

Reeve W. G. Bowles of Cartwright said he had felt for some time there was something lacking but couldn't put his finger on it. He felt that the dollar was not going as far as it should. He pointed out that in Cartwright the township had fixed up the worst road in the township and it had only cost around $2,000.

"I don't think the counties could have done the job as cheaply. The more you centralize, the less efficient and more expensive is the administration.

"In looking after roads you have to move your equipment all over the counties and the machinery is not only duplicating but triplicating the work. Northumberland is larger than Durham.

"Looking into the records I found that in 1946, construction on roads in Durham cost $13,687 as compared with $19,000 in Northumberland. In 1947 the comparative totals were $24,000 and $32,000 and next year it was $45,000 and $64,000. In 1949 the figure was $45,000 for Durham and $79,000 for Northumberland County. Total construction was $129,000 in Durham and $195,000 in Northumberland or a percentage ratio of 40 to 60 per cent.

"The assessments of the two counties are about the same, perhaps three per cent different, but then we have an assessment differential of three per cent compared with road differential of 20%. That is not very equitable. I think it is a question worth looking into and we might bring to light things that are at present obscure," Reeve Bowles said.

Reeve C. B. Jandrew of Murray Township said there had been built a counties road of one mile for a little over $2,192 of which $1,600 was for crushed gravel. He didn't think any township could do better than that.

Investigation Costly

"We are not in a position right now to discuss it. We have to have the figures which the investigation would reveal,' Reeve Woodyard said. Reeve Dodge said that such an investigation would be a very big job and a costly one.

Counties Clerk William Barr said he would need a staff of about ten to help him go into the figures. Reeve Art Wartman of Percy Township said that he was agreeable to the idea if Durham County would pay for it. Reeve Frank George of Brighton Township said he would like an amendment to the motion that Durham County pay the cost of the enquiry. Reeve G. A. Walton suggested that the ratepayers be consulted first by the various members.

There was considerable discussion in regard to the wording of the resolution and it was finally drafted as a resolution sponsored by Reeves Woodyard and Bowles that the provincial government be asked to set up a committee to work with a counties council committee for the purpose of investigating an efficient manner of operating these counties, and that the investigation be at no cost to the counties. The vote on the resolution was 19 in favour of it and 18 opposed.

Reeve Bowles said the personnel of the committee should not be appointed until the January session. It did not mean the separation of the counties as a united unit, he said. Woodyard and Bowles were named members of the counties council committee, nobody from Northumberland wanting the job.

"We will never get anywhere with only two members on the committee," observed Reeve Walton.

However, nobody from Northumberland showed any inclination to be on the committee and its personnel remains restricted to the two members from Durham County. Two things yet unrevealed are whether the government will appoint a committee to act without cost to the counties and what will be on the agenda of the investigation.

ADMIRES CANADIAN WOMEN—Mrs. Francis Forde, wife of Australia's High Commissioner to Canada, speaks highly of the citizenship of Canadian women. "I admire their enthusiasm and the energy with which they enter into church and welfare activities," she said in an interview.

Diplomat's Wife Admires Women's Welfare Work

OTTAWA, Nov. 10, (CP) — Ask Mrs. Francis Forde what she likes most about this country and she probably will say—the women themselves.

In Canada three years now, the grey-eyed wife of Australia's High Commissioner has had plenty of opportunity to see Canadian women at work.

"I admire their enthusiasm and the energy with which they enter into church and welfare activities" she said in an interview. "I think they have a great deal of citizenship."

She recalled a particular instance, a garden party which the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Mothercraft Society held on the grounds of the Australian High Commission. It rained. But that didn't discourage the hundreds of visitors.

"The women came in crowds," said Mrs. Forde. "The garden party was a complete success."

Summer means a constant going and coming at the official residence of Australia's high commissioner—a towering red-brick mansion in Ottawa's Sandy Hill district.

Summertime Busy

"It is the busiest season for us" said Mrs. Forde. "Most Australian officials travelling to Canada try to arrange their visits for the summer months, to be here during the good weather."

In summer, too, Mary, Marcia and Clare are home from college. Seventeen-year-old Clare, the third of the four children, now is in her second year at the University of Toronto. Marcia, 19, is attending McGill University, Montreal. Mary who is 21, graduated from McGill this year, and now is studying drama in Washington.

The youngest in the family, 13-year-old Francis Gerard, is the only one left at home when school days roll around. A student at a day school in Ottawa, Gerard is a Boy Scout and is most proud of the Scout badges he has won since coming to Canada.

Like Australia

All in all, the Forde family has found it comparatively easy to pick up the threads of everyday living in this Dominion, which Mrs. Forde said "has so much in common with Australia."

She recalled her first months in Canada, the troubles she had becoming accustomed to the change in season and the fact that gardens bloom less than half the year.

But she found Canadians use their growing time to the limit, planting the first bulbs before winter has disappeared and keeping gardens in trim until the last day of summer. And finally, when there no longer are flowers to decorate their homes, Canadians use the brilliant autumn leaves.

Mrs. Forde thinks this such a good idea that she had several vases filled with scarlet and golden maple leaves in the drawing-room of her home.

"In Australia they wouldn't understand my using leaves as decoration," she said. "But then, at home they have flowers the year round—here I find the lovely autumn leaves do just as well."

Memorial Plate Chosen For Chapel Window

Silver Cross Women of Peterborough met Wednesday evening in the Green Room of the YWCA. After the opening ceremony Mrs. J. Morley entertained in splendid style with two vocal numbers, the second "Bluebird of Happiness," by request.

The Rev. E. C. Moore, of St. George's Anglican Church was the speaker, and gave a fine Remembrance Day address. He said in part "Holiday were once holy days. Let us keep them as such and with Remmembrance Day, November 11, let no cynicism creep in. War is a part of life. It is real; it is terrible. But, let us remember to do as King George urged when war was blackest, 'Let us reach out and take hold of the hand of God'."

Mrs. B. D. Hall thanked Mr. Moore for his impressive words.

Plates for memorial windows were examined and a plate depicting Christ the Comforter was chosen. Mrs. J. Patte then gave a report on arrangements for the chapel in the new civic hospital and the memorial window.

Plans were made for the December 14 meeting to be carried out in the form of a Christmas party, each member to bring a friend.

President Mrs. B. W. Harvey presided.

Home and School Association News

PARKHILL SCHOOL

Colors for Parkhill school were decided upon at the meeting of the Home and School Association Tuesday evening. They will be American beauty and royal blue.

Mrs. L. Parnell, president, introduced Mrs. F. Elcombe, who reported on the recent district convention at Havelock.

Dr. R. A. Kelly was the guest speaker and his topic was mental health. He was introduced by Mrs. T. Sturgeon and thanked by Mrs. A. Clark.

Three small pupils, Sheila Millen, Joan Griffin and Isabel Fife recited the October Song. Mrs. C. Brickman played piano accompanments for a sing song and for the opening anthem.

A social hour followed the meeting.

QUEEN ELIZABETH SCHOOL

The first part of the regular meeting of Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association Tuesday afternoon took the form of 'open school." Members observed the pupils at work in the class room and discussed their progress with the teachers.

Mrs. P. Jarvis, president, brought the meeting to order. Colin Cameron, a senior pupil, sang 'Danny Boy' and 'Brahm's Lullaby.'

Mrs. J. Nornabel, speaking on "Nutrition," stated that some of the causes of mal-nutrition are poor selection of food, pet aversions, bungling in the kitchen, inadequate kitchen utensils, hit-or-miss lunches, poor breakfasts, and a natural insufficiency of food. The guest speaker outlined breakfast and lunch menus and suggested ice cream, fruit or fruit juice for snacks. She gave four steps to be taken to prevent malnutrition.

1. More care in selection of fruits, vegetables, cereals and milk products.
2. More attention to breakfasts, lunches and snacks.
3 Buying more and better foods.
4. Intelligent preparation and storing of food.

Mrs. Jarvis expressed appreciation to Mrs. Nornabel.

Refreshments were served.

St. George's Afternoon Guild Has Large Sale of Goods

The Afternoon Guild of St. George's Church added to their list of successful fall fairs with the event of Wednesday afternoon. Returns from the sale of fine crocheted doilies, knitted socks, aprons, and fancy work, all hand made, were augmented by the sale of department store goods, sheets, pillow cases and fancy towels, and pillow cases that were edged with crochet work in rainbow colors, which are kept in stock and sold whenever called for.

In addition, Mrs. F. Dorrell, Guild president, looks after a Club Card system which brings substantial proceeds to the church throughout the year. By this plan customers can select goods at a large furniture store or at two large departmental stores in the city and have the bill sent to Mrs. Dorrell who will pay it with Guild funds. These three stores co-operate by allowing the church a discount on the purchase price. Goods can be purchased at other stores too but the customer must then pay a premium for the convenience. The largest single purchase in the past year amounted to $72.50, and about $1,500 worth of goods was bought on this plan. Payments are accepted on the cards throughout the year but they must be paid in full on the date of the fall tea. Mrs. W. Firth was receiving the money.

Two draw prizes were offered by the Guild, each of which created its quota of interest. A large sleeping doll, the answer to every small girl's prayer, was won by Mrs. G. Young of 738 Young St., and an attractive flower table centre, hand-made by Mrs. C. Robinson, was won by Mrs. W. C. McGregor, 42 Ware St. Some tickets had been sold previously and during the tea Mrs. J. Huxley sold them on the doll and Mrs. A. Howarth on the centrepiece.

Taffy apples were an attraction for school children of the neighborhood and Mrs. Leslie Moore was busy keeping them on hand. Mrs. C. Blackburn was selling the home-made candy and her supply was completely exhausted. All of the home baking also disappeared quickly from the table attended by Mrs. E. Cooke and Mrs. C. Robinson.

Orders were being taken on a patchwork quilt displayed nea. the table of fancywork attended by Mrs. A. Howarth. Mrs. W. Farr, Mrs. S. Parkes and Mrs. R. Pilling were assisting at the table of towels and linens.

Afternoon tea was served for the first hour, the guests being comfortably seated at quartette tables in the church parlours. After four o'clock a plate lunch, well planned to give the necessary vitamins, and atractively arranged, was served with, of course, a cup of tea, for no one would forego having their future interrupted from the tea leaves by the reader whose ability is well known.

Tea room hostesses were Mrs. E. McIlwain, Mrs. M. Stroud and Mrs. B. Warren and the plates were fixed by Mrs. E. Gaskell, Mrs. F. Hines, Mrs. E. Dummitt and Mrs. A. Green.

Mrs. E. C. Moore assisted Mrs. Dorrell to welcome the guests.

Neglecting to Write Home Cruel Lack of Thought

DEAR MISS DIX: How about the children who do not write home to their parents? Our son left us more than two months ago and has never written us a line. The days drag by and we long for just the sight of his familiar handwriting. We don't care if he is not making good. We just want to know how he is. Why do children never ask themselves: "Do they miss me at home?"

Dorothy Dix

MRS. H. C. G.

ANSWER: To say that it is lack of thought instead of lack of love that keeps children from writing to their parents does not excuse their cruelty. Neglect can be as much a crime as any overt act, and nothing can palliate the offense of forgetfulness of a father and mother whose whole lives are wrapped up in their sons and daughters and who have no interest in life outside of them.

The young seldom mean to be unkind or ungrateful to their parents, but they are selfish and self-centered, absorbed in their own affairs. They forget that every little detail of their lives is of more importance to their parents than a world cataclysm would be.

Sons Chief Offenders

The sin of not writing home letters is one that is oftener committed by boys than girls. Very few daughters forget how eagerly their parents await news of the birds that have left the home nest. But it is a common thing for men entirely to evade the duty of writing to their mother and father. Sometimes a man's only letter to his mother is a short formal note dictated to his secretary. Most married men wish the job off on their wives, which is a poor makeshift, because no matter how much a mother likes her daughter-in-law, it is her son who is the core of her heart and from whom she wants to hear directly, not through a third party.

Life isn't very gay in the old house after the children leave it. The days are long and empty and the only thing that brightens them up are the letters from the sons and daughters that tell of their love and remembrance of the old people, and that bring to them new life by making them sharers in their children's lives.

Think of the pleasure that a letter can give, you selfish children who never write home, and sit right down as soon as you read this and write mother a love letter.

DEAR MISS DIX: Is there any excuse for young people in love being unconventional and disregarding the marriage vows? I am very much in love with a man of 26, who is practically unemployed. It would be absolutely impossible for us to get married. He argues that love is the only thing that matters and thet marriage vows don't make people true to each other. I have suggested that we be married secretly, but he feels that such a marriage would be sacrilegious and not a true marriage at all because we would be dodging the responsibilities of marriage. What about it?

PUZZLED

ANSWER: The commandment: "Thou shalt not commit adultery" is not affected by economic considerations. Because a man is out of work and can't marry a girl doesn't justify him in leading her from the straight and narrow path.

I never heard so illogical a set of arugments as your boy friend advances. How does he figure out that a secret marriage is sacrilegious while a liaison is righteous? I do not approve of secret marriages because I think that a man and woman who mean to live together should have the courage to come out and do it openly. But a secret marriage, where a woman can produce her wedding lines as a proof of her honesty, is certainly much better than a hole-and-corner intrigue.

Of course marriage vows don't make people true to each other, but they help. There are many marriages that endure for a lifetime, but there are very few liaisons that last more than a year or two. Any girl to whom a man proposes a free love union instead of an until-death-do-us-part one may be very sure that the free part comes in his feeling free to leave her whenever he gets tired of the arrangement.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What can you do with a housekeeping crank? I have a sister who was born with a scrub brush in her hand and she makes us all miserable with her incessant cleaning. Now is the time for cleaning and she is on a perfect orgy, and there is not a place from cellar to attic where we can sit down in peace.

OLGA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why, I'd leave her to her scrubbing and be thankful that she was doing it instead of I. Anyway, there is no arguing with a vacuum cleaner.

✧ ✧ ✧

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

McMillan-Brennan

NORWOOD, Nov. 10.—(ENS).—A double ring ceremony at Havelock United church Saturday afternoon united in marriage Marjorie Evelyn Brennan, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Brennan, Havelock, to William James, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McMillan, Norwood. The Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh officiated.

The bride wore a grey suit with green and winter white accesories and corsage of white carnations. She was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Sheila McMillan, who was in grey suit with black accesories and corsage of yellow roses. Mr. Frederick Jones of Toronto, was groomsman.

The reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, where Mrs. McMillan received, wearing a black crepe dress, black accessories and corsage of white roses.

The couple left for a honeymoon in Niagara Falls and Gravenhurst. For travelling the bride chose a dress of black figured jersey and green accessories. They will live in Norwood.

"What's Right?"

SITUATION: You go to a friend's home and a maid answers the door.

WRONG WAY: Even though you know her and know her name, don't greet her before asking if Mrs. Smith is at home.

RIGHT WAY: Greet the maid pleasantly, calling her by name before asking if Mrs. Smith is at home.

BOTTLE-FED BABIES

If your baby is bottle-fed, be sure to watch little bowels closely. Mother's milk has a natural laxative effect which helps take care of baby's need. Lacking this, a bottle-fed baby often gets fretty, feverish and suffers constipation and upset stomach. Let Baby's Own Tablets help you keep baby's bowels on schedule—sweeten upset stomach—relieve feverishness and teething troubles. No "sleepy" stuff — no dulling effect. Easily crushed to a powder, if desired. Don't let your baby suffer—get Baby's Own Tablets today. 29c

WI Enrolls Mrs. F. Patterson

NORWOOD, Nov. 10—(ENS)—Women's Institute held the November meeting in the library on Friday, with the president, Mrs. Fred Gardner, in charge.

There were 26 members in attendance and Mrs. Fred Patterson was enrolled as a new member.

It was decided to start a flower fund, members contributing 10 cents at the meeting as well as the odd penny fund for the W.I. summer picnic.

Mrs. Roy Baker reported that $90 had been added to the funds from the sale of tickets on the quilt which was donated by Mrs. Gordon Parker and won by Mrs. Frank Bedore.

$63.26 was the amount taken at the booth at the inter-school meet held in Norwood.

Mrs. F. R. Barrett was thanked for her work on the Emblems of Empire float which won first prize at the Women's Institute Fair Day. This prize also swelled the funds $15.

Mrs. Gordon Parker was appointed to lay the Institute wreath at the Cenotaph on Armistice Day.

A committee was formed to cater to the Masonic ladies' night in the Town Hall.

The Dressmaking Course will be held in Norwood the last week in March.

Mrs. Roy Baker was commended for her work on the quilt draw, having sold $70 worth of tickets of the $98 raised.

Hostesses at the tea hour were Miss M. A. Carter, Mrs. C. A. Copp, Mrs. L. H. Edmunds and Mrs. Alec Davis.

Final arrangements were made for the afternoon tea, sale of home baking and the euchre party to be held in the King's Hotel Nov. 26.

Vivien Leigh Spends Free Hours In Bed

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP)—Vivien Leigh now stays in bed until noon every day and has cut out all parties and after theatre suppers.

She's conserving her strength for the strenuous leading role she plays nightly in "a streetcar named desire," at the Aldwych theatre.

When the controversial "streetcar" opened recently, critics said: "it will run as long as Vivien can stand on her feet." Her husband, Sir Lawrence Olivier, who produced the play, commented:

"How long will she be able to keep on giving out this kind of performance? It's absolutely exhausting."

Composer Dies

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10—(AP)—Billy Baskette, 64, composer-pianist whose tunes included "Goodbye Broadway, hello France," and "Waiting for the evening mail," died Wednesday night after a prolonged illness.

Says He's Broke But Others Say He Can Pay

COBOURG, Nov. 10.—(ENS).—United Counties Council was faced with a teaser at its meeting Wednesday. The problem concerns an inmate of the Counties Home who professes to be without money, but who, according to his relatives, is worth from six to eight thousand dollars. Efforts to find out from the Government if he had bonds and from the bank have been fruitless, due to refusal of the officials to reveal the details.

The counties solicitor had been consulted, and he had not devised any successful means of getting the information.

Deputy-Reeve G. F. Jamieson of Bowmanville, from whose municipality the man comes, said that there was a strong suspicion that the inmate had money, and it would be too bad if he died and left it all to the people who were doing nothing now to pay for his keep.

Reeves To Keep TonguesUnderControl

COBOURG, Nov. 10—(ENS)—Language at the current session of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council has been getting just a little too much down to earth. That was what Reeve Art Wartman told his colleagues Wednesday after a discourse by one of the members on the subject of reforestation.

The rebuke was noted and when the word "dar" unobstrusively slipped into a later discussion the offender made his apologies.

County Council May Regulate Tree Cutting

COBOURG, Nov. 10.—(ENS)—H. R. S. Ryan of the Ganaraska Conservation Authority, Wednesday presented to United Counties Council a draft of the bylaw regulating the cutting of trees, with the suggestion that it be passed for Northumberland county. It is for consideration at the January session. A like bylaw is now in force in Durham county.

Trapped In Machine Doctors Remove Arm

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10 — Raymond Chrysler, 40, of Percy Boom, five miles south of here, who was caught in a well-drilling machine in Hastings on Monday, had his right arm amputated two inches above the elbow in Belleville General Hospital. His condition is satisfactory.

Sewage Plant Snag

COBOURG, Nov. 10—(ENS)—Cobourg council's plan to spread $338,000 of the sewage disposal plant cost on an equitable water surcharge basis instead of adding to the taxpayers' burden, ran into a snag Wednsday when the utilities commission refused to alter the water rates.

Council had directed the commission to raise the water rates 50 per cent so that everybody would be paying for the sewage disposal plant. The commission felt that the water rates should not be altered and one reason for this was a fear that industry and commercial users would cut down on their water consumption.

Ministers and Laymen Hold Rural Life Conference

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 10 — (ENS) —Ministers and laymen of adjacent counties held an all-day Rural Life Conference in St. John's United Church, Wednesday. Addresses and discussions were based on the church in relation to community activities.

B. Melvin of the Co-operative Union of Canada, Ottawa, spoke on the "Church and Rural Social Institutions." He gave several reasons why the church should be actively interested in community groups. He said that the co-operative movement as well as other organizations needed the benefit of the Christian influence.

Arthur Stewart, Almonte, addressed the conference on the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. He said that the Federation was interested in the social as well as the economic life of the community. He spoke at length on the farm forums, claiming that they trained for leadership and promoted self-confidence.

The Department of Education was represented by E. Webster, Toronto. He outlined the purposes and plants of the Department in setting up municipal committees to guide recreational activities. He stressed the folk school as a training centre of major importance. The government's aim, he stated, was to assist local communities with advice and subsidies to promote recreation and leadership.

Speaking on ministers' salaries, Rev. J. J. MacKay, Montreal, Superintendent of Home Missions of the United Church, said that the Minister does not want a life of luxury but his stipend should be large enough to keep him out of debt.

He stated that the question of Ministers' salaries rests with the laymen and not the ministers. He believed that if Church Boards were approached in a business like way, salaries could be greatly improved.

The evening session was addressed by Mrs. C. M. Loveys, Toronto, and Donald Baxter, MLA, Prince Edward County. Rev. J. J. MacKay presided.

Parents Say Campbellford In Wrong School Area

COBOURG, Nov. 10.—(ENS).—A deputation from Campbellford and several school sections in Percy Township asked the United Counties Council Wednesday to rescind the High school area bylaw, setting up Campbellford and Seymour Township as a High school area and revise the High School area.

It was decided to reopen the issue and a committee is to be appointed.

Spokesmen for the deputation pointed out that they were all within eight to ten miles of Campbellford, and could not see the wisdom in having to be part of the Brighton High school area and thus obliged to send their children on a sixty-mile round trip to attend school in the Brighton area. Furthermore, there was no school yet built to serve that area. Even Norwood was to be preferred to Brighton, although Campbellford was more convenient.

Counties Clerk William Barr pointed out that the Campbellford board agreed on the area being Campbellford and Seymour. Percy Township Council designated Brighton. It would be some time before a school was built there and there was no reason why Percy Township children could not continue for some time to attend Campbellford, with the Brighton area buying the education for them. He doubted if the department would permit the bylaw to be rescinded.

The deputation from Campbellford said that they had been in the dark as to what area was concerned. It had been handled in a slipshod manner and without due regard to the rights of Campbellford.

Instead of Campbellford being the framework of an enlarged school area, it was only the skeleton. That it was half-baked was obvious, said Mr. McKiel of the deputation, from the fact that now so many school sections wanted to be in the Campbellford area.

Did Not Speak Before

"It is not our fault," Clerk William Barr said. "It is that of the local municipality and the High School Board. Had they said where they wanted to be, we would have known. Percy Township wanted the Brighton area and we only did what was said. Campbellford never indicated Percy Township."

"We didn't know until we were in the school area. Our Council never told us," said the representative from SS No. 8, Percy Township.

"It looks like a misunderstanding all around," observed Reeve Woodyard. "Perhaps we could rescind the bylaw with the consent of the Minister of Education. I think we should do something for this deputation."

Reeve Art Wartman of Percy Township said that all the school sections run their own business. The job of the Township Council was to do as asked. The only request from any school section in Percy was the one which wanted to attend the Cobourg Road school. Campbellford sent in a request for Campbellford and Seymour Township.

Brighton sent in a request that its area comprise Brighton Village, Brighton Township, Colborne Village, Cramahe and Murray Townships and Percy Township, less the Cobourg Road school.

If the remainder of Percy Township had not been placed within the Campbellford and Seymour area, it would have had no place to attend. The Campbellford School Board had nobody to blame but itself. It should read the High School Act.

The Township Council did only what it had been asked. The request for dissolution came from the Campbellford Board of Education, not the Council. Reeve Wartman added that he would sponsor a resolution that the whole matter be reopened and a committee appointed to see what changes could be made. The resolution carried.

LEATHER ARTILLERY

Cannons made of strong leather were used by the Pilgrims in the early days of New England to defend themselves against Indian raids.

Deal With Nazis

BERLIN, Nov. 10—(AP)—East Germany's Communist governors have made peace with the Nazis. The lower house of the German parliament in the Russian zone Wednesday night restored full citizenship to former Nazis and Second World War army officers. "War criminals and Nazi activists" were excepted.

Child Rates Love More Important Than Clean Face, IODE Learns

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 10 (ENS)—Miss Rachel Young, superintendent of Peterborough Children's Aid Society was guest speaker at the November meeting of the Catharine Parr Traill Chapter, IODE Monday in the Parish Hall.

The Peterborough Branch of the Children's Aid is one of 53 societies in Ontario and serves a population of about 50,000, two-thirds of which is in Peterborough city, Miss Young said.

"Love and affection are much more important to a child then clean faces," said Miss Young. "The Shelter can not give children what their own families can if there is one showed affection," she said.

"The choice of a suitable foster home is vitally important so that the child does not have to be moved. Something within a child dies when he is uprooted," she explained.

The chief reason a child is moved from his own home is when he is neglected and not wanted. People would be amazed if they knew the number of children who are not wanted.

A few years ago the Children's Aid had to go out seeking families to help—now they come to the office. The help they were able to give depended on the willingness and ability of the family to take help and the skill of the worker.

At present this particular Society was in touch with 184 families.

Fathers Unknown

"Unmarried parents present a problem," Miss Young said. "In order that a child can be adopted it is necessary that the background of both parents be known It is astounding the number of babies who are born to unmarried girls who have no trace of the father.

Many more foster homes are needed, said Miss Young.

Mrs. J. McKerchar introduced Miss Young who was thanked by Mrs. B. D. Weaver.

Mrs. E. H Northey, regent, presided and expressed appreciation to Mrs Donald Marr for the use of her home for the bridge party and to Mrs. G. Winder Smith and Mrs. J. Huddart for convening the bridge.

Mrs. J. McKerchar, treasurer, reported proceeds from the bridge were more than $42.

Mrs. J. Arnott, Echoes Secretary, announuced a rise in price in the Echoes magazine.

Mrs. L. Quackenbush, Post-war convener, reported three boxes of food sent to England, a box of children's clothing sent to Ajax and read a letter of thanks from a woman 102 years of age for a box received from the Lakefield IO DE.

Mrs. E. Waldon, sewing convener, gave out eleven night gowns to be sewn.

It was moved by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Quackenbush that the chapter purchase a $6 wreath for Remembrance Day.

Lunch was served by Mrs. A. Aiken, Mrs. J. Arnott, Mrs. J. L. Browne, Mrs. J. McKercher and Mrs. C. Hunter.

Father Of Nine WoundsChildren

TORONTO, Nov. 10—(CP)—George Cooper, 52-year-old father of 9 children Wednesday pleaded guilty through counsel to a charge of unlawfully wounding two of his children when pellets from a shot he fired through a window of his home last spring struck them.

Cooper faces two charges of attempted murder and one of wounding arising out of the shooting.

Injured in the shooting were Cynthia, eight months, and 13-year-old Constance.

Defence Counsel Norman Borins told the Assize Court Jury there was "a great burden on defence to prove concussion existed to sufficient extent to render it impossible for Cooper to realize the extent and seriousness of his actions."

Cooper's 19-year-old son, Walter, struck his father with a baseball bat just prior to the shooting.

Mr. Justice Kelly told the jury they must decide whether the plea of guilty should be accepted, but they should remember "the wounded are members of his family now living with him and depending on him for their livelihood."

Crushed Cab Traps Wm. Ireland

Takes Two Hours Cut Victim Free North of Warsaw

William Ireland, 23, of Buckhorn was killed late Thursday afternon when his truck collided with a six-ton county gravel truck on the Stony Lake Road, four miles north of Warsaw.

The driver of the county vehicle, Ed Payne of 179 Lock St., emerged from the accident with a small cut on his left cheek bone and a severe shaking up. Ireland's three-ton truck, owned by Gordon Shearer of Buckhorn, was almost totally demolished and the other one was badly damaged as well.

The impact was so heavy that the engine of the large county truck, loaded with gravel, smashed into the cabin of the other vehicle crumpling it like paper. Both trucks were fused together by the impact and it took more than two hours before the fatally injured man could be removed from the cab.

On New Job

Ireland was completing the first day of a new job bringing nepheline rock from the mines to Lakefield. He had done trucking work before.

As he started his last run he hollered jocularly to some of his workmates to lend him a hand should he run off the road into the swamp or bush.

With his three-ton truck carrying a partial load of nepheline he started on the Lakefield run. Near Hamlin's Corner on the Stony Lake Rd. he broke over the brow of the hill and started to make a westerly turn in the gulley below.

Here he collided with the county truck, striking it on the left fender and side of the cab. He is believed to have been killed almost instantly.

Dr. Lloyd Bailey of Lakefield and Coroner Dr. Donald Munro of Warsaw arrived at the scene of the accident but were unable to be of any assistance to Ireland.

It is believed an inquest will be held.

Provincial police praise the presence of mind of Mrs. Frank Martin who saw the Ireland truck catch fire and ran out with pails of water to douse the flames. Her husband, working on the roof of their house at the time, also joined in extinguishing the fire.

The couple were aided in their work by the fact that a well was situated not more than 20 feet from one side of the road.

Investigating provincial police included Corporal Lloyd McClure, R. Pope and Gordon Caldwell.

Ireland was born in Harvey Twp., son of Jack Ireland and the former Matilda Bolton. He was educated in Buckhorn and lived there most of his life.

Besides his father and mother he leaves two brothers, Allan and James, both of Buckhorn. He was a member of St. Matthew's Anglican Church Buckhorn.

The funueral will be at the Tedford Funeral Home, Lakefield on Saturday at 2 p.m., the Rev. F. J. Fife of St. Matthew's officiating. Burial will be in Hillside Cemetery, Lakefield

Order Rail Meeting

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners Thursday ordered the railways and a sectionmen's union to get together and clarify rules governing section gangs. When that is done, the board said, it will be in a better position to rule on an application by the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees (TLC) asking that railways be ordered to employ more men on section gangs.

Thrill-Seekers Will Face 147 Charges

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 11—(CP)—A total of 147 charges of theft today faced 19 youths described as "thrill-seekers" who turned to spare-time stealing because "there wasn't much to do in Woodstock."

The list of charges may rise still higher, police said. The gang, ranging from 17 to 29 years of age, is alleged to have operated in Oxford, Brant, Norfolk, Middlesex and Waterloo counties.

About half the accused have been released on bail which Crown Attorney Craig MacKay said ranged from $100 to $7,000 cash or up to $10,000 property.

Police said they have recovered more than $1,000 in goods but it is believed that about $4,000 worth will never be found. The loot included cigarets, musical instruments, auto parts and radios.

Charges will be heard in Woodstock Nov. 2.

A 17-year-old said with a shrug: "We were just out after a good time. Well, we got caught . . . it's just one of those things."

Mr. MacKay attributed the outbreak to "mob psychology."

Rule Deshields Now Ineligible

MONTREAL, Nov. 11 (CP).—Vic Obeck, coach of McGill University football team, said today that Roy Deshields, McGill's big negro backfielder, has been ruled ineligible for play.

Obeck said he had "just been in touch with Toronto and Deshields is ineligible."

(In Toronto members of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union said such a ruling was "all news" to them. J. P. Loosemore of the University of Toronto, secretary of the CIAU, said if there were a meeting in Toronto "we certainly were not consulted.")

After his brief announcement, Obeck could not be immediately reached again to make clear if the decision was that of the CIAU although he was definite on Deshields' ineligibility, which comes on the eve of the University of Western Ontario-McGill game, a battle that can determine the order of finish in the senior intercollegiate standings.

The question of Deshields' eligibility arose when Jack Park, sports editor of the London Free Press, broke a story saying a probe into the eligibility of all players may be launched at the end of the season.

Threat Of Immediate War Materially Reduced In Last 18 Months—Gov't

Development of Early Warning Radar Stations Planned Across Canada, Dominion Not Taking Chances On Defence

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP)—The threat and fear of immediate war "have been materially reduced" in the last 18 months a government white paper on defence said today. But development of an early warning radar system in Canada was one of numerous indications the document gave that the government has no intention of allowing this cold war lull to modify or slow long-range defence plans.

Defence Minister Claxton tabled the 39-page statement in the Commons on the 31st anniversary of the ending of the first World War.

Its broad review of the preparedness picture said a radar system is being developed to cover "certain vital approaches and areas" with each station costing between $2,500,000 and $3,500,000. It was made clear, however, that it won't be the sort of thick curtain of stations sometimes envisaged across the northern wastes.

Some stations will be in northern territory, but they will be primarily situated to protect big cities and key targets rather than trying to blanket the whole country.

Tri-Service System

The network will be liked with a tri-service communications system already in existence but now being expanded and new high-powered radar equipment is being manufactured in Canada for the development.

The paper said, too, that:

1. Canada's role in any new war would involve heavy emphasis on air power.

2. There was a wide fear in high places in the spring of 1948—time of the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia — that the "pressure of Communist ambition would soon burst into open aggression" but the months have brought the West together in the Atlantic Pact and moderated the fear.

3. Obligations of the past still can't be spelled out in terms of men and dollars but it should eventually decrease defence expenditure by the 12 member countries.

3 Trenton Fliers Drowned After Car Crash

THE CEDARS, Que., Nov. 11—(CP). — Three airmen were drowned and three others swam to safety when their automobile plunged into the Soulanges Canal after striking a telegraph pole near here late Thursday night. The Cedars is 35 miles south-west of Montreal.

The dead were identified as Joseph Arthur Thibault of Montreal, Joseph H. Bergeron of Sorel, Que., and J. Y. Leveille of Crabtree Mills, Que

The survivors, all from Montreal, were identified as Jacques Decary 19, Denis Marcotte 20, and Herman Lafrance 17.

Their injuries are not believed serious.

All members of the RCAF, the six men left the Trenton Air Base Thursday night for Montreal on week-end leave. Provincial Police said the automobile was travelling about 50 miles an hour when the driver apparently lost control of the vehicle, and it crashed into the pole and then toppled in the canal.

The three survivors escaped from the automobile—a rented sedan—and swam to safety. The other three were trapped in the vehicle.

Early today, the last of the three bodies were recovered from the automobile which was submerged in 20 feet of water.

An inquest will be held today.

Transcontinental Kills 2 In Crash

TORONTO, Nov. 11—(CP)—Two district youths were killed today when their automobile was struck by a transcontinental passenger train at a west-side Canadian Pacific Railway crossing.

Police identified the men as Robert Platt, 25, of Schomberg, and Edward Lambe, 23, of Woodbridge.

Wreckage was strewn along a 50-foot wide gully between the C.P.R. and Canadian National Railways tracks that run parallel at that point.

Police said a double wig-wag signal was operating at the time. Skies were overcast but visibility was good, police said.

Suggest Clergy Freed Of Tax

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—The Commons Thursday heard suggestions that the clergy be completely exempted from income tax.

The belief was expressed by several members as the House began consideration of the income tax changes contained in the 1949-50 budget.

There were other suggestions for lightening the tax load on the clergy if the government did not agree to exempt them altogether.

Gordon Graydon (PC, Peel) asked whether a clergyman must have a charge in order to qualify for exemption under changes in the act.

The budget provides that clergymen may deduct from their taxable income the money spent in maintaining their homes.

James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to the minister of finance, said a clergyman doesn't necessarily have to be in charge of a church. He could qualify if he were an assistant or as long as he were active as a minister.

1,000 Scour Woods Find Child In Well

BOWMANVILLE, Nov. 11 (CP)—While more than 1,000 searchers hunted the woods and district through the rain Thursday night the youngster they sought, six-year-old Tommy Poole, lay lifeless in a neighbor's well, less than two blocks from his home.

Almost the whole village turned out in slickers and rubber boots, headed by town and provincial police, boys from the Bowmanville Training School and citizens, to seek Tommy, missing since 1 p.m. Thursday.

Routine check of all cisterns and wells in the town led to the recovery of the drowned boy today.

Coalition Government Wins Big Victory In Manitoba

WINNIPEG, Nov. 11—(CP)—Premier Douglas L. Campbell's coalition government won a resounding victory in Manitoba's general election yesterday. With 12 of the 57 Legislative seats still undecided, the nine-year-old administration had elected one more member to the 23rd legislature than it had at dissolution six weeks ago. The coalition, built around Liberal-Progressives and Progressive Conservatives, held 37 seats in the 57-seat house—an over-all majority of 17—when vote-counting halted for the night. The anti-coalition forces had elected only seven at that time.

This was the final standing for the night:

	1949 Election		1945 Election
Coalition:
LP	25		24
PC	10		13
Others	2	(37)	6	(43)
Opposition:
CCF	4		9
Others	3	(7)	3	(12)
Deferred	1		0
Doubtful	12		0
Totals	57		55

Premier Campbell controlled 36 seats when the last house was dissolved. And of the doubtful seats, it seemed probable two or more would go to the government supporters.

The government seemed to have a bare chance to match its 1945 election strength of 43 members—a figure subsequently reduced by vacancies and the abandonment of coalition by some members. Opposition strength—12 in 1945—had risen to 16 by dissolution.

Coalition candidates won five seats from the CCF. But they lost three—two to opposition Conservatives and one to an opposition Independent-Liberal. The CCF won a new seat, Kildonan-Transcona, established by redistribution.

Ontario Labor Federation Suspends UEW Over Dues

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (CP) — A jurisdictional conflict between two rival electrical unions sharpened today after one of them was suspended by the Ontario Federation of Labor (C.C.L.) for non-payment of dues.

Action of the Federation in suspending the United Electrical workers Thursday came after a warning from a Canadian Congress of Labor committee that it is ready to provide protection for C.C.L. organizers at the Canadian General Electric company plant here.

The warning pointed up the dispute between the U.E.W., recently expelled from the C.I.O. for alleged Communist sympathies, and the International Union of Electrical Workers, sponsored by the CIO—CCL.

Switch Fails Man Electrocuted

TORONTO, Nov. 11—(CP) — Robert Hardy, 20, a Toronto Humane Society employee, was electrocuted by 1,100 volts Thursday night when he touched a stray dog he had just put to death.

Hardy was working in the kennels of the Society's headquarters. His job was to electrocute injured and stray dogs. He had been working at it only a few months.

Directors of the society, including two doctors, were meeting at the time and went to the kennels immediately. The fire department was called, and men arrived with an inhalator.

Attempts to save Hardy's life went on for half an hour. He was given injections to try and make his heart start beating.

Coroner Dr. Julian Loudon, who was called as soon as hope was abandoned, said:

"Hardy had put a dog in the killing box, an affair about three cubic feet in size. He closed the door of the box and turned on the current.

"Then he went to take the dead dog out. But he forgot to turn off the current by the switch over the box.

Switch Fails

"This would not have been fatal normally. There is a safety switch, a double check one, which should have operated as soon as he opened the door of the box.

"That safety switch just failed to operate," Dr. Loudon said. "It was a 1,000 to one shot."

"Hardy put his hands in to lift out the dog. The dog had previously been covered in water so that the electrocution collar would make a good connection. The water made a good connection to Hardy. And the concrete floor was a little damp."

Workmates said Hardy's death may have been caused by hurrying to get home. The small dog was the last one for the day.

He is survived by his father and mother, Rev and Mrs. H. B. Hardy, two brothers and two sisters. Mr. Hardy is the pastor of Whitevale Baptist Church.

Opening Course For Male Nurses

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (CP). — Ontario Health Minister Kelley announced today that the Provincial Health Department will inaugurate a training course for male nurses to alleviate the present nursing shortage in mental hospitals. The course will probably be established at the Ontario Hospital in Hamilton, Mr. Kelley said, and other schools may be set up at other centres later.

All students taking the course would receive psychiatric training. The course would extend over 12 months. The present course for certified nursing assistants is nine months

Maybe Cost, Not Guns Will Prevent 3rd War

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 — (CP). — Maybe a third World War will be prevented by sheer expense.

A Government White Paper on defence today listed these prices to stagger the imagination:

An equipment-carrying transport plane costs more than $500,000; a Patton tank $300,000, a 5.25 inch anti-aircraft gun equipped and installed $600,000, a fire-control radar set $100,000, a submarine destroyer $8,000,000; a long-range four-engine bomber $3,000,000, an operational airfield $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Steel Plant Says Freight Rate Ruinous

Jeopardizing Market Position With Competitors Algoma Charges

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP)—One of Canada's three produers of basic steel Thursday told the Royal Commission on Transportation that freight-rate increases are jeopardizing its market position.

Algoma Steel Corporation protested across-the-board percentage rate increases on its products and called for modification of increases on iron and steel and such primary commodities, particularly on long-haul traffic.

Algoma, whose plant at Sault Ste. Marie is farther from some main markets than competitors, declared the rate-regulating Board of Transport Commissioners should have to consider the effects of such geographic conditions—as well as economic factors—in determining freight rates.

The Board has taken the stand that under the Railway Act it cannot take these into account in dealing with freight rates.

Running Battle

On the stand most of the day, Senator J. Gordon Fogo (L, Ontario), Algoma director and legal counsel engaged in a long running battle with railway counsel over the question of whether the company's competitive position had been worsened by freight rates.

His contention that percentage increases necessarily affected the company's competitive position against plants at Sydney, N.S., and Hamilton was challenged by Ian Sinclair, Canadian Pacific Railway counsel.

Mr. Sinclair argued percentage increases in themselves would have no effect at all unless the transportation charges for one firm, as against a competitor, increased by a greater percentage of total production costs.

In a period of inflation, the railway lawyer said, freight-rate increases would not affect a firm's position adversely unless they increased proportionately more than other costs.

Have Advantage

The railways also advanced the claim that Algoma had a transportation cost advantage over other firms in that it was close to ore supplies and that this would offset any disabilities created by increases on its longer hauls to markets.

However, Senator Fogo declared he did not agree with that view.

The Senator's brief declared freight-rate increases of the last two years had seriously disturbed its competitive relationships with Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation at Sydney and Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton.

Against Steico, the increases had caused a general widening of Algoma's transportation "disadvantage" in main markets. They had had the same effect with respect to Dosco competition in such centres as Montreal, Quebec City and Sherbrooke, Que

Que. Woodsmen Being Tricked In Job Racket

MONTREAL, Nov. 11 (CP)—A Montreal paper said in a news-page story Thursday that Quebec woodsmen are being victimized by a gang who promise them "guaranteed labor" in Ontario, exact a $55 transportation fee and then abandon the men in the woods.

The newspaper said officials of one of the largest employment agencies operating in Quebec confirmed the existence of the gang and said that at least 100 men have been victimized in recent weeks.

Existence of the ring was said to have been charged by an unidentified St. Paul De La Croix lumberjack who paid $55 and then found himself abandoned in a desolate section near Sudbury.

"Operating on the same system as that of a bona-fide agency" the newspaper said, "the group solicits labor in lower south shore Quebec towns, collects their transportation dues and then whisks them to a pre-ordained spot in known woodcutting country.

"The catch lies in the fact that the firm—or gang—apparently has no contract with a legitimate woodcutting company and the men do not secure jobs."

Lionel J. Leger and Lionel Boivin, both of Leblanc's Employment Agency of Sudbury, said they were aware that a "number of men" had been taken to the Sudbury area and then abandoned. Leger said the only protection a lumberjack has is to find out if the man who approaches him represents a recognized firm.

Threat Of War

4. Defence policy envisages fighting of the major battles of any future war on enemy territory. But defence of Canada's own soil also is planned by creation of her first peacetime standing forces.

5. Canada's internal security measures "have been completely re-examined" and intelligence precautions strengthened.

6. At the end of September, the regular forces were within 11 per cent of the present authorized strength of 50,039.

7. The total force working on defence now has reached 114,000 including 24,000 civilians, 45,000 regular troops and 45,000 reserves.

8. The greatest bottleneck in any future emergency would be in trained tradesmen and "steps are being taken to increase their numbers."

9. Canada has placed orders worth $75,000,000 this year for aircraft and aircraft overhauls and parts, nearly four times the total for the last fiscal year.

10. Canada's potential industrial capacity for war is twice what it was in 1939.

The white paper, a broadsurvey of the "problem of the defence of Canada," is one of a small series of such documents issued since the war.

It contained no spectacular new disclosures. It was rather a resume of developments and disclosures to date with a relatively-few new indications of what is transpiring.

Need Interceptors

References to radar were several. It said threat of attack by air on Canada requires jet interceptor aircraft and anti-aircraft guns with the necessary radar equipment and communications system "backed by a relatively-small but highly trained, efficient and mobile force of ground troops."

"The territory of Canada is so vast that it is obviously impracticable to construct a chain or grid of radar stations similar in density and consequent effectiveness to those in wartime Britain and Germany. Nevertheless an early warning system to cover certain vital approaches and areas is being developed."

The reference to Canada's air role in a new war came in reiterating the planned roles of the three forces. It said that the RACAF "in addition to looking after our home defence....might furnish aircraft, aircrew and groundcrew for many different types of air operation."

It said the "defence of Canada and of western Europe are ultimately one operation." Policy, therefore, had three objectives—meeting immediate needs for local defence here and now, preparing local defences as needed in the future, and contributing to a plan for Western security.

Regulate Pace

"The development of these three phases must proceed at a pace which will neither be so slow as to leave us unprepared at any point nor so hasty as to over-burden the economy with the production of war materials much of which would become obsolete."

Any war that involved Canada would penetrate into the farthest reaches of the world. Canada must be prepared to defend herself and to mobilize to fight abroad. Troops would fight with the "conventional" weapons.

"Mastery in the air assumes increasing importance. That is reflected in Canada's defence program by a greater portion of money being allotted to the air force than to either of the other services....but a balanced and co-ordinated effort would be necessary in any forseeable war."

Canada's $383,000,000 defence budget, on a per capita basis, was outranked by the U.S., U.K. and Holland among pact powers but all three of those countries had large overseas commitments.

Canada's defence dollar, by services, gave 38.8 per cent to the RCAF, 33.1 to the army, 19 to the navy, five to research and 4.1 to pensions; by requirements, 16 to property, nine to civilian wages, five to research and 20 to other costs.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 11 (Reuters)—Twenty-seven people, including six women, were arrested here Thursday following the explosion of a bomb at an "Anti-War Day" meeting organized by the Communist-dominated Students' Federation. The police ordered the crowd to disperse, whereupon the bomb exploded. No casualties were reported. Police dispersed the gathering with tear gas and staves.

Provincials Nab Tweed Suspects Off Transport

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 11 (CP) — Acting on information received from Belleville headquarters, Provincial Police at Whitby today arrested two men charged with breaking and entry and theft at a Tweed service station Thursday morning.

The two, Vernon Derochie, 17, address unknown, and Elmer Lambert of St. Ann's, Ont., have been brought back to Belleville and will appear at Police court in Tweed.

Provincial Constable Jack Hatch of Madoc stated two men had broken into the Holmes Service Station at Tweed and had stolen cigarets, about $10 in cash and tools valued at about $15.

Later they had obtained a ride on a Rashotte transport operating out of Tweed and this information was radioed ahead to Provincial Police who took the accused off the transport at Whitby.

11 Get Acclamation

Eleven of the 12-member coalition cabinet were returned by acclamations or in Thursday's voting, which saw ballots cast for 41 seats. Only Provincial Treasurer John C. Dryden still was in doubt about a seat. He trailed Harry Shewman, a Coalition Independent, in Morris riding where a further count was necessary under the single-transferable-vote system to decide a winner.

But either Dryden or Shewman was a sure winner for the government side. Early today two others were in the category of almost-certain Coalition members although further counting was necessary to make matters official: Ron Turner in Winnipeg south and J. Van Belleghem in St. Boniface. Both are Liberal-Progressives.

Three other Coalition candidates were leading, but seemingly with a narrower chance of victory: Frank Chester, a Liberal-Progressive in Winnipeg North; H. B. Scott, a Progressive Conservative in Winnipeg Centre; and Ronald W. Robertson, a Coalition Independent, in Roblin.

British Coal Mines Making Money Now

LONDON, Nov. 11—(AP)—One of Britain's nationalized industries—the coal mines—is making money.

Fuel Minister Hugh Gaitskell told Parliament Thursday the mines showed a clear profit of £6,500,000 ($20,150,000) during the first six months of this year.

That compared with a loss of £29,600,000 in 1947, the first year of public ownership, and a profit of £1,500,000 last year.

Gaitskell said this year production costs were down and output was up.

After a debate on the National Coal Board's report for 1948, the House of Commons defeated a Conservative resolution criticizing the report by a vote of 270 to 152.

War Dead Honored In $450,000 Arena

GUELPH, Nov. 11 (CP)—In the modern $450,000 arena built as a memorial to the war dead of two world conflicts, Guelph citizens today paid tribute to 400 heroic sons who gave their lives in the armed services.

The Memorial Gardens, one of the finest sports centres in Ontario, was packed to capacity for Remembrance Day services highlighted by the dedication of two placques bearing the city's honor rolls of the two wars.

The placques, unveiled by Mayor Gordon Rife, were dedicated by Rev. E. Brillinger, Rev Father O'Reilly and Rabbi J. Litke, representing the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths. Speaker at the ceremonies was Mines Minister Gibson.

Gold Stocks Drop Sharply

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (CP) — Prices of gold stocks dropped sharply on the Toronto Stock Exchange Thursday in the heaviest selling in some time.

The break was the sharpest since Sept. 20, when 10 per cent devaluation of the Canadian dollar was less than the market had anticipated.

Heaviest selling appeared in the last two hours following President Truman's statement that the United States would not increase the price of gold while he is president.

Stocks of larger producers showed losses ranging up to $1.25. Smaller issues dipped as much as 35 cents.

The drop pulled the average price level of gold stocks down to the lowest point since late October, wiping out much of their recent advances.

The remainder of the market also sagged. Base metal, industrial and western oil stocks slipped steadily. Volume of 1,293,000 shares was comparatively light for the extent of the gold losses.

Eight Youths Given Suspended Sentence

Hallowe'en ghosts returned to haunt eight youths, most of them collegiate students who were given one year's suspended sentence for a Hallowe'en prank by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court Thursday.

They were all charged with committing wilful damage by wrecking a trellis owned by Maxwell Grose, 162 Parkhill Rd. Oct. 31. They were ordered to share the $20 cost of replacing the trellist. In addition each has to pay $2.50 costs making a total of $5 for each to pay.

The boys, ranging in age from 16 to 18, were: Dave Fortner, Donald Sollitt, Bab Warne, Bob Howe, Brian Henderson, Gordon Henderson, Walter Rye and Stan Facendi.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said they were all decent boys but, he said, there had been a lot of damage in the district although the boys admitted to only the one offence at which they had been caught.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 11 (Reuters)—Scientists from Canada, the United States and Western Europe will attend a four-day conference on nuclear physics opening here Sunday.

Tax Reductions Said Too Small, See No Relief

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—The Government was told Wednesday by several members of the Commons that the Canadian people expected more widespread tax reductions in the 1949-50 budget.

The members outlined what they and their constituents felt should have been done with various taxes, in the excise, sales and income fields. They were given a sympathetic hearing, but James Sinclair, Parliamentary Assistant to Finance Minister Abbott, made it plain no further taxation relief will be forthcoming this year.

The requests came as members passed tax changes provided in the budget, first introduced on March 22 and reintroduced Oct 20.

Bills based on the resolutions were introduced and given first reading. They will come up for further discussion next week. Today, the Commons will deal with defence department estimates.

In the Senate, Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader in the Upper House, urged one of his Liberal colleagues not to press a bill of rights on the Dominion-Provincial Constitutional conference due to open Jan. 10.

He asked Senator Arthur Roebuck (L, Ontario) not to submit to the conference a resolution calling for a Canadian bill of rights. The conference would have a heavy job in considering amendment of Canada's constitution. It would be placed under undue strain if asked to consider "new and extraneous matters."

No Income Tax Cuts

In the debate on budget resolutions there was no demand for greater reductions for the income tax payer. The budget increased exemptions for single men from $750 to $1,000 and from $1,500 to $2,000 for married persons.

A number of members urged that the cost of transporting a person to medical care, whether by air, ambulance or train, be deductable for income-tax purposes.

Mr. Sinclair said the government had considered such suggestions, but had not decided to make them part of government policy.

Charges of "You don't know what you are talking about" were bandied freely as members argued on whether sales and excise taxes pyramid as they move through various stages toward the consumer.

G. K. Fraser (PC, Peterborough West), who lists his occupation as a "gentleman," said the sales and excise taxes are pyramided as they pass from the manufacturer, to the wholesaler then the retailer and then the consumer.

Forces Reject 75% Applicants

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—The regular forces are turning away more than 75 per cent of applicants for enlistment, a white paper on defence said today, and things are going to get even tougher.

Further most of those who get in, stay in, the document said.

At the end of September, the regular services had 45,159 men or 89 per cent of the present authorized establishment. This included 19,931 in the army, 16,356 in the RCAF and 8,872 in the navy.

In the year ending then, 12,267 men were enlisted and 4,006 released by retirements, discharges and the like, leaving a net gain of 8,261.

In the same 12 months, 54,814 men tried to enlist.

The defence department now has 114,000 persons on the pay list, including the regulars, 45,000 reservists and 24,000 civilians.

Wastage in the active forces was "much less than anticipated." Among army men now completing their first three years' engagement, 97 per cent were re-enlisting.

Prairie Voters Follow Pattern

REGINA, Nov. 11 (CP)—Electors remained true to the political traditions of two Saskatchewan ridings in provincial by-elections yesterday.

In Gull Lake, T. J. Bentey, 58, former CCF member of parliament for Swift Current, was conceded election by his 38-year-old Liberal opponent, Harold Haney, after returns from 98 of the riding's 109 polls. Mr. Bentley had 3,379 votes and Mr. Raney 2,561.

The Progressive Conservative candidate, C. Howlett, trailed with 610.

In the traditionally-Liberal riding of Cannington, Ross McCarthy, 58-year-old Liberal candidate, was conceded election by his 40-year-old CCF opponent, E G. McCullough.

Returns from 70 of the riding's 71 polls gave Mr. McCarthy 4,173 votes, Mr. McCullough 3,566. There was no Progressive Conservative candidate.

September Trading Balance Drops Sharply Over 1948

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP)—The barometer by which Canada judges external financial health—the international trading surplus—is pointing down. The Bureau of Statistics reports September's trading balance—value of exports over imports—at $9,400,000, a sharp cut from the $64,400,000 in September, 1948.

This brought the total credit balance for the first nine months this year to $93,100,000, almost one-third lower than the $261,600,000 for the same period last year.

The Bureau says the decline is due mostly to a falling off of exports to the United States and a continuing high increase in American imports.

In trading with the U.S., Canada sustained a deficit of $42,600,000 in September—compared with an unusual credit of $11,400,000 in September last year.

Increase Deficit

As a result the traditional trading deficit with that country increased to $431,700,000 for the nine months, compared with a deficit of $265,600,000 last year.

This debit balance was partially offset by continuing high exports to the United Kingdom and lower imports from that country.

Domestic exports to the U.K. increased to $56,900,000 in September, compared with $47,900,000 last year. Imports declined from $27,100,000 last year to $21,900,000—lowest month's value since March, 1948.

This sent the month's balance of trade to $35,500,000 compared with $24,100,000. The nine-month rate remained at $288,400,000, against $30,100,000 last year.

The favorable balance of trade with all other countries amounted to $16,500,000 in September, compared with $28,900,000 in September last year. The nine-month total jumped to $236,400,000 compared with $227,100,000.

War Veterans Hold Dinner

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP)—Veterans of two world wars now members of the House of Commons and press gallery Thursday dined and sang together on the eve of Remembrance Day. The Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, was the guest of honor.

It was a revival of the War Veterans' Association of the House and gallery which held similar events from 1935 to 1940. Co-hosts were W. Ross Macdonald, speaker of the Commons, and Veterans Minister Gregg, original member of the association.

More than 100 veterans and a scattering of special guests including Prime Minister St. Laurent attended the dinner in the railway committee room of the House of Commons.

Veterans Minister Gregg introduced two Imperial veterans invited to the dinner. They were Steve Jones of Toronto, president of the ex-Imperial Confederation of Canada, and James Harmer of Brantford, president of Brantford ex-Imperials.

The O.F.L., in announcing the suspension, issued an invitation to units of the new union to affiliate with it. Some units of the UEW were said as much as 10 months overdue in their payment of dues. Cleve Kidd, OFL secretary, said the locals were notified they were in arrears but made no effort to bring themselves into good standing.

The CCL committee warning regarding its organizers came after a scuffle Wednesday at the Toronto CGE plant, when organizers were handing out leaflets to workers. The leaflets urged employees to leave the UEW and join the new international union.

A charge that the organizers were attacked and threatened by Communist sympathizers and that workers inside the shops have been similarly threatened was made by Murray Cotterill, president of the Toronto Labor Council.

Drew Criticizes Surprise Move In Budget Debate

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 — (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Thursday night in a statement that "much more than surprise" was involved Wednesday in the sudden termination of the debate on the 1949-50 budget.

The discussion ended so unexpectedly that no formal vote was taken on an earlier Progressive Conservative amendment. Mr. Drew was absent at the time along with many members from both sides of the Chamber. In his statement he explained why he was absent.

He said:

"Following long - established custom a list was prepared by the government whip giving the names of those who would speak yesterday. According to that list there were still two Liberal members to speak after T. J. Kickham (L, Kings), who rose to speak just before 5.30 p.m. Under those circumstances it was certain that the debate would be concluded at six o'clock at which time the House adjourns on Wednesday.

Make Appointment

"At the request of one of the senior members of the press gallery I made an appointment to meet him in my office at 5.30. I had just reached my office when I received a message that the debate had come to an end. I immediately returned to the House and found that the amendment and main motion had been disposed of although I had been out of the House at that time less than five minutes."

Centralization Rapped In Ports

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP)—Removal of "extreme centralization" in the administration of Canada's national ports was urged today before the Royal Commission on Transportation.

The city and Chamber of Commerce of Quebec—one of the ports—suggested the "evils" of centralization be eliminated either by full implementation of the Gibb Royal Commission report which resulted in port nationalization in 1936, or by some other means.

A major recommendation of the Gibb report that should be put into effect, the Quebec brief said, is the appointment of local port advisory councils to drum up business and otherwise help in port administration.

The Quebec brief also lashed out at the two major railways, accusing them of following a policy "inimicable to the interests of Quebec in:

1. Concentrating operating and maintenance facilities at Montreal, "to the exclusion of Quebec."

2. "Encouraging the flow of trade and commerce of the city of Quebec and its hinterlands towards Montreal, instead of Quebec where it rightfully belongs."

Give County Roads Back To Townships, Says Reeve

COBOURG, Nov. 11.—(ENS) —Reversion of all the counties roads back to the townships by rescinding every counties road bylaw might be cheaper than the present counties road system, said Reeve Frank George of Brighton township at Thursday's session of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council.

"I'd like you to turn it over in your minds as I have done I think if the townships looked after all their respective roads it could be done cheaper and better than under the counties road system," declared the reeve.

As the suggestion of the reeve from Brighton Township came just before council adjourned, there was no discussion on what he had said. However, there are many angles to the matter. Some of the counties roads have been in the counties road system for many years and have been vastly improved during that time Furthermore traffic has increased greatly and with it, construction and maintenance costs.

There are roads in Hamilton township for instance, that carry heavy traffic, and the situation is the same in many other parts of the counties. For a township to finance the upkeep of these roads, would be a different story from the earlier days of much less traffic.

The Hon. George Doucette, minister of highways, paid a visit to the counties council on his way to Picton. He confers with the Road Commission about this time every year. His visit Wednesday was the first to the counties council session here.

"I sat for ten years on the county council of Lanark and I know your problems," he said "I might say that those were the happiest days of my life. To outsiders the problems of municipal administration are those which the public sees while the council is in session but when good fellows get together under proper conditions, outside the council session, many problems are solved," Mr. Doucette declared.

Control Weeds

Council devoted considerable discussion to the problem of weed control in the counties. The Northumberland weed inspector, Percy Gooding, reported that the conditions of the roadsides had much improved since the removal of weeds and there had been co-operation from all concerned However there was still a great deal of work to be done.

P. I. Bentley, weed inspector for Durham, said there had been a program of spraying and cutting in all the townships. The weed situation had been bad, but considerable improvement had been achieved. One spraying was not enough for weeds, he pointed out.

Reeve A. Wartman of Percy Township told the Council that the Road Commission had decided it could not carry on weed spraying in both counties the same year so alternated it with cutting. He didn't think the money spent on weed spraying was as effective as cutting.

No company would guarantee the effect of spraying as it was only an experiment. Reeve Frank George said alternate spraying and cutting would not work. It took more than one application of spray to do the trick, and he had found it out on his own farm. At least two sprays in the year were necessary, he said.

Weed Inspector Percy Gooding observed that $3,000 was not much to spend on weed control in the two counties. It wouldn't do a job all over, and so they had to resort to spot spraying and choosing the worst sections. It was pretty successful where applied, he had found.

Pass Road Bylaw

A number of bylaws reverting highway diversions back to the townships were passed, but in connection with the bylaw affecting No. 61 and 62 in Haldimand and Percy Townships, Reeve Wartman sponsored a resolution that this be not given its final reading and Council decided to withdraw the bylaw.

Cheesed Off On Cheese Week

"We don't eat half enough cheese and drink enough milk. I know because I have been watching their habit for years," said Nick Douros of the Churchill Restaurant today.

It was the only spot in town where the Examiner found any repercussion of National Cheese Week, described as a full flop by the several grocers interviewed.

Mr. Douros asked the boss chef to feature cheese, and today's menu included scolloped potatoes and cheese, macaroni and cheese; with recommendation of cheese omelettes and that smacking combination, apple pie and a hefty slice of Ontario Cheddar cheese.

"We are the best fed people in the world," said Mr. Douros. "We have so much other food that a lot of people don't seem to know about cheese. I guess people in Canada don't realize how well off they are. I hope they are thankful for it."

Grocers said that if there was any publicity effort behind cheese week they were unaware of it, and had seen none of its effects.

"The cheese business this week is just the same as any other week. People who buy it regularly were the only customers who asked about it."

Government officials and dairy men are confident that if Canadians discovered cheese as a food, if the percentage of people buying and eating it, doubled or trebled, they would not have to worry about markets in Britain or anywhere else beyond our own shores.

Stop Counting Noses In The Armed Forces

During the war Canada did its job; it provided men, guns and food. As soon as war ended Canada reasonably and wisely decided to pull out of Europe. The grand Allied march into Berlin had only a company of Canadians, and Canada did not provide occupational forces for Britain or the United States to command. She quartered her troops in Holland and England until they could be shipped back home. When the Berlin Air Lift was in full flight Canada did not provide airmen or planes. The reason for these withdrawals from overseas military enterprises was that Canada is not a great Power. Let those who have the power administer it. Canada has teeth, but does not need to wear them to the gums in peace-time.

* * *

Yet there are those who want Canada to show her teeth even in these years. Canada is not militaristic by nature, by endowment or by force of circumstance. Canada does not need to look big on the parade square. Canada is western democracy's Army Service Corps, especially in times of peace. She is the provider, the "arsenal of democracy."

* * *

There are those who say in Parliament that the armed services are woefully, dangerously, under strength. To put the matter quite bluntly, Canada in these times can never be under strength so long as the United States accepts its obligations as the greatest power on earth, or, more intimately, accepts the duty of defending itself. In defending itself it must defend Canada. The Canadian North is as much the United States' frontier as Canada's. The Atlantic seawall is primarily American. So is the Pacific's.

* * *

But to let the U.S. defend Canada would be ignominious, shameful, some proud Canadians say. Can Canada hold her head up if she sits back, secure in American impregnability? Yes, she can. Her reputation in two wars is her justification for pride.

* * *

When war comes Canada is quick on the draw. Twice in this half-century she has proved herself—three years before the United States in the Great War; two years earlier in the late war. Canada comes up to the scratch in war-time. In peace-time let her take her own measure, her own role. She is not a great Power, obliged to show the flag.

* * *

What Canada needs now is not a large armed force but an intent, knowledgeable one, the nucleus of an army, navy, and air force which can spark and lead the large forces recruited for war. We view with alarm and dismay the recent lowering of service entrance requirements, now designed to attract more men, not better men, to the peacetime colours. Canada's Army does not need crowds of men; it needs brains, education, and ability. What this country should aim at is not battalions, but a service filled with sergeants, sergeant-majors, captains and brigadiers—and their counterparts in the navy and army —of alert intelligence.

* * *

Canada should be recruiting limitedly a most select service. Almost every man accepted should have in him—after training—the qualities of an N.C.O., or an officer, of their counterparts in the navy and air force. The Canadian armed services should be specially select. Brains and ability to lead, and to devise strategy should be the creterion, not noses.

* * *

Worried people may ask, what of Canada's commitments under the North Atlantic Pact? These are still without form, in so far as they have been made public. If the signers of the Pact have a realistic sense of the situation, they will require of Canada chiefly supplies, and rely on her proven ability to supply the men when the need arises.

* * *

As a secondary power Canada should not be expected to supply a great standing army. As a nation which has made a significant contribution in the two wars of this century, she can be expected to come up to scratch if war develops.

Mr. Morrison's Henry

It must have been a shock to thousand of Labour Party members when the Hon. Herbert Morrison came out flat-footedly before a Lancashire audience in favour of incentives in industry. Workers who expect "more than a minimum standard of living must contribute more than a minimum day's work", said he, and declared that workers were not traitors if they set "too fast a pace for their less efficient workmates"; and he concluded that "workers who work harder and earn more than the minimum are not only not injuring their fellows, but are helping and supporting them."

From a labour union point of view this is rank heresy. Unions seek not only to fix hours and rates of pay, but also the amount of work a man may do in a day. Understandably the rate of work must be slow enough to accommodate the less competent workmen. It is no secret, for instance, that the number of bricks which his union says that a man must lay in a day is very far from being the number that a first-rate bricklayer can lay in a day without straining himself. Whatever may be said to the contrary, all men are not equal, and attempts to equalize the working capacities of men result in a levelling-down, rather than a levelling-up.

Mr. Morrison has declared for incentives for workers. Whether the Labour Party will follow him in this heresy remains to be seen. Certainly there must be a large number of superior workmen in Britain who would not mind showing their superiority if they were paid for it. But if incentives for workers are permissible, what will the Labour Government have to say about incentives for management, as well? What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

The Eleventh Of November

Today Peterborough with the rest of Canada and a great part of the world again paid the tribute of remembrance to the men who served, and especially to the men who fell in the two world wars of this century. The Great War ended on November 11th, 1918; the Second World War but four years ago. It seems to us wise not to make the day a general public holiday; a holiday tends to become not a holy day but merely a day off work when even the purpose for which it is instituted is almost forgotten, and no observance paid.

Our schools were granted a holiday. In order that the occasion for it should be remembered and proper respects paid, the Collegiate held its memorial service yesterday afternoon. We wonder if it would not have been at least as fitting to have kept the schools in session today, though discarding the usual classroom routine, and to have held the Remembrance Day services on November 11th itself? If this had been done the pupils would not have had, however, a whole holiday.

To The Defence Of Poland

The extent of Poland's independence from Russia may be gauged by the news that Soviet Marshal Rokossovsky has been appointed its new Defence Minister and Commander-in-Chief. Rokossovsky is a Pole by birth, but 35 of his 53 years have been spent in Russia. He was a Czarist officer in the First World War, and in the Russo-Polish war which followed it. His reputation was made in the Second World War, when he commanded at the relief of Stalingrad, the most decisive Russian victory of the war.

It is said that President Beirut of Poland asked particularly to have this famous Pole return to the service of his native land. Perhaps that may be so. But as commander of the largest army in Eastern Europe except that of Russia, with 14 divisions and over 150,000 men, and as commander of Russia's chief supply base for Eastern Germany, we may suppose that Rokossovsky will continue to be a faithful servant of the U.S.S.R.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A city in Afghanistan which has been lost for over 1,000 years has turned up again. They must have got a few live wires on the Chamber of Commerce.

When Colombia votes on November 27, there will be 18,000 soldiers to guard the polls against threats to liberty—such as anyone voting against the present government.

The mummies of men eight feet tall have recently been found in Egypt. Excellent fellows for a basketball team, if a few can be found in a livelier condition.

An author who wrote that the inhabitants of Scotland's Western Isles are drunken, lazy, greedy, immoral, brutal and dirty is confronted with a protest from the district named. His was hardly the kind of comment which calls forth a vote of thanks.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: Can you or any of your readers supply information about the Charles Fothergill-Adam Scott mill on the Otonabee, built about 1821, just south of Peterborough? This mill was, I believe, the beginning of industry in the entire Peterborough-Muskoka district.

ANSWER: I presume the mill referred to above is the saw and grist mill built by Adam Scott, first white settler in Peterborough, which was in operation by 1821. Charles Fothergill was at one time M.P.P. for Durham. Mr. Fothergill may have put up some of the money and supplies, but I doubt that he, an "Esquire" in Poole's terminology, would do the actual work of "Mr." Adam Scott, millwright.

Fothergill and Scott were two of a party from the Lakefront who in May 1819 came up the Otonabee in a skiff, to select a mill site and prospect in the new townships which were being laid out. Others were Thomas Ward, Esq., of Port Hope, Clerk of the Peace for the District; John Farrelly, Surveyor, Barnabas Bletcher, and Mr. John Edmison, an intending settler, who had already drawn a lot at hazard, and later settled in Smith. Edmison and Ward spent the night around a camp-fire in Peterborough and then went on to Bridgenorth (Ward became owner of the land on which present Bridgenorth is set.). The others discussed the mill site, proposing to dam up the creek (Jackson Park creek?) taking the water along, as Poole says, "a short excavation to the steep bank of the Otonabee". Thus the party felt, "an eligible mill site would be obtained, and at a trifling cost compared with the expense of attempting to control the rapidly descending waters of the Otonabee, at any point in the neighbourhood". Two years later a mill was in operation, at what is now the corner of King and Water Streets.

Poole says that in 1834 it was "improved", and a brewery and distillery added and carried on by Messrs. Hamilton and Fortye, until 1835 when the whole thing burnt down. Then a new structure was built which was in existence at the time Dr. Poole wrote his history (1867). There are inconsistences in the dates, for Poole says that this distillery went out of existence in 1827, "but Mr. Scott's dwelling house still remains".

That is all I know about the mill, and it is nothing more than one can get out of Poole. It is unfortunate that unlike the Scott-Needler mill in Cavan, nothing remains of it. If any reader has further information, a sketch, or can tell me where it can be had, I shall be most grateful, as will my questioner.

ALPHA: What do people mean when they talk about "The Great White Way"? The Milky Way?

ANSWER: No; the reference is not celestial. It is the name used by columnists, newsmen, and now by most people, for Broadway and the theatrical district of New York. It was adopted originally from the book of that name written in 1901 by Albert Bigelow Paine (1861-1937). It refers of course to the lights and lighted signs, and pre-dates Neon with its colours.

When Prime Minister Nehru of India, a Cambridge graduate as well as a man with a long jail record (as political prisoner of the British), was visiting New York recently, one of his sisters now touring the U.S.A. (Mrs. Krishna Hutheesing) took him along Broadway. She says, "He got rather excited about the electric signs there. Said they tended to put him off the products they advertised".

An actor or playwright has really made top billing when he can see his name in lights on Broadway.

SIR: This is a trifling question, but do tell me how they lock the glass doors in those stores with the new all-glass fronts. There seem to be no door-knobs, latches or even key-holes! Anyway, surely they can't have key-holes in glass?

ANSWER: The glass doors are a bit mysterious until you lower your eyes. There you will usually see at toe level a small metal plate fastened to the glass door which contains both a lock arrangement and a key-hole (opaque). The reason that the key-hole is not at waist or eye level is, of course, that there is no need to peek through the key-hole to see what is going on inside.

SIR: Is there any truth in the rumour that one of those animals that the late Mr. Boyd of Bobcaygeon used to try to breed (the Boyd of Boyd's Island on Pigeon Lake), half-cow, half-buffalo, was seen by some hunters around Lake Katchecoma last week? The animal must of course have been a descendant of the original herd.

ANSWER: I shall try to track this down for you. If there were snow, I should ask you what kind of track it is reported to have made —cloven-hoof? A dubious story, for Mr. Boyd had little luck with his cross-breeding. What he did get were puny things, and would not reproduce.

SIR: Am I correct in saying that the Emperor of Austria was called a "czar", and the Emperor of Russia a "tsar"? If so, why the difference in spelling? Aren't they the same word?

ANSWER: At root, yes. So was the title of the German Emperor, Kaiser. All come from the word Caesar, which word, said fast, sounds like Tsar or Czar, and said in the schoolbook Latin way is exactly the same in sound as Kaiser.

The difference in spelling is due chiefly to the difference in pronunciation of the Russians, the Austrians and the Germans. Have we not in this country Schmidt's, Smythe's, Smyth's and plain Smith's? The first is German, the second true English or merely tony; the third is Irish (I know a butcher shop in Lurgan, Northern Ireland, which bears this sign: "J. SMYTH, FLESHERER"). The fourth—Smith—is general. The Earl of Birkenhead, the great British jurist and lawyer of the late Victorian and Edwardian eras was F. E. Smith, before being raised to the peerage. The financier and C.P.R. railway builder Lord Strathcona had been Donald Smith. Not an undistinguished clan, the Smiths. Yet Peterborough does not seem to think so; it changed its Smith Street to Park Hill Road.

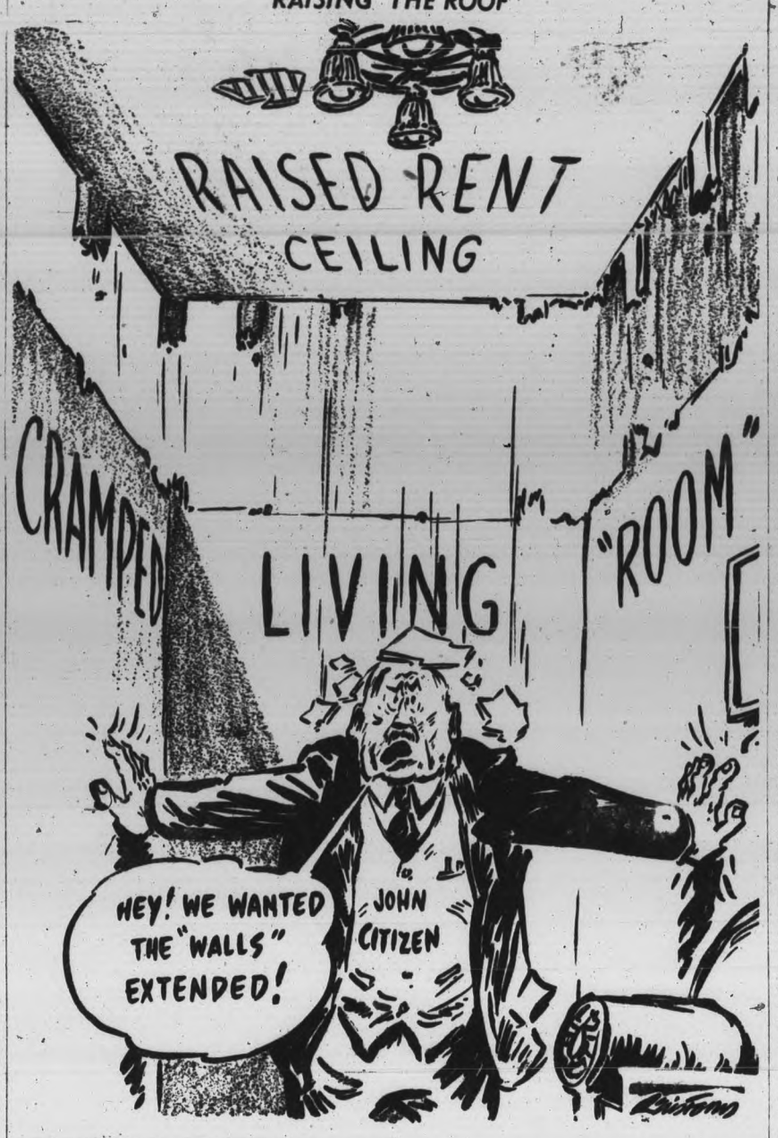
FOR THE RECORD: I should be remiss in my duties as a recorder if I did not call attention to the recent and continuing labour disputes, and the split between Right and Left in the United Electrical Workers Union whose chief Local includes, or did include until last week, more than 3,000 Peterborough C.G.E. employees. There was first the 1½ day 'strike' last month, at the cost to the employees of more than $30,000 in pay lost. Then on the heels of the American C.I.O. convention when United Electric Workers Union (U.E.) was expelled, came the disruption in Peterborough. Mr. John Morton, ex-C.C.F. candidate, and President of the chief U.E. local (or ex-President of the chief ex-U.E. local) is leader of the Right, anti-Communist faction; Mr. C. S. Jackson, said by some to be a Communist, a man of considerable force and of considerable integrity (according to his principles), and Canadian head of U.E., is leader of the Left.

RAISING THE ROOF



For Stricter Licensing

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

THERE are two features of driving in this Province which have steadily become more prevalent and more potentially dangerous in recent years. We have discussed them before in these columns, but we think it timely to discuss them once again while a safety campaign is under way. We refer to the increasing number of old and nearly obsolete automobiles in use, and to the general laxity in issuing drivers' licences.

◇ ◇ ◇

In the years before the war the retirement of old automobiles from the highways of the Province followed a fairly orderly course. The retirement rate undoubtedly varied, but it is safe to say that at no time during those years was the percentage of aged and potentially unsafe vehicles as high as it is today. The reasons are obvious: lack of production during the war, insufficient production to meet the demand since, and a continuing high demand for available vehicles. This being the case, why should there not be periodical inspection of all automobiles to determine which are fit for highway use and which are unfit?

◇ ◇ ◇

Complaints about the lack of periodical examinations for renewals of drivers' licences are an old story. For that matter, the examination at the original examination is said by safety engineers to be altogether inadequate —and that, in most cases, is the only examination. Yet an eyesight test at the original examination would seem one reasonable requirement, and periodical tests from then on would seem another. Other tests will suggest themselves to readers, and the wisdom of repeating these tests periodically should be readily apparent. Human beings grow old the same as motor vehicles, and sometimes become less safe as drivers.

◇ ◇ ◇

The condition created by laxity or lack of inspection in the case of both drivers and vehicles is likely to deteriorate still further, unless corrective action is taken in the near future. Legislators and law enforcement officers have the power to pass corrective legislation and to see that it is enforced. If they did so, it would help to remove a great and growing danger from the highways of Ontario.

He Set An Example

Arthur Stringer, Canadian-born poet and novelist, tells a Toronto audience that Canadians should stop being Charlie McCarthys and aping the United States. But didn't Mr. Stringer long ago decide for himself that the pastures in the United States were lusher than those he found as a young writer in Canada? Where is the consistency in such empty tub-thumping?—Hamilton Spectator.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not. For the good that I would I do not: but the evil which I would not, that I do.

Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me.... For I delight in the law of God after the inward man: but I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members.

O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from the body of this death? I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then with the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin. (Rom. 7: 18-20, 22-25.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Brethren, if any of you do err from the truth, and one convert him: let him know, that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins. (James 5: 19, 20.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"What kind of a saddle do you want?" the cowboy asked the Dude. "With or without horn?"

The Dude pondered a moment before answering: "Without one, I guess. Doesn't seem to be much traffic on these prairies."

◇ ◇ ◇

A wealthy Detroiter, returning from his grand tour abroad, was asked by an artistic friend whether he had managed to pick up a Van Gogh or Picasso abroad.

"Naw," said the traveller. "They're all left-hand drive and I got three Buicks anyway."

◇ ◇ ◇

The fancy dress dance was over and local gossips were comparing notes.

"Mrs. Smithington-Smythe looks upset, don't you think?" said one, gloatingly.

"Yes, my dear. She came as a Hawaiian beauty, with grass skirts and all—and they awarded her first prize in the humorous section as 'The Old Thatched Cottage.'"

Expectation Of Life

In 1850, conditions were such that the expectations of life at birth in the United States was only about 40 years. By 1947, according to the National Office of Vital Statistics, this figure had risen to 66.8 years. In other words, within four generations the expectation of life had risen by about 27 years, or by two thirds.

Most of the gain in expectation of life has been made under age 50 for white males and 60 for white females. Furthermore; these gains increase both absolutely and relatively as one traces the figures from these higher ages back to birth. Thus, a white boy baby born in 1947 had an expectation of life at birth of 65.16 years, or 27 years more than the baby of 1850.

For white females, the corresponding figures for 1947 was 70.54 years just 30 years greater than that for 1850.

Of Prince Charles' Doings Elizabeth Keeps A Diary

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, Nov. 11 (CP) — The tumbles, tears and bath-splashings of Prince Charles during his first year of life are recorded in a slim, vellum-bound volume which Princess Elizabeth keeps in her writing desk.

On the cover in small gold letters is the inscription: "Charles. His first year."

This is Elizabeth's own personal history of the blue-eyed, fair-haired Prince who will be one year old next Monday. It has been faithfully kept—more faithfully, perhaps, than most diaries.

On the first page is the date and hour, 9:10 p.m., Nov. 14, 1948, of the baby's birth. Then follow his names—Charles Philip Arthur George, and those of his godparents who are the King, Queen Mary, Princess Margaret, the King of Norway, Prince George of Greece, the Dowager Marchioness of Milford Haven Lady Brabourne and Hon. David Bowes-Lyon.

The pages that follow contain the little domestic and personal details that every mother likes to tell about her baby, beginning with several snapshots taken when the Prince was only a few days old.

Lots of Pictures

One shows him lying on a shawl-draped table near one of the palace windows. Written underneath is: "Three days old — with his eyes open."

Early in the book Elizabeth records that her small son has deep violet-blue eyes, pale gold hair, delicate features and long, artistic fingers.

At the end of each weekly page is a record of the baby's weight. He was seven pounds, six ounces at birth and had more than doubled this weight before he was three months old.

Some fretful days when Charles was six months old preface the entry: "First tooth is ready to come through. We are very excited."

Other entries tell how the baby pulled himself up by a chair, and of his subsequent tumbles, bumps and tears. Then came the day when he stood by himself and was "so proud you could see him swelling with it."

Great US Treasure Hunt On For Uranium Deposits

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11—(CP)—One of the greatest treasure hunts in the history of the United States is under way—with tidy prizes of $10,000 or more awaiting the winners. It is the hunt for uranium, key to the atomic bomb. Canada has a plentiful supply of the rare element, but the United States has few known uranium deposits. Even these few contain only low-grade ores which must go through extensive processing.

The search for fresh deposits, encouraged by the government, is pouring thousands of samples of what prospectors hope may win a fortune into the United States Geological Survey Laboratory operating here in the United States naval gun factory, one of the biggest armament plants on this continent.

Systematic Search

The laboratory assays approximately 2,000 sample a month. Most of them come from the more than 100 geologists of the survey, paid by the Atomic Energy Commission to make a systematic search of the most likely ore-bearing areas in the county.

Another 3,000 samples a year come from the public, moved either by hope of reward, the desire to help their country, or both.

The prize offered is substantial. The commission offers $3.50 a pound for recoverable uranium oxide in ores assaying at least 10 per cent. And, if the prospectors finds an ore deposit assaying at least 20 per cent, the commission will pay him a bonus of $10,000 on the first 20 tons, plus $3.50 a pound.

Up to now, no one has qualified for the $10,000, but commission officials say some deposits recently discovered may furnish ores meeting the requirement for the bonus.

30-Cent Stake

The prospector can start in with a 30-cent stake. For that sum, he can buy a small handbook on uranium prospecting published by the Commission and Geological Survey. Approximately 30,000 copies, have been sold since it first was issued June 1.

The handbook reported that some of the more common uranium-bearing minerals are black or yellow.

That disclosure brought the laboratory a bewildering assortment of "ores," including furnace cinders, black slag, yellow clay, pipe fittings, polished stones, which obviously have decorated living room mantels and, in one case, two women's dresses, size 11. The dresses, apparently sent in error, were returned.

One amateur, confident that he had struck uranium-bearing rock, accompanied his sample with instructions on how to send him the $10,000 on his first 20 tons. His sample was a crunk of magnetic iron ore, the lodestone which served as a compass for the early mariners.

HOUSE HUMORIST — Karl Homuth, a big gun of the Progressive Conservative opposition in the Commons, is noted also as one of Canada's wittiest legislators. He sat in the Ontario legislature for 14 years before moving to the federal scene after a 1938 by-election. A manufacturer, his home is in Preston, Ont., where he was born Dec. 12, 1893. He represents Waterloo South.

Appoint Matthews To Currency Parley

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (CP) W. D Matthews, 43, counsellor at the Canadian Embassy in Washington, will represent Canada in arrangements for continuing currency talks between Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom it was announced Thursday.

The External Affairs Department also announced that Mr. Matthews, a native of Toronto, was promoted to the rank of Minister at the Embassy. In that capacity, he replaces T. A. Stone, now Canadian Minister to Sweden.

At the September three-power currency talks an agreement was reached to provide for continuing discussions on financial questions between the three countries, supplementing normal diplomatic channels.

B'nai B'rith, City Cooperate At Turner Park

The filling and grading of Turner Park on High St., at Chamberlain St. has been completed by the parks department, and has been left in condition for winter rink beds, Armar Butcher, park superintendent, informed the Examiner.

Young maples have been planted at the street line around the park. Plumbers employed the B'Nai B'Rith are putting the finishing touches on the interior of the building they have provided for the young folks of that section of the city.

The property for Turner Park was a gift to the city by Mr Leslie Turner. B'Nai B'Rith volunteered to add playground facilities. Incidentally, their financing of the work is aided by the funds which they are hoping to receive from their present car draw at the end of this month.

Fruitful Cooperation

Mr. Butcher remarked that this was still another example of fruitful co-operation between the council and a service club. He is hoping to get a cover of grass growing on the park.

The building erected by B'Nai B'Rith has been serving neighborhood purposes, including headquarters of the Trojan Athletic Club.

Turner Park is quite a spacious property for such community purposes as a playground for young folks. That is likely the main end it will serve.

Lee Defeats Negro In Scrap But Referee Earns An Assist

Hi Lee won an unpopular and unconstitutional victory over Seelie Samara in the main bout of the pro wrestling card at the Brock Arena last evening. A large crowd left with the feeling that Bunny Dunlop has southern leanings, giving a noted southern general's namesake all the best of it over a colored boy. The said colored boy bumps the beam at 240 pounds and is right handy in a ring, but he was facing a shaggy - maned 290 - pound Texan, whose mat repertoire could stand a dash of Dreft. Cleaning up, that is.

Seelie won the first bout in just 20 minutes with a quick neck twister and slam, after taking quite a beating for a spell from his bigger and rougher opponent. Referee Bunny Dunlop—a tough grappler himself—was in on it at times,(but he seemed to catch most of the Negro's illegal acts (in retaliation) and miss all of Lee's. Hi was plenty strong in the lively go, but Seelie drew the crowd's vocal sympathy with his injured ebony look after a break. Some solid mat grappling was shown in the early stages. The first fall was a popular one.

Even It Up

Lee came back in 14 minutes to even it up, using three backbreakers and a slam. He was most unpopular as he applied a punishing leglock, with the aid of ropes, and Dunlop not only missed most of this wrong stuff, but kicked away at th prostrate Samara when the latter yanked at his trousers to draw attention to the rope trick. The fans made plenty of noise during the heated exchange, pulling hard for the colored speedster and chuckling when he got away with a bit of rough stuff in return.

The final bout went hardly three minutes and ended with Seelie being disqualified by the referee. He tried to make it a scrap, but finally went berserk when Lee kept getting off with illegal work, and the colored chap felled both Lee and Dunlop with lightning neck twisters—something like the head spin—as the crowd applauded. The angered official climbed up dazedly from the mat and awarded the bout to the rough Texan. Seelie was pretty peeved about that, and the fans even more so, police having to escort Dunlop through the angry crowd at the finish. It was a good all-round bout between first-class grapplers, but it ended on the wrong note.

Toar Took It

Toar Morgan, subbing for Kowalski—who was injured on Tuesday in Buffalo — won the semi-final over 228-pound Christie. He spotted his rough opponent four pounds and was in trouble quite a bit, but came on to win in 29 minutes with slams after yanking Joe back into the ring. Both were out just previously in a sizzling struggle — which saw Dunlop cuffing the matmen around occasionally to break holds. The crowd nearly curled the shingles at times, especially when Joe used tape for eye rasping, though the latter had Morgan in a lot of trouble for a time with a double arm scissors. Toar earned the nod, but came out of it with a sore back which may sideline him for a while.

Probably the fastest prelim ever seen here in a wrestling program occurred when Yukon Eric, jarring the scales at 272 pounds, flattened Red O'Malley (the former Red Devil) in slightly less than three minutes. The powerful lumberjack, who has been showing around Buffalo, the Falls and London this season, was much too strong for the redhead. The unmasked devil got the devil from Eric early, the big fellow bracing himself to shed a flying tackle casually, then picking up Red and polishing him off handily with an upside-down back-breaker grip. That's all there was — there wasn't any more.

Metras Wants Home Playoff

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 11 (CP)—In a newspage story today. the Gazette, undergraduate newspaper, quotes theletic director Johnny Metras as saying he will make "every effort" to bring any Senior Intercollegiate football playoff to London this year.

It is the first time that Metras, who also is football coach, has commented in the controversy started by the Gazette a few weeks ago over the merits of playoff sites.

Intercollegiate rules say that a playoff must take place on neutral grounds, unless mutually agreed upon otherwise by the two teams.

The Gazette had pointed out that the two most recent playoffs involving Western—in 1948 and 1938—were held away from home, and it argued "fair play" in holding a 1949 playoff in London. The stadium here seats 12,000. London city council supported the Gazette stand.

Western has clinched a playoff berth, but can take the crown by beating McGill in Montreal on Saturday if Queen's beats Varsity.

Indoor Track Meets Planned

LONDON, Nov. 11 —(AP) — Indoor track meets may move into British Arenas within several years.

It won't happen this winter and even 1950-51 is doubtful. But the plans have been made.

The man behind the plans is Stan Tomlin, one-time distance runner and now championship secretary of the British Amateur Athletic Association.

The lack of an indoor track is the most immediate stumbling block.

Wood is scarce here and the particular kind needed must be imported from Canada. Such an operation requires an import licence which, Tomlin said, the government isn't prepared to grant at the present time.

"I would like to think we would be ready to stage at least one meet in the spring of 1951," Tomlin said.

The British A.A.A. made several rather tentative ventures into indoor track before the war, staging four meets in three years But they were limited to British athletes.

HOCKEY'S BIG SEVEN

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

Puck fans, who recall the torrid junior "B" playoff series late last winter when North Toronto Lions edged the IOOF-ers, will want to see these squads clash again. The game is at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, and we hear the Toronto team is much the same as last year —large, rough and with lots of hockey savvy. Oddfellows have built a new team around several of last season's stalwarts, and they're shaking down into a promising pack. They might well take the visitors tonight as the Triple Links have speed to burn and all kinds of hustle and fight. It should be a typical slambang junior joust, and the exhibition deserves a good gallery.

* * * * * *

Hard to say how the senior "B" grouping concerning local clubs will come out. The suggestion of Petes, Legion, two Quinte squads and Kingston in one group—with Meteors, Markham, Stouffville and another Toronto team in the other —has some support among local officials. But a few feel that an interlocking schedule might work out better. You just can't foresee the better setup, as all teams are strong on paper ere the schedule starts, but many fall by the wayside halfway through. We really think Markham and Stouffville (packed with Toronto players) will be plenty tough this semester—and Markham sure was last winter. But an early meeting may straighten it all out and get play started.

Couple In, Couple Out

Up at the Oval this aft, the Belleville juniors and seniors are doing COSSA semi-finals combat with PCVS grid squads and, by nightfall, two will be in the hunt yet and two will tuck away their tack. Knox and Northcott will be out of the senior PCVS lineup with injuries. St. Kitts won their COSSA group down in the Niagara district and they meet the Georgian Bay titlists Saturday. Scribe writes: "But, after that, there is still one to go and a real toughie, with Peterborough, who stymied our boys a few years back at Varsity when Sisson now of Queen's) ran wild." Ah, yes, and then they hollered that PCVS used ineligible players, though that was taken back later.

Along the lasses' basketball front, there's a twin bill tonight in the YWCA gym, commencing at 8.15 when Nurses Juniors meet Black's, followed by Normals against the Electrics. Keen cage action by the colleens in these loop contests, and the public is invited. Double-headers there each Friday night. The Towne Togs, who are in the LOBA lakeshore group, have an open practice from seven to nine Tuesday p.m. in the Collegiate, and Coach Hilly Yudin invites everyone interested to try for a spot. This league should get under way by the middle of December, if not sooner. A better setup than in previous seasons when Togs messed around with exhibition tilts till time for provincial playdowns.

From 'Way Down South

The writer has a certain admiration for Bunny Dunlop. We know him as a good showman, a rough wrestler and a hard-working referee. Besides being a pleasant guy to chin with over an intermission smoke. But he must hail from Georgia or some southern state, the way he let Lee (no relation to the staunch southern general of the Civil War) of Texas abuse colored Seelie Samara. The black boy is good and he made it a real fight—gaining a lot of friends from the sizeable crowd on deck—but a 290-pound toughie like Lee and a biased ref add up to just too much. Quite a tussle, though, all the way, and we like the speed and mat savvy of Seelie. He looked like a tiny Joe Louis in there, although he's 240 pounds himself. Morgan beat Christie in a fine semi-windup, and 272-pound Yukon Eric (a terrific guy) matted O'Malley before you could say antidisestablishmentarianism.

* * * * * *

Somehow, we can't sympathize unduly with grid officials at Varsity and Western as they weep out loud because McGill are playing Roy DeShields, 230-pound Negro halfback. Claiming he is not altogether eligible, though they do admit that the intercollegiate rules require some tightening up. It was all nice and cozy when McGill—like Queen's—proved a doormat down the years for Varsity and Western, but McGill (with Queen's showing indications, too) are starting to roll once more, and upsetting the Toronto and London squads in disconcerting fashion. Personally, we're all for any rule which gives a guy a crack at higher education and also makes for strong competition.

Rams Humble Cincinnati 6-2

By The Canadian Press.

New Haven Ramblers are back on top of the heap in the eastern division of the American Hockey League today.

The rams broke a first place tie with the idle Buffalo Bisons on Thursday night by humbling Cincinnati Mohawks 6-2 before 2,600 fans at New Haven. It was the fourth straight victory for the Ramblers.

In the only other game Thursday night, Providence Reds showed some signs of the form they displayed in winning the Calder Cup last year by smothering Indianapolis Capitals 8-1.

The win moved the Reds into a third place deadlock with Springfield Indians in the eastern division. Both squads trail Buffalo by only a single point.

Fans Battling To Secure Playoff Tickets

By The Canadian Press

Although the east-west football championship promises to be a tough tussle it shows none of the signs of the battle the fans will give to secure tickets to see their teams in the playoff.

The hunt for tickets stretches from Montreal to Calgary and the vendors say there just isn't enough to go around.

Montreal fans, anxious to see their Alouettes go against Ottawa Rough Riders Saturday in the final game of a two-game, total point series at Ottawa, will be limited to 1,000 tickets. The Montrealers are 7-5 favorites over Riders following their 22-7 victory at Montreal Wednesday in the first game of the series.

Saturday's Big Four winner will go on to meet the Ontario Rugby Football Union champions which will either be Hamilton Tigers or Sarnia Imperials. Tigers and Imperials play a two-game, total point series at Sarnia today and at Hamilton Saturday. No date has been set for the ORFU Big Four playoff.

The winner of this series will meet the western champions in the east-west final at Varsity Stadium in Toronto Saturday, Nov. 26.

Stamps Favored

Calgary Stampeders are favored to retain their Dominion crown. The Stampeders hold a six-point lead over Regina Rough Riders, defeated 18-12 last Saturday at Regina, in the western two-game, total-point series. The teams meet at Calgary this afternoon in the final game of the western series.

Montreal Alouettes report that they will be back at full strength. Their star half-back Virgil Wagner, who led the Big Four scoring parade this season, was reported to have recovered from an infected face cut and will be in uniform a Ottawa Saturday. He missed the game at Montreal Wednesday.

At Ottawa the Rough Riders say they are not "downhearted" over their defeat by the Montrealers.

Football Union Player Rules May Be Changed

TORONTO, Nov. 11—(CP) — Senior Intercollegiate football's rules and regulations may come in for a thorough airing this year. Reports that player ineligibility rules should be changed has caused a mild stir in gridiron circles.

It all started Thursday when Jack Park, sports editor of the London Free Press, said an inquiry into the eligibility of all players competing in the league may be launched at the end of the current season.

He pointed the finger at Montreal's McGill University, whose Redmen can finish first in the four-team loop by beating University of Western Ontario Mustangs Saturday. The other two clubs are University of Toronto Blues and Queen's University Gael's.

The London story said backfielder Roy Deshields was ineligible for competition in the league because he had played semi-pro ball.

Too Many Loopholes

Then Warren Stevens, athletic director of Varsity, said Thursday night that union rules "have to many loopholes and will be changed." To prevent "packed teams" he said the union intends to change transfer and other rules at a semi-annual meeting next month.

Continued Stevens:

"The whole thing has come up because the rules are a little too lax. There is a feeling that the spirit of the rules is not being abided by. They must be worded more carefully or they can be taken advantage of.

Vic Obeck, coach of the Redmen, said:

"I'll have to talk to Deshields before I can make any comment." Deshields could not be reached by either reporters or Obeck.

Habs Paste Maple Leafs 4-2 In Hectic Struggle

By JIM BASTABLE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Montreal's resurgent Canadiens full of fight and vim, Thursday night walloped the tar out of recent reports that they're lacking in "go."

The Habitants did it by pasting Toronto's tough Maple Leafs 4-2 in a hectic struggle marked by a last-minute melee which produced four major penalties. A total of 13 penalties were meted out.

The spirited victory gave their front-office hockey pilots something to think about. Just 24 hours previously the management is reported to have branded some of the Canadiens as the "passenger type."

The Canadiens matched the Leafs in every department as they moved into a second-place tie with them—two points behind the leading Detroit Red Wings.

And the Canucks' familiar pacesetter, 28-year-old Maurice (Rocket) Richard, was on the payoff train again. He scored two goals to run his National Hockey League season total to 11, five more than any other scorer in the league.

Lots of Help

A Montreal Forum crowd of 12,833 fans saw fight start when Richard was checked by Leaf defenceman Jimmy Thomson, both going down mauling and tugging at each other. Then Gus Mortson, another Leaf rear-guard, skated in and began pummelling Richard, still flat on the ice with Thomson.

Canadiens' big Butch Bouchard rushed in and connected with solid rights and lefts to Mortson's head. Then players from both teams swarmed in with referee Bill Chadwick and linesmen George Hayes and Sam Babcock trying to break up the battle.

No sooner were Bouchard and Morison separated than they went at it again. Mortson was led groggily to the Leaf bench. Meanwhile, Richard and Thomson continued their feud on the ice.

No games are scheduled for tonight. However, all six teams move into action during the weekend. Six games are carded — three Saturday and three Sunday.

Thursday night, Richard's two tallies brought his lifetime NHL total to 218 in his seventh full season. Other Montreal goals were scored by Rip Riopelle and Billy Reay.

Matches Richard

Centre Max Bentley matched Richard's goal scoring with two Leaf markers both on passes by Ray Timgren.

The Canadiens ran up a three-goal lead in the opening period, Riopelle scoring on passes from Elmer Lach and Bouchard Richard scored his first one late in the period on Doug Harvey's pass Just before the session ended Reay whipped the puck past Turk Broda for the other goal.

Bentley put the Leafs back in the game early in the middle period but the Canadiens got that back when Richard beat Broda cleanly.

Bentley's second goal was the only marker of the third period. He got loose on a breakaway, with the Montreal defence well up the ice and beat Bill Durnan with a high shot.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press,

Big Joe Krol, triple-threat Toronto Argonaut halfback was awarded the Jeff Russel Memorial football trophy three years ago today. The award is presented annually to the player in the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union deemed most valuable to his team on a basis of playing ability and sportsmanship. Krol, who piled up a total score of 65 points in the season's play to tie for scoring leadership, was later voted Canada's outstanding athlete for the same year.

PIG LEFT OUT

The term "pigsk'n" for football is incorrect, since nearly all are made of a tough, resilient cowhide especially embossed.

Bain Disgusted With Modern Hockey Play

By AL VICKERY

WINNIPEG, Nov. 11 (CP) — Hockey's newest hall of fame member doesn't think much of the present-day game. In fact, says Donald (Danny) Bain, old-time great whose election to the hall at Kingston, Ont., was announced last week, "I can't stand to watch it."

Screwing up his face as though taking a dose of castor oil, the all-round athlete of a half-century ago gave this assessment of modern hockey players: "They can't stickhandle or pass and they have no stamina."

"My gosh, when we played it was play 30 minutes, rest 10, then play another half-hour—and with no substitution," he recalled "Nowadays the passes are anywhere up to five feet off the ice When we passed the puck never left the ice and if a wingman wasn't there to receive it, it was because he had a broken leg.

"Besides, I don't know how they move now with those suits of armor."

Honor To Others

A successful Winnipeg business man, the 75-year-old Mr. Bain was duck-hunting near his lodge at Delta, Man., when he received news of his hockey recognition. Acknowledging it as a tribute to all oldtimers, not just himself, he termed it "an honor long overdue to the men who started the game on its way."

As a centre with the Winnipeg Victoria Hockey Club from 1895 to 1902, Danny had no peer. He led them to two championships, winning the Stanley Cup—then the emblem of amateur supremacy—in '896 and 1901. The Winnipeggers beat Montreal Victorias 2-1 in a sudden-death final and in 1896 and won their other title by defeating Montreal Shamrocks 3-1 and 2-1 in a two-game series.

Born of Scottish parentage at Belleville, Ont., Danny moved to Winnipeg with his family in 1861 He now is head of Donald H Bain, Ltd., Winnipeg wholesale commission merchants and brokers.

HOCKEY GREAT—Donald (Danny) Bain was hunting ducks near his Delta, Man., lodge when informed he had been elected to Hockey's Hall of Fame. Bain, now 75, starred for the old Winnipeg Victorias from 1895 to 1902. A centre on the seven-man team, he was considered one of the fastest skaters of that era. He also excelled at gymnastics, roller-skating, bicycling, lacrosse and figure-skating and in 1903 won the Canadian trapshooting championship. He now is head of a wholesale commission and brokerage firm in Winnipeg.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Keith Spaith, Calgary Stampeders' ace quarterback, has been named winner of the Jeff Nicklin Memorial Trophy, awarded annually to the player most valuable to his team in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Wallace Brown, trustee of the trophy, Thursday announced at Winnipeg that Spaith had been chosen by sports writers and broadcasters of the four cities in the league.

Spaith, an American import, also won the award last year, his first season with the Stampeders.

Second in the poll was Del Wardien, fleet backfielder with Regina Roughriders who received six votes less than Spaith.

The trophy is in memory of Major Jeff Nicklin, former Winnipeg Blue Bomber who was killed in action with a Canadian paratroop battalion during the second world war.

For the first time in weeks, Hamilton Tigers will be at full strength today for the opening game of their Ontario Rugby Football Union playoff opener against the Imperials at Sarnia.

The second game of the total points series will be played back in Hamilton Saturday. The series winner meets the Big Four champion in the Eastern Canada final for the right to play the western champion at Toronto's Varsity Stadium Nov. 26.

Quarterback Tommy Waldon and half Boris Tipoff are back in the Tigers' lineup after missing several games through leg injuries. Stan Wolkowski, pinch-hitting for Waldon, has a big bandage on his injured passing arm but is expected to play.

Coach Merle Hapes, another taped-up player, plans to play full time at the fullback slot as long as his knee holds out.

At Prague, Czechoslovak sports authorities Thursday reversed themselves and invited back three star players who had been purged from the Czech world champion amateur hockey team as political unreliables.

The players are Vladimir Zabrodsky, Stanislav Konopasek and Vacpav Rozinak. They formed what was generally considered to be the best scoring line in European amateur hockey. Czech sports fans had complained that the purge wrecked the team.

The three were fired a month ago when Communist sports spokesmen and the controlled press claimed they represented a "danger to the political morals of the rest of the national team."

What brought about the change of heart was not officially explained.

President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians Thursday issued another of his many denials that a deal for sale of the club had been completed here.

Veeck admitted he was "sitting around and talking" Thursday with Hank Greenburg, Indians' vice-president, and president William O. De Witt of the St. Louis Browns.

Veeck's denial followed a story published in the Cleveland News.

It attributed to dispatches from Chicago a report that ownership of the Indians was in the process of changing hands at a meeting in that city. The report did not identify the prospective purchasers.

Harness racing will return to Guelph next year for the first time in 30 years, George Lasby, one of the sponsors of the Guelph Biltmore Ontario Hockey Association Junior A team and Alfie Pike, coach of the Guelph team, announced Thursday night.

Work on a half-mile track on Lasby's farm has already started and is expected to be ready for operations, complete with a grandstand in the spring. The sponsors hope to be ready for business June 1, 1950.

Planned To Wed Slain Woman Demers Testifies

SHERBROOKE, Que., Nov. 11 —(CP)—Hockey player Tony Demers testified in court Thursday night that he had intended to marry Mrs. Anita Robert, the Coaticook, Que., woman he is accused of slaying.

The former National Hockey League rightwinger, charged with the murder of Mrs. Robert, said he nearly "passed o[illegible]" when told she had died in a [illegible]og, Que hospital Sept. 16, several hours after a drinking party.

Demers first told the court he had played hockey for 18 years at one time with Montreal Canadiens of the NHL. Last year, he was voted the "most gentlemanly" player with Sherbrooke Saints of the Quebec Senior League.

He said he and the 32-year-old woman started drinking on the afternoon of Sept. 15 and later visited her family. During the evening, Anita started to cry and told her mother:

"Mommy dear. Now that he has seen the family he won't love me any more."

Demers told the court he and Anita left her home about midnight.

Threatened Suicide

"She told me she was going to throw herself out of the car," he said. "I pulled her back but tore her blouse in doing so."

"I told her I still loved her [illegible] Later, the car went into a ditch and I told her to take the wheel while I pushed."

When he got back in the car, Demers said, he noticed he was alone—Anita had jumped out He went back along the road picked her up and took her to a private cottage at Magog, later driving her to hospital.

When asked if he had "slapped" Mrs. Robert, Demers said he "thought so."

Earlier, five physicians were called to testify in support of the defence contention that Mrs. Robert had died primarily of shock rather than from a beating administered by Demers.

Curling News

By Herb Martin

The idea of setting all ices aside, for one night, for the new and inexperienced curlers, was a smart one. It went over big. All of the seven ices were occupied by many new curlers with a few of the oldtimers, here and there, acting as instructors.

After playing for an hour or so, they adjourned to the club's parlors where the veteran R. F Downey gave the boys further instructions by way of a blackboard talk.

"[illegible]mething new in our club and judging the interest shown by the new members, we believe it will pay big dividends. Later on in the evening light refreshments were served.

The sympathy of the club is extended to Archie Hood and Mrs. J. Bruce in their recent accidents Mr. Hood fell on the ice the other evening and dislocated his shoulder, while Mrs. J. Bruce met with a serious accident at her home yesterday morning. Both are popular members of the club and we will all be pulling for a speedy recovery.

Pay $72,000 For Yearling

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 11 — (AP)—The United States Trotting Association has a record financial transaction in its books today. It's the $72,000 paid for Imperial Hanover, a yearling bred by the Hanover (Pa.) Shoe Farms.

The son of Spencer Scott and Earl's Princess Martha was knocked down yesterday at the 11th annual standard-bred horse sale to three veteran horsemen—Sep Palin, Indianapolis; Fred Egan, Lexington, Ky., and J. J. McIntyre, Howlings, Vt.

Imperial Hanover, most sought after yearling in Hanover's [illegible]00 horse consignments, is a full brother of Rodney, harness horse of the year in 1948 and Egan Hanover, a near two-minute trotter.

Until the Hanover yearling went under the auctioneer's hammer the previous highest paid price for a trotter or pacer was the $70,000 which E. J. Baker, St. Charles, Ill., paid for the speedy pacer, Algiers, in 1947.

The highest price ever paid for a yearling was $42,000 for White Hanover at the sales here in 1947.

Collision Damage $2,000 Find $756,000 True Cost

TORONTO, Nov. 11—It took 3,200 choice steers and an investment of $756,000 a few months ago to compensate a Chicago meat packing firm for a highway accident which caused property damage of only $2,200.

The story was told here Thursday by Paul Coburn, director of the National Safety Council's motor transportation bureau.

It was fallacious in accident assessment, he said, to ignore costs which are generally absorbed in general overhead. Honest appraisal might bring some startling revelations.

At the eighth annual convention of Class 20 Accident Prevention Association of Ontario he cited the Chicago case as an outstanding example.

The accident occurred July 20 near Chamber, in Apache County, Arizona. The sky was clear and the pavement perfect when a transport truck collided with a smaller vehicle. Total damage was $2,200.

The driver spent $5 to telephone his office at Denver. For another $5, Denver called him back. Then for $5, Denver called a safety engineer at Salt Lake City. The driver was called once more. Telephone charges amounted to $20

Send Tractor

From Denver a two-man crew was dispatched in a tractor to the scene. Their work cost the company $315.75. The damaged truck was towed off the highway to a railroad siding and loaded onto a flatcar. Cost was $120.

From Chamber the wreck went back to the factory at Seattle, Wash. By the time it was returned to Denver another $1,000 had been added to the mounting bill While it was out of service its operators lost $1,522.50 in revenue.

Depreciation costs were estimated. They came to $201 90. Six drivers were tied up Their combined salaries totalled $427.56. Insurance on the idle unit contributed $3.45. Repairs to the truck were $2,000.

Going Up

By the time the truck was back in operation again the company had paid out $5,611.16. On the scene damage had been only $2,200. The loss, of course, had to be made up out of profits.

The company's net profit on a pound of meat was one-fifth of a cent. This meant that 2,805,580 pounds had to be purchased, slaughtered processed, merchandised and delivered for a profit of $5,611.16. To do this work, a staff of 750 was employed one week.

Choice steers of around 900 pounds sell for about $27 a hundredweight. Roughly 3,200 head were required to dress out 2,800,000 pounds.

Investigation into this particular mishap, Mr. Coburn said was particularly thorough. It only served to emphasize, however, an ounce of prevention was worth 2,800,000 pounds of meat.

Cheddar Cheese Production Increased 23 Per Cent

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP)—The Bureau of Statistics is right in line with National Cheese Week and Thursday reported a 23-per-cent increase in Canada's Cheddar cheese production.

The report came in the midst of this special week which the National Dairy Council is sponsoring to turn more persons into cheese-eaters.

A total of 101,729,000 pounds of Cheddar cheese was manufactured in the first 10 months of this year, an increase of 19,235,000 over the corresponding period a year ago.

In October alone production rose 80 per cent, totalling 11,874,000 pounds, compared with 6,584,000 in October, 1948.

Butter production climbed last month over the figure for October 1948. But margarine dropped below its production mark for the previous month.

In October, 6,778,000 pounds of margarine were manufactured, compared with 6,890,000 in September and 7,038,000 in August. During the first 10 months of the year, 58,543,000 pounds were produced.

On the other hand, a total of 24,843,000 pounds of butter was manufactured in October, an increase of 485,00 over the corresponding month a year ago. In the first 10 months of this year, 251,800,000 pounds were produced, a slight drop from the 256,052,000 figure for the same period in 1948.

Inspector Says New School System Sound

OMEMEE, Nov. 11 —(ENS) — The new course of study for elementary and secondary schools recently announced by Ontario's Minister of Education, was the main subject under discussion at the Emily Teachers' meeting in Omemee school Tuesday.

Guest speaker was Inspector E. C. Anderson of Lindsay. Mr. Anderson stated that he could not yet pass on anything definite concerning the adjustments, but that it had been intimated at a meeting of inspectors that they would be expected to work on plans of procedure and make a start at putting them into practise by September, 1950.

He expected they would begin with the primary group which included grades 1, 2 and 3, and work up.

The system, he believed, was psychologically sound and it would result in fewer retarded pupils, since the same teacher would have a student for three years. He could take a weak subject in the grade below or a strong one in the grade above and, in many cases, avoid repeating a year because of one weak subject. The slow child might have to spend an additional year in that group.

Judge By Reading

In speaking of the age to start school, Mr. Anderson said "a reasonable standard is his reading readiness. For some young children entering the primary group it may even be necessary at first to have a pre-reading program."

At the end of grade 10 the pupil has to choose what course he will take and Mr. Anderson believes it will be in this intermediate group, composed of grades 7, 8, 9 and 10 that the most vocational guidance will be necessary. In the senior group the pupil prepares for university.

Doing away with the entrance examinations he said, would put an added burden on the teachers Just how the merge was going to be made between the present public and high school was uncertain.

As to the local community deciding the details of the courses suitable to that district, the extent of the community's responsibilities had not been definitely defined. One thing about which he was quite certain was that there would not be a return to specific text-book teaching as it was before 1938. He thought there might be several authorized text books from which to choose.

Miss Lamb Re-Elected

After the address there was discussion and questions, and refreshments were served. The next meeting is to be in the early part of the new year.

Election of officers resulted in returning to office Miss J. Lamb as president and Mr. L. M. Curtis as secretary. Miss Piggott was elected vice-president. The new program comittee includes Mrs E. Herlihey, Miss L. Shea, Miss June Lyle and the teacher at whose school the meeting is held

NEW PRESIDENT of the Kiwanis Club is Alwyn (Al) Plaskett, this year's vice-president. He takes over the gavel from Vincent McCabe. Elections were held Thursday for the full 1950 slate of officers. Mr. Plaskett came to Peterborough in 1944 from Guelph and has been a member of the club four years.

Al Plaskett Kiwanis President

A member of the Kiwanis Club for four years, Al Plaskett Thursday noon was elected president for 1950. He succeeds Vincent McCabe and will take office January 1.

Last year Mr. Plaskett was vice president. Elected with him by unanimous vote, on the recommendation of the nominating committee, were T. T. Rodger, treasurer, and Ernest Bartlett secretary. Three candidates were named for the two vacancies for vice president, with Gordon Hancock and Walter Howell being elected.

Mr. Plaskett was born in Montreal, lived for many years in Stratford and for 13 years in Guelph. He came to Peterborough from Guelph in 1944.

In March 1945 he joined the Kiwanis Club, the first service organization of which he had ever been a member. For the past 24 years he has been employed by the CNR, and at present is manager of the local telegraph agency.

Senators Lose Long Weekend

OTTAWA, Nov. 11—(CP) — Senators from Ontario and Quebec lost out Thursday in a move for an extra long week-end.

Leading the Central Canada contingent, which can get home during a week-end, Senator C. E. Ferland (L. Quebec) opposed a motion by Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, that the Senate adjourn until Monday night. He wanted it adjourned to Tuesday night to give Senators time to study legislation before them.

Senator Robertson said he had made a practice of not calling on Senators to be present unless it was necessary. In this case, there was not a great deal of work before the Chamber, but Senate committees had a great deal of work before them. For this reason, he was asking that the Senators return by Monday.

Before the tangle closed with an "aye-and-nay" vote upholding Senator Robertson's motion, the opopsition leader, Senator John T. Haig, got into the argument.

Good-humoredly, he admitted that if he lived in one of the central provinces, he too would seek an extra long week-end.

But there were a number of Senators representing the Eastern and Western Provinces. They had no time to get home and were becoming a little tired of the privileges of Central Canadian members.

GIRL FIGHTS SMOKE AND FLAMES, RESCUES SEVEN

Jean Running, 15, of Gananoque Ont., is heroine in fire tragedy

It was early morning when fire broke out in the three-family home. The blaze caught at the dry timber . . . licking at the walls and the staircase. All told, there were about a dozen children in the building. Young Jean Running took it upon herself to get them to safety!

Working calmly and steadily, the 15-year-old girl began her rescue of the children — most of whom were still in bed. Weary and burned, she carried and led them through an upper window onto a shed roof. From there, she helped seven of them down to a fence . . . but when she attempted to re-enter the house she was forced back by the flames. Three children perished . . . but thanks to the gallant girl's heroic efforts, seven were saved. We proudly pay tribute to courageous Jean Running through the presentation of The Dow Award.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

WANTON KILLING?—Do game laws make it too easy for United States hunters to kill Canadian game? An anonymous group of Canadian sportsmen thinks so — and ran this advertisement in The Sault Daily Star at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. But D. Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian Travel Bureau, said in Ottawa he doubts American tourists are responsible for wanton killing of game, apart from a few isolated cases. He said such advertising is an insult to American tourists and makes him "ashamed of being a Canadian."

Dies In House Fire

TORONTO, Nov. 11 (CP) — James Kearney, 60, was fatally burned Thursday night in a fire which swept through his home. He was alone at the time. A neighbor and a passer-by kicked in a window in an attempt to rescue the man, but smoke and flames drove them back.

Kills 3 Bears But Tough Job

NEW LISKEARD, Nov. 11 (CP) —Virgil Foley of New Liskeard shot three bears on a recent deer-hunting trip but isn't anxious to do it again.

Foley said he killed the bears while walking up a trail, with his pair of dogs to scare up a deer. A bear cub scampered down the path and Foley killed it with one shot through the back of the head.

Just as he was going over to inspect his kill he heard a tremendous roar and turned to find the mother bear rushing at him. A shot through the eye failed to stop the animal's charge. The second shot broke its jaw but the bear kept coming. The third bullet, fired at point-blank range, caught the bear in the forehead and it crashed down almost at Foley's feet.

A second cub dashed out of the stump and the hunter dropped it with a single shot.

Three other members of the hunting party — Fred Foley, H. Walker and Rod Walker—heard the shots and raced up to see what the shooting was about. The four men skinned the dead bears.

100 Wreaths Placed On City War Memorial

Nearly 100 wreaths were laid at the War Memorial in Confederation Park today as veterans, and citizens gathered to honor the dead of both world wars.

The 31st memorial service in the city, this year's gathering was one of the largest to congregate before the War Memorial.

In the brief service before 11 a.m., Mayor Max J. Swanston said "We must keep the memory of our old comrades sharp and clear. They died that people might not be enslaved by a would-be master race."

W. H. Yelland, president of Branch 52 of the Canadian Legion said the splendid turnout of veterans of both wars "was a credit to those we honor." He commented that 22 Legion members had died since the last memorial service.

Leo Cunningham, St. Catharines, chairman of the Ontario Command of the Canadian Legion said veterans had died to preserve Canada's freedom. He declared Communism was infiltrating into labor unions, government and "into our minds." Unless Canadians did something about this menace, he said, her fighting men had died in vain.

Need Common Sense

He declared there was a great need for common sense leadership and there were no people better qualified for the job of leading than veterans.

Rev. Walter Gilling, senior chaplain of the Legion branch spoke briefly.

Earl Johns of the Peterborough Citizens' Band sounded Last Post and Reveille.

The first wreath laid was that of the Silver Cross Mothers by Mrs. J. Young, vice-president of the organization. Branches 52 and 452 of the Canadian Legion, as well as the Ladies' Auxiliary of Branch 52 followed by the wreath party laid their wreaths. Many of the clubs, and other organizations of the city were represented.

WILLIAM IRELAND, 23, of Buckhorn was killed instantly late Thursday afternoon when his truck collided with a six ton gravel truck driven by Ed Payne, 179 Lock St., Peterborough. The cab of Ireland's truck was so badly crushed that it took rescuers two hours to pry his body out of the wreckage. (Parks Studio Photo)

War Veterans Parade To War Memorial

Veterans of both world wars today formed one of the largest Remembrance Day parades ever seen in Peterborough. Spectators lined George St. as the parade concluded its march from the Armouries, along McDonnel to Aylmer St. and back to the war memorial in Confederation Park for a memorial service.

Spectators found it took nearly 15 minutes for the parade to pass as men of two generations marched.

The smartly uniformed Citizens' Band led the parade, followed immediately by the Canadian Legion, at the head of which was the Hon. Harold Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests.

The color party carried three flags, the men's Legion standard in the centre, with the Union Jack to the right and the standard of the Women's section to the left.

Well to the fore of the parade were 50 ex-service women, one or two of whom wore CWAC and RCAF-WD uniform.

There were few uniforms to be seen in the parade, but one man wearing khaki with a Polish flash on his shoulder and another in US Army cap served as a reminder that Armistice was being observed this day by men and women of many nationalities.

Medals from the Second World War, which have been arriving in the city by mail for the past ten days, were here just in time for the parade.

Civic bodies represented were the police, firemen and bus drivers. Young lads, members of Boys' Town, brought up the rear of the parade.

From 9 a.m. the city became astir with groups of veterans starting out from the factories and various places of work. Close on 1,000 veterans left the CGE at 9 a.m. and divided into three groups. The Navy was led by Otto Laderach, the Army by Cy Whatley and Forrest Rankin headed the Air Force, and the entire contingent was led by the CGE Pipe Band.

From the south of the city came a contingent from the De Laval Company, headed by Peterborough Pipe Band and Westclox and Quaker Oats veterans joined forces under the leadership of the Citizens' Band. The Salvation Army Band also took part in the parade.

One bright beret caused comment because few could identify the letters RNWMP, Royal North West Mounted Police, said the wearer with pride. RCMP are more familiar letters to people today.

Chairman was Deputy-Reeve E. Scott, of Hope Township.

The factory building of Canadian Timber Structures Limited west of High St. is estimated at $12,000.

Tenders for the projected St. Alphonsus School are being received to Nov. 17, by J. S. Black, secretary of the Separate School Board.

His wife the former Agnes McGuire pre-deceased him. He died Saturday after a short illness.

Salary Schedule Adopted After Months of Study Maximums Increased $400

A new schedule of salaries which generally allows a $400 boost in the maximum salaries of Public School and PCVS teachers was approved Thursday night by the Board of Education. On the basis of the present staff this would mean an increase of $16,000 for public school teachers and $6,600 for those in PCVS—or a total of $22,600. In terms of civic taxation this would amount to about two-thirds of a mill. Dr. Ralph Honey, chairman of the Salaries Committe, in introducing the revised schedule, described it as "an upward trend."

He outlined three reasons for this trend.

First, the present schedule had not kept pace with the increased cost of living, and so the $200 bonus introduced in 1949 will be included as a permanent addition to the salaries beginning January 1st.

Second, compared with other municipalities of similar size Peterborough had been below average, and so it was recommended that the minimum and maximum figures be raised to "a respectable figure."

"We are not leading the field but we are further from the bottom than we were," said Dr. Honey.

Third, the best type of teacher must be hired and competent ones already employed must be retained.

"This Board must of necessity maintain a healthy position when it addresses itself to the hiring of new teachers and to justify rewarding those already employed," the chairman explained. "We have a good staff, we must maintain it and improve it by being in a position to attract the best type of teacher."

Bonus For Degrees

Public school teachers who have taken university degrees will stand to gain under the new schedule. For any degree in Arts there will be a $100 allowance, and $150 for one in Pedagogy or Education. The degrees, however, must be from a university approved by the Board.

Not all salary adjustments will be automatic. The Board of Education reserves the right to withhold the annual increment of a teacher in any year when his service is reported as unsatisfactory. And also the right to increase the increment or the maximum salary as the case may be of any teacher giving exceptional service.

Board members unanimously endorsed the schedule after discussing in a committee of the whole some amendments proposed by several teachers. The staff and committee had previously discussed the schedule before it was brought before the Board.

Dr. H. G. Carleton said he thought it "a fair schedule" and he praised the committee for its accomplishment. At the same time he warned the chairman it was impossible to please everybody.

SALARY SCHEDULE

Break-in Foiled At Lakefield

A possible break-in at the E. H. Northey Drug Store, Lakefield, was foiled shortly after 1 a.m. today when Chief Constable Garnet Samis frightened away two men.

Chief Samis, while making his rounds, noticed a flicker of light coming from the rear of the Drug Store which borders a vacant lot. When he arrived to investigate two men ran away.

There was a rip in the back door screen, but it is not certain that the two were responsible for this damage.

Provincial Constables R. Pope and G. E. Henderson helped the chief search the district. The men could not be found.

Truck, Car Collide On Smith Road

Moses Marsden of Lakefield received cuts on one leg and a cut ear early today when his car collided with a truck driven by Frederick Moynes of RR 1, Lindsay. The accident was between the 11th and 12th concessions of Smith, a mile west of Selwyn.

Moynes was driving his truck east and was making a left turn when he collided with the Marsden vehicle. A total of $600 was caused to the two vehicles.

Marsden was given first aid by Provincial Constable R. A. Feeley who investigated.

Request Is Refused For Special Constable

A request by the Peterborough Civic Arena, to have Wally Farr appointed a special constable for the arena was denied by the Board of Police Commissioners Thursday.

The request was turned down on the advice of Chief Constable John Thompson of the city police force. In a letter to the police commission he said he was against any more special constables in general because there was a tendency for special constables to become involved in matters outside their jurisdiction. In resulting arguments, regular police were often needed to straighten matters out.

44-Hour Week Asked By City Police

Peterborough city police asked for a 44-hour work week in a brief presented to the Board of Police Commissioners Thursday. Policemen are now working a 48 hour week.

In the brief prepared by the policemen's negotiating committee composed of Detective W. A. Clarke, Constable John Morrow and Constable Douglas Farthing, they asked for three weeks' holidays for men with more than 10 years' service. Also included in the representation was a request for service pay of 10 cents a day for every five years on the force with a maximum of 50 cents a day.

Members of the police commission, Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., Mayor Max J. Swanston and Judge S. L. Smoke, made no comment on the requests of the policemen except to ask Chief Constable John Thompson to find out how many additional men would be needed with a 44 hour week in force and how much money the service pay would amount.

The negotiating committee is expected to meet with the police commission some time in December to discuss the policemen's requests for the new year beginning Jan. 1.

Community Welfare Unit Proposed For Peterborough

A proposal to set up a Community Welfare Council in Peterborough with its main program directed towards avoiding overlapping between the different organizations in the city, is to be discussed by representatives of 20 organizations at the YWCA Nov. 16.

The meeting, to consider formation of a council, has been called by the Public Affairs Committee of the YWCA.

Public Welfare Councils already function in a number of cities throughout the Dominion, mostly in large centres. In some places the Community Chest and Public Welfare Council are administered jointly under a professional social worker.

Organizations engaged in all types of work have been asked to send representatives to the meeting. Health organizations, service clubs, business and professional clubs will consider the project.

Co-ordination in health work has recently been effected in this city by the formation last month of a council representative of organizations engaged in public health work.

The proposed Community Council would function on similar lines over a wider field, probably to incorporate the unified health organization.

The Public Affairs Committee of the YWCA has also called a meeting for Nov. 29 when Miss Joy Maines, at one time head of the Ottawa Welfare Council, will explain the functions and advantages of the scheme.

Awarded $15 Prize For Literary Effort

Lahring Langley, a Grade XII student at the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School has been awarded the Examiner prize of $15 for her literary work in the school magazine The Echoes. Miss Langley who was in Grade XI when the winning article was written won the prize for the junior group with her prose sketch, The Luck of the Irish. The judges gave honorable mention to Alan Northcott for his work, Cadets.

In the senior group composed of the writing of the pupils of the top three grades of the school the committee considered the work of a standard not high enough to merit the award, although honorable mention was given to Germaine Laderach Melva Lee Doxee and Joyce Beggs. The judges were C. E. Potts, the Rev. Dr. R. B. Gordon and Mrs. J. M. Kirkwood.

Main Street Topics

A SPLATTER OF GLASS

A splatter of glass at George and Charlotte Sts. Thursday afternoon caused spectators to crane their necks. A truck behind bumped into a beverage truck that slowed down for a red light. The jar was sufficient to dislodge a case of empty bottles from the soft-drink truck and it fell with a crash. Traffic was held up for a couple of minutes while the glass was cleared away

ABSENT ON HUNT

Peterborough's municipal hunters who will be scattered through the bush of the north country in various directions are Mayor Swanston, Aldermen Herb Young, Dick Raine, Hugh Waddell, Adam Sands. They are leaving next week.

WOLF IN LINDSAY

Peterborough is reported to be sheltering an elk or two in the tamarac woods south of May's school, and a news item from Lindsay tells of the shooting of a wolf near Ross Memorial Hospital.

SEEK GEORGE PHILLIP

Police are attempting to find George Phillip who may be living in Peterborough. If he is alive, his age would be 85. Mr. Phillip came to Canada in 1912 from Sidmouth, Devon, England. For a time he worked for the CPR here.

His nephew, J. H. Plant, of Toronto, would also like to contact any of his relatives, including his five daughters, Lena, Lillie, Maggie, Kathleen and Georgina. Some of his relatives may be descendants of George Lawson whom one of the daughter, Lena, intended to marry.

WALK OFF JOBS

Some of the Raybestos workers jumped the gun on strike action late on Thursday by walking off their jobs. Full production was restored today as the employees were back at their benches on time. John Whalen, chairman of the negotiating committee, and UE organizers persuaded them to return to work, the Examiner was informed today. Union officials said they hoped to iron out differences between the Raybestos branch of Local 527 and the company over the week-end.

DRIVER OF TRUCK

The truck which smashed into the rear of a car waiting for a stop light at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer Sts. Wednesday afternoon was driven by Kenneth Lee, RR 6, Peterborough. Driver of the car was W. C. Clarke.

NO SCHOOL PARKING LOT

The city will have to look around for some place other than Central School grounds to solve the parking problem. On Thursday night the Board of Education decided to take no action on a request for the school grounds to be used for that purpose. The city's plan was to use the grounds when the children were not attending classes.

ECCENTRIC BUTTERFLY

An eccentric Monarch butterfly, apparently determined to stick out the Canadian winter rather than fly to the sunny south, was seen Thursday afternoon by a north-end resident. The Monarch was reported to be flitting about quite briskly despite the advanced season. Others of the species headed south nearly two months ago.

FORM BEAGLE CLUB

More than a dozen Beagle dog fanciers formed a Beagle Club on Thursday night at the home of George Hill, RR 7, Peterborough. They are hoping that this will improve the standards of field and show dogs in this area and help to acquaint the public with the virtues of this working dog. A temporary slate of officers was elected and the next meeting will be held Dec. 5 at 7:30 at Mr. Hill's farm.

J. I. ADAMS RECOVERING

Mr. John I. Adams, 464 Aylmer Street, was able to be up today for the first time since last Sunday night when he was taken suddenly ill at the union meeting in Brock Street Gardens. He said he was very grateful for the kind and helpful attention that was shown him by two members of the Police Force and associate employees of the CGE, and also to Dr. C. F. Cahill for his prompt response to the emergency call at the late hour.

No Reduction Granted By Court Of Revision

NORWOOD, Nov. 11—(ENS)—Four assessments in Norwood were upheld by the Court of Revision Monday when applications for reductions were refused.

Louis Abraham wanted a reduction on lot 10, Spring St.; William Chamberlain asked for a reduction on the assessment rate for part of lot 18n Queen St.; J. F. Pearce said the assesment on lot 20n Queen St. was too high and Sutherland Construction Company wanted a reduction on the Finlay factory property.

The treasurer was authorized to write off unpaid taxes amounting to $20.62. This sum was made up of five small lots and was deemed not collectable.

Reeve Rork Ferguson was chairman. The assessment roll for 1950 was formally adopted after the hearing had been completed.

Deglamorize Linda Darnell In Latest Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11 (AP)—The movies can do anything: now they're deglamorizing Linda Darnell.

"I've been wanting to play a bum for a long time," said the glamor girl, who is apparently happy with her role in "No Way Out." She faced a problem of how to look the part.

"At first, they tried me with no makeup," she said. Instead of looking frumpy she appeared saintly.

"I looked like Bernadette in her last scene. Now they are using makeup to put circles under my eyes, give me hollow cheeks and a moody, sullen mouth. I'll wear out-of-date, too-tight, worn-out clothes."

Sing Song

The deal for another Hope-Crosby picture has been set up. The boys still don't know what "road" they'll hit. Could be Paris, could be Hollywood. Chances are 50-50 that Dotty Lamour will again accompany them.

Champion Ezzard Charles visited Bing Crosby on the "Mr. Music" set.

Elizabeth Taylor and Vic Damone are the latest item for the gossipers. Or are you growing weary of her romances? At any rate, she was at Mocambo to watch the young crooner sing and he took her home after the early show.

Damone is creating considerable notice with his local debut, which won him an M.G.M. contract. He is the best singing find I've seen since Frank Sinatra, whom he resembles more than somewhat.

Capsule Review

"Always leave them laughing" (W.B.) presents "Mr. TV," Milton Berle, who can't seem to "leave them." He remains on the screen for nearly two hours pulling every stunt imaginable. Much of it is hilarious, but one becomes almost shell-snocked from the constant stream of gags. Virginia Mayo, Ruth Roman and Bert Lahr play straight for Berle in a burlesque of his own career.

One Ship Escapes

HONG KONG, Nov. 11—(CP)—The South China Morning Post today says the Tsinan, one of two British ships detained by the Nationalists off Shanghai, has escaped into the open sea. It says the second British ship, the Wosang, still was halted by a blockading Nationalist destroyer-escort.

REPUBLICAN CALENDAR

From 1739 to 1896, France used a "Republican Calendar" which the Revolutionists designed to do away with Christian associations of the Gregorian calendar.

HOME IN TOKYO—Think you have a housing problem? Look at the plight of this young Japanese mother "at home" in a part-cave, part-shack in Tokyo. A government white paper reveals that 10,000,000 people in Japan are existing in sub-normal housing. Three and a half million dwellings would correct the situation.

Policy Outlined For Employees Taking Courses

City employees wishing to attend courses of instruction necessitating their absence for several months at a time, will have no difficulty in obtaining leave if the courses are likely to improve their qualifications to do their jobs.

City council was asked for a ruling by the Board of Health recently, when the second request within a two-year period from Public Health staff was made.

City Clerk E. A. Outram told the Board Wednesday that the council had made a ruling to govern all city employees.

Permission will be granted for leave of absence providing the joint cost of appointing a temporary person and the sum paid to the absent employees does not exceed the regular salary paid by the city for the job.

James Dutton, chairman of the Board, said he was pleased the council had come to such an arrangement. He felt it was a good thing for employees to better their abilities by taking advantages of courses of instruction.

R. A. MacPherson, city sanitary inspector, is at present in Toronto attending a course and will not be on duty in the city until April or May next year. H. R. Tyler has been appointed to act during his absence.

Kinsmen Do Some Self Searching

A beehive is similar to a club, said Harry McLean, Deputy-Governor of District 6 of Kinsmen Clubs meeting Thursday night at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club.

As there are workers and drones in a beehive there are in a club, said Mr. McLean. The workers in the club, have Kinsmen at their heart while the drones are members who have Kinsmen at their lapels.

The drones in a beehive get kicked out of the hive, he explained, but not so in the club. In Kinsmen clubs the workers try to make the drones workers once again.

Some members are sincere when they join a club, but when in the club, do little work. Mr. McLean explained some feel they are incapable of doing the work while others feel they have done their share and wish to do no more.

In an effort to show the members how much work they have done in the Kinsmen club during the past year, Mr. McLean had the members assess their value to the club. He mentioned seven important things about being a member of a club and told them to give themselves points if they had accomplished any work in the club on those lines. The seven club achievements by members were: membership, fellowship, inter-club meetings, service programs, attending club conventions, contributions of member to club and holding office.

Donald Loucks introduced Mr. McLean, who was thanked by William Roche.

It was Second Vice-president's Night and Clarence Smith conducted the meeting.

Golds Subject To Hysteria, Easy Affected

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Something of hysteria seems to attach itself to gold, whether it be from the gleam in the eye of a prospector coming in from the bush to register a claim, or from a whisper that goes along Torontos' Bay Street.

The merest rumor can send gold stocks soaring on the stock exchange, and the merest rumor can knock them back.

Yesterday, President Truman said there would be no change in the value of gold so long as he is president of the United States.

Traders on the Toronto Stock Exchange took this so much to heart that gold stocks fell more than four points in the exchange's index.

Which makes one ask: Did traders really think, before the president's statement, that the United States might raise the price of gold, or devalue its dollar, which are related things? Anyone who thought so must surely be easily convinced.

Britain and other countries, with urging from United States sources, recently devalued their currencies, so as to give them a more realistic value in relation to United States money.

Unlikly Move

Now, was it conceivable that the United States would at this time, by action on gold or dollars, do anything that would wipe out the effect of the other devaluations, or in any way confuse a situation which is sufficiently confused as it is?

Maybe some day the price of gold will go up. No one can say right now what the place of gold as a backer of currencies will be two or five or 10 years from now; or what may be done to price it in relation to the increased amount of currency in circulation.

A lot of hard thinking will have to be done before those issues will be decided.

But whether or no, gold has a real value. The real value of any Canadian gold stock is no more and no less than before President Truman made his statement.

If the recent rise in golds was attributable in any degree to a hope that there may be an early upward valuation of gold, then it is reasonable to expect them to lose their advance by that much.

However, yesterday's selling seemed to run into buyying support towards the close, and there is a widespread view that gold stocks have been selling at too low a price in the last few years, just as stock market issues in general seem to have been selling too low.

Meantime, the price of gold is $35 an ounce, United States currency.

Board of Health To Lose Services of James Dutton

By HARRY THEOBALD

James Dutton confirmed today information that he would not seek re-appointment to the Board of Health in the new year.

He said he had been a member of the Board fifteen years, and he felt that he should step aside and let some one else take his place in the city's health department.

"When I was first appointed to the Board by the Council, it was a new experience, and I had to learn just the same as any one else," Mr. Dutton said. "It has given me a great deal of satisfaction to see the department develop from a rather small organization to its present position. We have kept pace with the growth of the city, and our health department is recognized as one of the best in Ontario."

It may be recalled that as member and chairman of the Board, Mr. Dutton was largely instrumental in the promotion of all its expansion of service to the public. He was keenly interested in the city's application to the Victorian Order of Nurses to establish a branch in Peterborough. The well babies' clinic was another activity of the Board which he consistently advocated, and it has probably been a disappointment to him that the accommodation for the clinic had to depend in some particulars on the goodwill of others, including several church boards who wished to assist in this public service.

Inspection of dairy premises comprising the Peterborough whole milk pool was a major enterprise in the general program of vigilant supervision of all places in which food was produced or sold to the public. Sanitary conditions in restaurants have been raised to a high standard in this city by the Board of Health's activities. The department's nursing service has been another branch of the department which he, and his associates of the board, have steadfastly fostered.

Mr. Dutton did not hesitate when the Board had to urge the city council for the appropriations which were required with increases from time to time to enable the department to expand its work.

Those recollections present an outline of the progress of the Health Department during the years of Mr. Dutton's membership and chairmanship.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., said today that since he had taken charge of the department he always found Mr. Dutton sympathetic to proposals for the improvement of the public service. Under his direction the Board was co-operative, ready to give close study to new ideas and recommendations, and generally to support the staff in its affairs.

"Personally, I hope Mr. Dutton may change his mind, but I think he has reached a decision to retire," Dr. Kelly said. "His interest in our work has been a great help to us. Of course he has been only one member of the Board but he has been chairman I think there are few men who have given so much attention to a local health department and its work for the community."

Can Stockpile A-Bombs—Reds

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov 11 (CP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky said Thursday Russia is using atomic energy for economic projects but could stockpile atomic bombs if necessary.

The Russian foreign minister told the United Nations during a surprise and dramatic appearance before the Assembly's 59-member special political committee that Russia was using atomic energy to spread life, happiness, prosperity and welfare in places where human footsteps have not been seen for thousands of years.

"We are razing mountains; we are irrigating deserts; we are cutting through the jungle and the tundra," the red-faced Vishinsky shouted during a debate on the deadlocked problem of international control of atomic energy.

Blasting the control plan approved last year by the Assembly majority, the Soviet minister said Russia is not stockpiling bombs but added:

Although if, unfortunately, and to our great regret this were necessary, we should have as many of these as we should need —no more, no less."

Find Fragments Of Civilizations In Bombed Areas

By NORM CRIBBENS

EXETER, Devonshire, England, Nov. 11 —(CP)— Beneath the wreckage of once-proud buildings, levelled by German bombs, archaeologists are seeking fragments of bygone civilizations.

They are fortunate in that Exeter, as old as York or London, has known five successive civilizations — Celtic, Roman, Saxon, Norman and Mediaeval English.

The search so far has yielded Roman coins, bits of Roman pavements, fragments or Roman villas and pieces of Saxon pottery. Before the city's rebuilding scheme is completed archaeologists hope to find many more exhibits for the local museum.

"It is ironical that we should find these things as a result of the devastating German raids," said H. J. Arnell, a lifelong resident of the city, "but the opportunity may never come again —at least we hope not."

Find Roman Road

A bomb which in 1942 destroyed part of Exeter's main shopping centre brought to light fragments of a Roman road which must have been four or five feet below the present high street.

Citizens of Exeter are proud of their history. Though saddened by the destruction of many old buildings, they are thankful that both the 12th-century Guildhall and the Cathedral were spared destruction.

"In this city human habitation and city life have never ceased to exist from the days of the early Caesars to our own," Arnell said "We have sheltered George III, Charles II, Henry VII. Richard III, Edward VI, Henry VI, Edward II, King John, William of Orange and others."

There is no record of when Exeter became a Roman city or when it passed from Roman power. But Roman coins found near the cathedral go back to the days of Nero and Claudius of the first century, A. D.

Can Expand Market

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11—(CP)—United States fruit and vegetable growers can expand their big Canadian market by buying more Canadian goods, Harvey Harrison, president of the Canadian Fruit Wholesalers' Association, said Thursday night. Seed potatoes and apples are two commodities which American fruit and vegetable growers could buy in larger quantities from Canada, Harrison said in an adress prepared for delivery to the Western Growers' Association.

Baby Band Aux. Is At Home To Church Family

Trinity Church basement was transformed into Babyland Wednesday afternoon when the Baby Band Mother's Auxiliary was at home to members of the WMS Auxiliary, Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary and Living Link Mission Circle, all of Trinity Church.

The guests were received by Mrs. W. R. Philp and Mrs. N. Elliott and as they entered they were greeted with the happy laughter of numerous babies and toddlers, children of the Baby Band Auxiliary members who were being entertained in a nursery under the care of Mrs. J. Porter, Mrs. K. Barltrop, Mrs. S. Johnson, and Mrs. M. Latimer.

Several gaily decorated tables held ten layettes, the work of Auxiliary members. Each was complete to the last detail with every item necessary to the new baby. The display was arranged by Mrs. J. Davern, Mrs. G. Harrison and Mrs. B. Till.

The tea room was decorated to honour that important personage, the baby. Graceful white storks surveyed the scene from every available vantage point. The table lovely with a cutwork cloth, was centred with a huge crystal bowl overflowing with pink, white and blue 'mums, and from these colourful depths rose another "old man stork" with a "new baby" in his beak. Flames of pink and blue tapers in triple candlebra flickered prettily on the silver tea things at either end of the table. Filling the cups were Mrs. M. Elliott, Mrs. E. Edmondson, Mrs. N. Elliott and Mrs. F. D. Carver.

Servers were Mrs. T. McKay, Mrs. D. J. Lillico, Mrs. J. Bell, Mrs. G. Thompson, Mrs. G. Archer, Mrs. D. Clark, Mrs. G. Cheatle, Mrs. H. Coombes, Mrs. G. Vallery, Mrs. T. Stanley. Hostesses in the tea room were Mrs. F. Stenson, Mrs. C. Huffman and Mrs. W. B. Gordon.

Regimental Chapter Holds Tea to Honor November 11

Each year the 57th Regiment Chapter of the IODE holds a Remembrance Day tea preceding November 11. Almost all women in this chapter are wives of men who have served in the armed forces so it is fitting they should honor the day on which war ceased.

Setting for the tea on Thursday was the Officers' Mess at the Armouries. Mrs. C. M. Scott, regent of the chapter, Mrs. M. E. Clarke vice regent and wife of the present officer commanding, and Mrs. W. G. Hall, regent of Municipal Chapter, IODE, received the very large crowd.

In the tea room a long lace-covered table was centered with an arrangement of gold chrysanthemums and symbolic poppies, with base of brown oak leaves, and highlighted with this golden tapers. Silver tea things were placed at either end and presided over by Mrs. M. J. Swanston, Mrs. A. W. Turner, Mrs. G. H. Cutmore and Mrs. W. F. Connal during the afternoon.

Plans for the tea were carried out for Mrs. Clarke, convener, by Mrs. L. D. Foster, Mrs. G. Langhorne, Mrs. J. Dobbin, Mrs. R. Cochrane and Mrs. C. R. Payne who were assisting to serve with Mrs. W. Masters, Mrs. C. Whatley, Mrs. L. Gilders, Mrs. F. Frape, Mrs. G. Miller, and Mrs. H. Willis. Mrs. E. Graham had charge of the supplies with Mrs. C. Griffin and Mrs. U. E. Waterman and Mrs. S. TORONTO, Nov. 11—(CP)—Women's styles are rapidly heading back to those of 1920, Viola Shefer said Thursday.

Here to stage the advance show for the Dress Manufacturers' Guild of Toronto, Miss Shefer said the 1920 vogue was to dress in a shapeless gown which set the waistline several inches below the point where the waistline actually exists.

"I was through this before," she said. "And, believe me, I didn't know where my waistline was until I was 23 years of age.

First International Night Goes Over Well at YW

More than 150 attended the first celebration of International Night at the YWCA Thursday evening, planned to coincide with similar celebrations in the Ys of 19 other countris.

It was indeed international, for few countries were not represented in some way and many of them personally, new Canadians from Europe forming a large part of the group. A truly amazing collection of souvenir articles from around the world had been gathered from homes here. All were labelled and displayed in groups: England, Estonia, Latvia, Italy, Spain, Ukraine, Mexico, United States, Columbia, Japan, Hungary, India, Ethiopia, Holland and the Navajo Indians. Posters and pictures on the walls depicted scenes in far-off places.

Representing China, her native land, Mrs. Jas. Hum was perhaps the most colorful figure present. She wore a beaded black evening gown in the traditional style with high collar and no sleeves, and her long dark hair was beautifully coiled in the fashion of her land. Mrs. Hum presided at the tea table, pouring Chinese tea, and she contributed Chinese cakes. Mrs. Louis Yeotes who came to this city from Greece some years ago, was accompanied her her daughter, Mrs. Sophie Zakos, and her granddaughter, Helen Zakos who was wearing a young Greek girl's costume. Mrs. Yeotes poured coffee and Miss Zakos assisted in serving the several varieties of rich Greek cake which her family had prepared for the ocasion. Other servers were local girls dressed to represent various countries.

Mrs. T. J. Carley, president of the YWCA Board, extended a welcome and a special message to guests for the evening from Oshawa and Cobourg associations who brought greetings from their membership. She said the program was planned so that members would enter Fellowship Week with a more definite knowledge of its meaning.

Miss Jean Campbell, world fellowship secretary of the National Council, spoke at length of the fellowship she had enjoyed recently at Geneva, Switzerland, with 46 girls from 26 countries during an eight-week course. She also spoke of the World Service Fund and what has been acomplished by the contributions of the past two years, supporting the Christian movement of European women and girls. Oshawa Y was congratulated on having already obtained the fund objective for this year. Clubs in the local association have been busy with money-raising projects and are approaching their goal.

"World fellowship is a two-way street," she explained. "While we are helping others with money for buildings, leadership and social work, they are also making contributions to us as has been shown by displaced persons, six of whom took over important positions in Canadian Ys within their first year." She also touched on communism and situations that may be causing it to flourish. Miss Campbell said "curtains", using the recently coined word, exist even in a small way such as between residents of the north end and south end, and members of various unions, and urged that they be pulled down. "World fellowship will only be as strong as the fellowship that exists right in this city," she declared.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Paige Rowell and thanked by Mrs. Roma Brindle.

A short worship service was led by Mrs. Kay Morton and Miss Jean Hammond read scripture. Miss Leta, Brownscombe, YWCA secretary, spoke briefly on the theme. Miss Hazel Wilson was pianist.

Miss Glenna Wilson of Oshawa did an excellent job of song-leading, teaching the unfamiliar tunes for songs of other countries. Mrs. R. R. Baker provided splendid accompaniment.

The program was opened with folk-dancing directed by Miss Audrey Hustwitt.

Miss Flora Metcalf was chairman.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Boss's Wife Has No Say In Secretary's Appearance

DEAR MISS DIX: My boss is a fine man and I am an efficient secretary, so all is well except that his wife feels that she has a right to dictate about my clothes and personal appearance. The first week I went to work my employer said that his wife didn't approve of my style of dress. I started dressing ten years older, wearing nothing but black, brown and navy blue. A little later he told me that his wife wished that she would call my attention to my use of lipstick and rouge. No more make-up.

Dorothy Dix

I would leave except that I don't want to give up a good job. What should I do?

TROUBLED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It is an impudent and outrageous thing for your employer's wife to dictate to you about your clothes and your complexion. That is none of her business. She has no more right to tell you how to dress and what make-up to put on than you have to criticize her taste. But in as much as your employer seems to be completely under his wife's thumb, you would undoubtedly get fired if you should make the snappy retort to her she deserves.

Soured Woman

But it is a pity for any woman to get so soured that she begrudges youth its hour of beauty and adornment. Of course, a business girls. Appearances count business girl. Appearance count for a lot and she should look like an efficient, serious - minded young woman who is on her job. But that doesn't mean that she need be shabby or frumpy.

It is part of a business girl's business to be as good-looking as possible. It helps trade and it helps the girl do better work because it braces up her morale. And it is important for a business girl to make the most of her looks because the offices where she works are her happy hunting ground for a husband. The business girl has few social contacts. She meets men where she works, and if she doesn't catch the eye of some eligible youth there she is sunk.

So I implore the bosses' wives to have a heart and lay off their husband's employee's clothes.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband is kind to me. He never finds fault with me for anything I do or don't do and he never refuses me anything I want. But there is one thing that I cannot stand any longer. He has a little rat dog that he will let sleep in the house at night in the wintertime in spite of the fact that I insist on having it put out. He just worships that dog, and I have given him notice that I am going to leave him if he doesn't put it out. We would have a nice agreeable time together, if it were not for this dog. What am I to do?

MRS. H. R.

ANSWER: Fie, Mrs. H. R., aren't you ashamed of being jealous of a poor little dog? If your husband were petting some girl about half your age and who weighed about half what you do, you would have some cause to be green-eyed and tell your husband that he would have to choose between you and your deadly rival. But how silly of you to wreck your home over a dog!

I am sorry for any human being who doesn't love dogs. He or she misses one of the purest pleasures on earth. But even if you are a dog-hater, try to get his point of view on the subject and realize that to many men a dog is an absolute requisite of happiness. They simply can't exist without one. Home is no home without the pattering of paws running to meet them and the wriggling of a little body that leaps all over them the minute they open the door.

After all, your husband earns the money that keeps your home going and if all that he asks is the privilege of having his little dog sleep in the house on a winter's night, don't you think that you are pretty mean and stingy to begrudge it to him?

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widow, 26 years old, with two children and about to marry a well-to-do man. I have supported my babies by hard, domestic service and have not much education. Do you think at 26 that I might yet attend school and fit myself for some position, so that if anything happened, I would be in a better position to suport my children?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly 26 is not too old for you to go to school or for you to fit yourself for any career that you would like to follow. You are very wise, now that you are going to have things easier, to turn your mind toward improving yourself instead of devoting your leisure to amusing yourself.

You say that you have been in domestic service. You must already know a lot about cooking and catering, etc. Why not follow the line of least resistance and study domestic science? There is always a demand for teachers of domestic science, and catering and running tearooms and restaurants are among the most profitable occupations in which women can engage.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Princess Is Riding New Model Cycle

LONDON, Nov. 11 — (CP). — Princess Margaret, a keen cyclist, now is riding the first bicycle to come out of the first factory to be built at Coventry since the blitz.

Princess Elizabeth accepted the cycle for her sister when she recently opened Coventry's new city centre. Margaret chose a model polychromatic (irridescent) green which has been lined with gold.

The finished cycle, made by skilled craftsmen, was delivered direct to Buckingham Palace. Princess Margaret, thanking the makers, said she would take it to Windsor where "I hope to get many hours of pleasure from it."

Other cycles of the same model, known as "The Princess," will be on sale before Christmas.

"What's Right?"

SITUATION: You have added a few pieces of furniture or done some redecorating in your living room.

WRONG WAY: As soon as a guest enters your living room say, "How do you like my new furnishings?"

RIGHT WAY: Let your guests notice things for themselves and if they make no comment, don't force one.

LASHBROOK—In loving memory of our dear husband and dad, Albert John Lashbrook, who passed away suddenly one year ago today, November 11, 1948.
Just a year, it seems but yesterday,
We reverently laid him away,
And then, life did not seem worth while
Without his cheery whistle and smile,
Carefree he seemed, yet no one knew
The worry and suffering he went through,
Till an angel came at God's command
And gently took him by the hand.
We miss you so sadly Dad,
And breathe a sigh of regret,
For you were ours and we remember
Though all the world forget.
—Sadly missed and always loved, Jean, Esther, Vic and Gordon.

SANDERSON—Mrs. W.—In fond and loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother who passed away two years ago today, Nov. 11, 1947.

She had a loving word for each
And died beloved by all.
—Ever remembered by her son Roland, Rebecca and family.

SANDERSON—In loving memory of my dear Mother, Mrs. Wellie Sanderson, who passed away November 11, 1947.
We do not forget her,
We love her too dearly
For her memory to fade
From our lives like a dream.
Our lips need not speak
When our hearts mourn sincerely.
For grief often dwells
Where it seldom is seen.

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 11. — (ENS).—Next week is young Canada's book week. This is the first nation-wide attempt to interest children in good literature. The local Library has a wide choice of children's books, and Miss Benor, the librarian, is always anxious to guide children in the selection of their reading material.

Minister Takes Potatoes For Marriage Fee In Pioneer Settlement

MARMORA—(ENS)—The days when the minister accepted a bag of potatoes as a marriage fee, the church trustees mortgaged themselves in order that the first church could be established and a minister died while a young lad was speeding to a doctor on his fastest horse, were recalled at the recent 75th church anniversary celebrations at Marmora. A paper prepared by Miss Grace Warren and read during St. Andrew's anniversary week, throws light on the way of life of the first settlers in this area.

The paper deals with history of Methodism and later the United church in Marmora from 1858 to the present day.

Early minutes of Marmora Township Council reveal that in 1858 Mr. Brown, a Wesleyan Methodist minister, desired to hold meetings in the old Town Hall This motion was defeated at a council meeting by an amendment to the effect "that the minister be allowed the use of the hall for divine service whenever held by both Methodist and Anglican ministers until the churches of these denominations are erected."

Names of minister of the Methodist church of those days are mentioned in the old minute book of Marmora LOL 319. Two thus mentioned are Mr. Sparrow and J. B. Smith.

In 1862, the first resident pastor was Rev. Philip Rose, a Wesleyan Methodist. In December of that year, he was stricken with heart trouble and died before the nearest physician, Dr English of Stirling, could reach him.

Sped on Horse

The late James C. Brown, then a lad of 17, rode the preacher's fast horse, Dick to Stirling but the minister died before the rider reached the doctor. He is buried in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

The next record is to be found in the Directory of Hastings County for 1863- 1864. In this years, Rev. John D. Dowler, Wesleyan Methodist and Rev E. N. Howard, Episcopal Methodist, were conducting services in Marmora Township and Rev. N McGilvray was ministering to local Presbyterians.

Mr. Dowler lived in the first Methodist parsonage, the present home of Hogarth Sabine, which was originally situated a little south, near the present Pentecostal Church.

Succeeding Mr. Dowler was the Rev. Archelaus Doxsee. On April 23, 1869, he and his wife, Alma, bought parts of lots seven and eight on the east side of Burstall St. from the Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway Company for the sum of $50.

On September 19, 1871, the minister sold the same property to the trustees of the Wesleyan Methodist Church for the original purchase price. This was the site of the Methodist Parsonage until the pastorate of the late Rev. D. R. Clare, when it was sold and the present parsonage purchased.

$531.5' Collected

A subscription list for the erection of the church was started on August 8, 1868. A total of 129 subscribers contributed $531.50.

Plans and specifications for the church were prepared by John D. Evans. The first church furniture was obtained from Belleville. The stone for the church foundations was drawn by horses from the western side of Crowe River over the lower bridge and dumped on the road in front of the site of the church.

The late William Knox, with his yoke of oxen attached to a stone boat, drew the stone from the roadway to where it was needed for the foundations.

The building was originally braced with iron rods made by the late Charles Clairmount, noted blacksmith of the village for about 60 years. Although not of the Methodist faith, he would not accept payment for the work.

The late T. P. Pearce founder of the Pearce Company, a member of the building committee willed the lot east of the church to the church committee at his death. A mortgage was taken for the remaining funds for building to the amount of $1500 over a period of eight years.

The trustees pledged themselves to payment of instalments on principal and interest and the mortgage was paid up on September 23, 1881. A further debt of $200 remained which was paid off in 1887 by means of subscriptions and tea meetings.

Spire Tinned

The spire was tinned by Henry Warren of Stirling for the sum of $82.

The brick for the church was purchased from John Fidlar and James Kyle. The datal stone in front of the church was purchased from W Moore of Belleville for $6.

A silver trowel suitably inscribed, was purchased from John Taylor, a Belleville jeweller for $15. This was no doubt used in the laying of the corner stone, a ceremony of which no record is at present available.

The members of the first Board or Trustees were T. Peter Pearce Henry Jones, Thomas Broadworth., Richard Broadworth, John S. Brown, Richard Gawley and Philip Brenton.

Rev. A. Doxsee, first occupier of the second parsonage erected in 1871, was succeeded on the circuit by Rev. W. H. Cooke.

Dedicatory and opening services of the church took place during his pastorate on Nov. 4. 1874 When the 60th anniversary of St. Andrew was observed, two original members of the congregation Mrs. Alexander Anderson and Mrs. Robert Lough were present. Both have since died, the former within the past year.

The day after the dedicatory services a public dinner was held in the Town Hall of those days Preserved with old records of LOL 319, which celebrates its centennial in 1951, is a letter signed by Mrs. W. H. Cooke inviting officers and members of the lodge on behalf of the ladies Benevolent Society of Canada Methodist Church to this dinner for which tickets were sold at two for 75 cents.

First Organist

The first organist was Mrs Benjamin Beddoms, whose husband was a local preacher.

There were ten connecting charges namely Jones, McDowell's, Jones Branch No. 1 Beaver Creek, Wiley's, Spry's, 12 Line Rawdon, Plunketts, and 10th Line Rawdon.

Sunday collections from August 13, 1876 to April 3 1878 totalled $61.97.

First reference to Springbrook in the old records of the church dates back to 1878. Two committees carried on the work of the church a Board of Trustees and a quarterly Board.

Pews were rented for Sunday usage at $3 a longe one and $2 a short pew a year. The minister's pew was free and all pews were free at public functions.

A sexton was hired to clean the church and its lamps and to light the lamps and heat the church at the salary of $25 a year.

The first tea meeting was held on January 1. 1876 to become an annual afair with the date being governed by the moon. In the early days of the church there were two ministers owing to the extent of the circuit. Also four local preachers and several exhorters were anpointed.

Closely Watched

The men's characters and punctuality were closely watched and criticised by the Board and parshioners.

During pastorate of Rev. W. H. Cooke, the salary was $300 a year, but in addition he was allowed $315 for board, $75 for horse keep, $15 for travelling expenses and incidentals and $30 for fuel.

The second minister, a single man, received $200 salary, $75 for his yearly board and $80 horse keep.

Two ministers were kept until 1882. The circuit raised part of its own finances and the balance was supplied by Missions. The country appointments paid the greater part of their support in produce as cash was scarce.

Early preachers would have very little of scarce articles of food or luxuries. A minister would tie the marriage knot for a bag of potatoes. In 1876 Rev. W. H. Peake took over the charge. In 1879 he was instrumental in holding of a Harvest Home Festival on pasture land near the church. Dinner was served at noon. Evergreen trees and boughs were brought from nearby woods and large booths constructed for dining purposes This was remembered as a great event in the life of the village for years.

Presbyterian Services

In 1877, the Presbyterians used the church every fortnight for their services. Mr. Peake started a Sunday School both at Marmora and Springbrook.

Marmora became a self supporting circuit in 1887, including Marmora, Springbrook and Spry's. Records reveal that its name at this time was St. James In 1923 it was again changed to include Marmora Deloro and Zion. Then its name became St. Andrew's.

In 1903 the wings were added to the church at the cost of more than $1000. Rev. R. McCullough was the pastor that year.

Coming to the present era, it is recalled that in 1923, nearly two years previous to the birthday of the United Church of Canada, a union of the congregation with that of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was affected. The Presbyterian who worshipped in what is now the Free Methodist Church, had been served by such ministers as Mr. Robertson, J. Inkster, Mr. McGuinness, Mr. P L. Jull. Mr. Telford, Mr. E. V Forbes and others.

Only One Bachelor

Rev Wendell P. Woodger was the only minister to come to the Marmora charge, his first, as a bachelor but later brought his bride to the parsonage.

Rev. C. J. Berkley was the first minister to be invited by the Board, not having been appointed by the conference. In the early morning of a Sunday in January 1944, the congregation was shocked to discover that fire had broekn out in the church. Despite the energetic work of firefighters, the interior was gutted and the new ministrel organ which had been recently purchased by the ladies of the congregation, destroyed.

Services had to be held in the Town Hall for some months while the rebuilding program under leadership of Rev. E. M Cadigan went on.

On June 10, 1945 services were resumed in the renovated and altered church. The Women's Association has worked for almost the entire 75 years in close cooperation with the men of the congregation for the churches Welfare. The Women's Missionary Society has celebrated its tenth anniversary, having been organised by Mrs. W. P. Fletcher while her husband, Dr. W. P. Fletcher was pastor.

Records show there a similiar society at an earlier date under the leadership of Rev. George D. Young.

The following list of ministers since 1858 is almost complete:

1858-1860 Mr. Brown, 1860-1861 Mr. Sparrow, 1861-1862 J. D. Smith, 1862-1864 P. ROSE, 1864-1867 J. A. Fowler, all Wesleyan Methodists; N. E. Howard, Episcopal Methodist; 1867-1870 A. ANNUAL REMEMBRANCE DAY ceremony at PCVS was held on Thursday afternoon in the auditorium. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Omemee United Church, and former Canadian Army padre, was guest speaker. He is shown at the Lecturn, (left) with other officials at the ceremony. The Rev. Walter Gilling of St. Luke's Anglican Church conducted the service and Principal C. S. Browne read the names of former students who had fallen in both wars. The school band, under direction of Albert Croasdale, is shown on the background of the stage.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Padre Tells Students Of Their Duty To Fallen

Students of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School assembled in the school auditorium Thursday afternoon to pay tribute to the fallen of both world wars. The Rev. U. E. R. Zufelt of Omemee, a former padre with the Canadian army and guest speaker, advised the students always to seek to be worthy of the fallen by holding fast to their ideals and sense of duty. He compared cadet training to a doctor's office with the necessary equipment ready for any emergency. The training is given the boys, he explained, so that they may be ready if the war again should threaten. Mr. Zufelt said the dead could best be honored by the living showing a deep loyalty to country, king and empire.

The present Collegiate student body would, he thought, be the last generation to remember the war vividly. For children in the lower grades of elementary schools it is already something heard, not known. Pupils in the higher elementary grades would not remember their fathers leaving for war, the unreturning fathers to whom the school was now paying its tribute of remembrance.

Scoffers Insult

Mr. Zufelt prophesied that soon, as after the First World War, some people will be saying that all was done in vain; there will be those who scoff at the singing of the national anthem. Such talk he said, is an insult to those who died winning freedom for the people of Canada.

"We ought to be grateful to belong to a family of nations that believe in the freedom of all people." Remember with gratitude the fallen, Mr. Zufelt enjoined the students. Those who stood shoulder to shoulder with their comrades who fell, know from their experience in the liberated countries what the younger generations were spared by not having to live under a heartless enemy, he said.

Mr. Zufelt advised the students not only to remember the fallen but those who are still suffering from the wars in the hospitals. To them also, he said, a debt of grateful remembrance is owing.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Walter Gilling of St. Luke's Anglican Church. Cadet Major James Fowler read the scripture lesson from Ecclesiasticus and Cadet RSM W. Prest read an extract from Pericles Great Funeral Oration. Cadet Capt. Richard Schram introduced Mr. Zufelt.

Following the Lord's Prayer and the Prayer for the Fallen, Principal C. S. Browne read the honor rolls of both wars. Two minutes' silence followed.

Midway through the service, Sam Murphy, president of the Students' Council placed a wreath above the plaque which bears the names of the fallen.

Three hymns were sung to the accompaniment of the PCVS Band conducted by Albert Croasdale. Last Post was sounded by the band.

Two Members Announce Retirement From Board

Two members of the Board of Education Dr. H. G Carleton and Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, Thursday night announced to the Board they would not seek re-election.

Dr. Carleton leaves the Board after serving on it for four years, and for 14 on the Norwood Board of Education. He has combined the work of two professions, being not only an M.D. but also a school teacher.

He has a High school assistant's certificate and taught five years in Hastings County and Northern Ontario; he also has a permanent public school teacher's certificate.

DR. H. G. CARLETON

"I don't intend to let my name stand for re-election next year," he told his colleagues. "I've completed now a matter of 18 years on boards. But I'll still remain interested in educational work and educational matters."

The pressure of private business and other private matters were given by him as the chief reasons for not choosing to run again He paid tribute to the work of all members of the Board and singled out G. Wilson Craw for special mention.

Mrs. F. W. K. Harris is stepping down after being a Board member for six years.

She has served on all committees and was chairman of the Board in 1948.

"I've thoroughly enjoyed every minute of it," she told her colleagues.

Mrs. Harris stated she thought someone younger, preferably one who has children at school, should take her place. The only woman member of the Board, she thanked the others for their courtesy and co-operation.

"The general public has no idea how much time this work takes up," she told the Examiner. As an example she cited the work of the committee on salaries under Dr. Ralph Honey which met at least nine times before drawing up a schedule felt satisfactory.

An ex-school teacher, Mrs. Harris had experience in rural schools, including the one at Mather's Corners. Her next step was to Ryerson school, Toronto, then a teacher-training school for the College of Education.

In 1931 she came to Peterborough and 11 years later was elected to the Board of Education.

Loses Two Fingers In Saw Accident

DOWNEYVILLE, Nov. 11 — (ENS)—When sawing wood in the village for Mrs. Joseph Dorgan with a sawing machine Mr. Timothy Callahan had two middle fingers of his left hand cut off with the saw. He reached over the saw to put on a block and in some way touched the saw. He was treated by Dr. Earl of Omemee.

Four Counties Beekeepers Have Banquet

ROSENEATH, Nov. 11 (ENS)—The annual banquet of the Beekeepers Association of the four counties, Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham was held in the L.O.L. hall. Roseneath on Wednesday evening.

The members of the W.A. of Roseneath United Church catered to the guests.

Mr. Hector Inch, Port Hope, president of the Beekeepers' Association, presided. Mr. Pat Whaley, Trenton, led in community singing with Mrs. H. G. Burke, Omemee, at the piano. Reeve O. J. Robins gave the address of welcome to the visitors.

Mrs. William Keyes, elecutionist from Port Hope delighted her audience with two readings "Higher Culture" and "Vera".

The guest speaker of the evening was Professor G. R. Raeman, Ph.D., head of the Department of English, O.A.C., Guelph. His subject "Why Don't We Grow Up?" Dr. Raeman said "The matter of immaturity is a disease very prevalent in the world today, a child makes a nuisance of himself to get his own way; an adult to attract attention; the practical joker, just the smart type and the exceedingly aggressive person to get recognition."

Dr. Raeman termed the use of sleeping pills as purely psychological, just another characteristic of immaturity.

Four Stages

The speaker said there are four stages in the life of human beings classified them as, first, narcissistic or baby stage—where other people's conveniences are never considered. Second—Family stage—fixation or so-called complex. Everyone is born with inferiority complex, which must be overcome to do anything worth while in the world. It is sometimes termed a "nervous breakdown" as a respectable way of getting out of an impossible situation. Third—Complex stage. Mother-son, father-daughter fixation. The speaker urged the parents not to love the children too much or vice versa. This could be very flattering but a potential tragedy. "Give the adolescent a sense of responsibility to prove your confidence in a tangible fashion," Dr. Raeman urged. More Senates in churches, and other organizations, to give young people an office. The fourth, final stage, Dr. Raeman advised his listeners to get accustomed to changing situations, to have a philosophy of life. "Believe in yourself, your fellow man and God'.

Education is developing maturity, Dr. Raeman, with forty years of experience in teaching was a bit skeptical about the proposed change in education. He thought we should get back to the old-fashioned three R's.

The speaker was intrduced by Professor Gordon Townsend of O.A.C., Guelph and thanked by Mr. Hector Inch, Port Hope.

Other speakers were Mr. William Brant, Toronto, president of the Honey Producers Co-Operative and Professor Gordon Townsend.

Mr. Allan Brown, Peterborough, conducted the election of officers and the following were named: President, Mr. Morris Harvey, Codrington; Vice-President, Mr. Fred Lewis, Roseneath; Sec.-treas., Mr. John Miller, Peterborough; Directors:Durham borough.

Directors: Durham County, Mr. Hector Inch, Port Hope; Northumberland County, Mr. Douglas Fox, Codrington; Victoria County, Mr. Huber Burtt, Omemee; Peterborough County, Mr. Arthur Legon, Peterborough; Director to Ontario Bee-keepers Association, Mr. Arthur Wartman, Warkworth.

Company Refuses To Bow To Demands Made By UAW Heads

OSHAWA, Nov. 12—(CP) — Discussions between union and company officials in the strike of 5,500 UAW (CIO) members at the General Motors of Canada Corporation will be resumed next Monday in an effort to end the deadlock prevailing after a week of negotiations.

General Motors of Canada, Ltd., announced Friday it would not bend to demands by the United Automobile Workers (CIO) for reinstatement of four dismissed employees as a condition of settlement.

The strike began Oct. 26 when the four employees — three of them stewards — were dismissed when they objected to an alleged production speedup. It is keeping 5,500 production workers idle.

The company said it would stand by its offer to submit the issue of the dismissals to arbitration by an impartial arbitrator. But a mass membership meeting attended by a union-estimated 1,500 workers rejected the company proposal without a dissenting vote.

The company statement said the matter of the dismissals must be settled under the provisions of the grievance procedure, "which in this case calls for arbitration as the orderly means of resolving the dispute."

Should the company do otherwise on this occasion, the statement added, "it would reduce the agreement to a useless document."

George Burt, Canadian director of the UAW, accused General Motors of embarking on a new policy of seeking out scapegoats, firing them in an effort to intimidate the rest of the working force into accepting a speed-up.

Ontario No Plan For Rent Control

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 — (CP) — Ontario Mupnicipal Affairs Minister Dunbar said Friday Ontario has made no plans to take over rent control from the Federal Government.

"I think at this point that the Federal Government should continue their different controls because they have machinery already set up," Mr. Dunbar said. He was in Ottawa en route to nearby Richmond, where he later took part in ceremonies marking construction of a new community centre.

"There is no plan to take over such controls," Mr. Dunbar said, commenting on a statement last week by Finance Minister Abbott that the Federal Government was willing to turn rent controls over to the provinces. Mr. Abbott made the statement while annonucing increases in rent control prices.

Mr. Dunbar added that if and when Ontario did take over such controls, he thought that either the Planning and Development Department or a new department would adminiser them.

Jinx Hits Barbara Ann Troubles Pouring In

EDMONTON, Nov. 12—(CP)—Barbara Ann Scott is pirouetting about the ice these days with inches of tape around her slender midriff.

But of more immediate concern right now to the petite star of a skating extravaganza here on a country-wide tour is the loss of one of her skaters who fell down a flight of stairs the other night and cracked an ankle.

And her pet dog has the 'flu.

Barbara Ann laughingly told Friday night how she learned last week in Calgary that the pain she had thought was due to a bad cold was the result of a cracked rib and a pulled muscle suffered in Ottawa two months ago while practising new routines. "It's such a bother," she said.

British Scientist Has Portable Atomic Pile

GERRARD'S CROSS, 7 Bucks., England, Nov. 12 (AP)—Robert Barker, 26-year-old British scientist, Friday showed newspaper men a portable atomic pile, the size of a garbage can.

Barker claimed the portable pile will produce as good radioactive isotopes as the British government's vast atomic piles at Harwell. But the government doesn't think so, at least not for "practical use."

(Isotopes are trace elements, important in medical and other research.)

A group of British scientists studied the invention, demonstrated in a sealed-off basement room. Barker said they expressed agreement that the portable pile could be made to produce isotopes effectively and economically.

Experts from the ministry of supply, which bosses Britain's atomic energy research, issued a statement after studying Barker's machine. he statement quoted Sir John Cockcroft, head ot fhe atomic research centre at Harwell, as saying such small devices as Barker's will not produce radio-active isotopes "for practical use."

The research centre has produced a large number of isotopes for medical and industrial use. It has used a cyclotron and two atomic energy piles to make them.

No American atomic experts have seen his development, Barker said. He extended an open invitation to any scientific team from the United States to examine it.

Cruise Ship On Docks

ACAPULCO, Mexico, Nov. 12 (AP)—The luxurious cruise ship Corsair, former private yacht of J. Pierpont Morgan, ran aground on rocks as she was leaving Acapulco harbor early today. About 55 passengers and a crew of 77 were taken off safely by a flotilla of small boats, including lifeboats of the 343-foot vessel. No loss of life or injuries were reported.

Gov't Surplus Surprise Climbs To $305,000,000

OTTAWA, Nov. 12—(CP)—The government, budgeting for a surplus of about $90,000,000 for the current fiscal year, Friday announced the budgetary surplus climbed to $305,000,000 in the first seven months of 1949-50 operations. Finance Minister Abbott, in issuing the monthly treasury report, said he expected the surplus will be whittled down in the latter part of the fiscal year, which ends next March 31.

He said:

"While this budgetary surplus for the first seven months appears to be large, it will not be maintained in the later months of the year. Expenditures always are greater in the latter part of the year due to many items being charged at the end of the fiscal year. Expenditures always are greater in the latter part of the year due to many items being charged at the end of the fiscal year, such as deficits of government-owned enterprises, interest on unfunded debt, charges to reserves and the like.

"Revenues on the other hand are greater in the first part of the fiscal year.

"Accordingly, I have no reason to change the estimate I made in my budget speech of Oct. 20, that the surplus for the full year is likely to be about $90,000,000."

At the end of seven months in the 1948-49 fiscal year the surplus was $533,700,000. That year ended with a surplus of $595,000,000, the second largest in history.

Revenues Higher

Revenues in the first seven months of the current year were $1,442,300,000, compared with expenditures of $1,137,000,000. In the corresponding period of 1948-49, revenues were $1,530,300,000 and expenditures $996,500,000.

In October, revenues amounted to $201,700,000, compared with $215,500,000 a year ago. Expenditures were $175,600,000, compared with $151,200,000.

Mr. Abbott said the "declines in recent months in excise taxes and personal income taxes due to reductions in the rates announced in the March budget continued in October."

Report Princess To Visit Ottawa

OTTAWA, Nov. 12— Princess Margaret is coming to Ottawa.

The visit is being planned now and the best guess is that, she will make the journey toward the end of next year.

While official comment is not forthcoming from the office of the United Kingdom High Commissioner, it was learned from other reliable sources that the visit of the Princess was "just a matter of timing."

This is also confirmed in a despatch from London which states that Her Royal Highness will come to Canada on her way to Arizona. It is understood that a pressing invitation has been given her by her best friend, Sharman Douglas, daughter of Hon. Lewis Douglas, American Ambassador to London.

Mr. Douglas, who is a former principal of McGill University, is understood to have many interests in and around Douglas, Arizona and has a ranch there. It is to this southern Arizona ranch that Princess Margaret has been invited. But she will come to Ottawa first.

The great friendship of the younger Princess for Miss Douglas is widely acclaimed. Now it is further confirmed by news from London that Princess Margaret has obtained the consent of His Majesty, and also of the Queen, to realize a long expressed desire to see North America.

It is reported from London that the visit will be "primarily to Canada" but that the ultimate goal will be the Douglas ranch in Arizona.

Acheson In Heidelberg For Top Brass Parley

FRANKFURT, Nov. 12 (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson meets in Heidelberg today with top United States military leaders in Europe. What they will discuss remained a closely-guarded secret.

Achesons arrival for a four-day visit in Germany was accompanied by a flood of rumors about Germany's position in western defence plans. Outstanding was a rumor from Paris that the Elbe River dividing the western zone of occupation from the Russian zone would be considered the western "defence line," rather than the Rhine. American officials declined to confirm these reports.

Acheson is scheduled to meet tomorrow at Bonn with the heads of the West German Republic Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, and the president, Dr. Theodore Heuss. Allied observers here believe Acheson will give them a general outline of what was decided when he conferred earlier this week in Paris with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and France's foreign minister, Robert Schuman.

Christmas Holiday Likely Observed Monday, Dec. 26

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 (CP) — Some lucky Canadians may get a four-day "break" from office routine this Christmas. But as far as the Federal government is concerned it hasn't even "considered the question" yet.

A spokesman for the Secretary of State's office said today that the statutory Christmas holiday probably will be observed Monday, Dec. 26.

He said the government has "not yet considered" the question of fixing the official date for the holiday, which this year falls on a Sunday. However, he pointed out that under regulations governing statutory holidays, those falling on a Sunday are officially observed the following day.

"I presume that is what will happen this year," he said.

The spokesman also said that "no decision has been reached yet" on the question of observance of Boxing Day, traditional British holiday on the day following Chrsitmas. It was not officially observed as a holiday by the Federal government last year.

The spokesman admitted that the growing oservance of Boxing Day throughout Canada was beginning to make it a "contentious point." There was "considerable pressure" to make Boxing Day an official holiday. Once it was mainly observed only in Western Canada and in the Maritimes. It now is becoming popular in the two central provinces—Queebc and Ontario.

With Christmas being observed Dec. 26, observance of Boxing Day would fall on Tuesday, Dec. 27.

Declaration of Boxing Day as an official holiday would give Canadians a three-day-break from work—Sundy, Monday and Tuesday.

Seven Others Injured In 2 Mishaps

Car Hits Transport Near Oakwood; Pedestrian Struck

LINDSAY, Nov. 12 —(ENS)— A widow and mother of three children, Mrs. Violet Sinclair of Lindsay, one of seven occupants in a car, was killed Friday night when the vehicle rammed into a transport truck.

The accident occurred near Oakwood, 12 miles west of Lindsay.

Thomas McInnis, 70, of Oakwood was taken to Ross Memorial Hospital for injuries received when he was struck by a car while crossing the street.

This made a total of one person killed and seven injured within the space of an hour Friday night in the little Victoria County village of Oakwood.

Mrs. Sinclair was fatally injured when their car ran into the rear of a transport two miles west of the village.

Taken To Hospital

Six other occupants—five from Lindsay and one from Toronto—were taken to Lindsay Hospital with various injuries.

Being treated in Ross Memorial Hospital are: Miss G. Sabourin, suffering from shock; J. Sabourin, head lacerations; Miss L. Gillogly, undetermined injuries; Miss. S. McCausland, serious injureis undetermined; Miss B Spratt, bruises and shock; and Mrs. A. Coates, Parliament Street Toronto, facial laceration.

The car with seven occupants is reported to have crashed into a transport truck two miles west of Oakwood. Mrs. Sinclair, the fatally injured occupant, is a widow with three children.

Mr. McInnis received head cuts and chest injuries when he was knocked down by a car on the main street of Oakwood shortly after 6 p.m.

Provincial Police from Lindsay are investigating.

U.S. Officials Peeved At Reds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—Communist treatment of the United States Consul-General at Mukden has dealt a sharp new setback to Communist China's chances of obtaining American recognition any time in the foreseeable future.

Top State Department officials are privately "burned up" at the way in which local authorities at Mukden have handled the case of 56-year-old Angus Ward. They are irked, too, at the cold shouldering which the U.S. government has received in its attempts to get any information on the matter from National Communist leaders at Peiping.

Ward has been held in jail at Mukden since Oct. 24. Two American and two European members of his staff have been held with him. All are charged with having beaten a Chinese employee, early in October, as the result of an alleged wage dispute.

28 Unionists Appeal 30-Day Sentences

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Nov. 12—(AP)—Twenty-eight unionists involved in the recent four-month strike at the Bell Aircraft Corporation will appeal their conviction on charges of violating a temporary injunction limiting picketing.

Seventeen of the men were convicted Friday and all but three of them were immediately given the maximum penalty of 30 days in jail and a $250 fine. State Supreme Court Justice William H. Munson fined the other three, but did not give them jail sentences.

Teacher Will Decide

TORONTO, Nov. 12 (CP)—The secondary school teacher, rather than specific credits should determine whether or not a student is eligible for admission to university courses, Professor Charles E. Phillips, of the Ontario College of Education, said Friday night.

Retracts Statement

TOKYO, Nov. 12—(AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today retracted a statement that Japan might walk out on a peace conference if treaty terms were unfavorable. His retraction was made before a session of the House of Councillors, the same group in parliament which he told Friday: "if peace terms are disadvantageous to Japan, we can walk out, as they term it, of the conference or just decline the peace treaty."

Mayor Swanston Will Seek Second Term

Mayor M. J. Swanston was taking off to the bush country during the week-end, leaving the job of looking after the civic plant to Ald. Hurrell Dodds and his home staying associates.

"I don't know whether any contestants will appear during my absence, but in any case I have decided to be a candidate for mayor, stay in the field whatever may happen," His Worship said. "That is a grand thing about our democracy. Our elections are in the hands of the people themselves.

"However, I think our Council this year has done a fair job. The only work we had talked of and did not get done was the filling of the Park St. drain."

Project Lapsed

"The council laid down special terms on the local improvement basis for the benefit of the people living on both sides of the street, but there was no response from them. So the project lapsed.

"We got considerable street paving done, and I think the public will agree that the work on King and Sherbrooke Streets has made a great change in that down town section. I said at the council meeting the other night that we had fine co-operation from the Utilities Commission. The improvement in our street lighting is a credit to the Commission and their staff. Monaghan Road and south of Lansdowne St., and that area generally, look as bright as any place uptown."

Mayor Swanston said the office took all the time mentioned by his predecessors, Wm. J. Ovens and James Hamilton.

"I'm going to try to forget the city hall and all the rest for a week, and maybe ten days," he said. "We've got the bulk of the year's work done, any way, and I think a little vacation in the woods is in order."

Yugoslavia Denounces Treaty With Albania

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP) — Yugoslavia denounced her treaty of friendship with Communist Albania today. In a note to the Tirana government, Premier Tito's regime said Albania has been openly hostile to the Yugoslavs.

The note was broadcast by Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency.

It said Premier Enver Hoxha's Albanian government for two years had pursued a "non-peace-loving policy."

Costly U.S. Steel Strike Ends As Big Companies Sign Contract With Union

90% Basic Steel Plants Sign Agreement By Monday Murray Declares, To Get $100 Minimum Monthly Pensions

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12—(AP)—The most costly steel strike in United States history ended today after the C.I.O. United Steelworkers signed the mammoth United States Steel Corporation to a pension-insurance pact. Inland Steel Corporation agreed to a similar peace agreement on the Bethlehem pattern 3½ hours after the big steel settlement Friday night. That left only 124,000 steel strikers still idle. About 513,000 steel workers walked off their jobs last Oct. 1 in support of demands for company-paid pensions.

The end of the strike against Big Steel, largest steel producer in the world, gave 177,000 unionists the "go back to work" high sign. The agreement covers only 150,000 employees in six major operating subsidiaries but the corporation said the union agreed that all workers should return at once. Formal contracts will be signed later with other subsidiaries.

Union President Philip Murray predicted 90 per cent of basic steel—the plants which produce raw steel—"will be signed to the New Bethlehem type contract by Monday morning."

Pension Payments

The Bethlehem settlement, signed Oct. 31, provides $100 minimum monthly pension payments to workers aged 65 who have served 25 years. The workers do not have to pay into the fund but they do contribute to federal social security which is added to company pensions to make up the $100 total. Workers with fewer years of service will receive proportionately smaller pensions.

The agreement also provides for a five cent an hour social insurance program. That cost is shared equally by workers and company.

Wages are unchanged for steelworkers now earning an average of $1.65 an hour.

The Bethlehem pact broke the log jam in the long strike. Once the country's second largest steel company pointed the way, Jones and Laughlin, No. 4 producer, and Republic Steel, third biggest steelmaker, and other firms also signed up on the same formula.

Departure from Past

That represented a departure from the past when U.S. Steel customarily acted as the industry's bellwether in contract matters. It was U.S. Steel which set the pace in granting the union an 18½-cent-an-hour wage boost in 1946 to end a 26-day strike.

Throughout the country the strikers lost an estimated $270,000,000 in wages during the six-week strike. Added to that strike loss figure is the 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 tons of steel production which would have been produced if the workers had not struck. Nearly 500,000 workers in allied industries were laid off as a result of the steel strike.

Some of the laid-off workers will be slow in returning to work. In the auto manufacturing industry, where 43,000 employees are idle, several weeks will be required to build up steel stockpiles.

Cabinet Shuffle Will Follow Dept. Changes

OTTAWA, Nov. 12—(CP)—A major cabinet shuffle is expected to follow redistribution of the functions of the Department of Mines and Resources and the Department of Reconstruction and Supply.

Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons Friday the government will introduce three bills to redistribute the functions and to create a new Department of Citizenship and Immigration, thus raising cabinet membership to 22. The other two departments will be known as Mines and Technical Surveys and Resources and Development.

The announcement, made while Prime Minister St. Laurent listed new legislation the government plans to implement during the drive for prorogation Dec. 3, engendered immediate speculation as to how the present 21-man cabinet will be affected by the changes.

The size of the cabinet is at an all-time high. Even in war-time, when there were three separate departments for the army, navy, and the air force the strength of the cabinet never rose beyond 20.

Besides the departmental changes, Mr. St. Laurent announced that bills will be introduced to encourage the production of coal in the Maritimes and construction of Canadian ships.

He gave no details of the measures and did not indicate who is likely to get the new portfolio of Citizenship and Immigration.

Major Debate On Price-Fixing

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 (CP) — A major debate on Canada's legislation to combat price-fixing is promised for Monday.

Justice Minister Garson will bring down a bill designed to plug loop-holes in the Combines Investigation Act.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, who was absent when the Commons earlier this week debated the report on alleged price-fixing in the flour-milling industry, told the Commons he considers the bill will spark a full-dress debate.

All opposition groups have indicated dissatisfaction with government handling of anti-combines action.

Nudism Booming In Britain 50,000 In Membership

LONDON, Nov. 12 — (AP)— Nudism is booming in Britain. More people are walking around naked than ever before.

Not in public, of course, but in flourishing "naturist" camps scattered throughout the country.

Leaders of the open-air cult say happily they have never seen anything like it.

Britain's few hundred timid pre-war nudists have grown into a lusty movement 50,000 strong. In 1938 there were 20 nudist clubs. Now there are 60. Many non-club "naturists" enjoy life in the raw in the privacy of their own homes and gardens.

The British Sun Bathing Association — biggest nudist group— has just voted to incorporate nudity. It is forming a limited company of 200 shareholders.

Mrs. Sylvia Bassam, 34, pretty Canadian-born secretary of the BSBA, says the association is campaigning for three things:

1—The legal right to bathe in the nude on approved public beaches;

2—More young women nudists;

3—To teach sceptics that "naturism" is a healthy, wholesome way of life followed by intelligent people."

Mrs. Bassam, whose own suntan, she affirms, stretches unbroken from top to toe, says British nudists do not want mixed bathing with nudists and non-nudists taking the sun together. They want certain public beaches set aside.

Biggest pain in the neck for British nudist club directors, Mrs. Bassam says, is the unbalance of sexes. Far more males than females join, the ratio being about four to one.

"We get many, many applications from single men, but not enough from the right-type of girls."

Coalition Government Has 23-Seat Majority

WINNIPEG, Nov. 12—(CP)—Manitoba's coalition government will enter the first session of the next legislature sitting with a majority of at least 23 seats. The figure may reach 39.

Late returns Friday night from Thursday's provincial general election brought the list of elected candidates supporting the victorious coalition government to 40. It had 43 members after the 1945 elections and 36 before dissolution.

The opposition, mainly C.C.F., had nine members elected on the basis of latest available returns. Its leader, E. A. Hansford, was elected Friday night in the two-member riding of St. Boniface on the third count.

Seven seats still are doubtful. In an eighth, the northern constituency of Rupert's Land, balloting will be held Dec. 14.

Nation's Defence Obsolete Pearkes Charges

OTTAWA, Nov. 12—(CP)—The Progressive Conservatives' defence critic charged Friday that Canadian defence plans are based on an obsolete concept of gradual mobilization when war strikes. However, he offered no alternative policy.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, B.C. (PC-Nanaimo) in a Remembrance Day defence debate he called a "sad and ironical" coincidence, said there is "such uncertainty" among veterans and he expressed "grave doubts" that the regular forces can fulfill the commitments mapped out for them.

Those are defence of Canada at any time and a role as nucleus for any wartime expansion. They now are 45,000 strong, within 11 percent of the authorized total.

Defence Minister Claxton, with a 39-page white paper and a statement, pictured Canada's defence against air assault as consisting of a system of early-warning radar stations using a tri-service communications system to alert interceptor fighter squadrons and a "relatively-small" mobile army brigade group.

Don't Question Cost

None of the speakers questioned the record $383,000,000 peacetime defence budget Mr. Claxton is piloting. Gen. Pearkes said the Canadian people are quite willing to bear an immense burden as long as they think the forces are designed to prevent another war and not merely to win another after years of struggle. The retired army officer said the emphasis now should be on the air force.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, supported the budget but argued that it should be complemented by efforts to raise world living standards and to remove the misery and want which breed wars. Canada herself, he said, could do much to improve the standards of its people.

John Blackmore (SC-Lethbridge) stressed the vulnerability of Canada's concentration of industry and contended that a smart enemy, by seizing parts of Ontario and Quebec, could control the country. He urged industrial decentralization and a regional defence set-up which would allow enemy-isolated areas to fight alone.

Plans Outmoded

Gen. Pearkes said that for the last century and a half Canada has relied on a shield of British forces to allow her time to mobilize for war. In 1940 he had had to address his 1st Canadian Division in England and tell them they would fight "gallantly . . . but not skillfully" against any German invaders because "you are not well trained."

Canada was "relying upon exactly the same policy which has stood this country in its stead for 150 years but which. . . now is out of date." The emphasis was on small compact regular units and "a period of time in which the reserve force may be built up" on outbreak of war.

There was "much uncertainty, much consternation" as to whether this is a sound policy." The report of a commission on the navy "drives home the fact that our resources are too thin and have been stretched too far to do all the tasks they are being called on to do."

This applied to the other forces All of them were stretched too thin and too far "to be able to provide those mobile forces and the nucleus for expansion. . ."

PARIS REUNION — The three foreign ministers of the western democracies meet in Paris, as an extraordinary session of the foreign ministers began. From left to right are United States Secretary of State Dean Acheson, Britain's Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman. Two Historical Chairs For New Community Hall

HARWOOD, Nov. 12—(ENS)—Mr. Robertson, of Toronto, who has a summer home in Harwood, has given two chairs of historical importance to the Community Hall Committee.

One has a design on the back of an oak tree and ship, with the Latin inscription "Ipso Ducit, Opes, Animumque, Ferro." On the bottom of the chair is the message:

"This chair is made of oak taken by me from Chamber of Legislature Council of Upper and Lower Canada which met in West Chamber Main Building, Parliament Buildings, Front Street, Toronto, 1849-51; and Parliament of United Provinces in 1856-67 used as library of Ontario Legislature 1867-92. Demolished in 1903.—J. Ross Robertson, Toronto, June, 1903.

The second chair has the Canadian Coat of Arms on the back with the inscription "Non Mutat Senus Sqlum" and the notation on the bottom of the chair, underside:

"This chair owned by J. Ross Robertson made in 1901. Of wood from second brick building erected in 1807 in York (Toronto) north-east corner of King and Frederick Street; by Laurence Quetton (Quetton St. George) occupied by him until 1817. Then by J. S. Baldwin, then by Canada Company. Demolished in 1901. Parliament Houses near Don River were first brick buildings in York."

When the hall was opened in December last year, Mr. Robertson donated a piano.

Provinces Delay Housing Answer

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 (CP)—Most of the provinces have yet to indicate whether they will co-operate with the federal government on the housing program outlined to the Commons Sept. 21.

This was shown Friday night in correspondence exchanged by Reconstruction Minister Winters with the premiers of all provinces. The correspondence was tabled at the request of Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton.

In his Sept. 21 statement, Mr. Winters told how the federal government plans to reduce approximately by half the down payment required of prospective home owners. The remainder of the program envisaged a Dominion-provincial partnership on a 75-25 per cent financial basis.

Blue-Green Eyes Urgently Wanted

LONDON, Eng. (CP) — Any Canadian who can make a good glass eye—preferably in the grey and blue-green shades—would do Madame Tussaud's waxworks a kindness by making himself known.

The celebrated Baker Street gallery is running out of glass eyes for its models and can't find new ones. Before the war the eyes were obtained from German and Czech firms, sources which since have died up.

The shades of green have been used in 80 per cent of the models added in the last 18 months, including Sir Laurence Olivier, Boxer Freddie Mills, Premier Chifley of Australia and murderer John George Haigh.

Tussaud's say "blessed if we know what we'll do if more grey-blue-green-eyed persons achieve fame."

Sub Not Damaged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — (AP)—The United States submarine Tusk was so little damaged in collision with a navy supply ship that she could have remained in manoeuvres with the task force off Labrador, the Navy said Friday night. It announced that the submersible arrived at Argentia, Nfld., Friday.

Estate Divided

MINEOLA, N.Y., Nov. 12—(AP) The will of Solomon R. Guggenheim divides most of his estate between his family and his modern art foundation, which receives $8,000,000. The multi-millionaire copper tycoon died Nov. 3. Total value of his estate was not disclosed.

All Ends Well

MONTREAL, Nov. 12—(CP)—Veterans at the Queen Mary Hospital here received a "Remembrance Day present" Friday after being victims of a cruel hoax. Several days ago, a girl who used the name "Donne Atwood" offered to supply 20 tickets to an ice show for the hospital veterans. Officials later discovered that "Miss Atwood was a phoney." Greek Troops At Frontier Watch Canada

By PAUL HURMUSES

ARENA PEAK, Grammos Mountains, Greece—(CF) — It's just possible that Iron Curtain guerillas in Albania, a mile northward, are so envious of the movie theatre Greek troops have just completed here that they'll be over one of these evenings for another kind of "show."

Word of mouth travels fast in these lonely, snow-swept parts and as the rough cinema already is the talk of the Greek Army doubtless the present-inactive guerillas have heard of it, too.

The program, any evening they cared to drop in, would be an eye-opener.

It would be all about the western way of life, the Canadian way of life at that. For the only pictures so far exhibited are been Canadian—lent by the Canadian Embassy in Athens.

The 25-by-100-foot entertainment hut, quarried out of rocky soil and covered with logs, is the 117th Infantry Battalion's recreation headquarters for the long winter ahead. The unit is on the top of 6,600-foot Arena Peak, scene of the bitterest fighting in the recent successful campaign to drive the Communists out of Greece.

C.O. Bought Equipment

Maj. Georgios Tabernarakis, the unit's C.O., conceived the idea of the cinema and its 16-millimetre sound projector, and himself bought the technical equipment while the men got to work. A detail of the 700-man battalion, in freezing weather, dug the "auditorium" out of bare rock, while others set up a separate shack for the power unit. The current is provided by a small gasoline engine.

The project, however, nearly missed. They couldn't find films.

"We didn't figure on not having any film to show the men," said the mapor. "We went for a month trying all over Greece to locate sound-track productions."

The unit's initiative in trying to settle its own recreation problem had been reported. Through division, corps and army headquarters word filtered through to Athens that after all their work the men were stymied.

Regular Supply

Charge d'Affaires Theo Monty at the Canadian Embassy heard the story, knew the chancellery to be well stocked with National Film Board documentaries and immediately arranged for a supply of educational travelogue-type features to be flown in the next Dakota to the front.

At the end of October the first delivery was made. Monty thinks he can keep up a regular delivery.

The route covered by the reels is a long, hard one. From Athens the celluloid goes by Greek Air Force Dakota to Argos Orestikon, 200 miles north. There they are jeeped 25 miles to Nestorian, 15th Division headquarters. The steep, perilous two-hour trip up Arena Peak is made by divisional transport.

Many of the N.F.B.'s new fans are three or four-year veterans of the fight against Communism, and during the winter the snows lie 10 feet and more deep atop their windswept peak.

Says Maj. Tabernarakis of the set-up: "My men did a good job. They deserve it."

Seek To Control Water At Head Of Crowe Valley

HAVELOCK, Nov. 12—(ENS)—A review of the year's work and projects for the future were the main topics at a meeting of Havelock and Belmont Fish and Game Association in the Legion Hall Thursday.

Two dams have been completed this year in adjoining waters through the instigation of the Association. These showed the benefits of maintaining a water level so that cottagers have access to their property in safety and to prevent too quick a run-off in the spring, which would leave the fry and spawn too dry. The Belmont Lake dam was contracted for and the Round Lake dam was installed by the cottagers.

Main problem now is to get a similar dam built at Tongamong Lake which is the head waters for all the Crow Valley Lakes.

The drawback here is that there are very few cottagers at this spot to go ahead with the project. If the waters at the head are not controlled and allowed to flow down stream it will be to the detriment f the fish in the various waters at the head of the Crowe Valley.

Replacements Needed

The Association felt strongly that something should be done in this area in the near future as it seemed to be poor planning not to control fish after putting them in the waters. Originally dams were built in the waters in this district by lumbermen so as to release water as required to that was 40 years ago and the get their logs down stream. But dams should all be replaced.

A complete survey of the waters of Belmont Lake will be taken next year regarding the type of fish, feeding habits and the suitability of the water to the fish.

The survey was proposed by the local association, recommended by the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters and approved by the Department of Lands and Forests.

Colored moving pictures of wild life were shown by the Carlings Conservation Club.

Compensation On TB Cattle Said Very High

OTTAWA, Nov. 12 — (CP) — Robert McCubbin, Parliamentary Assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, said Thursday night in the Commons that Canada pays more in compensation for cattle turned down in tuberculosis tests than any other country in the world.

He spoke during renewed debate on legislation increasing the compensation paid for cattle destroyed because they are so infected the meat is not fit for consumption.

The bill was approved in principle and then in detail before it was given final reading at Thursday night's sitting.

Opposition members argued that the whole scale of compensation should be increased.

Mr. McCubbin said that the legislation will be made retroactive to April 1, 1947. It will provide that animals destroyed and sent to the tank in an abbattoir will be compensated to their "full value."

The government will pay $40 a head compensation for grade cattle turned down in T.B. tests. In addition, the farmer will get the value of usable beef in the carcass. Compensation for thoroughbreds will be $100. Farmers will also get the price for the usable beef.

Not Satisfied

John Charlton (PC, Brant) said the farmers were not satisfied with the legislation. H. O. White (PC, Middlesex East) said farmers had been led to believe they would get more in the way of compensation.

Gordon Graydon (PC, Peel) renewed a plea for compensation to two farmers—one in Ontario and the other in the Maritimes—who had their whole herds turned down when the Department of Agriculture used a new serum for T.B. tests.

The cattle were opened up at the abbattoirs and no sign of T.B. could be found.

L. E. Cardiff (PC, Huron North) said the compensation was not sufficient to pay for the cost of cattle destroyed. It was a costly proposition to replenish a herd.

Mr. McCubbin told G. S. White (PC, Hastings-Peterborough) that the compensation paid by the government would be subject to taxation. However, the money paid out by a farmer to replenish his herd could be deducted as an expense.

Sophie Tucker Still Top Entertainer After 34 Years In Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 12 (AP) —"May I sell you some records?"

The scene was not a local department store, but the Sunset Strip Saloon, Ciro's. The saleswoman was Sophie Tucker, who had just finished singing her sentimental and risque songs for a packed house of tourists and filmsters.

"Would you like to buy my autobiography?"

She addressed the patrons as they filed out the door. Sale of the book and records, she explained after her act, had thus far contributed $481,000 to Sophie's charities. She hustled her wares with the zeal of a sidewalk pitchman, and it was no small chore to interview her.

"Where do you go next?" I asked.

"I'm due in San Francisco, then up to Seattle and Vancouver. Then to Florida, where I'll play the winter. . .would you like me to autograph an album for you?"

She signed the album for a tourist who said she had last seen Sophie in London. After three more signings, I tried again.

"Do you think you'll ever quit singing?"

"Me quit?" She scowled. "Just see me singing up there and ask if I'll ever quit. I've been singing for 34 years and I'll keep it up until I drop. . .How about you? Buy an album. It's $6 for the funny songs $3 for little album."

"I hear you might sell you autobiography to the films."

"They're talking about it, but they want to get it cheap. I won't sell it cheap. It's too good a story."

City Germans "Destroyed" Will Have New Setting

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

EXETER, Devonshire, England Nov. 12 — (CP). — Exeter, the "Jewel of the West" that Germany once claimed to have destroyed, is to have a new setting.

The rebuilding plan launched recently by Princess Elizabeth when she laid a commemorative plaque, will not aim at reproducing the city as it was before the 1942 blitz. Exter's most treasured historical features will be preserved, but many improvements will be built around them.

The plan calls for a green belt around the city centre; widening of the bombed part of the high street; new municipal, public and semi-public buildings; an inner road for local traffic and a by-pass.

Two main objectives are restoration of the city as a premier shopping, distributive and tourist centre of Devonshire, and the introduction of light industries to bring in more trade.

"Old buildings that we consider have outlived their purpose will not be replaced," said C. J. Newman, clerk of Exeter council "but those which have real architectural beauty will be preserved irrespective of their age

In Modern

"Dwelling houses to replace those that were bombed will be built in the modern manner with modern comforts and conveniences."

The rebuilding of Exeter was planned at the invitation of Exeter council by Thomas Sharp president of the British Town Planning Institute, who also devised a plan for the rebuilding of Durham.

Some of his proposals aroused local contention, but the general plan was adopted by the council with few modifications.

Although Germany's claim to have "destroyed" Exeter was exaggerated, the damage done by explosive and fire bombs on the night of May 4, 1942, was considerable.

Of the city's 20,000 houses, 1,500 were destroyed, 2,700 seriously damaged and 16,000 more rendered temporarily uninhabitable. Many historic buildings, including a corner of the famous cathedral also suffered.

Present Awards For Life Saving

LAKEFIELD, Nov. 12 (ENS)—Albert Buchanan, chairman of the Lakefield Recreation Committee, presented the Royal Life Saving Society cards and crests at the November meeting of the Red Cross Society on Tuesday.

The awards were presented as follows: Bronze Cross: Denise Doubt; Bronze Medallion, Morley Brown, Nancy Doubt, Robert Pratt; Intermediate Life Saving, Patsy Nickels, Betty Jane Roth, D. J. Armstrong; Elementary Life Saving, James Fraser.

Dr. Hugh Gastle, Medical Health Officer for the village, gave an address on the immunization program at the public school and the Well Baby Clinic.

The school nurse, Mrs. Wallace Hendren, engaged by the Red Cross, has co-operated with Dr. Gastle and this year at school opening there was only one case of nits and no scabies, a vast improvement over former years.

The speaker emphasized the importance of immunization of children. Whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and the vaccination for smallpox had all been given to pupils in the lower grades at school.

Use River Water

Commenting on the water situation in the village, Dr. Gastle said the mothers should use the river water in preference to well water.

Mrs. W. W. Leonard, president of the Red Cross, presided.

Mrs. Russell Curry gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. F. L. Erskine, wool convener, asked all who had knitted articles out to bring them in.

Mrs. Clarence Foster, sewing convener, brought in a quilt the Presbyterian Church ladies had made and said the Beaver Club is also quilting several. To date 12 quilts had been shipped and six more were nearly ready..

Mrs. J. Browne announced the Red Cross dance to be held on Nov. 28.

The Clergy And Income Tax

We can see no merit in the suggestion now before Parliament that the clergy should be exempted from Income Tax. It is always unwise to make exceptions in the application of taxes which are supposed to be borne by the public at large. It is true that many clergymen receive very low salaries, but the Income Tax scale is so arranged that these pay either a very small tax or none at all. If large numbers of the clergy are in a condition which is felt to be beneath the dignity of their calling the obvious solution is for their congregations to raise their salaries, and not for the Dominion Government to alter in their favour a tax which is meant to apply to every Canadian who can pay it.

• • •

The clergy would be unwise to accept exemption from Income Tax if it were offered to them. As soon as they become the beneficiaries of special privileges they lose some measure of their influence with their parishioners, who receive no such benefits. And they should remember also that no Government ever does a favour without expecting something in return. If the Clergy want to keep their privilege of social criticism they must take care not to become obliged to the Government in any special way.

• • •

The position of the clergy seems clear enough: those who do not get enough to pay Income Tax are not asked to do so, and those who get more should pay the same taxes as other people.

Our Biggest Dollar Earner

There is truth in the pulp and paper industry's claim that it is the mainstay of Canada's economy. It ranks first in production value, first in exports, first in wages paid, first in total employment. The chief product of the industry is newsprint. Newsprint last year accounted for an eighth of Canada's total exports. It is the greatest dollar earner the country has, for 85 per cent. of the total newsprint produced in Canada goes to the United States. Only six per cent. is used in Canada, only nine per cent. is exported to countries other than the U.S.A.

Newsprint has long held a major place in Canadian exports and particularly to the U.S.A. In the fifteen pre-war years of 1925 to 1939 newsprint averaged 25.4 per cent. of our total commercial (i.e. gold excepted) exports to the United States. In the three post-war years 1946-1948 it has averaged 25.2 per cent. of the total. Although the percentage has not gone up, Canada's exports to the U.S.A. have increased greatly, and so has the export of newsprint. In the year 1925 1,345,000 tons were exported to the U.S.A. The average for the years 1935-39 was 2,388,000 tons. Last year, 4,128,000 tons of newsprint were shipped across the border.

The American appetite for newsprint is almost insatiable. U.S. consumption of newsprint is now about 1,750,000 tons more than consumption by all the rest of the world. The United States is now obtaining 80 per cent of its supply of newsprint from Canadian mills. This is good business for Canada—and Canadian mills have expanded their production 54 per cent. above the pre-war average—because it brings in needed American dollars. Since the devaluation it should be a very profitable business for the Canadian mills. There is, of course, much American capital in the business, and particularly in the province of Newfoundland, British capital. The two Newfoundland mills are among the largest single newsprint producers in the world. (Their production is included in all the Canadian figures given above.)

Canada cannot feed Americans their pulp without some drain on her natural resources, but the largest American newspapers who own their own forest preserves are making every effort to make them self-perpetuating. Wastage from fire and insects is reported to be greater than the depletion from pulpwood cutting for newsprint. Last month the Canadian government introduced legislation to provide for agreements with the Provinces for the protection and development of forest lands. Of late years the Ontario and Quebec governments have been active, through legislation and their forestry branches, in preventing depletion, and fostering perpetual yield.

Apart from the huge increase in production the most significant post-war developments in the industry have been the increase in exports to the United States, and the decrease to other countries, particularly to Britain. In the five years 1935-39, the United States took 72 per cent. of the exported newsprint, other countries 22 per cent. Now the Americans get 85 per cent., other countries (now chiefly Latin American) less than nine per cent. Britain has been virtually squeezed out, because she has not the dollars, and because of the increasing American demand. She has turned almost exclusively to Scandinavia. This may be harmful to the industry as a whole, and, in such an important export, unbalancing economically and politically. It is a political and social factor that the United States gets 60 per cent. of the world's newsprint, has increased her consumption of it enormously, and that countries like Britain have had to reduce their demands, and are short of paper for newspapers and books.

Grandfather Of The Detective Thriller

Although we made appropriate reference to the Chopin centenary last month we neglected another, the centenary of the death of Edgar Allen Poe, who died on October 7, 1849 in the city of Baltimore. After a century, it is still difficult to make any finally satisfactory appraisal of Poe's work. He was a critic of a very high order; that much we know, but criticism is of limited interest and also of limited value. As a poet he ranged from very bad to very good; little work by a man of genius is as bad as Poe at his worst, and in a handful of his best things—the Ode To Helen, in particular—he touches greatness. In his romantic tales of mystery and imagination there is much that is false and much that is laughable, but the strongest impression is one of great imaginative power. Few of the romantics in the art of the short story could hit off their effects as brilliantly as he.

Of Poe the man we know much that is to his credit. Although his reputation was blackened by his first biographer we now know, for instance that he was neither a drunkard nor a drug addict, though he drank and took drugs. We know enough about the misery and frustration of his life to understand something of the deep sense of wrong which burdened him from childhood. And we know that he was that very rare creature, a genuine artist who would make no compromise with his ideals, and suffer no diminution of his integrity.

There is one aspect of Poe's genius which is too often forgotten. He was the originator of the detective story as we know it today. It was Dupin and Legrand the detectives of his invention who evolved the method of deductive reasoning which was later used by Sherlock Holmes, and which is used by unnumbered fictional detectives today. There is no one who picks up a thriller to pass an idle hour who does not owe some debt of gratitude to Edgar Allen Poe.

Timely Reminder To Uncle Sam

It does no harm once in a while to remind the United States that Canada is its best customer, and moreover, pays cash. Mr. Abbott, Minister of Finance, told a Boston audience exactly a year ago that: "In 1947 you sold Canada two billion dollars of exports, almost 80 percent. of our total imports. This is more than you sell to the whole of South America and considerably more than to all Asia; more than your exports to the United Kingdom, France, Soviet Russia and China combined".

On Wednesday Mr. Pearson, Minister of External Affairs, told a New York audience that Canada cannot go on indefinitely buying two billion dollars worth of goods from the United States and selling only one billion dollars worth to it in return.

The plain truth is that the United States has to buy more from Canada or Canada will be forced to buy much less from the United States. If further import restrictions are made, and others renewed by the Canadian Government, the reason will be that Canada cannot afford to buy American goods and services at the rate she has been doing, and also, that the United States is not buying enough Canadian goods and services.

It would be uncomfortable for Canadians if import restrictions against the U.S. had to be increased; for instance, Canadian travellers in the U.S.A. would not be able to bring back with them the $21,000,000 worth of goods which they did this last year. But such restrictions would also bother American business and industry since Canada, be it said again, is their biggest customer.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil: I am laid low with 'flu—a nuisance just when I am so busy and when I am anxious to get my lawsuit against Dandiprat into full swing. But here I lie with a heavy head, and pains in my back and legs which remind me of Old Dan Tucker who—"Died of the toothache in his heel".

Furthermore, every five minutes I hawk up something which tastes like mouldy walnuts.

As always when I am confined to bed, I read furiously, and as everything seems dull to a man with 'flu it does not matter much what I read. So I am re-reading the novels of T. L. Peacock, and have just finished "Melincourt". What queer stuff it is!—a sort of primeval socialist novel. It is queer how completely modern socialists have forgotten what they owe to 19th century men of letters. Their gods are now all illiterate economists. I don't suppose one of the C.C.F. members at Ottawa ever reads a line of Shelley." But he is their boy, all the same, surprised though they (and he) would be to know it.

But these are melancholy fancies for a sick man. Why do you never write to me? I know: it is because you are a bachelor, and bachelors, having no responsibilities, never have time for anyone but themselves.

Yours,
SAM.

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esq.
Dear Mr. Hydra:

I am in bed with 'flu just now and my pyjamas are a dreadful nuisance; they creep up. A lady visited me yesterday, and when I mentioned this to her she said that she had the same trouble with her nightdresses.

Then—in a flash!—inspiration came to me and I forthwith invented Marchbanks' Nightwear Stirrup. This consists of two metal stirrups, to which stout elastic cords, with clamps, are attached. The wearer puts his feet in the stirrups, clamps the cords to the bottoms of his pyjamas (or the hem of her nightdress) and the device keeps the garment in place all night long.

How does this appeal to you? As Preliminary Examiner for the Board of Parents and Copyrights, do you—as the current phrase is—go for it?

Yours in breathless anticipation,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Muckbanks, Esq.
Dear Mr. Mackbonks:

I was alarmed and displeased to receive a note saying that you are in bed with Flo, and as a servant of this Dominion I have no desire to enter into a correspondence with you so long as you occupy any irregular situation.

The device which you describe—a Nightwear Stirrup—does not interest me, for in common with many Civil Servants of the better sort, I have employed a sleeping-bag for many years.

Yours very conditionally,
HAUBERGEON HYDRA.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Honoured Sir:

The tone of your last letter was very strong—very strong indeed. As your legal advisors, we must caution you against such layman's phrases as "take the shirt off his back" and "make him eat crow", when referring to a possible legal action. We lawyers do not like such expressions: they savour of violence.

In our opinion, your case against Richard Dandiprat is uncommonly weak. You have only circumstantial evidence that he introduced a skunk into your car. Your suggestion that we should in some way bridge the gap between guesswork and certainly alarms us by its sinister implication.

Lawyers do not like to go to court. Anything may happen in court. The magistrate may be a skunk-lover, or a card-companion of Dandiprat's, or anything. Besides, courts are invariably draughty, and our court partner, Mr. Cicero Forcemeat, is trying to postpone catching his winter cold for as long as possible. We suggest that you empower us to seek a settlement with Dandiprat out of court. This is the proper legal way of doing business.

Yours for caution,
MORDECAI MOUSEMAN.
(For Mouseman, Mouseman and Forcemeat).

To Mrs. Morrigan
My very dear Mrs. Morrigan:

As I am in bed and must remain here for some time longer, I have had to cancel all my engagements and appointments. This was easy—a pleasure, in fact. But I have also had to stay away from a few entertainments which I had promised myself, and to my astonishment this was easy, too. There is a pleasure in NOT doing things which is equal, though different, to the pleasure of doing them. You know this, of course, but it was a new sensation to me.

Looking through a magazine today I came upon an advertisement for two costumes for children—a Superman outfit for a boy, and a Fine Lady rigout for a girl. The ad. suggested that these gifts would introduce children to the pleasure of dressing up.

Did you ever hear of such nonsense? But I suppose the modern craze for small houses explains it: nobody has attics full of clothes-crammed trunks any more, and children have nothing to dress up in.

But what a pleasure dressing up used to be in my childhood! There was always enough stuff around to dress a regiment. Poor modern children, who have to have their pirate and cannibal costumes specially bought for them!

Your respectfully rheumy,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Mouseman, Mouseman and Forcemeat
Dear Sirs:

Your mealy-mouthed letter disgusts me! Settle out of court, indeed! What are you lawyers for, if not to go to court? Eh? Answer me, Mouseman! Don't sit cringing there, in your stuffy office! Get on the job, man!

What do I care for Cicero Forcemeat's cold? If he catches cold in court I will personally send him a mustard plaster.

Now, keep your temper, Mouseman, while I explain: you say that evidence is lacking that Dandiprat put the skunk in the car. Now I know that he did it; I can tell by the ugly leer he gives me whenever I see him, and by the way he pretends to sniff the air when he passes my house. If you want evidence, why don't you send that sensible secretary of yours, Miss Prudence Bunn, to Dandiprat's house, disguised as a government inspector, or a Hydro snoop, or something. Then when nobody is looking, she can nip upstairs, pinch one of Dandiprat's handkerchiefs—an initialled one— and then we can say we found it at the scene of the crime.

What you lawyers need is enterprise. I shouldn't have to do all your thinking for you.

Yours for brighter law
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

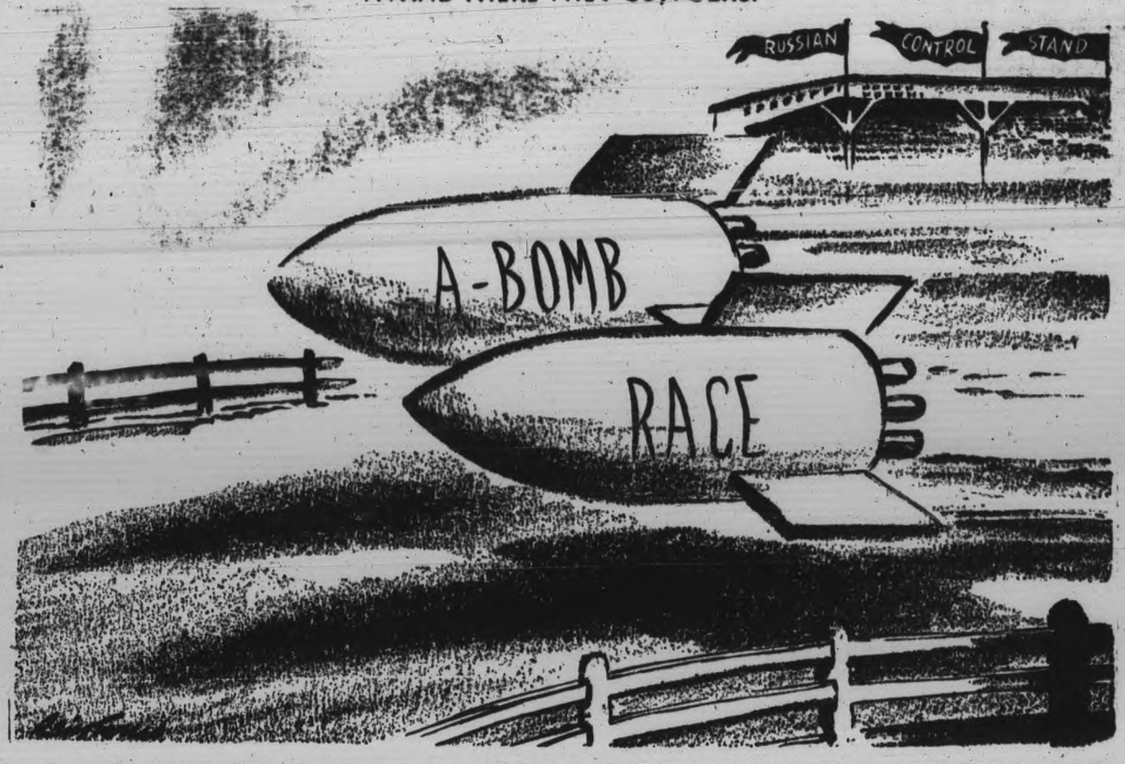
"... AND THERE THEY GO, FOLKS!"



Letters To The Editor

WHO WOULD BE A LANDLORD?

Sir: There is so much hullabaloo being shouted just now over a Government order permitting increases in rentals that I should like to present some facts of the case for the landlords who rent rooms.

In the first place, the ordinary tenant of a room does not pay direct taxes. Of course, he pays the indirect variety, but so does the landlord. In addition, the latter pays for maintenance of streets, bridges, sewers, sidwalks and pavements; for Police and Fire protection, for the administration of justice and for the Public Library (after allowance for all Provincial subsidies). He pays for garbage collection and disposal. He pays a special rate for the Civic Hospital and for Unemployment Relief. In the section in his tax bill devoted to debentures he pays for General, local improvement, garbage incinerator and Civic Hospital debentures. He also pays school rates, on which he has a slight edge if he worships an evangelical God. Quite a sizeable list, isn't it and, according to the expert figuring of Mr. Humpage, he will continue to pay a higher rate as the years roll by if, he is still able to hold on to his property.

Now, I have had tenants of various types in my rooms and I have discovered that, in the majority of cases, they are all animated by a praiseworthy desire to keep one foot ahead of the landlord. When they interview me first, they wear self-adjusted haloes. But I have rarely noted a halo going out with the van that takes them away finally.

I don't think I have ever had a tenant, who didn't smuggle in an extra electrical appliance (anything from a percolator to a washing- machine) that is, when I am paying the electric account. They must get the latest news on the radio, even at midnight or in the earliest morning hours. They smuggle in liquor and beer and invite friends get sick in the bathroom. I have had them so drunk and so noisy that they have introduced words into the astonished precincts of my home that would delight collectors of items for a Rabelaisian dictionary. They have brought in furniture with the help of delightfully high spirited gents who kick the treads off the stairs, gouge sections of paper off the walls and scratch paint off the floors. They have imported infants who wailed loudly in the night and tramped busily through the halls during daytime hours. (And if there is one touchy spot in a tenant, it is his child. They have one unanswerable argument to any complaint, "you were a child once yourself, weren't you?" That is supposed to put you in your place.) I have had tenants who allowed cooking grease to spray the wall paper, (anything from $25 to $50 is required to repair this damage). They accidentally pull shades off rollers, break locks and slam down the cover of the W. C. hard enough to crack it.

But it's when they get sore at you that they really go to town, I had a gay pair who told me I couldn't put them out under six months anyway (which was quite true), and who occupied the interim period by several noteworthy devices. They would arrive home in the wee small hours and practise on the saxophone, loud and strong. I would answer a call from my home at three in the morning to hear: "How do you like being wakened up, you old . . (unprintable words)." They would rise early to turn on the bathroom taps and allow the day's supply of hot water to run down the drain and they left without mentioning sundry long-distance phone calls which I had to pay, Of course, there are good tenants who are a pleasure to have in the house. But they are in the minority. Most of them are well aware that the landlord of rooms for rent is hog-tied and shackled by regulations. He couldn't heretofore raise the rent no matter what damage they do his premises without lengthy investigation, he was not supposed to even hint that he would like them to go far away where he would never see them again, and, if he had the temerity to give them notice, he had to prove in the Court that they were objectionable (pardon me, "incompatible" is the word now used to spare the tenant's sensitive epidermis), or else affirm under oath that he required the premises for himself or a near relative. Believe me, a landlord's lot "is not a happy one." Any alleviation is long overdue.

A WEARY LANDLORD.

MORE SINGING FOR PETERBOROUGH

Sir: Mr. Melchior, when giving one encore, asked the audience to join him in the chorus. I was sitting in an aisle seat, about half way up on the left side, in the "L" section. Two young women, who were sitting almost opposite, sang with such ease and evident joy that I was as much delighted to hear them as to hear Melchior. Their voices were excellent and showed the result of training—good training. Unfortunately for me I do not know them but if this should catch their eye, my best thanks to them.

I have been thinking ever since, Mr. Editor, that there must be good teachers of singing in Peterborough. Now here is a suggestion which could be put into action without too much trouble.

It is axiomatic that all theatre managers are intelligent men ready to co-operate in anything adding to the pleasure of their patrons. Let them give the balcony to the children on a Saturday afternoon for a nominal fee, and have one of these good singing teachers conduct from the stage the singing of English, Irish, Scottish, Welsh, French and Italian songs by the boys and girls.

Have short films, suitable for children, and have the singing before and after each film.

The lower floor would be packed with adults with, I'm sure, the "S.R.O." sign up.

That is briefly the suggestion. It can be elaborated in many ways. We will soon have rainy and snowy Saturdays and I think the people of Peterborough and many from Lakefield would enjoy such an afternoon.

I thank you, Mr. Editor, for your precious space.

C. J. D.

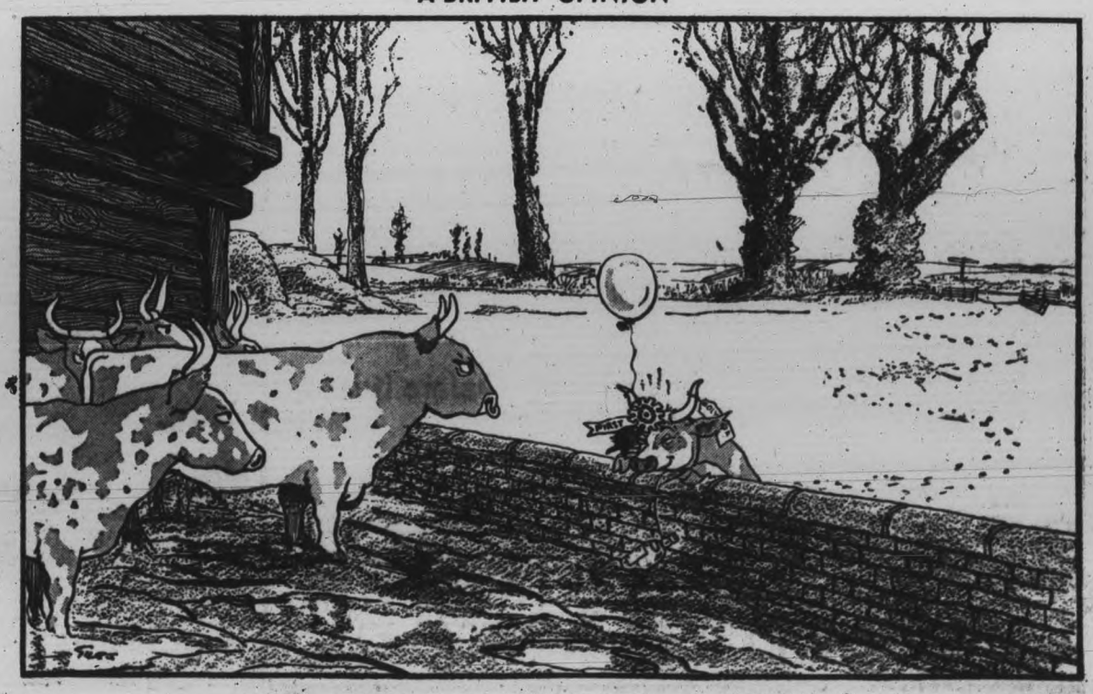
A BRITISH OPINION



"Cherry—this is Sunday The Dairy Show finished Friday."

Deer hunters are marshalling this week-end for the great trek to the bush. Shooting opens on Tuesday, Nov. 14th, continuing to the 23rd, both dates inclusive. There are a lot of preparations to make for sport of this kind. Trips to neighbourhood hardware stores for licenses and ammunition, rummaging in attics for huntings togs and in cupboards where rifles are kept. Phone calls with friends about sleeping bags, mattresses and dogs go on endlessly until Mrs. Peter Borough is almost frantic. In fact, it is a relief to see the family car, with loaded trailer, pulling away from home. But there is also the note of anxiety. "There are so many shooting accidents," she thinks. And she would have been more perturbed than ever to see the purchases they took from the Liquor Store, their last stop before pushing off.

• • • •

Deer Know The Boundaries

Many people ask exactly where the boundaries of the Eel's Brook Game Preserve are. Here are the limits described by Game Warden Stan Windsor. The WEST boundary follows the east bank of Eel's Brook from about Haultain, north to the boundary line between Chandos and Methuen Townships. The NORTH limit extends along this boundary to a cut line between the 5th and 7th Concessions of Methuen and the EAST side follows this line south to a point between Belmont and Methuen Townships. The SOUTH boundary extends from the above point, around the head of Stony Lake and along the Burleigh shore to the mouth of the Brook to follow it in a northwesterly direction back to Haultain. Deer hunters will be found in various camps outside the perimeter of the Preserve, and deer, which seem to sense the season, will probably be found within its protecting boundaries.

• • • •

Arrival at camp shows many chores to be done. There is firewood to cut, stovepipes to clean and re-assemble and holes to patch where porcupines have eaten through greasy spots in the floor. No matter if the food is badly cooked or burned, the men enjoy themselves. There is no need to shave or wash too often in the ice-covered basin; stubble and grime make for the re-man touch. They who would a-hunting go will be all set on opening morning on the firing line, which in this district is not many hundred yards from the west boundary of the Game Preserve. They hope to find room on the crowded watch ridges and if they remember not to talk, not to smoke, not to light bonfires to keep warm, they may bag the occasional deer. They will also keep their fingers crossed and hope the other fellow isn't trigger-happy.

• • • •

Abundant Game and Fun

Men who make it their business to keep their eye on the deer population the year 'round say that it is dense this year and give three good reasons for a good current hunt: (1) Due to a wet Fall in '48 there was poor shooting. (2) Last winter was moderate with little snowfall which enabled animals to graze well and move around freely. (3) For the past few weeks, the weather has been sufficiently dry to enable dogs to scent deer well. A farmer in South Monaghan says they are fairly numerous down in that section of Northumberland Township. Monaghan being south of Highway 7, there is no open season in it.

• • • •

The Department's Game Wardens will carry on their usual week-end highway game check this season, possibly around Haultain, to record hunt count, diseases and various statistics. Ontario Provincial Police will continue with their roving highway patrol checks.

• • • •

Points and Legal Points

Deer hunters will either agree or disagree on question of being able to tell the age of a buck by the number of antler points. The general opinion seems to be that it is not a reliable guide, for, a fully-developed set of antlers indicate good health and maturity. Old deer often carry fewer points than young growing bucks....It's agin the law for any person to shoot a dog that flushes a deer while fox or rabbit hunting. Only a Game Warden, if he sees the incident, has this authority.

• • • •

If Junior and his .22 rifle-buddies bring home a daily bag of five black, gray or fox squirrels, either yesterday or today, they are within the law this year, a two-day shoot. Please do not inquire how many squirrels it takes to make a pie, nor how to prepare them. Don't know, but have heard they make an epicurean dish.

• • • •

Edward, Second Duke of York, said this of "The Master of Game" in 1413: " . . . and then he (the hunter) shall go and drink and lie in his bed in fair fresh clothes and shall sleep well and steadfastly all the night without evil thoughts of any sins, wherefore I say that hunters go to Paradise when they die, and live in this world more joyfully than any other men."

Prince Charles of Edinburgh, One Year Old

By BETTY SPENCER SHAW

Prince Charles of Edinburgh is one year old Monday. Every mother and father will know the wonder of it, the wonder of their baby's first birthday, the anniversary that is like no other, and a multitude of people in the United Kingdom and in the countries of the commonwealth are proud today to think they have a right to some share in the happiness which Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh enjoy in this fine, bonny baby.

For, since it may well be his destiny one day to fill the highest place, this child in one sense belongs to all the people of the Commonwealth. But that is a thought altogether too solemn to fit the baby Prince as, from the safety of his mother's arms, he looks out wide-eyed upon the great world that lies beyond the covers of his perambulator.

He is too little yet for the history books, which are waiting for him with their blank leaves open, but meanwhile the possible future King Charles III is too much engaged with his cuddly white rabbit with the floppy ears, and has eyes only for the things that are bright and shining, such as his mother's pearls, to which the baby fingers cling with all the tenacity of twelve months old.

Mr. Cecil Beaton, one of Britain's well-known photographers, who took the first photographs of Prince Charles, at once remarked upon the baby's "wide range of expression," which, although it makes him an ideal camera subject, only adds to that elusiveness, which, in very young children, is apt to defeat the well-meaning attempts of relations to trace family resemblances. One day he seems, physically, very much his father's son; the next, he is his mother all over again, with something of Queen Elizabeth's sweetness of expression, and, particularly as to the eyes, and set of the mouth, something also, of his great-grandmother, Queen Mary. It seems that even yet the most that can be said with any certainty is that the baby has his father's fair hair and that his eyes are the precise shade of blue most characteristic of members of the Royal Family. His features are delicate and moulded with unusual distinctness for so young a child.

The baby is bubbling over with health and good spirits. Already a much-travelled infant, he has made regular week-end trips up and down to Windsor Castle, has visited his grandparents at Sandringham, and last summer went all the way to Scotland for his first glimpse of Balmoral and of Birkhall, the house on the Balmoral estate which holds many happy childhood memories for his mother, and where she and the Duke spent part of their honeymoon.

Prince Charles Philip Arthur George—four names to his father's one—is a happy-natured baby who takes lively notice of what goes on around him. He is not yet to know that the crowds to whom he waves so gaily through the windows of the royal car whenever he drives abroad are even more interested in him. For this is one of the world's most famous babies, whose photographs are already familiar to millions in every English-speaking country, where there is a wide public curious for the least scrap of news about him. This is not without its dangers.

Naturally, Princess Elizabeth and the Duke appreciate that in one sense their child is not theirs alone. They are none the less resolved that their son shall be allowed to grow up unspoiled by an excess of public attention which, especially in the impressionable years of early childhood, might do him grave harm. He is the child of a gracious home, and it is the dearest wish of his parents that, so far as may be compatible with the reasonable satisfaction of the nation's natural interest in the boy, nothing shall interfere with the benevolent influence of such a happy environment. In this they do no more than follow the wise example of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth who foresaw the need to protect their two daughters from too much public notice while they were growing up, and so ensured for them a simple, natural development from childhood into adolescence.

Who could wish for anything better for Prince Charles than that he should be brought up in the same simple way?

What's This? No Pyjamas!

By HELENE PARTICLE

The modern generation of man has developed into a race of "nature boys", clothing salesmen have been discovering in recent years and Peterborough men are no exception.

A tour of men's clothing stores in the city today disclosed such a sharp decline in sales of pyjamas it became unavoidably apparent that a great many men have no use for them.

For a long time salesmen were trying to figure just what men were using for night attire—certainly not the old fashioned night shirt which is not even sold by the majority of stores any more.

There has undoubtedly been a great change in custom, one Peterborough salesman said as he gazed over his well-stocked shelf of pyjamas.

"If we had to rely on these for our sales we would have closed up shop long ago," he said. But he wasn't worried. "We don't push them, we just concentrate on other lines," he said.

Some elderly men wear night shirts, mostly home-made ones because they are so difficult to buy. Today's tour revealed only one store up town which stocks them.

And what do the others do? "Probably the same as I", said one salesman. "I've not had a pair in my life—or not since my mother stopped buying them for me." And that seems to sum it up fairly concisely.

Wartime service in the Army may have had something to do with the "new style." There was no pyjama issue for soldiers and it's no easy matter to break a habit after five years.

Another likely explanation is that a man can incur considerable expense if he indulges in the luxury. Current prices range from $4 up to $15 and $16. Apart from saving on the initial outlay, he avoids an annual laundry bill of around $13. If he wants to change them more frequently than once a week, his bill will be higher.

It appears that those who do wear pyjamas do so more at the instigation of their wives or even mothers, sisters, cousins and aunts.

Of all the pyjamas worn in Peterborough, the majority were bought as Christmas presents. There are no official statistics to support this claim but one salesman's experience seemed to give a fairly accurate picture of the situation.

We sell more pyjamas in December than in the other 11 months put together, he said.

There was one salesman in the city who has a different story to tell. He is selling pyjamas as well now as he was years ago. He had no reason to believe that his customers retired at night any differently clad than they did ten years ago.

Quaint Details of Pioneer Percy, Asphodel In Letters Mailed Before Stamps In Use

By T. J. WILSON, Examiner Campbellford Correspondent

The name Humphries has been associated with Percy (now Warkworth) and Asphodel township, Peterborough county, for over a century and a quarter. Brothers Robert and Job Humphries came to the district of Newcastle, Upper Canada, from England in about the year 1815. Robert took up land near Percy while Job settled in Asphodel.

A descendant, now living in Campbellford, has in his possession several letters written by members of the Humphries family as far back as 1815. The paper has become discolored and brittle but the writing is quite legible.

There was no postage stamps nor envelopes in those days and the cost of mailing a letter from England to America was 2 shillings 6½ pence.

A letter written March 3, 1827, by Joseph Humphries, 106 Fore St., London, England, to his brothers, Robert and Job of Cobourg, district of Newcastle said in part:

"It is now 16 years since you left for America but it is not 16 years since I have thought of you. I have at this time a letter before me supposed by your parents to have been written from Bloomfield, Mass., July 24, 1815, but I don't think it came from either of you.

"My object in writing you," the letter continued, "is to know if either of you ever paid or caused to be paid to Shoobert the sum of money father went security for. I must expect an answer to this question without delay."

Writing from Bloomfield, Mass., May 31, 1815, to his parents in England, Robert of Percy, gave an account of conditions in America. He must have settled in Bloomfield before coming to Upper Canada.

Under the salutation, "Honor thy Father and thy Mother," the letter said:

"I now have before me your favor which I received some time ago. I am glad to hear of your health but we are sorry to find you suffering on our account.

"Wages are very high and unless one can manage with his own family on the farm he cannot make money. Brother Job is paying 80 cents a day for help. However choice farms can be purchased from $2 to $10 an acre."

The letter continued: "We are glad that the war is at an end. England and America should not be enemies.

"Wheat sells at $1.83 abushel; rye, $1.25; and corn, 75 cents. The harvest will be good this year.

"Cows are worth $15 each; horses $60 each; sheep $9 each; veal and lamb sell at 4 cents a pound. Lumber is very low, only $6 per 1,000 feet.

"There are good openings for young industries," the letter said, "all through the country. For five months of the year there is nothing to see but trees and snow."

The following are excerpts from a letter by Henry Humphries of Bloomfield to his uncle, Job Humphries, Asphodel. It was written June 23, 1828.

"Money is very scarce. I have sold my horses but I have not received all my pay that was due me. I took mortgages on chattels and farms. I expect to come to Canada in another month. Do you think it would pay if I brought a stallion to Asphodel with me?

"In Quebec the large fleet of shipping is in but I expect it will leave soon. The markets," the letter said, "will drop as soon as the fleet leaves.

"Are they lumbering as much in Canada as they did? Let me now what a good yoke of oxen is worth in the month of April.

"I traded horses," he continued, "with Mr. C. Clanans and got $18 to boot, then I exchanged the same day with E. Weston and got $25 to boot and as good a horse as I gave Clanans. The horse was worth 40 dollars.

"Miss Owens expects Israel back this summer without fail. I am sorry you did not let me know about the contract between Miss Owens and Israel before I left. I got it hot and heavy. They say it was I who broke up the match. I heard that Israel bought the ring in Quebec.

"People here made out very poorly last winter. It was cold with deep snow and game was scarce. F. T. Coldwell fell in debt and is having quite a struggle. Tell Israel not to be angry with me."

A letter written by Joel Humphries, England, to his brother Robert tells of Joel's desire to come to Upper Canada. The communication was dated 1830.

"The badness of the times renders my disposition to leave for Canada as soon as a convenient opportunity serves.

"I wish you to state to me what you think I could do with about 400 pounds provided I were to come and if you believe I could do well for my wife and family.

English Ballet On Tour

A shipment of fifty tons of scenery and costumes has crossed the Atlantic for the present Canadian and American tour by Sadler's Wells Ballet Company.

The tour is introducing ballet stars such as Moira Shearer, Margot Fonteyn and Robert Helpmann to North America audiences. It is certainly the largest tran-Atlantic move in the history of ballet—larger even than Diaghileff's first visit to the U.S.A. in 1914.

The costumes and props total 7,000 pieces. Light as they are, ballet shoes for the company weigh more than 2 cwt.

The company opened at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, on Sunday, October 9th.

Long rehearsals on arrival were not at all necessary. During August, the company gave a complete season at the Royal Opera House in London of the ballet they have now taken to North America. The played to "capacity houses" in what is regarded in London as theatrically a "dead" month.

The repertory for the tour consists almost entirely of new ballet. There are two full-length classical works, "The Sleeping Beauty" and "Le Lac des Cygnes," will be danced in Canada. In addition, nine other works are to be presented.

Outside the United Kingdom and the Soviet Union, ballet on this scale exists nowhere in the world.

Margot Fonteyn, Moira Shearer, Pamela May, Beryl Grey, Violetta Elvin, Frederick Ashton, Robert Helpmann, Michael Somes, Harold Turner, Alexis Rassine, John Hart, some dozen or so principal dancers, and a corps de ballet of nearly 50 artists are included on this great tour—in all about 75 people. Constant Lambert, an outstanding conductor-composer of ballet is conducting many of the performances, assisted by Robert Irving, the company principal conductor.

The company is appearing in principal American cities and in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.

PCVS Seniors Lose Contest But Win COSSA Semi-Final

Lady luck rode with the PCVS seniors Friday at Nicholls Oval even though they did lose a hard-fought battle to the Belleville Collegiate seniors, 11-8. A larger faster team with good punting, plunging well and having fair passing, the Collegians from the Bay of Quinte were edged out in the two-game series, points-to-count 26-22 as the Peterborough squad had taken the first game last week at the Oval 18-11.

Belleville pressed hard with plunges, punting and a persistent passing attack in the final quarter, but holding and roughing penalties plus several costly fumbles kept them from mounting up the score. They were full of fight but the Peterborough line came through in the really tough spots to hold.

The punting of the Belleville halves featured in the first quarter as both teams battled to no score. In the second, two rouges gave Peterborough a 2-0 lead at the half but the Belleville team, full of drive, tore back to take the lead in the third 3-2. At the start of the fourth, the PCI'ers picked up a major and a convert to win 11-8.

Lined Stood Out

Stars of the Peterborough team were the linemen who took a beating from the heavier Belleville boys. Although weak in the first, the linemen got back into the game to squeeze through into the Belleville backfield in the second half to stop plays or to hurry them to the point of inaccuracy. Burns and Jenson went steady. Galbraith and Doucett did all the punting for the BCI'ers with some 55-yard kicks pushing PCVS back. Doucett and Locke did the pitching for the Belleville squad. Walmsley and Moore were the pick of the plunging staff.

Picture play of the game occurred when Killingbeck broke through the Belleville line late in the third quarter to block a kick of Doucett's. The ball bounced high into the air and dropped at centreline. Jenson tore after the ball dropping on it at the BCI 42. Later in the game Belleville fumbled on their 15-yard line with the ball bouncing back to the line. Doucett picked it up from a maze of players and heaved to Faulkner at the 37-yard line. Killingbeck and Massey were ejected from the game in the third quarter for fighting. Players pushed and shoved each other for a minute or two, officials breaking it up.

Galbraith's long punts pushed the Petes back in the first quarter whenever they threatened and it was not until midway through the second that Armstrong booted to Walmsley behind the line for a rouge. Several minutes later Armstrong again punted this time to Allen who was rouged for the Peterborough Collegians' second point. The first half ended with the locals out in front 2-0.

Quinte Major

On the PCVS 31 Sergeant tried to pass on the third. The ball was knocked down before crossing the line of scrimmage for a fumble. It was recovered by the Belleville squad at the 18. Three plays later Belleville had their five points. The convert was bad. The quarter ended with the Belleville squad up 5-2.

Early in the fourth Galbraith's partly blocked kick was taken by Brown at the BCI 20. No yards were given. Brown on the play and Belleville were penalized 10 yards. Armstrong carried to the one-yard line where Sergeant went across on a quarter sneak. Armstrong's convert was good. Deep in Peterborough territory Armstrong booted to Doucett at the PCVS 36. On the next play Doucett flipped to Faulkner for the second Belleville major score. The convert was good.

Taking this series the Peterborough seniors will now move into the C.O.S.S.A. finals next Saturday afternoon in Nicholls Oval to try for their fourth straight C.O. S. S. A. championship. Belleville Collegiate were the champs of the Bay of Quinte District of the C.O.S.S.A. Peterborough will now meet either Orillia, winners of the Georgian Bay District, or the St. Catharines squad, winners of the Niagara District, for the C.O.S.S.A. honors. Orillia and St. Catharines play today at the McMaster University for the right to play Peterborough.

Belleville Drops Petes 12-7 In First Game

Belleville Diesels defeated the Peterborough Petes 12-7 in a wide-open affair at Belleville last night. It was the first game of an exhibition home-and-home series, the return fixture to be played here next Wednesday.

Diesels rattled in two fast goals before the Petes could get organized. They had a distinct margin in the first period, scoring three times to the locals one.

Shortly after the start of the second chapter the teams were playing four men aside, with four players in the penalty box. Goalie Leforte was injured about halfway through the period. He tore the ligaments in both legs doing the splits to save a hard shot from Junior West. Plumley replaced him and turned in a smart effort.

The locals were best in the last chukker holding Diesels to a tie, but on the play should have had more goals.

Freddy Garvey counted two goals for the locals, Murray Fife two, Bill McMaster, Junior West and Ted Collins got one apiece. West had two assists. For the Diesels Don Barrett, Keith MacDonald, Brian Mulvihill and Doug Bastedo each tallied two goals.

Nurses-Neills Take Wins

Nurses Juniors defeated Black's 20-17 in a Girls' Basketball League fixture last night in the YWCA, while Neill's won 20-11 over CGE in an exhibition. The Electrics took their tilt by default against the Normals. The first was a fine fray and there was lots of keen action, also, in the nightcap.

The junior Nurses showed a lot of promise in the opener, and play was fast between two good, well-matched outfits. Nurses outshot the Black team and had a 12-9 margin at the half. The second stanza was real fast and quite even with some fine passing seen on both sides, and not too many fouls. B. Sutton, P. Martyn and B. Gamble stood out for the winners, with C. Ferguson, D. McNeely and R. Beard probably the pick of the other side. Teams:

Nurses Juniors—R. Green, B. Gamble, V. Latondresse 4, M. Duggan, K. McElroy, B. Sutton 11, J. Brown 2, B. Wiley, S. Brooks, P. Martyn 2, P. Broadway 1, S. Langdon.

Black's—M. Laing 2, A. Hickling, M. Beggs, C. Ferguson 3, J. Caverly 2, R. Naylor, R. Beard 2, M. McKee, R. McInroy, G. Kirn, D. McNeely 6, V. Rose 2.

Second Game

Plenty of speed and combination was dished up in the exhibition tussle, Neill's breaking early to run up a hefty 17-6 lead at the intermission. CGE fought back to outscore their opponents 5-3 the last half. Few penalties were called in this contest. Jean Vass turned in a sparkling effort, with Joan Dunk passing well, and Dot Callan steady at hitting the hoop for Neill's. Irene and Betty Stewart looked good for CGE as Marg Kennedy and Mary Batley helped a lot. Teams:

Neill's—P. Stewart 3, J. Vass 6, J. Dunk 2, B. Larmer, J. Castle 3, M. Mckee, D. Callan 6.

CGE—J. Rose, B. Stewart 4, M. Perrin, B. Leather 2, M. Kennedy 2, T. Stewart, C. O'Brien, D. Schell, M. Gatley 3, I. Stewart.

Latvian Wants To Buy Breeding Horses

TORONTO, Nov. 12—(CP)—A Latvian who says he lost a $75,000 stud and a 750-acre farm to the Germans and Russians, wants to start anew in Canada. He is Atis Bauders, 44, and trotting and trotters are his joy.

He says he lost 32 horses during the war to the Germans and Russians while serving in a German slave-labour camp. After the war he got permission to enter Canada as a refugee. He reached Canada in June this year and he's now all set to start horse-breeding, training and driving trotters again—from the stable floor up.

The body beautiful for men is on display regularly when the pro matmen show. They're really terrific specimens at that. Look at Hi Lee, 290 pounds, six-six, and quite powerful. Then, there's Yukon Eric, young, handsome and bumping the beam at 272. With shoulders as wide as a sidewalk. You have to see them up close to appreciate those huge torsos. Ordinarily, you think you're a big guy if you go six foot and weigh maybe 190 or 200—but that's small in pro wrestling. They won't look at a guy less than 220, and promoters prefer 'em about 245 or so. They are in good shape, can wrestle and frequently suffer injuries in the game. And they're great showmen. Get big dough, the hours are good, and no union trouble.

Skiers Make Plans

Ski enthusiasts are ready whenever snow blankets the terrain. Lot of hard work done fixing up the tow hills at Bethany, with picks, shovels and rakes, but they say now it's smooth as a kitten's ear. Nifty sun deck there, too, and both tow ropes up—the big one weighing something like a ton. Buildings painted up by the girls, with the chalet roof yet to be done, on account of it had snow on it last weekend. Snow fences going up and a few odd jobs here and there yet. Art Long has Kemp's Hill in fine shape and there'll be a new carrier and rigging shortly. Ski Night program being lined up for Dec. 7, and Miles Allison can slip anyone the info on membership forms. Some work soon, too, at the Nassau jump.

A mighty tight fit for the senior PCI-ers at the Oval yester aft. A big and scrappy Belleville squad earned an 11-8 victory, but the Garnet and Gray drew on their savings of a week ago to declare a 26-22 balance on the COSSA semi-final round. Galbraith, Doucett, Locke, Walmsley and Moore starred for the Quinte crew. The local line deserves much credit for a gallant display, taking quite a pounding all through. Backfielders labored lustily, too, and Bev Goulding's team did right well, injuries having side-lined a few of their aces. So, now they sit tight for a week ere hitting into the COSSA finals here next Saturday 'gainst Orillia or St. Kitts.

Like A Cake-Walk

It was pretty much of a breeze for Alex Londry's husky PCVS juniors in the opener of the twin playoff program, the local gridders rolling through their Belleville opponents for a 31-0 triumph. A sudden-deather, and now they're again in COSSA finals. Front wall and backs combined to click in championship form and the aerial work was 16-carat. Young and Stewart were really flipping the leather lemon, with neat plunging shown by Fowler, Craw and Langhorne. All the line looked okay. Quite a crowd there ere the double-header wound up, and quite a brawl among fans as a follow-up to the senior scrap. Ah, well, football is a rousing sport—and boys will be boisterous.

Not too many on deck for the junior puck exhibition, but those on hand saw oodles of rough action. Just 27 penalties —including four majors for fighting—with North Toronto Lions drawing 18. They still play it rough and the Oddfellows fight right back. No love lost last winter between these junior squads. Lions won 6-3 but looked only a goal or two better. They have size and speed, but spoil their work with rough tactics. Birch, Floyd and Wyatt divided the scoring for the Kingdon crew, and we also liked the work of the Stirling trio, the Mason brothers and Desjardin. The IOOF-ers are starting to shape up and will play a lot of good hockey this coming campaign.

North Toronto Triumphs Against IOOF

North Toronto Lions defeated the local Oddfellows 6-3 at Civic Arena last night in a rough junior puck exhibition. Several fights broke out and a total of 27 penalties was given, the visitors drawing 18 of them. It was a speedy and fairly even fray, with the bigger Lions having a little edge. The game was nearly half an hour late starting, the ice not being ready.

Brooker, Goodwin, Kett, Karrys and Sinclair showed well on the attack for the Lions, with Vousden and Redding strong defensively. Birch, Floyd and Wyatt supplied the scoring punch for Bun Kingdon's crew, each being in on two goals. The Masons-Desjardin line also worked well, and the defencemen turned in a pretty fair chore in the rugged going. Hehn in goal fanned on one, but made some good saves.

Lions Tally

Wettlauffer went off early for tripping but was back when Kett counted on Goodwin's corner passout. Karrys made it 2-0 from Brooker with an angle drive. Hehn drew a roughing penalty, a mate serving it, and Spong scored in close from Goodwin with the IOOF a man short. Millar and Bailey drew majors for fighting and play was rough and fast the last part of the period. D. Wasson and Sinclair got it for roughing, and Fennell followed for butt-ending.

Vouseden was gated to open the second for holding, and Peterson went next for cross-checking. The Toronto goalie took time out to have a facial cut fixed. Sinclair was penalized for high-sticking and Birch batted in Floyd's pass at a sharp angle. Goodwin was next over the wall for slashing, and Baker drew the finger for playing with a broken stick. Birch was on his heels for hooking, and Brooker blasted home Goodwin's passout. Garfield got another from outside the blue line. Spong climbed the boards for boarding and later Brooker got the nod for holding the puck.

Plenty of Sins

Richlark drew an early third-period sentence for cross-checking and Vousden followed for hooking. Hunter was next on a slashing offence, and Vousden got another penalty for tripping, but he didn't serve it. There was confusion when Garfield drew a misconduct right away for arguing too strongly, and Vousden slipped back on the ice. Hunter joined the sin parade for tripping and Sinclair for handling the puck, the Lions frequently being shy two players this hot inning. Dyson went next for high-sticking and Floyd dented the hemp neatly with Wyatt's pass at close range. The Oddfellows kept pressing. Kett went over for boarding and Goodwin and Fennell drew fighting majors, Birch following shortly for charging. Sinclair scored a smart one alone, and Birch wound up the sniping late on a close-in pass from Wyatt.

Play Junior Hockey

MARMORA, Nov. 12—(ENS)—Ernest Trumble and Ray Darrah, members of last year's Marmora juvenile hockey team, have been chosen members of Belleville Junior Rockets team for the coming season.

RETURN MATCH—Hi Lee, shown above, who has consented to give Seelie Samara a return bout. This will be staged next Thursday at the Brock Arena. Lee won here Thursday when Referee Bunny Dunlop disqualified Samara. The dusky boy was not long in demanding a return go and Manager Jim Laidlaw completed arrangements this morning for the match. He was also fortunate in lining up Wladek Kowalski and Jim (Goon) Henry for the semi-final. The opener will be announced Monday.

Junior PCVS Gridders Win To Reach The COSSA Final

Linemen and backfielders combined to perfection on the PCVS junior football squad Friday afternoon as they took the sudden-death game with Belleville Collegiate juniors 31-0. The PCI'ers will now move into the C.O.S.S.A. junior finals next Saturday either in Barrie or Port Colbourne. Belleville were junior champions of the Bay of Quinte District.

Taking to the air, the PCI'ers rolled to a 16-0 score in the first half picking up three touches on passes, one in the first and two in the second. Still in the air, the juniors chalked up two more unconverted touches in the third to make the third-quarter score read 26-0. The air and the ground crews combined for another major score in the fourth.

Young and Stewart shared the pitching honors for PCVS squad as they completed eight, muffed 10 and had one interception. On the ground Langhorne, Fowler and Craw totalled up yardage with their plunging through holes in the Belleville line prepared by the PCVS linemen.

Passing Poor

Cameron for Belleville had poor luck with his passing plays during the first half but improved in the second. Hagerman and Lewis were the pick of the Belleville ground attack. Milligan dropping back from his line position outkicked Stewart of Peterborough throughout the game. Each time trouble cropped up for the Belleville team when they had the ball, Milligan's punts drove the Petes back. Peterborough's big front line of Howe, Grafstein, Facendi, White, Forbes, McIlraith and Galley had little trouble breaking thorugh the Bay of Quinte line.

Midway through the first Craw took a Belleville punt at the BCI 25. Fowler and Stewart moved the ball up the 16-yard line on plunges. Young promptly passed to Stewart for the first five points. Young's kick was good for a point. Again in the second when Belleville was deep in their own territory they booted. This time Langhorne took the ball at the BCI 37. Stewart plunged to the 31 where Young hit Fowler with a pass for a major. Three minutes later Galley intercepted a Camer on pass at the BCI 30 and went to the 22-yard line. Young passed this time to McIlraith for five points. The extra point try was unsuccessful on the last two touches.

Faked Hoof

Early in the third Stewart faked a kick on the third down on the BCI 53 and ran 22 yards around left end. Langhorne picked up six more on the next play. Again Stewart faked a kick on third down, this time passing to McIlraith for 15 yards. McIlraith shook off two tacklers and went over for his second touchdown. They fumbled on the extra point try. A Belleville kick was blocked at the BCI 18 and Craw picked it up going for six yards. Three plays later Langhorne went across standing up for a major score which went without the extra point. In the fourth, two passes Hope to Stewart to McIlraith, and a run by Langhorne, took the ball from the PCVS 45 to the BCI one-yard line. Stewart bucked across for the touch.

A third member of the colorful DiMaggio family moved into the spotlight of sport 10 years ago today when San Francisco Seals sold Dominic DiMaggio's contract to Boston Red Sox. DiMaggio, whose contract cost the Sox an estimated $50,000, has been one of Boston's leading outfielders since then.

Guelph Crushes Irish 6-1 Marlies Whip Tigers 5-4

By The Canadian Press.

Although Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A loop retained first place in the league, other standings came in for a bit of re-arranging after four league games last night.

Guelph Biltmores, in a home game, defeated Toronto St. Michael's College 6-1 to jump into sole possession of fourth spot in the league and leave the Irish in a fifth place tie with Oshawa Generals, Windsor Spitfires and Galt Black Hawks. Stratford Kroehlers still are in the league ceilar.

The Dukes defeated Stratford 6-4; Windsor upset Barrie Flyers 7-2 and the Generals defeated St. Catharines 3-1 in other games last night. Teepees still hold on to their third place position, one point behind Barrie Flyers.

In the only senior game, Toronto Marlboros lengthened their first place lead by defeating Hamilton Tigers 5-4. Marlies, with 19 points, are seven ahead of the second-place Owen Sound Mercurys.

Had To Battle

The Junior Dukes had to battle for their victory over the Kroehlers. The Stratford team went into the second frame with a 1-0 lead and battled goal for goal with the Dukes until Jack McKenzie put the Toronto club ahead 3-2 near the end of the frame. Marlies kept ahead, outscoring the Kroehlers 3-2 in the final stanza.

George Armstrong and McKenzie led the Dukes with two goals apiece, while Larry Regan and Lorne Pirie each scored once. Moe Galand, Roy Leckie, Doug French and Jim Pernfuss scored the Stratford goals.

Biltmores had little trouble with the failing St. Michael's club. Only little Lorne Howes' cool efforts in the Irish nets saved the collegians from a worse beating. Bilts took a two-goal lead in the first frame, added one in the second when the Irish defence stiffened and came through for three goals in the final stanza while allowing St. Michael's only goal in that frame.

Gerard Theberge with two goals was Bilt's high scorer. Ron Plumb, Don Oberholtzer, Ed Kulik and Aldo Guidolin each counted for one. Bob Sabourin scored the only Irish goal.

Bob Shropshire, Oshawa goalie was largely responsible for the General's victory over St. Catharines. He performed brilliantly and was only robbed of a shutout by Jack White's goal in the last period. He handled 42 shots on goal compared with Teepees' Don Campbell's 14. Oshawa scored once in each of the periods. Frank Hooper scored two of the Gens' goals while Doug Chapman got the other.

Last-minute Goal

The Senior Marlies won their battle against the Tigers with a last-minute goal after Bengals had twice tied the count during the game. Hamilton took the lead in the first frame only to see the Dukes hammer in three goals early in the second period. The Tigers tied it up again before the end of that period, but saw Dukes take the lead again with less than two minutes of the period remaining.

Miocinovich gave Hamilton the equalizer early in the final stanza but saw the game go with Scotty Mair's last minute effort.

John McCormick, Hugh Bolton, Al Buchanan, Johnny McLellan and Mair were the Marlboro scorers. Paul Miocinovich, with two goals, was best man for Tigers while Clare Shillington and Bill Dinning each scored once.

series for the Big Four title.

2. Hamilton Tigers, who finished first handily in the Ontario Union meantime meet Sarnia Imperials at Hamilton and must overcome the 15-6 margin that the Imps built yesterday in the opener of their total points series at Sarnia.

In other words, the erstwhile favorites at one swoop found themselves underdogs to advance into the Eastern Canada final. That's the series which will decide Calgary's opponent in the Dominion final at Toronto Nov. 26.

With the east's Intercollegiate Union schedule winding up today, perhaps the league-leading Western Mustangs should take a tip from the fate of their fellow-easterners. A loss to McGill Redmen at Montreal would see them finish second and McGill first, forcing a post-season title playoff between the two.

Rangers Ready If Habs Get Rough

By JIM BASTABLE

New York's once-gentlemanly Rangers may have to double-up on that rough-and-tumble hockey style if they expect a win tonight.

The Rangers, who started "handing it out" this season under the wing of Coach Lynn Patrick, will need a little extra muscle-power. They clash with the hustling Montreal Canadiens, who have proved to be one of the toughest clubs in the league.

In two other games tonight the fourth-place Chicago Black Hawks meet Toronto Maple Leafs at Toronto and the leading Detroit Red Wings take on the last-place Boston Bruins at Boston.

Sunday, its Toronto at Boston, Montreal at Chicago and Detroit at New York.

Patrick's charges haven't been faring so well even under the new system, however. They've won only two games and tied four in 11 starts—for fifth place in the six-team league.

Last season they did little better and officials said it was time the Rangers started roughing it up.

Their pre-season prediction:

". . . Things are going to be different this year. If we've got to take it we might as well hand it out."

The Rangers have weight, in six rugged defencemen headed by the former Boston boxcar—Pat Egan, a 200-pound product of Blackie, Alta. And on the forward line they have such rugged individuals as Ed Slowinski and Penttl Lund, two of the huskiest players in the league.

But the Habitants have power, too. And it's generated mainly by Maurice (Rocket) Richard who's cutting a mean pace in the individual scoring race with 11 goals in 12 games—five more than any other scorer in the league.

Stamps Squeeze 22-21 Win To Take Round

By JACK MITCHELL.

If it wasn't for the skin of Calgary Stampeders' teeth, the honor of finishing in first place during a hard-fought football schedule would seem like something to shun.

The dominion champion Stampeders upheld the status of the top dog when they squeezed out a 22-21 round-score victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders yesterday to lead the way into the Grey Cup final. But match this against the current playoff positions of the regular season leaders in the east's two big leagues.

1. Ottawa Rough Riders, who lost only one scheduled game (and that by a single point to Montreal Alouettes), face the big job at Ottawa today of overcoming Montreal's 22-7 lead in the final game of their total points

Hebrew Prophets Described True Nature Of Democracy

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Two conceptions, or attitudes emphasized in our modern world, and perhaps especially in our modern democracies, in conflict were also in conflict in ancient Israel, where the Hebrew prophets spoke and wrote.

The one is of religious isolationism, and of a limited conception of God, providence, and duty. This is not unrelated to the political isolationism which has broken down before the stern facts that in matters of war the peace, welfare and danger, the world, even though its divisions are sharp and its conflicts intense, is one in a way in which it has never been one before.

In this conception God is little more than a tribal or national deity, whose special favoritism is for the one race or nation, called and chosen, to the exclusion or neglect of all others. In its baldest, starkest form this religious attitude became a matter of spiritual pride, typified in that Pharisee of a later time "who trusted in himself that he was righteous, and despised others." It dared to say that the Gentiles who knew not the law were accursed. It was not altogether unlike the attitude of those whose pride in their democratic privileges and national prestige becomes a matter of boastfulness and a rather scornful attitude toward the less fortunate, or "backward nations."

Over against this, in ancient Israel, and especially among the later prophets, were the nobler souls, who saw in the law of God and His, righteousness, law and righteousness for every place and time, embracing all men and demanding the obedience and devotion of all.

In this conception the call of God was not a matter of arbitrary preference. It was a call to duty and responsibility, as well as to privilege. Israel was a spiritual nation, through which all the nations of the earth should be blest.

This large and noble conception of God found expression in passages worthy of its greatness and beauty. It is found in many prophetic passages, but the richest and most illuminating are in the later chapters of Isaiah.

his intense patriotism, deeply centered in its own nation and people, but embracing the whole world, is in the flaming words of Isaiah 62:1, "For Zion's sake will I not hold my peace, and for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, until the righteouness thereof go forth as brightness, and the salvation thereof as a lamp that burneth."

It is found also in the great invitation of Isaiah 55, marvelous in its conception of a God offering Himself and His salvation to all men everywhere. This still stands today as a living word of God, undated, for every time and place. It reflects in its glorifying of God the glory of the prophet who wrote it.

And these noble prophets of Israel challenge our modern world, with their world-wide outlook, and their message concerning the God of all, with the only adequate way of peace and welfare for humanity.

taught the short Creed, which every devout Jew hoped to utter with his dying breath: "Hear, O Israel, thy Lord thy God is one Lord". The creed is to be put into practice: "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God and Him only shalt thou serve." Belief in God implies WORSHIP.

Do you worship God? Or do you worship your able preacher? If so, you are in danger of idolatory. For you is this verse from the Book: "Little children, keep yourselves from idols. Spiritual power comes from worship of GOD.

WHEREFORE TAKE UNTO YOU THE WHOLE ARMOUR OF GOD, AND HAVING DONE ALL, TO STAND.

Appeal For Power Great Down Through Various Ages

By REV. E. R. JAMES

The devil said unto Jesus: All this power will I give Thee if Thou wilt worship me.—St. Luke 4:6.

POWER, how the word thrills in the cold war of today with Russia. This Scripture is very modern. Lord Beaconsfield, the famous Jewish Premier of Great Britain wrote to a friend that 'the sense of power is most delightful." The Messiah, the Christ. He was to be anointed with power to rule the world. The Jews expected that they were to become rulers of the world.

Imagine the thrill of such a Scripture: "Thus saith the Lord. I will lift up My Hand to the Gentiles and they shall bring thy sons in their arms and thy daughters shall be carried on their shoulders. Kings shall be thy nursing fathers and queens shall be thy nursing mothers. They shall bow down to thee with their faces to the ground, and lick up the dust off thy feet and thou shalt know that I am the Lord."—Isaiah 49:22.

These familiar words: "Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given. His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace. Of the increase of his government there shall be no end.—Isaiah 9:6.

This terrible passage: "I will tread down the people in my anger; will make them drunk in my fury; and I will ring down their strength to the earth."—Isaiah 63:6.

Such teaching thrilled the people of Galilee. Their best young men always ready to flock to the banner of any false leader. Even after the resurrection the Apostles did not forget their earlier expectation. Hearken, "Lord, will thou at this time restore again the Kingdom to Israel?" The Carpenter had been brought up in this expectation. The devil reminds Him and impresses Him by the offer of world dominion. The Lord loved His people and taught that "Salvation is of the Jews." Do not forget that from early childhood He had been

Expect Food Contract

REGINA, Nov. 12 — (CP) — Great Britain will probably buy all the food Canada can supply despite the shortage of Canadian dollars in that country, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said here Thursday in an interview. VOL. XCIX, No. 112 SATURDAY, NOV. 12, 1949

TWO GREAT GAMES OF RUGBY in the semi-finals of the COSSA were played on Friday afternoon on Nicholls Oval between Belleville and Peterborough Collegiate teams. The PCVS seniors while losing the game 11-8 won the round by four points. The junior PCVS boys took their sudden death fixture 31-0. A small section UPPER LEFT of the fans cheer on their teams. Locke, Belleville senior quarter LOWER LEFT patiently waits to hand the ball to Walmsley for a plunge through centre. These pretty cheerleaders RIGHT Eleanor Carter left of Belleville and Pat Nixon of the PCVS had little trouble leading the fans in their yells and songs during the game. Accumulative Sick Leave For Civic Employees Submitted To Aldermen

Terms of a proposed accumulative sick leave plan for city employees were discussed at length by the committee of the whole council Friday night. Ald. Hugh Waddell presided. The other members present were Aldermen Young, Anglesey, Burrows, Grant Miller, Raine, Gillespie, Dodds and Mayor Swanston. Several changes were recommended in the draft summary of the plan. Discussion indicated generally a favorable impression on the committee. Decision was deferred for further study, with the probability that an authorizing bylaw may be passed to give effect to the provisions on Jan. 1, 1950.

It was recalled that the Firemen's Union had been asking for several years for accumulative sick leave for its members. When their last agreement was signed, they were assured that before the end of 1949, the council would adopt a plan for all city employees.

Information was obtained from 18 Ontario cities regarding their practice. It was examined by the executive committee of the council.

"We would like the members to know the details of the plan," said Ald. Waddell, "even if you do not wish to come to a decision tonight."

Credit 45 Days

Clause 2 reads "Each employee with at least three years' service, providing he has a good record in regard to sick leave, shall be granted a credit of 45 days toward accumulative sick leave for the total period of his service."

An employee of 10 years' service, for example, is credited with 45 days' sick leave. Whatever the length of his service beyond three years, whether it is four or fifteen, he starts with 45 days, as compared with the employee of less than three years who begins from scratch.

Sick leave is to accumulate at the rate of 1½ days for each month of service dating from Jan. 1 next.

Temporary employees do not come within the provisions of the plan, nor will they be granted sick leave with pay. Those who are discharged or who voluntarily leave the city's employment will receive no credits or remuneration for unsued accumulative sick leave.

The terms generally correspond with the plan provided for government civil servants, and also in some industries.

"Weekly half-holidays, statutory and special holidays, and regular days off from employment in accordance with any established plan for the department concerned, will not form part of an illness period or be chargeable against the accumulated sick leave."

"Employees who are off work with leave of absence but without remunerations, or an employee who is laid off because of lack of work, will not receive credit for such periods against credits for accumulated sick leave, but such absence will not reduce the accumulated sick leave credit.

No Pay For Excess Days

When an employee is absent on account of illness for a sufficient period to exhaust his accumulated sick leave with pay, the employee shall not receive a monthly credit toward sick leave for the balance of the days he is absent by sickness." And he does not receive pay for such excess days of illness.

No salaried employee is to be engaged without a doctor's certificate affirming that he is healthy and is not suffering from any ailment which might be expected to cause absence from work. This restriction is already in force in the fire and police departments.

Employees retiring on pension shall receive the following credits for unused accumulative sick leave: 10 to 15 years' service, 3 months; 15 to 20 years, 4 months; 20 to 25 years, 5 months; over 25 years' service, 6 months.

"This accumulated sick leave may be used by the employee in varying periods of absence during the last three years of his employment service or he shall be given leave of absence for the period to his credit, with pay, before his retirement, or, if the employee so selects, the city will continue to pay his salary in full for the period applicable to him immediately following his retirement."

With steady employment, retirement pension and the proposed sick leave plan, the council believes that it will attract to the civic service the type of employee required for municipal work.

To Ask County For Increase

The Governors of Civic Hospital are to receive a resolution from the city council, as moved by Ald. Grant Miller, suggesting that they communicate with the county council about a meeting to consider the county grant of $150,000.

The county has arranged for its financing as agreed at the outset of the funding of the hospital. Since then the costs of construction snowballed from the beginning of the work. Inference from the Miller motion is that the county's contribution be hefted in the scales of the swollen wages and costs of materials since the contract was let.

Seek Subsidy On Paving Job

City council clipped a special meeting to five minutes last night to pass a bylaw submitting statement of cost of the season's street paving to the Ontario Department of Highways in the hope of receiving a supplementary subsidy.

Introduced by Ald. Hurrell Dodds, this bylaw, presumably inspired by City Engineer A. E. Chalmers sets out the city's additional expenditure during the summer on the paving program.

Mr. Chalmers recalled that the original bylaw was passed last February. At that time the paving job was not planned.

"The Department has permitted supplementary subsidies," Mr. Chalmers said. "They were for work undertaken after approval of streets on which the Department would ordinarily pay subsidy.

"The Department has permitted supplementary subsidies," said Mr. Chalmers, indicating points of expectation. "The streets we paved were approved by the Department as being streets on which they would pay. However, we have not been told yet whether they will pay, or not."

Mayor Swanston casually mentioned that Hon. George Doucett, Minister of Highways, was expected to be in Peterborough Monday.

If the Department grants this application, belated because of the circumstance of time in which the work was undertaken, the sum will be credited to the city's part of the cost of the paving, as distinct from frontage charge, and will be used to reduce the amount to be borrowed by debentures to pay for the paving.

Defend Country In Peace As Is Done In Time of War

"If we lose our freedom it will be because we are not worthy of it, not because we have not the facilities to defend it in war," Leo P. Cunningham, chairman of the Provincial Command told veterans at the annual dinner held Friday night at the Legion hall.

"If a country is worthwhile defending in war it should be worthwhile defending in peace, and our country, with its facilities for progress and opportunities; its generous laws for protection and organization; its democratic freedom in speech assembly and other physical and spiritual behaviour founded within the principles of human right, is well worthwhile defending."

"Today we are faced with an enemy as dangerous to freedom as cancer is to the human frame," he said. "Yet, we continue to strengthen this enemy by apathy and self-complacency. And this state of mind has already forced us into two wars—wars which due to our state of unpreparedness we would not have won but for the grace of God."

Threat of Communism

Unless the people of Canada arouse themselves from their apathy, they may find themselves in the same position as many of the countries of Europe, stated Mr. Cunningham. Those countries have lost their freedom by treachery, fear and force engineered by Russia "the most active imperialistic country in the world today, who has set as its goal the conquering of the world and returning it to the ancient system of the masters and slaves."

He stated "We are justified in assuming Communism as a society which places the control of a country in the hands of a self-appointed or self-sustained group by control of the ballot. And this group controls the natural and acquired wealth of the country and the actions of the people by secret police, regimentation and concentration camp."

"It is a society that is threatening our civilized structure by reducing religion (which according to Toynbee's historical evidence is the cement that holds civilization together) to a political convenience."

This society is one where the people exist for the state which breeds intolerance, selfishness, love of power and a disregard for human rights, said Mr. Cunningham.

He advocated "an adequate defence force" plus a strong military reserve, and what he regarded as equally important—good citizenship. This last quality, he contended, springs from an honest desire, supported by effort on the part of people individually and collectively to improve living conditions within a community or country for the benefit of self and others.

"A country that has citizens inspired with this principle, needs no urging for people to use their ballot or take an active interest in the welfare of the country," he said. "It is this commonsense principle which instills tolerance, love of country, humane consideration and a willingness to defend one's country."

Good Citizenship

Mr. Cunningham said the Canadian Legion had set an outstanding example of good citizenship, demonstrating "the Christianity of the trenches."

He stated bluntly that there are people in this country "who are as dangerous to freedom as the Communists."

"They are the ones who forget that race is an act of nature, and religion is a right of consciousness, and they are stirring up religious and racial hatreds which are weakening our line of defence."

If the Legion continues its policies of glorifying God, honoring the King and helping the living, they will make Canada worthy of the sacrifice of those who died, said Mr. Cunningham.

It will be an asset to the living and will help relegate Communism to the status of the "seed that fell upon rock."

Gordon K. Fraser also spoke briefly to the ex-servicemen.

The banquet was catered to by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Branch

Request School For Recreation

South end residents are anxious to secure Confederation School Friday nights for 'teen-age recreation. Two rooms and a hallway would be required.

The Board of Education granted permission for this project on motion of G. W. Craw and Walter Bannon at the same time giving the Superintendent of Schools, K. S. Wightman, a free hand in making arrangements to safeguard school property.

A delegation of four, headed by James Goldie, waited on the Board to put forward their proposal. They stressed the fact there are no recreational facilities in the south end and use of Confederation would be a first step in rectifying this situation.

Planned as a club for teen-agers (the 16 to 18 year group) where they could meet on Fridays, 8 p.m. to 11.30 p.m., and dance and play games.

Music would be provided by rental of a juke box or by the use of privately-owned recordings. If soft drinks were sold, Mr. Goldie pointed out, it would help supply the club members with some revenue.

The group would like use of the basement and the old kindergarten room. The latter has a wooden floor and would be suitable for dancing as it can accommodate as many as 80 people.

Crokinole and small table games could be played in the hallway.

Supervision would be provided by a number of married couples who have volunteered their services. Revenue would go toward the janitor's fee.

Mr. Bannon said many people with small children living in the south end want to see these recreational facilities introduced so their children can benefit in future years.

$140,000 Needed For New School

Frank Jobbitt, chairman of the board of education and G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the accommodation committee advised the finance committee of the city council on Friday night the board would be requiring a bylaw for $140,000 early in the year for the building of a junior school on the old DVA property immediately south of the Prince of Wales School.

Mr. Craw in outlining the request said that the board's committee had made a thorough study of the building question and from department of education figures and from new buildings erected this year the $140,000 was arrived at. He intimated that the board in coming to the council at this time was doing so in order that there would be no delay when building would commence early in the spring.

Approval Given

The Department of Education has already approved of an expenditure of $137,000 and that when some extra land yet to be acquired was purchased it would then consider an additional approval of expenditure.

Ald. Hugh Waddell who was in the chair asked the two members of the Board if they thought the bylaw should be submitted to the ratepayers. Mr. Craw replied that the school was an absolute necessity and while he was opposed to putting any large sums of money through for schools without submitting it to a vote he felt that the $140,000 expenditure was one that had to be made if the board was going to be able to accommodate the large number of children who would be entering in the next three years.

Main Street Topics

GRANT USE OF SCHOOLS

The Board of Education has granted the city permission to use the schools on election day, Monday, Dec. 5. Classes will be dismissed and the teachers will act as returning officers. This is a customary procedure.

TIRE PUNCTURED

Excited fans started shoving and pushing after the PCVS-Belleville Collegiate senior football game at the Oval Friday afternoon. During the minor brawl around the truck owned by T. J. Cavanagh Appliance store someone shoved a knife into the left front tire. Several minutes later all the Belleville students were in the buses and the skirmish was over. All was quiet at the football dance in the YMCA gym at night.

OIL THIGH

The Queen's University yell is expected to be raised high at the city and district's alumni dinner next Thursday, when Professor H. L. Tracy, MA, PhD, FRCS, noted classical scholar and trenchant speaker, will address the Queen's people on "Society's Poor Relations."

TWO FIRE ALARMS

Fearing that sparks flying from the chimney of the Peterborough Lumber Co., Monaghan Rd., constituted a fire hazard a nearby resident Friday night turned in an alarm to the Fire Department. Shortly before 6 p.m. a chimney fire was reported at the residence of Sam Clarke, Simcoe St.

LEND BAND INSTRUMENTS

PCVS cadets will have additional band instruments to practise with as a result of an agreement between the Boy Scout Association and the Board of Education. The Boy Scouts are no longer using their instruments and they have been stored, C. S. Browne, principal, pointed out it would be an opportunity to train a 50-piece band under Albert Croasdale at no additional cost. The instruments are being loaned and in the event the Scouts are able to sell them, the Board of Education will have first option.

Wildcats Overpower Montreal Team 31-0

By The Canadian Press.

A powerful band of Hamilton Wildcats, Eastern Canada Junior Football champions, and their Western Canada counterparts, Vancouver Blue Bombers, today await an official go-ahead to clash for the Dominion title.

Venue and dates of the series have been tentatively set for Vancouver Nov. 26 and 30. But it all depends on the Hamilton executive, who planned to meet today to discuss the necessary arrangements.

The Wildcats romped to the eastern title Friday night by overpowering Montreal Notre Dame de Grace 31-0 at Hamilton, while a touchdown in the last minute of play gave Vancouver a 16-12 decision over the Saskatoon Hilltops at Vancouver.

Rap Censorship By 3 Papers In Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP) —The Democratic National Committee spoke out Friday against what it called censorship involved in the refusal of three Washington newspapers to accept advertisements giving the views of small business men on the anti-trust suit against the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

The committee statement said all four Washington papers "ran the advertisements in which the A & P assailed the justice department for enforcing the anti-trust laws" but only one of the four accepted the small business ad.

It was offered by the National Federation of Independent Business. The federation describes itself as a non-partisan organization with a membership of 136,000 small, independent business and professional men.

Capital Comment, the Democratic National Committee's weekly publication, Friday reprinted a story on the refusal, carried by the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal. The story quoted George J. Burger, vice-president of the small business men's group, as saying the Washington Daily News was the only local paper to accept his ad and those refusing it were the Star, the Post and the Times-Herald.

Object To Wording

The Capital Comment said: "That the press in general thus far has not seen any news value in the fact that this censorship situation exists seems to indicate that the newspaper business is not as vigilant a policeman of its own afairs as it is of the affairs of others."

Crosby N. Boyd, business manager of the Star, said the wording of the advertisement rather than its substance, was the point at issue.

"When the advertisement was submitted for consideration the advertiser was advised of the objectionable wording, with the suggestion that the phraseology be changed." Boyd said. "The changes were not made and the advertisement was not resubmitted."

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Prof. Nelson Hart, president of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union, said Friday at London, Ont. that it is up to University of Toronto whether it wants to protest the football game in which McGill used an ineligible player. He added that he thinks it unlikely that Toronto will protest the game, won 12-8 by McGill last Saturday. It was since determined that Roy Deshields, who played only four minutes in his first game in the league, was ineligible.

Prof. Hart termed the position of Vic Obeck, McGill coach, "purely accidental" and said he believed Obeck did not realize Deshields was ineligible.

Warren Stevens, athletic director of the University of Toronto, said previously the University does not plan to protest.

Frank Selke, general manager of Montreal Canadiens, announced Friday night that defenceman Roger Leger has been recalled from Cincinnati Mohawks of the American Hockey League. Leger went to Cincinnati about three weeks ago as a replacement for Jacques Deslauries, who was injured.

Britain will make its 39th challenge for the Davis Cup next summer, the British Lawn Tennis Association announced Friday. Britain has won the trophy nine times. The United States now holds the cup.

The sixth doping case of the 1949 Chicago racing season was reported Friday at Chicago. Stewards at Sportsman's Park reported that the urinalysis of Misty Eight, winner of the sixth race last Wednesday, showed presence of procaine. Misty Eight, ridden by jockey Gene Pederson, paid $43.40 for a $2 win ticket. D. J. Higgins, owner of the thoroughbred, and trainer L. F. Warby, have been suspended and their case referred to the Illinois Racing Board

The Pacific Coast's baseball ball league's 200-game schedule for 1950 could be trimmed a bit if agreement can be reached with the International League and American Association for a postseason, three league little world series. P. C. L. president Clarence Rowland said Friday at Los Angeles. He explained that the proposed inter-sectional series is still purely in the discussion state.

A man identified as Nicholas Restivo, 21, of Brooklyn, N. Y., an apprentice jockey, Friday was booked by police in Derry, N. H., on charges of attempted malicious interference with a race horse. Lou Smith, head of Rockingham Park, first reported the arrest after informing reporters "a member on the Thoroughbred Protective Bureau had surprised a man attempting to stimulate Mrs. Irving Gushen's King Eric."

King Eric finished fourth in Friday's third race after coming last in a 10-horse field.

A national record for standard-bred horse sales went into the books Friday when the four-day Harrisburg (Pa.) auction, ended with returns totalling $1,182,225.

A total of 717 head of harness horses passed under the hammer of an average of $1,648 a head.

Charlie Fusari, blond Irvington, N. J. welter, proved his September knockout loss to Rocky Graziano made no serious dent in his career by flattening tough Terry Young Friday night in 1:13 of the eighth round of a scheduled 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. Fusari weighed 148, Young 141. Referee Eddie Joseph stopped the bout with Young out cold on the floor with his face down.

Leading from wire to wire, Martha Doyle Friday won the $14,250 western trot for three years olds at Hollywood Park race track. With Bi Shively in the Sulky, the roan filly outstepped five others in the grand circuit harness feature. Martha Doyle trotted the mile in 2:03 3-5 and returned $3.80, $2.50 and $2.10.

A boycott vote by jockeys, owners and trainers against purse reductions left uncertain today the future of racing at Tanforan, California's oldest track. The track announced Friday that "there will definitely be racing Monday at Tanforan," but declined further comment on reports the current meeting might be cancelled.

MARMORA, Nov. 12 (ENS) — Remembrance Day service at Deloro Hall was conducted by Rev G. D. Young of St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora.

Legion Opposes Rent Increases, Lodges Protest

OTTAWA, Nov. 12—(CP)—The Canadian Legion today was formally on record as opposing rent ceiling increases announced by the government.

The Dominion executive of the veterans' organization Friday lodged a formal protest against the increases when it met with Prime Minister St. Laurent and seven of his cabinet colleagues. At the same time the Legion expressed agreement with the Federal housing program providing for co-operation in housing with provincial and municipal governments.

The Legion delegation, headed by Dominion president Col. L. D. M. Baxter of Winnipeg, also asked:

1. That a parliamentary committee on veterans affairs be established at the next session of parliament;

2. That the Canadian government recognize the just claim of Imperial war veterans in Canada to full participants in the benefits of the War Veterans' Allowance Act.

3. That basic rates of war veterans' allowances be increased to $50 a month for single veterans and widows and to $85 a month for married veterans and widows with dependent children;

4. That the insurance principle be applied to injuries or illness incurred by members of the active forces;

5. That the government fully implement its wartime promise that competitions be held for all positions filled by temporary wartime employees before granting permanent positions to such temporary civil servants.

6. That the civil service superannuation act be amended to permit those who volunteered for active service anywhere to count their time spent in the armed forces toward their civil service superannuation.

7. That provision be made for holders of second world war service and campaign medals to have them engraved by local engraving firms at government expense.

The Legion told the Cabinet that "we now protest the large increases in rentals which are proposed by the Federal Government. It is felt that the shortage of rental accommodation is still too great to permit increases of this size without the creation of a great deal of hardship among tenants particularly those of low income.

Find Four-Month Market Boom Slows Again

By The Canadian Press.

The four-month advance by stock markets slowed to a standstill this week.

Selling pressure increased considerably and prices tended slightly lower. Observers termed the show of selling as a consolidation movement by the market.

The end of the coal strike in the United States and signs of complete settlement in the steel dispute were ignored. The downward tendency became more evident as the short week closed.

New York was open for only three of the five market days, and Canadian markets did business on four days.

Wall Street moved narrowly Monday as traders prepared for the election day Tuesday. An increased dividend by General Motors Corp. held the spotlight Wednesday when trading resumed. Favorable labor news was disregarded as most stocks slipped to lower levels.

Gold mining shares featured a selective New York and weaker Canadian market on Thursday. President Truman's statement that the price of gold will not be increased from the present $35 an ounce while he is President brought in heavy selling.

Markets Closed

Canadian and US markets were closed Friday — Remembrance Day—and Montreal and Toronto will remain closed today.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed the three-day week at 67.9, a loss of 0.7 from the previous Friday.

Early week trends on Canadian exchanges were higher, but selling appeared Wednesday and increased Thursday.

President Truman's statement brought out the heaviest selling in some time in golds on the Toronto Market Thursday. Golds broke sharply, dipping 4 points on the exchange's index. This was the sharpest break since September 20 when the 10 per cent devaluation of the Canadian dollar was less than mining men expected.

The decline wiped out much of the gains chalked up by golds in the last three weeks. The index showed a loss of 3.47 from the previous week.

BLOCKADE-BUSTER—Unconfirmed reports say Bruce Rankin, 31, of Brandon, Man., used his diplomatic status to break through the Chinese Nationalist blockade of the Yangtze river. Rankin, Canadian trade commissioner in Shanghai, is believed en route home on leave. He is said to have been on the British freighter Woosang when she was stopped at the mouth of the Yangtze by a Chinese gunboat. Rankin, pleading diplomatic immunity, was reported to have been transferred by the Nationalists to a British warship.

League Told Of Needs St. Joseph's Hospital

HASTINGS, Nov. 12 — (ENS) —The Catholic Women's League of Hastings held their regular monthly meeting in the Parish Hall on Wednesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. J. Powers, opened the meeting. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. J. L Doherty, Mrs. Fred Coveney read the minutes.

Mrs. J. Collins read a letter of thanks from His Excellency Bishop Berry to the league for their part in the gift he received before leaving for Rome.

Mrs. A. Lynch gave the treasurer's report.

Plans were made for the annual 'at home' to be held in the town hall Friday, Nov. 25th.

Parish Hospital Units

A committee of ladies of St. Joseph's Auxiliary, Peterborough, were present. Their president, Mrs. Galvin, explained that they were endeavoring to organize hospital units in the parishes, that are served by St. Joseph's Hospital. She told of the great problem facing those in charge owing to the building of the new wing. Mother Superior explained the great debt the new building has incurred and mentioned that any help in furnishings or money were quite acceptable.

Father Garvey assured her that she need have no worry in regards to aid from this parish.

The following ladies were appointed to the committee of the rural convener: Mrs. F. Coveney, Mrs. D. Walsh, Mrs. J. Collins.

Mrs O'Brien read a report of the work done by the auxiliary during the four years of its existence.

Afternoon tea was served. Mrs. T. A. Walsh poured, and assistants were Mrs. J. Powers, Mrs. D Walsh and Mrs. J. Collins, assisted by the little Misses Katheryn Walsh and Barbara O'Shea.

He has performed more than 20,000 major operations.

In Manhattan

Canadian Flavor On Broadway In New Plays

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK. Nov. 12 (CP) — There's a distinct Canadian flavor in current production plans for the Broadway stage.

Hume Cronyn, stage and screen actor who was born in London Ont., is to make his debut as director of a Manhattan performance with, "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep." This is a dramatization of Ludwig Bemelmans' novel of the same name. Fredric March and his wife, Florence Eldrige, have been signed to co-star in the production, due on Broadway in February. Cronyn is well known in Hollywood as a writer as well as an actor. He was responsible for the scripts of two Alfred Hitchcock movies.

Four-Fold Plans

Robert Whitehead, Montreal-born producer, has his hands full hands full these days with preparations for "The Member of the Wedding" and with three other scripts on the way for future production. He and Oliver Rea are producing "The Member of The Wedding," a dramatization by Carson McCullers of her novel of the same name. The Whitehead-Rea team has postponed until late next year their projected presentation of "La Corde" (The Halter), a play by Albert Camus. Also on the Whitehead-Rea list for future attention are "The Magistrate," a play by Arthur Pinero, and "With no Awakening," an adaptation by Ben Edwards and Virginia Bolen of Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard."

Eva Gabor Vehicle

Eva Gabor, Hungarian movie actress, is to make her New York stage debut in "The Happy Time," an adaptation of Robert Fontaine's novel about life in Ottawa. She will play the part of a French girl who comes to live with the French-Canadian family who are the principal characters in the book. Robert Lewis is slated to direct "The Happy Time." Rehearsals are due to start next month and the production is expected on Broadway late in January.

Lunt-Fontanne Triumph

"I Know myLove" is a triumph for that celebrated acting couple, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne The comedy, adapted By S. N Behrman from Marcel Achard's French drama, "Aupres De Ma Blonde," sketches high points in the life of a Boston couple who have been married 50 years. The play, which opened at the Shubert theatre, marked the 25th anniversary of the Lunt's career as an acting team.

Tinsel Type

Brock Pemberton is the producer of "Love Me Long," a flimsy comedy which moved into the 8th Street Theatre this week. But it doesn't rate as another "Harvey."

Set Production Record

WINDSOR, Nov. 12 (CP)—Ford Motor Car Company of Canada Limited Friday announced a 1949 motor car production record. A company statement said: "In 45 weeks of 1949, Ford has produced more passenger cars and trucks than they did in all of 1948. Last year's total was 97,015. The 1949 total to date is 97,253, just 3,932 short of the peacetime record of 101,185 set in the 12 months of 1947."

Will Defer Decision

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 12 (CP) —The United Nations political committee voted Friday to defer for a year a decision on what to do with Eritrea, the former Italian colony on the Red Sea coast where landlocked Ethiopia wants an outlet to salt-water traffic.

Barrister Dies

TORONTO, Nov. 12—(CP) — Glyn Osler, K.C., 73, a barrister for more than 50 years and senior partner in the Toronto firm of Blake, Anglin, Osler and Cassels, died Friday. Toronto-born, Mr. Osler was an executive of several companies.

FIRST RED FREIGHTER — The crew of the Russian freighter Chelyushinets steered clear of newspaper photographers when she docked at Montreal. A guard at the rail ducked out of camera range; the captain refused to be interviewed. The Chelyushinets, first Soviet ship to visit Montreal since before the war, is taking on a cargo for Britain.

British Win War But Cost High

MILLBROOK, Nov. 12 (ENS)— Thomas Thomas, MPP for Ontario riding spoke to CCF representatives from Bowmanville, Port Hope, Millbrook and Fraserville at a recent meeting of the Durham CCF party.

Speaking of his recent visit to the British Isles, Mr. Thomas said it had taken tremendous sacrifices in Britain to win the two world wars and that Britain had made herself bankrupt in doing so.

In 1941 Winston Churchill had said, "God help the government that takes over after the war." Sacrifices had been tremendous. Forty-nine million people were hard to feed and although in 1945 when the Labor Government took over things were in a terrible mess, yet the mass of the people had reason to be pleased.

Mr. Thomas stated that, although the majority might be divided, he was confident the government would be returned. It had carried out all its promises except the nationalizing of the steel industry.

He said the results of the health and security plan could best be seen in the healthy children and the happy old age pensioners.

Mrs. Thomas spoke of British cordiality to Canadians. Everywhere she went they said "Thank the people of Canada for their parcels."

James Kenny, candidate for Durham in the last election, also spoke briefly. Refreshments were served.

L. Nicholls, the new president, was in the chair and in the absence of Mr. Clark, Mrs. Spence Cheshire acter as secretary.

It was decided to hold monthly meetings.

Woman of 65 Goes Into Jungle

SYDNEY, Australia, —(CP) — Evelyn Cheesman, 65-year-old British entomologist who left here this fall for a year-long expedition to the interior of New Caledonia, looks too frail to do her own marketing. let alone go hunting insects in wild country with only native boys for protection.

She is about five feet, three inches tall and is thin, pale-faced and grey-haired. But since first expedition to the New Hebrides in 1924 she has collected more than 50,000 insect specimens in remote parts of the Pacific archipelagos under British, French and Dutch rule.

The two dominant characteristics of this woman scientist, who is a Fellow of the Royal Zoological Society and works for the British Museum of Natural History in London, is summed up in two nick-names given her by administrators of Pacific islands.

The French call her Mademoiselle Formidable; the Dutch call her Juffrouw Breekbar (Miss Fragile).

In New Guinea she stayed for two weeks with a cannibal king.

"He was the most delightful old man,' 'she said afterwards.

Miss Cheeseman explained that she was safe from cookpot because natives don't eat white people. And she didn't have to follow the natives' favorite diet, either, because not even native women were permitted to take part in cannibal feasts.

With Native Boys

Travelling only with native boys, and never armed, she has spent more than six years. altogether, on various expeditions in New Guinea alone.

Miss Cheeseman does not speak any native language, but picks up a word or two as she goes along In the jungle she wears a tunic bloomers and heavy-soled lacrosse boots.

Early in her career she decided to concentrate on collecting insects and plants in the Pacific area because the British Museum had hardly any specimens from there.

Insects she brought from the New Hebrides puzzled experts in London. And in New Guinea she found insects that enabled scientists to trace the land bridge that, ages ago, linked Australia and New Guinea to Asia through the Spice Islands and the Philippines.

Lambshead-Hampton Union

Chrysanthemums banked with ferns formed the setting in St. John's Anglican Church in Lakefield for the wedding of Myrtle Viola, daughter of Mr. John Hampton and the late Mrs. Hampton of Lakefield, to Murray Lewis Lambshead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lambshead of Burlington. The nuptial vows were pledged before the Rev. L. J. Delaney.

Before the service the "Lord's Prayer" was sung by Mrs. Mae Millage and at the signing of the register she sang "I Love You Truly." T he wedding music was played by Mrs. J. Twist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white satin with off-the-shoulder bodice inset edged with lace. The sleeves were long with lily points over her hands and the full skirt extended in a slight train. She wore a triangular veil of tulle that fell to three-quarter length and was caught to her head with orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of red roses and white carnations.

Miss Jean Lambshead of Burlington, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Her bouffant frock was of brocaded satin in aqua shade, styled with a sweetheart neckline, and she wore a heart-shaped hat of matching material and carried a Colonial nosegay of mixed flowers.

The bride's brother, Mr. Gordon Hampton, was groomsman, and the ushers were Lloyd Lambshead, brother of the groom, and Art Robson, both of Burlington.

A reception at the Lakefield Hotel followed the ceremony. The bride's aunt, Mrs. Wm. Stabler, received with the wedding party, gowned in Gainsborough blue crepe with a grey felt hat and corsage of pink roses. Also the groom's mother, who was wearing a wine gabardine suit with black hat and corsage of white carnations.

When leaving on a wedding trip to western Ontario the bride was wearing a grey gabardine suite, navy accessories and corsage of red roses. On return, the couple will live in Lakefield.

Couple Showered Before Wedding

Prior to her marriage Mrs. Donald Manley, formerly Dora Robertson, was entertained by her many friends at several showers. A kitchen shower was held by Mrs. Hugh Manley, and Mrs. Percy Adamson was hostess for a miscellaneous shower at her home.

Miss Evelyn Richardson held a personal shower, and joint hostesses for a cup and saucer shower were Mrs. Jack Miller and Miss Wilma Robertson. Mrs. Manley's associates at the Western Clock Company gave her a sandwich grill, and a bedroom chair was presented to the groom by his fellow-workers at the Brinton Carpet Company.

A sum of money was presented to the couple at a reception held at the home of the bride's father, William A. Robertson. Mr. and Mrs. H. Manley, parents of the groom, entertained at a community shower.

Business Woman Has Advantage Over Men Rivals

MONTREAL, —(CP)— A note to business men; If you want your business to be success, you need a few women employees.

That was the advice of the only two women delegates attending the sessions of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce here.

Mrs. Ruth J. Merriman, secretary-treasurer of the Brantford, Ont., Board of Trade and Marguerite Bourassa, secretary of the Three Rivers, Que., Board of Trade, said they think there are some phases of office work which are better handled by women.

Business men today, the two women believe, are beginning to recognize that contribution of feminine workers to industry.

Mrs. Merriman said she thinks women are capable of getting more co-operation from a man then "if he were approached in the usual masculine way."

For example, when Mrs. Merriman telephones a busy executive. he seldom bluntly refuses to speak to her or treats her impolitely. When he is told by his secretary it, is a feminine voice on the telephone, almost without exception, he will take the call.

Council Urges Alcohol Education

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — (CP) — The Ontario Provincial Council of Women Friday suggested steps it believes should be taken to start a scientific educational program on alcohol, alcoholism and related problems.

The suggestions were contained in a brief sent to Dr. J. G. Althouse, Ontario director of education, by Mrs. James Roberts, council president.

One recommendation was that parents as well as children should be educated about the problems. Another was that "proper" and adequate facilities" be established for clinical and hospital treatment and rehabilitation of alcoholics.

MotherShouldRest After Baby is Born

LONDON, Eng. —(CP)—Princess Elizabeth's obstetrician says mothers should stay in bed at least two weeks after their babies are born.

"I am a great believer in people getting up after operations," Sir William Gilliatt told a nursing conference.

"But I consider that there is nothing to be said for getting a normal mother up early after she has had her baby."

Sir William, who attended Princess Elizabeth when Prince Charles was born, said new mothers should be encouraged to do special exercises from the second day. But they should not get up for two weeks.

Blouse Fabrics Contain Perfume

MANCHESTER, Eng., (CP) — Blouses and lingerie are having perfume "built in" by a women's clothing company here.

The managing director of Princess Textiles, who thought of the idea, says:

"At the moment we are using one perfume only. It is worked into the fabric by a special process and present tests show that it lingers after three or four washings, often more, and we are out to better that.

"My wife suggested the design on the fabric, which includes cupids. love birds and clouds.

"We hope to supply this material in six distinctive perfumes to give the shopper a wide choice."

Indian Band Seeks Full Citizenship

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., (CP) — Metlakatla, picturesque and historic native village 10 miles west of here, may soon become the first Indian village of "Canadian" in Canada.

Culminating years of negotiation, an enfranchisement board will convene at Metlakatla for a hearing on the application of the Metlakatla band for enfranchisement as a whole.

Compliance with the application would have the effect of making Metlakatlans Canadians in all legal and citizenship respects. They would cast off their status as wards of the federal government under the provisions of the Indian Act.

While an anmendment of the Indian Act. passed in 1933, provided for such conversion in status, Metlakatla is the first native community in Canada to make such an application.

Steno's Warbling Lead to Career

VANCOUVER—(CP)—Comely Betty Philips was a stenographer who liked to sing. So, a year ago she gave up her job in favor of singing.

She still likes to sing, but with one of the busiest schedules of any singer in the city she says her old job was the easier one.

"In a lot of ways singing is harder than going to an office and being there eight hours."

Although having been on a full-time career for only a year, Betty has a weekly radio program of her own. It enjoys one of the best spots on the air, being piped into New York during early evening.

Guest appearances with the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra and participating in Theatre Under the Stars productions also have been on her schedule.

During her first season with Theatre Under the Stars, a city-owned outdoor theatre, which presents summer musicales, Betty graduated to leading roles.

She's continuing her studies here and doesn't intend to leave Vancouver until she's "sure of the next step."

SARI TROUBLES — Mrs. S. K. Kirpalani, wife of India's High Commissioner to Canada, finds the sari—ankle-length garment worn by women of India—unsuitable for year-'round wear in the North American climate. She often dons western dress, although at most social functions, she usually chooses one of the delicate eastern garments similar to the sari she is wearing in the picture.

Fashion Flashes

AN EXTENSION of the fur-lined cloth coat theme is noted in many Paris collections and imports purchased for copy here. For instance, Jean Desses showed a round-shouldered redingote of heavily ribbed black silk lined with stone marten, while Sciaparelli showed a straight coat with rounded shoulders, of brocaded satin, the fur lining attached by half a dozen big buttons at the front of the silk coat.

❖ ❖ ❖

COMING IN, after its big reception at Dior's showings, is the bloused line, already here in many coats and suits. In some designs, there is but a slight blousing in back; others, especially belted suits, are softly bloused all around. This fashion will be more definite in early Spring clothes.

❖ ❖ ❖

GOOD IDEA is that of a glove designer who has worked out a full line of calf-trimmed suede suede gloves, making it easy to tie up with calf or suede shoes or bags. Another group uses calf with alligator trim for the cuffs.

❖ ❖ ❖

DRESS UP your handbag with pretty accessories. Black velvet is used for a pretty cigarette trunk and matching compact, combined with gold plated metal. Comes in three colors too, such as blue, shocking and green.

❖ ❖ ❖

SHAGGY TOPS is what gives in the millinery world! Velours, beaver felts and hatter's plush are favorite materials rather than the smooth fur felts.

MERCY TRIP TOO LATE

WINNIPEG, Nov. 12—(CP) — An airplane race against death ended in failure Friday when a Yorkton, Sask., baby, less than a day old, died in the air on its way from Yorkton to hospital here. Airport officials said the baby, born to Mrs. H. C. Gibney in Yorkton, was suffering from a blood condition. The right type of blood was not available in Yorkton.

PEEVED AT ENGLISH REPORTERS, these girls take time out to smile a welcome to Canada as the Canadian Pacific's Empress of Canada reaches Montreal. "A lie," they shrilled when asked about the reporters' story that the girls had a "little red book" containing the names of 100 boy friends in Canada and the United States. They have only the names of a few American soldiers they met in England. And, besides, they were Toronto-bound looking for jobs, not husbands—"unless the right man . . ." But jobs first. Left to right: Nadine Taylor, 22, Bishops Stortford; June Redgrove, 21, originally from Sydney, Australia; and Joan Christmas, 20, London.

Sex Appeal Prime Necessity For Woman Seeking a Man

A girl asks me what qualities men like best in women. That's a hard question to answer because men's tastes in women differ as widely as their tastes in neckties, and a girl who attracts one man and sets his pulse aflutter falls flat with another and leaves him cold. And that is the mercy of Heaven to woman, or else one class of women would be polyandrists and the others all old maids.

Dorothy Dix

There are, however, a few charms and virtues in the feminine sex upon which practically all men unite, and which they universally admire.

The first of these is womanliness, which in its last analysis is doubtless sex appeal. At any rate, whenever you find a girl about whom men flock like flies around a honey pot, or a window who has always been able to marry as often as the occasion demanded, you will always find that she is a woman in whom feminitity has been raised to the 'nth power. If a girl has this mysterious quality, she does not need to possess either beauty or brains Whereved she goes men will rise up out of the earth to make dates with her, and open windows for her, and carry her bundles for her, and marry her, and spend the balance of their lives paying her bills.

No Cloud Talkers

Next to womanliness men like gentleness in a woman. Never yet have I seen a man who admired an aggressive woman, or a loud-talking woman, or a vituperative woman, or one who told smutty stories, or who swore and cursed, or a hard-boiled woman.

Sometimes men amuse themselves with the girl who is a wisecracker, or the girl who boasts that she is sophisticated and has no illusions left, or the girl who is cold and selfish and grasping, or the one who tells risque stories, or the loud girl who is the life of the party. But most men are afraid of her and steer clear of her. She gets on their nerves, and, anyway, she isn't the sort of a woman they want for wives.

Men like modesty in a woman and this goes both for body and mind. They like a woman who has declicate reserves and who does not strip away all the seven veils of illusion from about her person and soul.

Men like intelligence in a woman, but they want her to keep it under cover, so to speak. They like a woman to be clever enough to conceal how clever she is. Few men like feminine fools, but neither do they crave feminine highbrows. They want a woman who has brains enough to manage her own affairs, and to understand what they are doing and talking about, but they loathe a woman who is always showing off how smart she is and whose lightest conservation is on world affairs or atomic theory.

Tact Admired

Men like women who possess tact. They like women who know how to rub their fur the right way and who have an adroit hand at spreading the salve. Women who listen with bated breath while they talk about themselves and who, without saying so, can make a man feel as if he were seven feet high and as strong as Joe Louis and an oracle on every subject under the sun.

Men like women who are appreciative. A man doesn't want a woman to gush over him and tell him that he is the most marvelous thing on earth, but he adores having her show him that she thinks that he is a very remarkable man, and if he had his dues he would be president of the bank, or running the government. He doesn't want a girl to get out a brass band every time he takes her out, but he does want her to show that she is having a good time and that it is all due to him.

And every husband would forgive his wife every other fault under the sun if she would just show him how she appreciates how hard he works and how generous he is to her and the children.

Of course, men admire beauty in women, but if a girl is feminine and sweet and amiable and keeps a man entertained and jollies him along she can get along with a very small amount of pulchritude, or any girl looks good to a man who handles him with tact and says "think you" prettily.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Diplomatic Corps In Russia Target of Campaign of Hate

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent.

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP). — For a person used to the way of life of the western world, Russia presents "a strange dream world where there is no criticism at all and where all values are topsy-turvy."

That's the opinion of Mrs. C. W. Boswell, wife of the former New Zealand minister to Moscow, who recently returned after five years in Russia.

In the first public comment she or her husband have made since their return, Mrs. Boswell said, "I know now that the philosophy and way of life is so different from anything we have known that it sounds incredible."

She admits she didn't always think so. "When I went to Moscow over five years ago I had a long arguments with one of the Commonwealth ministers about Communism. At the end, when I said that I had an open mind about the system, he said, 'Well, wait and see'."

"During our first two years my husband and I were mildly amused to read reports in the New Zealand press that the Boswells were living in luxury in Moscow. At that time, at the end of the war, we stayed at the National Hotel in Moscow. The place catered specially for diplomats, and the food was the best available. But it was still so bad that it was inedible. In the first eight months I lost 13 pounds.

"At last we were allowed to have a hot-plate in our room and could buy 40 per cent of our food at the special diplomatic shop and cook it ourselves. Even so, if the British had not shared some of their food we would almost have starved, as our own food from New Zealand was lost. Each evening we would have a tin of beans, herrings or peas for dinner, and sometimes we would wake up in the middle of the night and just talk about food. It is still the favorite topic of conversation among all the 150 foreign diplomats.

No One Dares Complain

The transport is bad and the housing situation terrible. Still, no one dares say so, whether they are Russians or foreign visitors."

"During the last 12 months the diplomatic corps has been the target of a campaign of hate. During the first couple of years we were in Moscow, people in the streets would talk to diplomats, children would accept candy and, although women would not visit them, they would talk freely when they met.

"I learned Russian for three years nad could speak the language fluently. When I went to the villages and homes I was able to get to know the people well. All that changed in the last couple of years. People would not even smile at us in the streets. Children would run away from us. We could never meet an educated Russian. We could speak only to certain officials at public functions, for perhaps five or 10 minutes, and we saw only one or two wives of these officials at the larger state functions.

"If we held a dinner or reception, a few wives of officials or artists would come. But they would never visit us otherwise. They would make all kinds of excuses, often at the last minute, and then conclude, 'We do not think it very wise'."

Mrs. Boswell said she became friendly with a famous woman who held a responsible position. She gave her a pair of shoes from New Zealand. But the woman finally asked her foreign friends not to try to find her. When they did not hear of her again and did not know whether she had been dismissed or retired.

Staff Removed

"In the last few months members of Mr. Boswell's staff began to disappear," said Mrs. Boswell. "My Russian teacher just did not turn up one day and we heard no more about her. Then our housekeeper did not arrive. All the teachers of Russian employed by foreigners also vanished.

"Although there was little difficulty in obtaining domestics through the official bureau, they could never stay long. Probably it was to ensure that they did not become too fond of foreigners."

Mrs. Boswell said she and her husband were invited to visit a child hostel and asked to return again some months later. For her second visit, she had collected a large number of Christmas cards for the children. A Union official escorted her everywhere, watched while she spoke to the children and finally inspected all the Christmas cards.

He put four on one side, but said the rest, which were chiefly of the robin and snow variety, would be permitted. The remaining four were pictures of houses in New Zealand. The children were not allowed to see them in case comparisons were made.

"We once showed a New Zealand film to a group of servants," Mrs. Boswell continued. "They thought it very pretty, but could not believe that each house was for only one family — they are so used to thinking of a home in terms of one room.

"Altogether our time in Moscow was a frustrating experience. It was like living in a strange dream world, where there is no criticism at all and all values are topsy-turvy. I don't think we will ever be quite the same again."

Lumber Jackets Tight Skirts In Fath Collection

PARIS, Nov. 12 (AP).—Lumber jackets, in every sort of material from tulle to fleecy wool and suitable for all occasions from ball games to elegant soirees, dominated Jacque Fath's mid-season fashion show this week.

Fath also showed large, face-framing, white starched pique and glazed linen collars; new halter-necked bodices, lot of extremely tight, straight skirts and, unlike other designers, many full-length evening dresses.

All the lumber jackets he shows are casual looking affairs, cut along the same lines as a man's shirt, but the collars and cuffs are extremely wide and stiffened. He uses French seams throughout and ropes all fullness tightly into the waist with black patent leather belts.

They all have buttons and buttonholes set down the front from top to bottom, but these are evidently just decoration.

Criticizes Women's Resolutions On Liquor Control

TORONTO, Nov. 12 (CP). — Mrs. J. R. Futcher of St. Thomas describes as futile a resolution passed recently by a mass meeting here requesting appointment of a woman member of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario.

Mrs. Futcher, President of the Ontario Women's Institutes, spoke Wednesday to the WI Central Ontario Area Convention.

She also criticized the meeting's request for a commission to investigate liquor sales.

"A commission takes a long time to report," she said. "I feel the moment is ripe for action. I feel the Government is receptive now."

The convention today will discuss three resolutions proposed by Mrs. Futcher. She asked for an educational campaign on liquor sponsored by the Ontario Government and abolition of drinking places attended by both sexes.

Fashion Flashes

VERY FEW bouffant ball gowns, except for debutante wear, appear in the new collections. Black or white silk satin is used for a ball gown cut on molded body lines that extends into low, flared fulness. A petal collar frames the low, heart-shaped decolletage.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE BIG FEATURE of practically every garment this Fall is the pocket, ranging from a tiny mad-money sleeve pocket to big bellows pockets. A pretty frock for late afternoon wear has a deep, scooped-out neckline top of black Chantilly-type lace over nude marquisette. The skirt of silk taffeta with intricate draping that forms deep pockets.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALL SORTS of velvet accessories are on hand to give emphasis to the basic dress. For instance, a simple frock of sheer woollen or crepe would get a big lift if treated to a pair of black satin panels. These are mounted on a braided satin sash and are lined at the hem with stiff crinoline for extra flare.

✧ ✧ ✧

EMPHASIS is still on blue, with many new shades for Winter wear. Such shades include a soft, frayed blue that suggests blue spruce, and it goes handsomely with winter navy, grey, taupe or wine. It is handsome in polished calf, used for a box bag with swivel handles, and matching plain pumps. As with many of the new, better bags, no metal is visible.

✧ ✧ ✧

A NICE BRIDGE between late Summer and early Fall millinery is provided by the beret. Beaver or plain fur felt is used for a handsome beret that cups the cheek at one side and is marked at the opposite, off-the-hairline side by high, shooting quills.

Labor Attacks High Court; Dislikes Ruling

By ANTHONY WHITLOCK

SYDNEY, (CP) — Australia's High Court is under fire by Labor government members following its decision that the government's "free medicine" act is partly invalid.

Labor members say that if they get back into power at the December elections they will have to pack the High Court so that Labor legislation will be treated on its merits."

One proposal they are discussing among themselves is that four or six new judges be added to the present seven. To justify their proposal they claim that there is more work for the court than can be done by the present judges, some of whom, they say, are virtually incapacitated by age.

Previous big setbacks to Labor legislation by the High Court include the decision that the government's act to nationalize banks was unconstitutional; the verdict that the government's wartime rationing of gasoline was now illegal; and the refusal of the court to allow the government to monopolize air transport within the dominion.

Judge For Life

The High Court was established at confederation in 1901, when three judges were appointed. Appointments are for life and no judge may be removed from office unless the governor-general in council, or an address from both Houses of Parliament, decides he has misbehaved or is incapable.

No judge has ever been considered incapable, but several of the present ones have been attacked publicly by leading government members, especially the left-wing minister for transport and external territories, Edward J. Ward, and the speaker, Solomon Rosevear. They claim that the High Court has not moved with the times and is undemocratic in outlook.

All Over 60

Among the judges they attack are Sir George Rich, now 86, who was appointed in 1913, and Sir Hayden Starke, aged 78, appointed in 1920. The present chief justice, Sir John Latham, now 72, was appointed in 1935. The only Chifley government appointee, Sir William Webb, 62, was named in 1946. Sir William is well-known as president of the International War Crimes Tribunal which sat in Tokyo.

Although the High Court is the final arbiter in Australia on constitutional matters, there still remains the final resort to the Privy Council in London. Labor party policy is to abolish the right of this appeal to London but the government here has done nothing about it. In fact, when the High Court found that the Bank Nationalization Act was invalid, the government promptly appealed to the Privy Council. The Privy Council confirmed the High Court finding.

The High Court has several times ruled that it can reverse previous High Court decisions. If, therefore, the Chifley government is re-elected, appoints pro-Labor judges and abolishes the right of appeal to the Privy Council there is every likelihood that socialization laws at present held invalid may yet come into operation.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Expansion Chances Offered By Novel House Designs

(From Home Building in Canada)

Many hopeful home-builders when faced with builders' estimates for homes with three bedrooms and separate dining-room, find their building funds hopelessly inadequate and regretfully give up plans for their dream home in favor of almost anything that will serve their immediate needs.

But what about the future? Families grow and three bedrooms may be urgently needed.

Houses Can Grow, Too

As an alternative, increased attention is now being given to the one and two bedroom house, complete and adequate for a small family, designed, planned and built to grow with the family.... the Expansible House. Changing modes of living, new materials, and modern construction methods present fresh design opportunities for this type of dwelling.

A small house can be planned for expansion and growth and planning is of the greatest importance.

A complete house is planned first. It is then separated into its logical parts and the sequence of additions is determined, always bearing in mind that the house must be complete in appearance and function at each stage. The basis unit must provide all the facilities for the normal life of a small family—living-room, bedroom, bath, dining space, kitchen, closets and storage space, heating equipment, hot water heater, and laundry facilities— even though some of the rooms may have to serve two purposes.

Good Circulation Most Important

All stages in the progress of the expansion should be so planned that there is no waste space, and so there is convenient circulation from room to room. Additions should be designed so there is the least possible disturbance to occupants while building is in progress.

Materials should be selected for permanent use For instance, plywood might be used for an exterior wall which will later become an interior wall. Openings to later additions should be framed for their final purpose in the early stages; a window can be installed in a space framed for a future door.

Utility services— pipes, ducts, cables—which will be needed for later additions should be roughed in at first to save ripping out and rebuilding.

Placement of the house on the lot is an important consideration. Its livability is affected by the relation of rooms to sunlight, prevailing winds, and desirable views, which vary from one location to another.

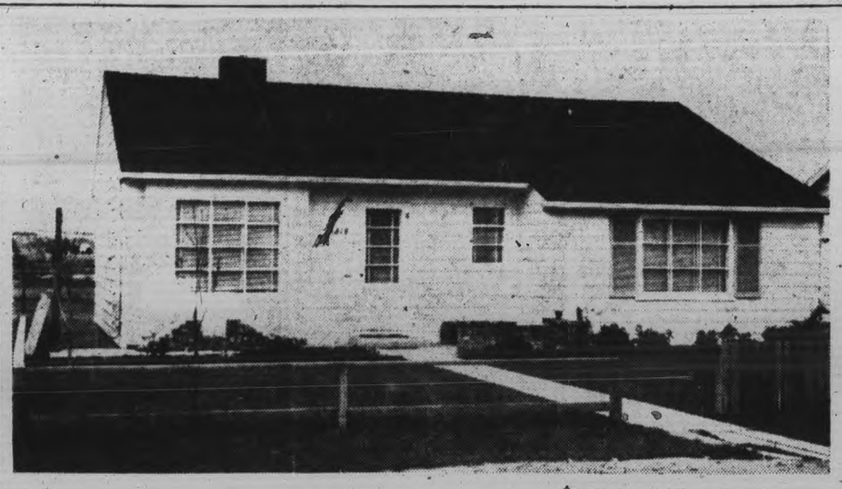
The lot for an Expansible House must be big enough to accommodate the basic house and all extensions. There must be enough space left over for side and rear yard areas required in the locality. Front yard restrictions, established by the local building line, must be checked for proper placement of the Expansible House relative to future additions. The usual precautions should be taken with respect to survey, title and deed.

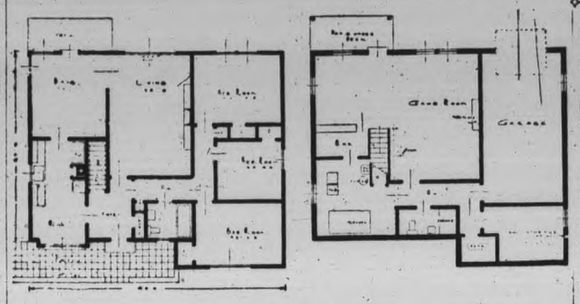
Building Restrictions May Complicate

Community restrictions included in zoning ordinances or restrictive covenants in deeds, should be carefully checked. They may control the size and price of a house built in a given locality, ruling out the first unit of an Expansible House as a dwelling, even though the expanded house would meet all other requirements. Conversely, an Expansible House should not be located in a neighborhood of all small houses where the completed house would be largest—its value in the event of sale may be lowered by average appraisals in the community.

If family needs do not grow, there may be no need for expansion. Yet if the basic unit is a complete house in function and appearance, there should be no question of permanent value since there is increasing evidence of the need for single-bedroom houses.

The cost of building a house in separate stages would ordinarily be higher than building it all at once, but careful planning will keep additional costs to a minimum. In general, the greater ultimate cost will be more than offset by savings in maintenance, interest, taxes, and insurance during the period between building the basic unit and the later additions. Any decease in building costs in the interval between the stages will result in savings that will be cumulative throughout the mortgage period.





HOUSE NO. 121—Taking advantage of a lot which sweeps down towards the rear, this house, although appearing to be a one-storey cottage, has two well-developed levels. Principal windows in both instances look to the rear to take in the fine vista. On the basement level there is a garage, food storage room, cedar closet, washroom with shower stall, furnace room, and a huge bright recreation room with built-in bar and an electric fireplace. Upstairs we find a splendid kitchen, with breakfast nook overlooking the front garden, a dining room with access to a sun deck at the rear, a living room of excellent proportions and three bedrooms with a convenient bathroom. It will be noted the sleeping area of the house is well separated from the living area, yet the bathroom is easily accessible to both. There is an abundance of both windows and closet space in this design. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Asks Beach Shorelines Erosion-Protected

GRIMSBY, Nov. 12 (CP) — Ontario government assistance to build up beaches to protect shorelines from erosion was urged Friday by S. H. Fleming of St. Catharines, secretary of the Ontario Shore and Beach Preservation Association.

He told the Ontario legislature's six-man select committee on soil conservation that such beaches also would provide recreation facilities for Ontario residents and for tourists.

Presenting a brief from his association, he also recommended that the provinces establish a department of conservation, that experimental projects be set up on Crown lands and that municipalities be permitted to issue debentures or spend other funds on anti-erosion work.

After setting out Friday from Toronto, the committee viewed erosion damage along the Lake Ontario shoreline at Oakville, Burlington and Bronte.

Get Two Bulls Mixed At Royal Winter Fair

TORONTO, Nov 12 (CP) -Two exhibitors at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair grounds here got their bulls mixed up Friday The eight-day fair opens Tuesday

Cause of the ruckus was the striking resemblance between Keystone Lord Valentine, of Dolorain, Man., and Cherrybank Sir John of Bell's Corners, Ont., near Ottawa.

John Bompass thought he saw his bull, Cherrybank, in the cattle barns and challenged Thomas Hathaway, who was tending it. But Hathaway said it was Keystone.

The two argued. They compared photographs, and discovered the bulls were identical twins.

On checking it was found Cherrybank, sure enough, was contentedly chewing the cud back at Bell's Corners.

Military Courts Get Great Power

BOGOTA, Nov. 12 — (AP) — Military courts today took over much of Colombia's judicial authority under the state of siege imposed by the Conservative Government at the height of the bloody presidential election campaign.

A government decree gives military courts broad powers to investigate cases of subversive activity against the state of siege, and to try offences against public security.

Bogota remained calm, and so did most of the rest of the country, although there were unconfirmed reports from the interior of clashes between the Liberals and Conservatives.

The government also has prohibited sale of intoxicating liquor during the state of siege. The capital and some of the principal cities of this country remained under curfew and police and army units continued to patrol the streets.

The Ministry of Commerce issued rules against hoarding food or gasoline or speculating in either. Fixed prices are to be rigidly enforced.

President Mariano Ospina Perez, who clamped on the state of siege Wednesday in the face of a threat by the liberal-controlled congress to impeach him, said the modified Marshall law would remain in effect as long as it was necessary to eliminate the conditions which brought it about. Hundreds have been reported killed in Colombia in clashes between Liberals and Conservatives in connection with the election scheduled for Nov. 27.

Minister Warns Got No Science Way To Peace

MILLBROOK, Nov. 12 (ENS)— "We must give up the idea that we can save the peace with our scientific inventions. We have to turn to God to give up social prejudices," the Rev. T. G. Husser said at the Remembrance Day service of Cavan township and village of Millbrook, in St. Andrew's Church.

Branch 402 of the Legion and the Women's Auxiliary had gathered at the Legion hall to march led by the Port Hope Sea Cadets' Band, to St. Andrew's, where they were met by the Guides and school children who had assembled at the Armouries under the leadership of M. C. S. band with drum majorette Hazel Rowe. The Guides were under the leadership of Mrs. Guy MacKay and H. V. Kent directed the M. C. S. band.

Sgt. Major Deyell gave the commands to the Legion. The Rev. C. M. MacLean, Legion padre, and rector of St. Thomas Church received the Union Jack from Ted Scott, the Legion banner from Hugh Blair and the Girl Guides' flag from Margaret MacKay. He also led in the prayers.

The Rev. W. Patterson of Grace Presbyterian Church led in the responsive reading and read the first scripture lesson.

Mrs. G. A. Spicer sang and the second lesson was read by Mr. Husser.

At the brief service which followed at the war memorial, where Mr. MacLean was in charge Reeve Robert Armstrong of Cavan read the honor rolls of those from Cavan who died in both wars and Reeve Dr. J. W. Wright of Millbrook read the honor rolls for Millbrook.

The provincial wreath was laid on the war memorial by the oldest member of the Legion, Trooper Roy Reynolds of the Royal Dragoons, a veteran of the South African war.

The Legion wreath is always laid by someone who had lost a son in the war. This year it was Mrs. Bingham who placed it at the base of the memorial. A wreath in memory of their son, Charles Turner, was also presented by Mr. and Mrs. Turner.

After the Last Post, two minutes' silence and Reveille, Mr MacLean pronounced the benediction.

Refreshments were served to the veterans at the Legion Hall.

Request Conciliation

TORONTO, Nov. 12 — (CP) — Conciliation services of the Ontario Labor Department are being sought in a contract dispute between the Toronto Transportation Commission and the Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees Union (AFL). The union's Local 113 is asking for wage increases totalling nearly $1,000,000 for 5,000 employees.

Students Suggest New Scholarships At ISS Conference

MONTREAL, Nov. 12 (CP) — The International Student Service of Canada will place a request before the Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences next Wednesday in Toronto asking the Federal government to use frozen funds realized from overseas sale of war surplus material to finance exchange scholarships as now carried out by the United States under the Fulbright Act.

This was announced here Friday, at the opening of the fourth annual conference of the Canadian I.S.S. at the University of Montreal where 70 students and faculty delegates from 20 Canadian universities met for three-day sessions.

The I.S.S. brief already is in the hands of the Royal Commission and representatives of the group will appear at next Wednesday's hearing in Toronto.

In addition to the scholarship recommendation which seeks exchange of students between Canada and European countries, the group will ask that the Canadian sponsored I.S.S. seminar abroad be put on an annual basis with support from federal funds.

The seminar held last August in Breda, Holland, has met for two years during the summer months and is attended by more than 100 Canadian and European students.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Royal Winter Fair Next Week Great Climax to Canada's Agricultural Year . . . Junior Farmers Going Wednesday . . . Monday's Forum Discusses New Opportunities for Recreation.

The Royal Winter Fair in Toronto next week is the final agricultural show of 1949. It is the district fall fair magnified to national proportions on the elaborate stage of the buildings of the CNE.

The competitive entries of the Royal bring together a great display of the best products of Canada's foremost industry. Exhibits are expected from the U.S.A., especially in the livestock and seed and grain branches.

The Royal comes at the end of the harvest and the late season's work when farms are tucked in for the winter. It extends a strong attraction to Ontario farmers. Thousands of them will take time from their home rounds for this trip to Toronto.

The Royal accommodation for 1,200 horses, 2,200 cattle, 1,200 sheep, 1,000 swine, 8,000 poultry. The horse show is a spectacle in itself, and its evening program affords a fine ending to a day's interest in the judging of the many classes of stock.

Beauty reigns in the Flower Court with something like 6,000 roses in an expansive centre piece, flanked by a grand display of chrysanthemums. The Royal Theatre offers demonstrations sponsored by the federal Department of Agriculture, films, radio broadcasts. The pavilion and the display concourse are other sections which amplify the attractions of the Royal, making it one of the outstanding shows on the continent glorifying agriculture.

JUNIORS BUS TRIP

Peterborough Junior Farmers have arranged a bus trip for Wednesday, Nov. 16, leaving the King St. terminal at 8 a.m. Transport and tickets to the night show cost $4.25. Juniors have tickets for the trip, and there is also a supply at the office of Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative.

Peterborough representatives in the judging competitions Monday, Nov. 14, are Lorne Pimmett, Burritt Mann and Don Milburn. Accomanied by their coach, Robert Bell, assistant agricultural representative, they have been "working out" with Durham and Victoria teams during the last ten days, making trips throughout the district as far as Stouffville, and winding up at OAC Friday.

✦ ✦ ✦

"NOT BY BREAD ALONE"

Pertinent to the Forum subject Monday night is this quotation from an address by Charles Shuman, president, Illinois Agricultural Association: "Some farmers look upon their increased efficiency as a means to expand operations greatly to make more and more money. Perhaps they forget that "man shall not live by bread alone." New tools, more power, greater efficiency, should means more time to live, greater opportunities for recreation and earlier retirement. Let us use some of these gains in efficiency to provide more time for real living, more time for recreation and vacations, more time for religion and education."

DISCUSS COARSE GRAINS

The Canadian and Ontario Federations of Agriculture are looking into price and marketing of coarse grains and their relationship to livestock prices and program. A meeting has been called for Wednesday Nov. 16 in Toronto of representatives from both east and west to discuss the situation.

✦ ✦ ✦

MONDAY'S FORUM

Farm Radio Forum subject for Monday night is rural recreation. Its challenging title is "All Work ——?"

The Guide comments this week: "We've all seen the tragedy of the man who worked hard to get rich, and then when he had made money he found that he did not know how to enjoy himself. Such men have never learned to relax. They drive themselves constantly, and, when they have a free hour, don't know what to do with it. Recreation has never had any meaning for them."

Farm leaders recognize in the avenues of recreation a means toward expanding the spirit of cooperation. Recreation brings people together, cultivates social interests extending from the personality to the community and its life.

Farmers are more concerned than ever about recreational affairs. Durham county Federation has invested in a summer park. The people of Otonabee township are completing a skating and curling rink the expense of which was undertaken as a community investment. Their curling club dormant for years, is one of the oldest in the province, and is about to be revived.

Farmers have been cultivating forms of recreation from their own initiative. The younger generation is seeing more of the country than their fathers did. The junior organizations are developing social affairs in all the counties of Ontario. Simcoe county has a director of recreation, Miss Louise Colley. Membership of her swimming classes has increased from 30 to 1,000. Her success in recreational leadership was facilitated by the development of community interests before Miss Colley was engaged.

STRICTLY FOR GOURMETS—Mrs. Frantisek Nemec's pastry shop is the talk of Ottawa's diplomatic corps. The blonde wife of a Czechoslovakian diplomat who quit his job when Communists seized his country is specializing in European delicacies. Sampling them after an official opening are Mayor E. A. Bourque of Ottawa; Mrs. Laurence Steinhardt, wife of the United States ambassador, and Mrs. Nemec.

✦ ✦ ✦

PEA GROWERS MEET

Local pea growers re-elected their officers at their meeting here this week. John Lillico is president, Harold Tate vice president and Harold Millen, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Lillico, Mr. Millen and Clayton Sanderson were appointed a committee to interview G. S. Matthews of Canada Packers about the canning prospects for next season. The meeting recommended that field contracts should not exceed 60 acres to one viner.

✦ ✦ ✦

INVITING CITY GUESTS

Peterborough Federation of Agriculture is indebted to the Rev. Walter Gilling of St. Luke's Church as speaker on agencies of United Nations, and to Mr. Charles E. Allen, musical director at George St. United Church, for the interesting program features of the first of the new season's luncheon meetings.

The next meeting as announced by John Kitney, secretary, has been arranged for Tuesday Dec. 6. Members of service clubs who have been hosts to farmers from time to time are to be guests. It is going to be an occasion of returning hospitality. Mr. Kitney said that each Federation member is expected to bring as guest some service club friend.

Details of this meeting are being prepared by the executive, and will be announced later.

✦ ✦ ✦

SEEK MARKET FOR BEANS

Consider the worries of the Ontario Bean Marketing Board with 1,200,000 bushels of this year's crop on their hands, and thank goodness you are not in the bean belt.

The strongly entrenched industry of the processed bean, selling in cans ready for the table, appears to be a high hurdle of opposition that would daunt the most optimistic growers, hoping and planning to market their surplus.

Frank C. Paterson recently mentioned this crop, and estimated the supply at something like 1,000 car loads. Since then, the Board has been to Ottawa consulting Agriculture and Trade Department officials.

Possibility of finding export outlets was canvassed. Last year more than 440,000 bushels went to Palestine, Greece, France and Ireland. In the meantime the Board has decided on a selling campaign at home. They intend to use advertising and packaging as a means of distribution through retail stores. Within a few weeks they plan to have their product appearing in two-pound packages and larger "family size" packages or cartons.

The promoters of this project must be sanguine men as they line up their light resources against the established demand for baked beans in the can, backed by years of advertising in daily newspapers and magazines.

Farmers elsewhere will wish their fellows in Elgin, Kent and several other western Ontario counties material results from this enterprise.

The baked white bean in casserole, cooked with bacon until the strips are reduced to a mere shadow and not even the outline is left of the individual bean, is probably a man's dish. The group of Peterborough business men who were once the guests of the late Fred Field east of Harwood may still remember with relish his dinner that began with cocktails and finished with Jersey ice cream. Beans en casserole were only incidental, but the guests made a gustatory set on them, and not a crumb was left.

But, how many housewives would cook beans like that, even if they were as expert as the late John Trombley who used to provide an occasional treat for the C.G.E. Anglers at Rice Lake?

The Bean Marketing Board has probably reckoned its chances in this coming tilt with the handy can-opener, and in their financial interest it is to be hoped that they open up receptive markets somewhere about the world. With exchange complications such as they have been this last year, the western Ontario producers need more patience and aggressiveness than they have had to call up in a long time.

T. B. TEST PROGRESS

Eighteen reactor cattle in the T.B. retest in this county are reported by Dr. G. R. Penhall of the federal veterinary service. Up to Nov. 9, the number of cattle tested was 14,449 in 860 herds.

ADVICE BY PROF. R. G. KNOX

Sale of livestock and livestock products in Ontario produces 70 to 75% of the gross revenue of agriculture, Prof. R. G. Knox, head of the Department of Animal Husbandry, O.A.C., emphasized recently.

"The livestock industry should be looked upon as a processing industry, converting forages, roughages, grains and byproducts into an ultimate edible product acceptable to both domestic and export markets, while the by-products serve to maintain the fertility of our soil.

Hence, conservation on Ontario farms definitely links the soil, the crops and livestock.

Comparatively rolling rough soils can be brought into profitable production by draining where necessary, rough working the surface, and seeding to suitable improved pasture mixtures. and at the same time increasing the fertility by manuring in spring and top dressing with a suitable fertilizer mixture."

Prof. Knox quotes the results of rough pasture experiments for three years at O. A. C.

"In 1947: 20 yearlings, initial weight 10,080 lbs; total gain on 12 acres 3,700 lbs.; average per acre—308 lbs. (of beef).

In 1948: 12 two-year-olds, initial weight 9,235 lbs.; total gain on 12 acres 2, 627 lbs.; average per acre—219 lbs.

In 1949: 16 yearlings, initial weight,—9,090 lbs.; total gain on 12 acres—3,710 lbs.; average per acre, 309 lbs.

Total gain per acre for three years. . .836 lbs.

This gain was made at an approximate expense to date of $50 an acre, which was 5.9 cents a pound.

If the Ontario farmer is to interest and retain highly attractive market for beef cattle. he must produce a maximum of high quality pastures and feed at low cost. He must make continuous use of pre bred sires of known ancestry, balance his rations efficently and insure the health of his stock, "Prof. Knox advised."

Boat Upsets Marmora Pair Saved

One Man Unconscious When Pulled Out; Help From Belleville

MARMORA, Nov. 14—(ENS)—Two Marmora men, Herbert Wright and James Allan McGarvey, narrowly escaped drowning early Sunday afternoon as the punt in which they were proceeding up Beaver Creek towards their hunting camp capsized.

They were in the vicinity of Lynch's Mill when the upset was caused by their dogs suddenly moving toward the front of the boat.

McGarvey was soon in difficulties, sinking twice. His companion endeavoured to keep him afloat, at the same time calling to Hiram Revoir, of Trent River, who was alone in his boat, to come to their aid.

Another man, member of another hunting party, was also in his boat awaiting companions and he assisted Revoir with the rescue of McGarvey, by this time unconscious.

Wright immediately started resuscitation and instructed the other man to relieve him. After about 20 minutes the two men felt that more help was necessary, so when Harold Landon arrived he drove McGarvey and Wright to Dr. W. J. Donevan's office.

Get Results

Here further resuscitation, which brought results, was carried out by H. Landon, H. Wright, John Fox and Don Robertson, each of whom had received training at Deloro. Dr. Donevan phoned to Belleville for an ambulance and to Belleville Fire Chief for the inhalator.

McGarvey was taken to Belleville General Hospital.

Wright, on the other hand, appeared to be little the worse for his immersion.

A report later Sunday from Belleville stated that McGarvey had been placed in an oxygen tent and had revived sufficiently to be able to recognize his wife there.

REPRESENTATIVES of Canadian universities, labor, industry and the Canadian Bar Association met at North Hatley over the weekend to prepare a program to be followed in their study of the present condition of the legal profession in Canada. Ontario Halts Second Mortgage Loans

TORONTO, Nov. 14 — (CP) — The Ontario Government is suspending its plan of granting second-mortgage loans on new houses, a planning department official announced today.

The official said a letter has been sent to lending institutions and builders telling them no applications for second-mortgage loans will be accepted after Dec. 31.

The plan was started some 18 months ago to enable individuals to obtain sufficient money to make down-payments on new homes. The official said under the federal government's new housing policy, announced recently, down-payments required under the National Housing Act are expected to be reduced, eliminating the necessity of loans from the provinces.

More than 10,000 loans totalling $13,000,000 have been made during the period that the provincial loans have been in operation.

Prince Charles Observes His First Birthday Today

LONDON, Nov. 14—(CP)—Birthday greetings and gifts from all parts of Canada reached Prince Charles in his cream-walled nursery at Clarence House today, his first birthday. Were the infant prince, playing merrily with bricks, toys and furry animals, old enough to identify them he would know that Canadians in every walk of life—from far-western school children to Maritime fisher folk—were thinking of him.

Prince Charles, who recently embarked on the toddling stage, was literally bombarded with gifts all morning. They were opened in the presence of Princess Elizabeth, by his nurse, Miss Helen Lightbody.

There was a family party—with a one-candle cake weighing twice the Prince's 24 pounds. Among the guests were Prince Charles' five-year-old cousin, Prince Richard, son of the Duke of Gloucester, and some little girls whose families have palace connections.

One "very special" parcel arrived by air from Malta. It was from his father, the Duke of Edinburgh, whose naval service prevented him from enjoying a birthday "romp" with Prince Charles.

For one so young, Charles has exerted great influence on life outside his environment. He has set nursery fashions for children all over the world. He has influenced the toy trade to the extent that celluloid ducks and plastic fish have been sold overseas on the recommendation "as used in the Royal bath."

Has a Batman

Already the Prince has a batman—15-year-old Michael Sawyer, son of a Chatham policeman, who joined the staff at Clarence House recently as trainee nursery footman.

Michael's job includes keeping Charles pram spick and span, caring for his clothes and playing with him. The two are described as great pals.

So far few cameramen have succeeded in catching a smile on the face of the young Prince, but members of the Royal household refer to him as a happy baby with an infectious chuckle.

Charles has taken his first steps alone, official court correspondents said Saturday. Also, they reported, he has six teeth and weighs 24½ pounds.

What's more, he talks, although his vocabulary is limited. He says three words distinctly:

Mum-mums for his mother, papa for his father, nan nan for Nurse Lightbody.

Up till now Charles' life has been as care free as possible, though even his nursery days are governed by strict rules as to feeding, clothing and sleeping. His bedtime is never delayed and he is never, under any circumstances, disturbed after it.

Pearson Gets Going Over By Vishinsky

Soviet Official Says Canadian's Speech "Slanderous Lies"

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Nov. 14—(CP)—Andrei Y. Vishinsky today made a direct verbal attack on Canada's external affairs minister for his assertion that Russia threatens the world with a new aggressive imperialism.

The Soviet foreign minister said L. B. Pearson indulged in "slanderous falsification" in an address Sept. 26 before the United Nations assembly.

Referring to Pearson by name, Vishinsky made the unusual personal thrust in the assembly's 59-member political committee at the opening of debate on Russia's proposal for a peace pact among the Big Five powers and a call for assembly condemnation of the United States and Britain for "preparations for a new war."

Pearson is chairman of the committee.

Vishinsky said there was not a "whit of truth" in Pearson's statement which included charges that the Soviet peace pact proposal seemed to be propaganda and that Russia ignored civil-mongering, apparently a reference to the Soviet-Yugoslav conflict.

1st Deer Prosecution

LITTLE CURRENT, Nov. 14—(CP)—In the first prosecution on Manitoulin Island this year for jacklighting deer, Morris Mount, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., steelworker, was fined $100 and costs Saturday and his gun confiscated. In jacklighting a spotlight is used to attract game and make the animal "freeze" while the hunter shoots. Harold Walker, described as Mount's companion, was fined $10 and costs and his gun seized for carrying a loaded firearm in a motor vehicle.

Unionists Clash At Toronto Davenport Gates

Violence broke out early today at the CGE plant on Davenport Rd. when a group of about 30 Steel Workers started handing out leaflets bearing on the left and right wing split in the UE. A crowd of nearly 200 UE workers was said to be also present.

Heading the leaflet distributors were Murray Cotterill, president of the Toronto Labor Council and a member of the CCL Political Action Committee, and Larry Bennett, organizer of the United Steel Workers (CIO-CCL).

The leaflets were said to bear the CIO and Canadian Congress of Labor side of the dispute involving the UE which has been expelled from the CIO in the United States. Similar action has not yet been taken by the CCL in Canada.

Blows were exchanged but nobody was injured so far as can be learned from Canadian Press reports.

Jack Bettes, district agent for the UE, charged that one of the group of leaflet distributors at the gate tried to "slug" one of the workers with a length of pipe. He was said to have been disarmed of the weapon.

Knocked Down

Cotterill was knocked to the ground but finally managed to get to his feet, and continued distributing the leaflets.

Bennett, an ex-boxer, next became involved in a clash with a pro-UE man, and the fight broke up after a few blows were exchanged.

Another flurry of fighting broke out last Wednesday when CCL organizer passed around leaflets at the Davenport plant urging the workers to affiliate with the new CIO—electrical workers union.

A CCL Committee has stated it is ready to provide protection for CCL organizers at the CGE plant in Toronto.

Henry Rhodes, regional director of the CCL, stated:

"The CCL is prepared to wholeheartedly support any workers in the UE who are prepared to rise up and shake off the Communist domination. By doing so they will be only indicating a willingness to accept congress policies."

Expect 100 Municipalities Will Receive Grants In Lieu Of Any Taxation

Believe Legislation In Effect January 1 Abbott Tells Commons, Payments To Be 71% Of Municipal Tax

OTTAWA, Nov. 14—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott today in the Commons disclosed the government's plan to pay approximately 100 of Canada's municipalities about $5,000,000 a year as Federal grants in lieu of taxation. The plan, based on three assessment principles, will be incorporated in government legislation to be introduced during the current session and expected to be brought into effect next Jan. 1. Based on the philosophy that establishment of Federal property helps local business, the government's payments generally will amount to 75 per cent of the municipal tax, less four per cent.

The four per cent. is what the government considers is the "national average" of federal property to total local assessment.

Towns and cities where Federal property is less than four per cent. of total assessment will get tapering off grants for three years and then will get no Federal grants.

Ottawa—an exception to the plan—will receive grants which will total $400,000 in 1949—an increase of $100,000 from last year's payments. Future grants will be based on national capital development expenditures.

Crown companies, defence establishments, parks and the CNR are exempt from the plan. But these organizations, Mr. Abbott said in a 6,000 word statement, can work out a system of payments with the municipalities.

If any of the municipalities want, they can ask that the "formula grant" be given to them instead of making independent agreements with the Crown companies and others.

EXPECT 100

Govt. Attempts To Shut Off Combine Debate

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP) — The government attempted in the Commons today to shut off discussion on circumstances that led to the resignation of F. A. McGregor, Combines Investigation Commissioner.

Prime Minister St. Laurent rose on a point of order when George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, began referring to Mr. McGregor's case during debate on a bill amending the combines investigation act.

Mr. St. Laurent said the Commons debated Mr. McGregor's resignation last Monday. There was a Commons rule which said that there could not be two debates on the same subject.

Mr. Drew, Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) and John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) objected and were still arguing the point at the luncheon adjournment hour.

Speaker Ross Macdonald said he would make a ruling after he had heard the representations of the members.

Most Important Point

Mr. Knowles said he considered the point of order one of the most important raised during his experience in the Commons. If the government's suggestion was accepted it would mark an "abridgment of the right of free speech."

The discussion occurred as the Commons initiated morning sittings in its drive toward prorogation by Dec. 3.

Frat Brother Shoots Senior

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 14 — (AP)—The managing editor of Ohio State University's student daily was shot and killed early Saturday by a fraternity brother.

The shooting followed a cocktail party and dance at Delta Tau Delta fraternity, celebrating homecoming, members said. University regulations forbid intoxicating liquor in fraternity houses.

Jack T. McKeown, a 21-year-old senior, was shot once with a .45-calibre automatic pistol on the fraternity house lawn as he tried to take the pistol from James D. Heer, 20, a freshman veterinary student and a former marine. He died a few minutes later in hospital.

Heer dashed away in a taxicab, then surrendered to police quietly, five miles from the fraternity house. He admitted the shooting, said Detective Kenneth Anderson, and remarked:

"When I get drunk, I get trigger-happy."

Roomer Runs Amok Wounds Three Others

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP) — Leopold Gereau, 40, was charged with wounding after police said he "ran amok" with a long butcher knife Sunday in an east-end rooming house. Three fellow-roomers were taken to hospital for slash wounds.

Treated for knife wounds were John Revelle, who needed 11 stitches and Joseph McConegal who suffered cuts to the left arm.

Police said Gereau came home in an "ugly mood" and threatened his landlady Mrs. Bessie Cullen, who hurried to the Revelle's for protection. Gereau was overpowered by Roy Hutchinson, another roomer, who took away the knife.

Shinwell Blasts Garbett's Talk

LONDON, Nov. 14 — (AP). — War Minister Emanuel Shinwell Sunday night said England's second-ranking churchman, the Archbishop of York, should find out the "real facts" before criticizing the Labor Government.

Shinwell accused the Archbishop, Dr. Cyril F. Garbett, and other Anglican churchmen of showing "political bias" in recent speeches on Britain's economic and political situation.

The speeches by the church dignitaries, while avoiding direct attack on the Labor Government, have aroused Labor Party fears that the archbishops and bishops are pressuring for formation of a Coalition Government.

Shinwell, at a Labor Party rally in Newcastle, castigated Dr. Garbett for a recent address in which the archbishop said "ruin is unavoidable" unless British industry cuts the prices of its exports.

In the same speech the archbishop called on leaders of all political parties to join in an "agreed downright statement of the extreme gravity" of Britain's economic situation.

"It might do infinite good, to put it mildly," Shinwell said on Sunday night, "if gentlemen like Dr Garbett — and there are others — endeavored to ascertain the real facts of the situation before they embark on criticism of the government or venture into the field of public opinion."

Stock Salesman Given 5 Years

TORONTO, Nov. 14 —(CP)— James Varley Bell, 65-year-old securities salesman, whose malpractices were unknown even to his wife, was today sentenced to five years for stealing $50,000 mostly from widows and elderly persons.

Chief Investigator Arthur Varity of the Ontario Securities Commission discovered Bell had been stealing from his clients for the last 17 years, while leading an apparently exemplary life.

His method, it was disclosed, was to write to clients on letterheads stolen from the stock brokerage firm which employed him. He would arrange for these customers to turn over to him "for safekeeping" their securities. He sold the stock but continued to make dividend payments.

Last July suspicions were aroused when Bell had no money for dividends. He was arrested in Lindsay on Oct. 13.

Among the victims were Miss Edna McKim of Orangeville, who lost $21,800 and Mrs. Mary Reid, of Everett, Ont., who at 75 lost her life's savings of $7,500.

Routed By Billy Goat

WANAQUE, N.J., Nov. 14—(AP)—A charging billy goat Sunday routed 50 rifle enthusiasts—all of them armed. The group, assembled on a private shooting range for target practice, ran for cover when the goat rushed from the woods. The angry animal held them at bay for about five minutes, until one brave rifleman chased him off with a barrage of rocks. Why didn't anyone shoot? Bob Elwood of Paterson, who was there, said someone knew the goat belonged to a neighbor and requested that they "hold fire."

Poll Numbers Urged Dropped

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Nelson Castonguay, the chief electoral officer, today recommended that poll numbers of voters in federal elections should no longer be written on the back of ballot counterfoils.

He made the recommendations to prevent any violation of secrecy of the ballot following a report by Chief Justice J. T. Brown of Saskatchewan King's Bench Court, tabled today in the House of Commons.

Chief Justice Brown, who investigated the voting in Regina City constituency in the federal election in June, reported that it would have been possible to tell how 20 per cent of the voters in eight polls cast their ballots.

Report Justice Hope Raps Education Scheme

TORONTO, Nov. 14—(CP)—A Toronto newspaper in a story today said Mr. Justice J. A. Hope, chairman of Ontario's Royal Commission on Education, had written Education Minister Porter protesting against recently-announced changes in the province's educational system.

The commission, which had studied education in Ontario for the last four years, is working on its report.

The changes announced by Mr. Porter include decreased emphasis on examinations and a regrouping of school grades.

Mr. Justice Hope was unavailable for comment today. Cabinet ministers declined to discuss the report.

The story said several members of the commission had threatened to resign following Mr. Porter's announcement Nov. 3.

Australian Navy Shocked At Canadian Navy Attitude

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 14. —(CP).—The Royal Australian Navy is shocked at news from Canada that a commission suggests the "Nelson tradition" be played down in future.

Newspapers here quote two admirals—they were unidentified—as saying that the suggestion is "a monstrous idea" and "a lot of nonsense."

(The Canadian commission in its report tabled in Parliament Nov. 1 said it had found in the course of its sittings that "there was a general insistence on the necessity of building up wherever possible Canadian traditions."

(It said: "An opinion is widely held amongst many ratings and some officers that the 'Nelson tradition' is overdone, and that there is still too great an attempt to make the Canadian Navy a pallid imitation and reflection of the British Navy.)

The Royal Australian Navy, born in 1911, is a year younger than Canada's Navy. RAN officers are trained on strict British lines and serve part of their time with the Royal Navy. Australian sailors wear Royal Navy-style uniforms and apart from their capbands, have nothing to distinguish them from RN ratings.

The Sydney Sunday Herald, with the Canadian report in mind, took a survey of Australian Navy men. It found those most critical of existing practices in the Australian service were former officers of the RANVR, or "Wavy Navy."

The Sunday Herald quoted one as saying: "I found many of the permanent officers of the RAN intolerably arrogant. They are educated from boyhood onwards apart from the rest of society and they look down on practically everybody else. I have been in a wardroom with other Reserve officers when a 'straight-stripe' officer has come in, looked around and said: 'Oh, nobody here to drink with.'"

Aly Khan Hopeful Baby To Be Girl

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Nov. 14—(AP)—Prince Aly Khan said today that he hopes the baby which his wife, movie actress Rita Hayworth, is awaiting, will be a girl.

"Naturally, when anyone has a beautiful wife and is very much in love with her, he would like a girl to be just a beautiful and lovely as she is," the Prince said in an interview.

Rita and Aly are living quietly here in a fashionable Palace Hotel while waiting for the baby.

The date of the birth is the subject of much speculation and gossip but nothing definite is known. Most of the unofficial talk centres on late November or early December.

Find Detroit Man In Car Trunk

CHATHAM, Nov. 14—(CP)—Provincial police said today a charge of attempted murder would face William Marchand, 23, of Tilbury, when he appears in court in connection with the beating of Adelard Rivard, a Detroit man found unconscious in an automobile trunk near Tilbury Sunday night.

At St. Joseph's hospital here Rivard was said today to be in critical condition.

Police said Marchand gave himself up at the Tilbury home of Provincial Constable Ben Mulholland and was brought here to appear in police court.

Rivard's car was abandoned in front of the James Foster farm on a sideroad a mile north of Coatsworth in Romney township. Foster said that, with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong he saw the car plunge from the roadway into a deep ditch. He said the driver got out of the car, walked a short distance along the road and then headed across a field. When Foster and his companions called to him, he started to run.

Hearing moans from the direction of the car trunk, the Fosters and the Armstrongs found Rivard jammed sideways in the trunk and bleeding about the head.

CHLOROFORMED, ROBBED — Mrs. Laurette White of Montreal, mustered her poise long enough to give a photographer a smile, but she was "very frightened," she said, when she regained consciousness after she and her two-year-old adopted son Bobby were chloroformed by a robber who ransacked her flat for some $200 last week. Mrs. White said her assailant posed as an insurance agent

Three Trenton Airmen Unhurt In Upset

TRENTON, Nov. 14—A freak accident late Saturday night in which three RCAF airmen escaped injury, brought to eight the total Trenton station personnel involved in automobile accidents during the week. Earlier in the week three airmen were killed and three were hurt in an accident in Quebec.

Trenton police said a car driven by Cecil Tripp, 38, of Frankford, carrying as passengers LAC Weldon Glavin and LAC Wilson both of No. 6 Repair Depot, had overturned on a double set of railway tracks. The driver swerved sharply to avoid a sewer excavation and the car skidded over 100 feet before it overturned coming to rest on the roof. None of the trio was hurt.

Two Men, Boy 5 Perish As Flash Fire Destroys Ottawa Shack

Wife Burned About Face, But Escapes While Neighbor Saves Child, Man Near Safety, Trapped As Roof Falls

OTTAWA, Nov. 14—(CP)—Two men and a 5-year-old boy burned to death early Sunday in a flash fire that turned their flimsy, tin-covered home into a blazing inferno. Killed in the 12.45 a.m. blaze, believed started when an oil lamp overturned, were Patrick Conlon, 40, his son James, and Jack O'Neil, 49, who was visiting the Conlon family. Two other occupants of the weatherbeaten shack on the edge of Bronson dump in Ottawa South escaped with minor burns. They were Mrs. Margaret Conlon, wife of Patrick Conlon and mother of James, and her 2-year-old son Terence.

Only a heroic rescue attempt by a neighbor, Rheal Demers, saved the life of Terence.

Drags Baby Out

Awakened by the screams of Mrs. Conlon as she raced from the blazing building, Demers rushed to the shack and dragged the baby through a rear window. He made repeated efforts to reach the other child, but was driven back by the flames.

Demers said that when he awakened, the entire front of the Conlon shack was ablaze.

"I was able to reach through a back window and pull out the baby from his crib. Mrs. Conlon was hysterical and crying for her husband inside. I did the best I could but the whole thing went up like tinder."

Other neighbors said O'Neil made his way almost to the front door when he was pinned to the floor by wreckage from the roof caving in. Attempts to reach him were futile.

The tin covering the walls of the building twisted and buckled in the searing flames and the building collapsed within a few minutes.

Terence was taken to hospital with burns about his face and hands. His mother, also burned about the face and hands, received medical treatment at hospital and then was allowed to spend the night at the home of a neighbor.

Clark, was killed overseas in 1943.

She leaves her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Alan Oke (Helen A.) and a son, William M. Clark, both of Oshawa. There are two sisters, Mrs. Gordon Kerr, of Kitchener, and Mrs. Harold McLaren, of Wolf Island, Ont., and two brothers, Norman Morrison and John, both of Toronto.

A ROMAN INCIDENT

After reference was made to the Nero incident in the sermon at St. Paul's Church Sunday morning, the organist, anticipating an organ recital after the evening service with Roy Rome, violinist, assisting, said "I hope I don't burn up while Rome fiddles."

Jury Decides Demers Guilty Of Manslaughter

SHERBROOKE, Que., Nov. 14 (CP)—Convicted of manslaughter after a five-day trial, hockey player Tony Demers will be sentenced Nov. 22 for fatal beating of his 32-year-old girl friend, Mrs. Anita Robert.

The rightwinger—formerly with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League—was originally charged with murder, but a jury took only 10 minutes on Saturday to return a verdict on the lesser count with a recommendation for clemency.

He said he thought Demers knew what was in the signed statement he gave police after the Coaticook, Que., woman died in a Magog hospital Sept. 16 following a drinking party. Earlier in the trial, Demers claimed he wasn't aware of all the things he told police because he was "emotionally" upset at the time.

Defence counsel Paul Emile Brazeau told the jury there was no substantiation for a murder charge without any evidence of premeditation. Throughout the trial he maintained that Mrs. Robert had fallen from Demers' car during a drive from Coaticook to Magog and that the woman's death resulted from shock.

The 32-year-old hockey player, who last year was voted the "most gentlemanly" in the Quebec Senior League, had testified that Mrs. Robert was upset during the drive because she felt he would "no longer love her after meeting her family." "Her family was poor," he said, "and she always told me they were rich."

Husband Knifed Hold Young Wife

HAMILTON, Nov. 14—(CP)—A 23-year-old wife, accused of plunging a paring knife into the neck of her husband, John LaForme, 40, will appear in court today on a charge of wounding. Police said both are deaf-mutes.

In a written statement to police after her arrest Sunday, the woman, Mrs. Annie LaForme, is said to have claimed that her husband had made "a slave" of her for the last five years. She did not explain the reference.

Police said they were told the incident climaxed a family quarrel at 4 a.m. Sunday in the roominghouse in which the LaFormes and their three-year-old daughter, Mary, have been living. They said the little girl was awakened by the sounds of a scuffle and saw the closing stages of the fight.

Justice Minister Garson said the amendments to the combines investigation act will simplify the handling of cases against alleged combines.

Mr. Drew said the amendments should be discussed in the light of circumstances surrounding Mr. McGregor's resignation. The combines investigation commissioner resigned after filing a report on an alleged combine in the flour-milling industry.

Wanted Report Public

The commissioner said one of the chief reasons for his resignation was the fact that the government has not made the report public within 15 days after is was filed as required by law.

In opening the debate, Mr Garson said that under existing legislation a company charged as a combine can select trial by a judge alone or trial by a judge and jury. Under the new legislation, companies will be tried by a Supreme Court judge alone and they will not have the option of a trial by jury.

In these cases the municipalities will have to demonstrate "a good case for its inclusion."

The three assessment principles on which the payments formula is based:

1. Federal assessors will survey the property field and make final decision whether the municipal assessment is "fair." Their assessment decision on federal property will be final.

The government believes that establishment of federal property in any municipality is bound to stimulate local business. This stimulation is believed by the government to be worth 25 per cent of local assessment.

3. Heavy concentration of federal property alone would compensate for non-payment of taxes, because it increased local personal incomes and business activity, Mr. Abbott said. The test, then, was to pay for property in excess of average concentration. The national average is computed at four per cent. This figure may be changed at some future date.

Cover School Assessment

The government's tax payments will cover, partially, general municipal and school assessment, but not business taxes.

In addition the government will pay water rates for its property and charges for local improvements against federal real property in any municipality.

To municipalities in which federal property is less than four per cent of the total local assessment, the government will pay full taxes for the year in which a piece of property is acquired, plus full taxes for the succeeding year and then three years of grants at 75, 50 and 25 per cent of full taxation.

"At the end of this period no further grants will be paid," Mr. Abbott said.

"These temporary grants are intended to permit the municipalities to adjust themselves to the loss of specific tax revenue on the acquisition of property by the Crown."

A departmental spokesman later said the grant to those in the below-national-average level will generally get the tapering-off payments during 1950, 1951 and 1952.

Names 3 Cities

Replying to Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) Mr Abbott said he could not at this time enumerate the cities which will get the payments, but said they would include Halifax, Esquimalt, and Ottawa—the municipalities which now receive Federal annual grants.

"It is proposed to institute the program I have outlined as of January 1, 1950," Mr. Abbott said in his statement. "Actual payments in some cases may be delayed, but they will be made retroactive."

The delay will be in the cases where the municipalities come close to the four per cent mark. Payments to these areas will be delayed "until the actual certification of the figures has been completed."

In other cases where the government is confident that the Federal concentration in the area is well above four per cent, payments will go out—with the exception of 25 per cent which will be withheld until the "final determination of figures has been completed."

Adjustments Retroactive

"Adjustments will be made retroactively."

The "formula" plan supersedes all other Federal-municipal tax-payment agreements, including the one with Ottawa.

But in the case of Ottawa, said Mr. Abbott, the situation was complicated by the proposed development of the national capital plans.

The $3000,000-a-year agreement with Ottawa lapsed last June. To cover the June-December period, the government will grant the city $250,000, which, in addition to the $150,000 was applicable to the first six months of the year, made a total payment of $400,000 in 1949.

Generally in future years payments to the Captal will be similar to those with other cities where there was an unusually heavy concentration of Federal property.

Other payments would be made for national capital development. Mr. Abbott recalled that $2,500,000 was voted last year and a similar sum this year for developing the "master plan" of the Capital.

Ready to Make Grant

He said the government was prepared to make grants from this fund for assistance in building a new city hall for Ottawa, if the municipality complies with the "architectural requirements" of the "master plan" and erects the hall on a spot suitable to the national planners.

Other grants will be made to the Capital for extension of sewage disposal and water supply systems, for zoning and completion of national-capital surveys.

Problems of Crown corporations paying taxes were "complicated," Mr. Abbott said, "but in general the policy of the government will be to authorize its Crown corporations to work out fair and equitable agreements with the municipalities in which their properties are situated."

He added:

"In the case of the government-owned railways operated by the CNR agreements have been entered into with the cities of Halifax and Saint John for the payment of reasonable amounts in lieu of taxes.

"I understand that the CNR will endeavor to work out similar arrangements with other municipalities through which the government - owned railway runs."

Outside Formula

Mr. Abbott lumped these property categories as being outside the bounds of "formula" payments, but for which the administrators can enter into agreements with the cities:

All service establishments; harbors, canals and adjacent lands; irrigation, conservation and forestation property; penitentiaries, veterans hospitals; parks and historical sites; property owned by Crown corporations, including the CBC; government-owned railways; and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation property.

Mr. Abbott made an exception for some of this property. If the municipality can show "a good case," it can ask that it get the "formula" plan and not an independent agreement.

The property on which the "formula" payments plan can be made include service establishments, harbors, canals and adjacent land, forestation, irrigation and rehabilitation land, penitentiaries and hospitals.

To get the tax payments scheme into action, Mr. Abbott told the House that the government proposes to introduce "a special estimates item" during the current session.

Pint-Size Cattle Feature Of Winter Fair

TORONTO, Nov. 14—(CP)—A pint-size bull and four tiny heifers—once thought to be denizens of a mysterious lost canyon—will be on display at the Royal Winter Fair which opens here tomorrow.

The cattle, owned by a North Dakota rancher, were the subject of a sensational hoax. The rancher, who operates a sideshow on the side, announced he found the tiny cattle in a lost canyon. It later turned out he bought them from a Montana breeder who specializes in dwarf cattle.

They weigh only between 160 and 210 pounds and stand about 26 inches in height—small enough to fit under a card table. All five, however, are fully developed Hereford cattle.

The pygmies will provide a freak contrast with the more than 2,000 blue-blooded beef and dairy cattle that will vie for ribbons until the fair ends Nov. 23. In all, six-thousand animals—from guinea pigs to Belgian stallions—have been entered for competition.

Lowing of cattle and snorting of swine will mingle with the squawking and whistling of more than 6,000 birds in the Coliseum building at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds. To offset some of the less agreeable characteristics of the swine are more than 18,000 roses and chrysanthemums.

Entries From Many Places

Entries have been received from all the Canadian provinces except Newfoundland and from 18 of the United States. The fair offers world championships in six competitions—wheat, barley, rye, oats, potatoes and corn. For the first time all division of the sced show are open to United States entries.

Social event of the fair is the top-hat, mink-coat horse show highlighted by military jumping teams of Canada, Chile, Mexico, and the Republic of Ireland.

Miss Canada IV—not the girl but the speedboat that recently set the North American record—will also be on display at the fair. Harold Wilson, of Ingersoll, owner and driver, will be able to attend the fair only Nov. 18, but during the rest of the week his mechanic, Walter Harvey, will be on hand to show visitors the craft's finer points.

Mine Owners Cool To Lewis' Suggestion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14—(AP)—Federal Conciliator Cyrus S. Ching scheduled another trip to the White House today to report to President Truman on week-end developments—or lack of them—in the coal deadlock.

The new suggestion of John L. Lewis that soft coal operators drop in and talk contract when he returned to the capital today got no rush of acceptance from the mine owners.

The National Coal Association said in a week-end statement that another coal strike Dec. 1 is "unthinkable."

Youth Escapes Serious Injury

A Peterborough youth had a narrow escape from serious injury early Sunday morning when his car plunged over a cement bridge near Norwood.

Paul J. Murphy of 424 Donegal St. was the accident victim. He received several fractured ribs and a severe shaking up. Dr. A. R. Atkinson of Norwood gave him a medical examination and then allowed him to be taken home.

Murphy lost control of his vehicle a mile east of Norwood on Highway 7. It went off the highway, narrowly missing a clump of trees, then swung back across the paved surface and tumbled over a railless cement bridge spanning a drainable ditch.

The fall was about four feet and the car landed on its wheels and remained right side up.

Murphy told Provincial Constable Arthur Kellogg of Hastings who investigated that he was alone at the time. The latter says no charges will be laid.

Say Cabinet Considering Steel Deal

May Offer Lords Compromise, Hold Voting Earlier

LONDON, Nov. 14 (Reuters)—The British Cabinet will decide today whether it can make a last-minute bargain with the House of Lords deferring the operation of the steel nationalization bill until after the general election of 1950.

The government is pledged to nationalize steel in this parliament and will doubtless do so, but it can, if necessary, retard the date from which the steel act operates and the date on which the industry passes into public ownership.

A decision must be taken today because parliament Wednesday will debate the vital amendment in the bill on which the predominantly-Conservative House of Lords is insisting. This specifies that the bill should not come into effect before next October, which would be after the general elections.

If the government agreed to postpone the date of operation its only purpose would be to "clear the decks" for the election earlier than is possible if it wants to force the steel bill through against the Lord's opposition.

Election May Be Early

If an agreement is reached with the Peers, the election could conveniently be held in February or March. A decision to postpone the date of operation of the steel bill would mean that if the Conservatives won the election they could scrap the plan and leave the industry in private hands.

The idea of a compromise at this stage may be powerfully resisted by Health Minister Aneurin Bevin, Cabinet left-wing leader. Steel nationalization is regarded by some sections of the government's trade union supporters and others as vital to labor prestige.

Any alteration of plan, making steel an election issue, instead of part of Labor's "record of accomplishment," would be received with mixed feelings by the party's followers.

Counties' Home Improvements Win Praise

COBOURG, Nov. 14 (ENS) — Committee reports at the November session of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council dealt with resolutions of routine nature that had been referred to these committees. Little discussion accompanied the various items in the committee meetings.

The road and bridge committee adopted the annual report of the road superintendent and engineer, along with the report of the Road Commission. The committee approved the taking of Ontario street in Brighton village into the counties road system provided there are no maintenance costs to the county. The committee suggested that the Road Commission start a road sign programme.

The report of the Board of Management was as follows:

"We have completed the following improvements at the Home since our last report: a milk cooler has been purchased for the barn and we are now selling our milk to the dairy and are serving to inmates of the Home, pasteurized milk and butter. All the doors of the Home have been changed so that they swing out instead of in. New stand pipes have been installed at either end of the first and second floors and new hose have been ordered to be connected on these new stand pipes, also several fire extinguishers and an asbestos blanket have been ordered, all these items have been done to comply with parts of the Fire Marshall's report which was presented to county council at the June session.

"We recommend that the superintendent, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan, be complimented on their work at the home; also we would like to recommend that Mr. Duncan be paid an extra $50 car allowance, this being for the use of his car in connection with his duties at the home."

300,000 Trees Survive

The reforestation committee report complimented the foresters for their good work. The 300,000 trees that were planted have survived the long dry summer very well but some replacements will be necessary in the spring. The Carstairs property was ploughed in and the general appearance improved. It was recommended that the Roche property, consisting of 66 acres in the township of Clarke be purchased ast a price of $700.

Main item in the schools committee was the decision to leave the request of Campbellford and Percy Township, relative to the change in the High School area, to the decision of the counties council.

The finance committee approved the following accounts paid between sessions:

Administration of justice—$10,794.32; county roads, $203,316.64; hospitalization—$6,796.53; counties home $18,174.24; child welfare—$20,768.78; counties' gaol $7,913.24; municipal government, $76,522.04; Trenton suburban road commission, $1,618.59; registry offices, $1,744.27.

J. S. BLACK,
Secretary-Treasurer

November 12, 1949.

The year was 1841 ...

... six days of turmoil—that was election week in Upper Canada! Voters formed in long queues to mount the "hustings" (a rough wooden platform) ... declaring aloud for all to hear, "I vote for John Smith." Often groups of hard-fisted toughs stood by, armed with cudgels to be used on those who voted the "wrong way."

But men who kept true democracy as their objective finally won the right of a secret ballot—the right to vote as you wish without fear of intimidation.

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

German Scientist Find TB Drug

ATLANTA, Nov. 14 (AP)—Two doctors Saturday reported a top-flight German scientist has turned up another potential weapon against tuberculosis.

It's a new synthetic drug, derived from coal, tar, known as TB-1 for short and thio-semi-carbazones for long.

The doctors, Geoffrey Rake of New Brunswick, N.J., and H. Corwin Hanshaw of San Francisco, said large-scale tests of the new agent abroad have shown "encouraging results."

Shortly after the two doctors' reports were delivered to the eighth streptomycin conference sponsored by the United States Veterans' Administration, two pharmaceutical houses said the compound will be made available to certain government and research agencies for clinical study.

The therapeutic (curative or arresting) action of the formula was discovered by Dr. Gerhard Domagk of Elberfield, Germany, winner of the Nobel Prize for his development of sulfa drugs.

Hinshaw, clinical professor of medicine at Stanford University and a top authority on streptomycin, said the results obtained in 300 German hospitals "appearing promising."

The tests, he continued, were conducted on "several thousand" patients.

British Labour's Moonshine Criticism of Canada

The influential Manchester Guardian has done some plain speaking to the British people about the recent criticism of Canada by Labour M.P.'s and Labour's Left outside parliament. From Mr. Aneuran Bevan's vaunting statement that if Britain cut off her Canadian purchases, "what is a British financial crisis would become a Canadian crisis", to Mr. Crossman's assertion that Britain is subsidizing the Canadian farmer, the talk is, in the Guardian's opinion, Labour Left's attempt to find a scapegoat. They think they have found it in Canada.

Why should Canada sell her wheat and the rest to us for sterling? Because, the unedifying argument runs, if we did not take her wheat "Canada would be broke". There is a beautiful picture of Britain, at present nobly agreeing to take the things that keep us from hunger and unemployment in order disinterestedly to keep the Canadian farmer from bankruptcy; but we cannot bear the burden of the "Canadian crisis" indefinitely and must now transfer our valuable custom "elsewhere". All this is moonshine. What has the British government been doing since 1947 but trying desperately to find the "elsewhere" that would enable us to buy as little as possible from Canada?

* * *

It is being urged in Britain that Canada should accept sterling for her wheat and meat. If Canada is so pig-headed or greedy as to continue to demand payments in dollars, then let Britain not buy the wheat and meat. That is the argument. It is not Canada's fault that she must have the dollars. To be paid in sterling would be much the same thing as not being paid at all, for the sterling could be used only for British goods, yet post-war Britain is not sending us the goods, or the right kind in sufficient quantities. If she were, she would be earning our dollars to pay for the wheat which she needs.

* * *

Britain would suffer more from the loss of our supplies than Canada would from the loss of the British market. Our trade and agriculture would be seriously disturbed but there are other markets, and, as the Guardian points out, Canada's economy is flexible and efficient enough to pay its way in another kind of world, as it has done in multilateral trading.

* * *

The Guardian gives Canada credit for supplying wheat to Britain during the years of worst shortage at prices far below the world market prices, for conducting her national finances sensibly and her industry efficiently, and says:

It is we who have to be worried lest the talk of our Left-wingers should finally make the Canadians decide that their patience and help for British recovery are not worth while. That patience is already being severely tested by the fresh cuts in dollar imports that the Government is beginning to make. The worst thing that could happen for us now is to destroy Canadian goodwill by a fatuous pretence that Canada either ought or can be forced into the sterling area.

In championing Canada, the Manchester Guardian has also served British people by its calm and reasonable repudiation of Canada's British Labour critics.

For The Navy's Good

The recent report of the Royal Commission on the Royal Canadian Navy should take second place only to the King's Regulations as a present-day naval bible. Although the Commissioners were concerned specifically with investigating certain "incidents" on board three Canadian vessels, they ranged widely and made some penetrating criticisms and valuable recommendations on the service generally.

The disturbances early this year on the Athabaskan, Crescent and Magnificent when men refused orders or to act on them, had underlying causes which revealed to the Commissioners a lack of experience in officers and petty officers, an artificial "distance" between officers and men, a too great variance in discipline and routine on ships, poor recruiting methods, not enough realization especially by officers that the Canadian Navy is not the British Navy, and that Canada has its own naval traditions and customs which should be developed, a lack of training ships and officers to staff them with both seafaring experience and teaching ability.

Of the many criticisms and recommendations made, two particularly interested us. Stephen Leacock once said "Leave the Ukrainians alone, and in ten years they will think that they won the Battle of Trafalgar". The Commissioners comment that:

"Unfortunately this genial prophecy has not been fulfilled, and however regrettable it may seem to some people, an opinion is widely held amongst many ratings and some officers that the 'Nelson tradition' is overdone, and that there is still too great an attempt to make the Canadian Navy a pallid imitation and reflection of the British Navy".

The second point was an observation on the splendid opportunities and provisions for naval cadets given at the magnificent establishment "Royal Roads", in Esquimalt:

"The educational opportunities which are given the young men at Royal Roads are expensive, exclusive and privileged. We were surprised to hear that there is no definite obligation upon those who enjoy these advantages to make a career in the Navy, the Army or the Air Force. Every man who enters Royal Roads thereby excludes another potential entry. No man, in our opinion, should be allowed to receive the advantage of this training at the expense of the State unless he is obliged to make the proper and expected return in the form of patriotic and professional service in the defence of Canada. 'Royal Roads' was established for officers of the Navy, Army and Air Force and not for lawyers or businessmen".

The three Commissioners, Rollo Mainguy, Louis C. Audette, and Leonard W. Brockington have rendered valuable service to the Navy and the country in their penetrating Report. There is much in the Navy which needs to be changed, even making allowance for the growing pains of the Navy, now less than a tenth its size in wartime, but nevertheless with four times as many ships and five times as many men as in 1939. The Report should help the Navy in its adjustments.

90,000 Ontario Old Age Pensioners

Twenty years ago November 1st old age pensions were begun in Ontario by the government of the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson. The provision of old age pensions was one of the major projects of the Mackenzie King government at Ottawa, and among the more successful Federal acts in securing needed Provincial co-operation. Under the plans laid in 1927 Ottawa provided half the money which the Provinces expended for old age pensions. In 1931 the Federal Parliament amended the legislation to provide that three-quarters of the cost would be paid by the Dominion. Ottawa determines the policy and pays most of the cost; but the Provinces administer the service.

There were 29,000 pensioners in Ontario twenty years ago, to whom $6,500,000 was paid. This year there are nearly 90,000, and payments will total more than $40,000,000. The pension rate at present is $40 a month, but a pensioner may receive this amount only if his total annual income from pension and other sources is not more than $600. Thus a person who is receiving a $40 monthly old age pension cannot have other income exceeding $120 in the year.

The rates and restrictions seem out of line with the present high cost of living. The pensions do not provide full financial security in old age, but they are an assistance. If the rates were greatly increased the financial burden on the Provincial and Federal Governments (and thus on all tax-payers) would be enormous since already the annual drain in Ontario alone is forty million dollars.

Ben Gurion's Warning

For a great many years the Jewish Agency with chief offices in the U.K. and U.S.A. has been the prime influence, if not the prime mover, in the building up of the National Home. Under the British Mandate, the agency of both Zionists and non-Zionists, was recognized by Britain and Palestine as the spokesman for the Jewish people in all matters relating to Palestine as that home. Now out of Palestine has come the state of Israel, an independent Republic with its own government and parliament. Premier Ben Gurion recently issued a blunt warning to the Jewish Agency that it will not be permitted to direct the Government or form its policies.

That is as it should be. Valuable as the Jewish Agency has been in promoting the establishment of the new State, it should now stay out of the picture. It should not even consider itself the power behind the Presidential chair. As Premier Ben Gurion insists, the business and character of the state must be determined by those who settle in the country and become its citizens.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THE CBC Wednesday nights are becoming an institution to discerning listeners. Wise men and women are reserving this one evening in the week for listening-in. They are sure to hear little that affronts their intelligence, much that charms and stimulates. Once again CBC deserves to be congratulated. This does not however render them immune from criticism, favourable or unfavourable, and I shall take stock of their performances from time to time.

LAST Wednesday night we heard a program of orchestral music by Sylvio de la Charite, the young Quebec composer. A one-man show is always a severe test of an artist's quality, and I can think of very few contemporary composers whose work would stand up to such a searching ordeal. Mr. de la Charite is a promising young talent, but his output as yet has not sufficient richness or variety, and the general impression was one of a certain sameness of texture. His style is founded on the French impressionism of some forty years back, with a soupcon of the contemporary Hollywood style. Yet with all these defects it was possible to detect the beginnings of a more personal idiom. It is curious to compare the iron grip of Paris on the French-speaking world with the centrifugal tendencies of Anglo-American civilization. In his "Vision of Ezekiel" he seems to have made an effort at illustration without the means to carry it through. A series of musical portraits of the style of various composers as seen through the eyes of Mr. de la Charite was more lively. The most successful of these was that of Faure, with whom Mr. de la Charite's work has much in common. The last work, "La Vaisseau d'Or" failed to carry conviction. Here is a considerable talent, somewhat immature as yet, and groping for tools to express his ideas. We shall watch his progress with interest.

THE other musical item was a song recital by Peter Pears accompanied by Benjamin Britten, the gifted young English composer. The CBC has treated Mr. Britten handsomely. The week before we heard his cantata "St. Nicholas", and recently we also heard "Peter Grimes". Britten is a young man who knows exactly what he wants and how to get it. He is industrious, and has studied the craft of composition thoroughly. In conversation he is apt to make highly questionable statements on music with an air of casual finality, as though everyone knew what he said and it was scarcely necessary for him to mention it. In spite of this disconcerting trait he is unassuming and informal. He is lean and wiry, with the quick eye and movements of an athlete rather than a composer. He is an accomplished viola player besides being no mean pianist. He once confessed to me that he found the piano the most difficult instrument to write for. Since those days he has written a piano concerto! Beethoven was once his ideal of a composer, but latterly he has turned back to Mozart and Purcell. His music owes much to many widely differing sources, and yet he has succeeded in forging a style all of his own. His mastery of technical resources sometimes leads him to exploit mere cleverness, but when his style is disciplined as in Peter Grimes one feels in the presence of talent of a very high order. There is a bleak, austere, yet bracing quality in some of his music which reflects the windswept East Coast of England which is his home.

SHOULD one memorize a piece of music for public performance? Broadly speaking this is desirable. Few people today question the wisdom of this innovation of Liszt If a piece is thoroughly memorized the performance gains in spontaneity and clarity. But if there is the slightest uncertainty I would certainly recommend the use of the text. Unless the memory is quite reliable the performance may well be spoiled by nervousness, if not by actual errors. Memory is an automatic thing and powers of memory differ widely in the individual. Failures of memory can sometimes, as James Ching has pointed out, be traced to some deep-seated psychological kink unconnected with musical ability. Remove the cause, the effect goes too. The most remarkable authenticated feat of musical memory was performed by Mozart at the age of fourteen, when he wrote down the music of Allegri's "Miserere" after one hearing.

* * *

THERE are different aspects of musical memory, and if anyone wishes to improve his memory it can do no harm to clarify the issue. First, aural memory, which presupposes a good musical ear. This can be improved by aural training. Secondly, muscular memory: by dint of constant practice the muscles brought into play acquire certain patterns of behaviour. To make the greatest use of this a uniform system of fingering from the very start i essential for instrumentalists. Thirdly there is visual memory. This is usually of secondary importance, but anybody who doubts its significance should try to play a fairly familiar piece from an unfamiliar edition, with the paging all different, and he will soon appreciate this point. Fourthly there is what I might for convenience call "architectural memory". This is of slight importance in a short piece, but in an extended work it is often a definite help to bear in mind its musical architecture. I remember a horrible experience that occurred to me once. I was playing Brahms' Rhapsody in B minor. The form of this work is fairly simple, the texture not unduly elaborate, and I had (I thought) committed it safely to memory. There is a first section (A) followed by a second section (B), then a repetition of A and a short concluding section (C). When I had got as far as the end of the repetition of A, instead of going on to the concluding section I suddenly realized to my horror that I had "taken the wrong turning" and gone to B again. There was only one thing for it — to go on doggedly through B, play A a third time and hope to goodness that I would remember how to go on to the concluding section. The hideous possibility of going round and round in a circle occurred to me, but fortunately I managed to extricate myself the second time before a somewhat bored audience. Like the poet they doubtless thought:

"Brahms
Is like Psahms:
Inspiring
But tiring."

Britain Fails To Deliver The Goods

By NORA BELOFF
(In Cleveland)

"INCALCULABLE harm" is being done today to Britain's export drive by repeated failures to deliver the goods. British trade officials, sent here as part of the official Government campaign to boost dollar earnings, report that demand for British goods in major export commodities is overwhelmingly ahead of supply. Devaluation of the pound, they say, will be virtually useless without a prompt revolution in marketing methods.

A doleful story was told to this correspondent, by consular officials in Cleveland, of orders for British goods missed or cancelled because of promises broken and deliveries either too late or too little. Each specific incident represents not merely the loss of one contract but potential loss of long term expanding markets throughout this entire region, which could, if properly developed, become major factors in redressing Britain's catastrophic balance of trade with the Western hemisphere.

Here are four illustrations from the city of Cleveland alone which could be multiplied almost indefinitely:—

1. Woollens. Demands for better qualities of British woollens is so high that American buyers may have to wait up to two years before getting deliveries.

Cashmere pullovers and cardigans in particular could sell at predevaluation prices if only they were available. Large stores have had to be officially discouraged from plans for sending over buyers to the United Kingdom because the order books of the best British firms are already full for this year and next.

2. China. Here again not price but availability conditions the market. One of the richest men in Cleveland wanted to have a first-class English dinner set for his home. Although he was paying twelve dollars (over £4) for a single plate almost two years elapsed between his decision to buy and the delivery of the last parts of the completed set.

3. Gloves. France and Holland have both won orders away from British manufacturers in recent months by being able to supply samples and fulfill orders for high quality gloves in time for Christmas shopping while their British competitors were refusing to commit themselves to a definite delivery date.

4. Cars. There is still a substantial market among Cleveland's large millionaire colony for high grade luxury cars which Britain could supply. One local potentate who changes his cars every year and sets the fashion for the well-to-do-suburb of Cleveland has been making desperate efforts to obtain an open racing model from an English firm. British officials here who saw before them vistas of a long-term luxury market in the new seriously threatened automobile export industry, stormed the Board of Trade with cables and memoranda urging prompt delivery. All in vain: after several months delay the prospective buyer ordered an American model and obtained it within twenty-four hours.

Far from having to organise aggressive sales campaigns, British officials in this part of the world spend almost all their time explaining away failures of British manufacturers to deliver the goods. American business people here attribute this state of affairs partly to lack of drive by their British opposite numbers, partly to restrictive practices of trade unions, unwilling to permit emergency overtime, and partly to red tape and the lax methods of British bureaucrats.

Help From Canada

No better instance of practical friendship could be found than the record of the Canadian Red Cross, which is now closing down in this country after the ten years of splendid service. Organized and supplied by voluntary efforts, it looked after the needs not only of Canadian but also of British forces in the United Kingdom and in foreign theatres of operation. Many comforts and medical necessities were made over to troops and civilians. To welfare organizations in this country it was a chief source of supply. Over 16m. parcels were sent to Canadian and British prisoners of war.

The Canadian Red Cross played a leading part in relief work behind the armies in the liberated countries and, when the war was over, it contributed $1,500,000 and much clothing to the Lord Mayor's National Flood Distress Fund in 1947. It leaves behind as a standing memorial the Canadian Red Cross Hospital at Cliveden, which is among other things a research centre for rheumatic cardiac conditions in children. All this work had its source in thousands of local committees and small workrooms scattered throughout Canada, and on this side of the Atlantic thousands of men and women remember gratefully benefits received through this great spontaneous welding of Canadian generosity.—The Times, London.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

We give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you, since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of the love which ye have to all the saints, for the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel....

For this cause we also, since the day we heard it, do not cease to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be filled with the knowledge of his will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding; that ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God....Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son...Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature. (Col. 1: 3-5, 9, 10, 13, 15.)

* * *

As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God. If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth: that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen (I Pet. 4: 10, 11.)

* * *

Prove all things; hold fast that which is good....And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ. (I Thess. 5: 21, 23.)

Stalin's Successor

Marshal Stalin is not one to say, like Louis XV, "After us, the deluge." The discussion of his possible successor by Lieut. Gen. Bedell Smith makes grim reading, but it agrees with the verdict of most of the experts. Stalin will go, but totalitarian communism will stay.

The Marshal is not immortal and even if Nature is kind and gives him ten or fifteen more years of life—which means of complete domination—he must die some day. This simple knowledge has in recent years led to much fascinated and fascinating guessing on who or what will succeed the reign of Stalin. General Smith is so torn between a choice of the top aspirants that he inclines to a belief in a future committee system. However, it is difficult to see the vast Russian structure functioning with a triumvirate or a directory of five. The Romans tried a triumvirate and it ended with one man—Emperor Augustus. The French tried a directorate, and before long there was only one man, Emperor Napoleon. The modern system of the totalitarian state is the most ruthless, powerful and terrifying political form ever devised, but it cannot change human nature. Some one man will rise to the top of the pyramid, but the pyramid itself, as General Smith indicates, will remain solidly on its base.

The machine gun, the tank and the whole mechanism of the police state give a modern dictator like Stalin more concentrated and more effective power than was ever possible before. One must, like General Smith, be philosophical about it. Meanwhile, it may help to keep a simple truth in mind: Stalin and the likes of him can suppress liberty in a given place and time, but they cannot destroy the aspiration to freedom unless they wipe out the whole human race.

Looking Ahead In Ottawa

Report Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley In Line For A Promotion

OTTAWA, Nov. 14—(CP)—Reports circulating on Parliament Hill say that Rt. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, wartime finance minister and now a judge of the Supreme Court in his native province of Nova Scotia, is due for a promotion. Last week the Senate approved a bill to abolish appeals to the judicial committee of the Privy Council in London. The bill, which now needs only royal assent and passage through the United Kingdom parliament, will increase the number of Supreme Court judges from seven to nine.

This will leave two vacancies, and the rumor is that one of the posts will go to the man who brought down the wartime budgets and supervised the successful system of wartime price controls.

It is reported the second appointment may go to Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteaux of the Quebec Superior Court. A prominent Montreal lawyer, he was appointed to the bench 2½ years ago. He is a brother of Hon. Gaspard Fauteux, Liberal member of parliament for Montreal St. Mary's and speaker of the Commons in the last parliament.

Transportation

There is some hope that the report of the Royal Commission on Transportation may be ready for tabling at the next session of the Commons, probably opening in February.

Until the last fortnight, there was little likelihood that this might be accomplished. However, the Commission has been making unexpectedly fast time in handling its final series of hearings here. Some prospect has developed that it may complete evidence by the end of the year.

In that case, it was understood, the Commission would aim to place a report before parliament by May. However, it is not considered likely the government would be able to study its findings —undoubtedly voluminous— and implement them during the 1950 session.

Atomics

This is the week 14 members of the Commons get parliaments first look at the Chalk River atomic project 125 miles northwest of Ottawa.

They are the members of the House's first committee on atomic energy and they will head for Chalk River Tuesday morning and return Wednesday night.

2 Churches Burn Guards Posted

NEWPORT, Wales, Nov. 14 — (AP)—Pastors and lay officials stood guard on Sunday over all churches in the Monmouth diocese after the second church fire here in six days.

A government Arson expert arrived in Newport Saturday to investigate.

The latest blaze caused damage estimated at about $138,000 to the Church of St. John the Evangelist Saturday morning. Last Sunday the town's mother church, Holy Trinity, was burned out. Only the tower remained.

Rev. J. P. Stephens, Vicar of St. John's Church, said Saturday night:

"I am perfectly certain in my own mind that this fire was no accident. All I can believe is that it is the deed of a meniac."

Adopt Resolution On Italy's Colonies

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 14 (CP)—The United Nations political committee adopted a resolution Saturday disposing of Italy's pre-war colonies in Africa.

The vote was 49 to 1, with eight abstentions and insured a necessary majority when the plan goes to the General Assembly next week for final approval.

The program calls for independence of Libya by Jan. 1, 1952, independence for Somaliland after a 10-year U. N. trusteeship with Italy as the administering authority, and further study on Eritrea to be made next week.

While there they will be given a full picture of what is going on, secret and non-secret, by the scientists who are doing the job.

"We entertain the King and Queen"

by Eleanor Roosevelt

Many distinguished guests have stayed at the White House . . . but none caused so much excitement as King George and Queen Elizabeth in 1939!

"There were many difficult moments and many amusing ones", recalls Eleanor Roosevelt. There was the butler with the stop watch who wanted to make sure the King was served exactly 30 seconds ahead of the Queen . . . or the servant who tripped and fell with a loaded tray.

She remembers how she was briefed about the exact furniture to be used in the rooms used by the King and Queen . . . the traditional hot water bottles in the Royal beds, despite the unbearable Washington heat . . . how the comforter on the bed was to be folded . . . how her mother-in-law criticized the President for offering cocktails, instead of tea, to the King.

She reveals, too, how the President sought a firm basis of friendship with such notables as Winston Churchill, Mackenzie King and Russian leaders. And she tells it all, in great length and detail this week in "This I Remember", now appearing in The Standard in an EXTRA 8-page rotogravure section.

Montreal, Hamilton Win Advancing To Eastern Final

By JACK MITCHELL, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Second-guessing the Canadian football scene, you can't help wondering at the tiny margin of merit that separates a loser from a winner in the tense playoff atmosphere. Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tigers turned in inspired triumphs Saturday to advance to the Eastern Canada final, with Calgary Stampeders eager to defend their Grey Cup against the winner. McGill upset Western and forced a sudden-death playoff for the east's inter-collegiate crown.

But—looking at the "ifs"—it might easily have been Ottawa Rough Riders, Sarnia Imperials and Regina's Saskatchewan Roughriders in the Grey Cup division, with Queen's still in the title hunt in the intercollegiate.

The final scores weren't as close as their chances. Alouettes won Montreal's first big four title in 18 years by beating back Ottawa 14-13 for a 36-20 round-score triumph. Hamilton Tigers fought a gallant uphill battle to capture their second successive Ontario union crown, wiping out Sarnia's 15-6 first-game lead with a 20-3 triumph that gave them the total-points series 26-18.

McGill finished in first place in the Intercollegiate Union with an 18-10 victory over Western before 18,500 fans at Montreal The two teams will play off for the title, given up by University of Toronto, at Toronto's Varsity stadium next Saturday.

Queen's Blank Varsity

The intercollegiate heartbreaker came for Queen's against Varsity before a sell-out crowd at Kingston. The tri-color won the game 9-0. But that just meant they finished third ahead of Toronto. It emphasized the costliness of their 18-18 draw the previous Saturday with Western

A victory in that game would have seen Queen's finish tied for second with Western and the two would have played off for the right to meet McGill. They might have won it—but the tricolor elected to run the ball in the last minute instead of kicking an almost-certain point. They fumbled.

Alouettes had to battle all the way to clinch their Eastern Canada final date with Hamilton—a sudden-death game at Montreal next Sunday.

Before an Ottawa crowd of nearly 17,000, the Riders at one stage came within three points of overcoming the 22-7 margin Aloutettes built in their first game. They might have forged ahead—but they missed a touchdown on the Montreal two-yard line after a 90-yard march.

Build Up Lead

Riders built up a 7-1 lead in the first half on a touchdown by Steve Karrys, converted by Eric Chipper, plus Howie Turner's single. Bob Cunningham punted Montreal's point.

The Riders rolled their 90 yards downfield on seven consecutive first downs in the third quarter. Stopped on the two quarterback Andry Gordon tried a short goal-zone pass. Cunningham batted it down and Montreal was awarded possession on their own 25. The Riders were still good enough to come back for another major when Bill Larochelle raced an end for 29 yards. Again Chipper converted to leave them three points down

In the final quarter, Filchock broke up the series with a 10-yard forward to Cunningham who scooted 55 yards for a touchdown. Ches. McCance, who converted it, added insurance with two placements and Fred Kijek won the contest with a rouge.

It was Montreal's first Big Four title since 1931.

Tigers were full value for their sure-footed triumph in raw damp weather before a Hamilton crowd of less than 5,000. But Sarnia might have stayed ahead by a different strategy—if they had played the same wide-open game that won them a 15-6 victory at Sarnia the previous day

Played It Close

Instead, they elected to play it close to the vest. After Dutch Davey punted three singles to increase the Imps series lead to 12 points, it was a case of Tigers slowly forging closer until they went ahead to stay on Jim Caine's 18-yard touchdown in the third quarter.

Before that score, Jackie Stewart scored a touchdown and Joe Capriotti kicked two singles—both an attempted placements—to put Hamilton within two points on the round-score. Vic Spencer plunged for an insurance major in the final quarter.

Tigers chances against Montreal suffered a blow when it was learned that playing coach Merle Hapes suffered a shoulder separation in the Sarnia game. He's out for the season. But Spencer big blonde plunging star from Vancouver, raised the hopes with a sensational plunging exhibition in Hapes' fullback spot

Rematch Hi Lee And Samara

Seelie Samara won his point when he demanded and was given a rematch with Hi Lee. Whether his request for a new referee will be granted by the Commission is not known as yet. However these two ace grapplers will be seen in action this Thursday at the Brock Arena.

Samara was going great guns and had Lee in a bad way when he aroused the ire of Referee Bunny Dunlop who disqualified him. This match is an important one for Seelie for if he can hurdle the Ozark Giant he has been promised a match with either Fred Atkins or Whipper Billy Watson.

In the semi-final Wladek Kowalski, who missed his engagement here last week due to injuries, will stack up against Jim (Goon) Henry. Henry needs no introduction to local fans who know him as a rough and clever matman, one of the best there is. The young Polish-Canadian Kowalski is fast coming to the top and should provide the Goon with stiff opposition.

Bill Stack and Al Korman round out this fine card.

Junior Marlies Whip Kroehlers In 4-2 Tussle

By The Canadian Press.

Two former National Hockey League stars—Joe Primeau and Syl Apps—are passing on their hockey prowess with devastating effect as coaches in the Ontario Hockey Association.

Primeau and Apps, who both served their professional hockey years with Toronto Maple Leafs, now are guiding the Leaf farm clubs—Toronto Marlboros Seniors and Juniors—in a comfortable first place slot in their respective leagues.

Primeau, a product of Lindsay, has coached his seniors to nine victories and two ties in 12 games while Apps, from Paris, Ont., has guided the juniors to 10 wins and one tie against but one loss in 12 starts.

The seniors were idle this weekend, but Apps' charges made no mistake as they defeated the last place Stratford Kroehlers 4-2 and took a six point lead over the second place St. Catharines Teepees.

Teepees Edge Oshawa

In three other junior games, the Teepees edged out Oshawa Generals 7-6, Windsor Spitfires moved into a fourth place tie by beating Galt Black Hawks 7-4 and Toronto St. Michael's College gained a 4-3 win over Guelph Biltmores.

In the only senior game, the third place Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen trounced the second place Owen Sound Mercurys 7-2 at Owen Sound.

At Toronto, the Marlies demonstrated why they are in first place. Although Stratford threatened on several occasions the Dukes broke up the drives and then carried play into enemy territory.

Clever playmaker, George Armstrong, a former Stratford forward, picked up three assists in the game, while Ron Stuart took goal-scoring honors with two goals. Other tallies went to George Aitken and Larry Regan. Doug Williams and Dinny Flanagan were the Stratford marksmen.

In the other game, Bob Sabourin and William Marshall paced the Irish with two goals. Guelph scores were chalked up by Andy Bathgate with two and Joe Shaw with the other.

Get Early Lead

Guelph jumped into an early lead in the first period but goals by Sabourin and Marshall put the Majors ahead 2-1. Then the Biltmores tied up the game on a goal by Bathgate. Toronto went ahead minutes later when Marshall tallied and Sabourin followed up with his second of the game. Bathgate got Guelph's last goal with a minute left in the game.

At Galt, the Spitfires moved into a tie with St Michael's and St Catharines, with the victory. Eddie Sankiewicz led the Spitfires with three goals while Erwin Grosse, John Bailey, Earl Riebel and Ross Johnstone each got singles. Bruce Sims and John Godfrey got the others.

At Oshawa, Obie O'Brien came up with four timely goals to lead his Teepees to victory. Other St. Catharines scorers were Tom Buck, Jack McIntyre and Bill Altoft. Marcel Clements paced the Generals with three goals in the losing cause. The others went to Louie Jankowski, Ed O'Connor and Frank Hooper.

Talking Football Latest Gadget

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14 (CP)—Science has invaded the gridiron with a talking football, of all things.

All you do is fill the pigskin with ammonium gas, instal a transmitter under the coach's overcoat and your quarterback becomes more of a robot than he is already.

This monster is the work of Dr. W. D. Hershberger, atomic engineer at the University of California at Los Angeles.

It enables the coach to maintain continuous communication with the ball handler—without benefit of wires or the free substitution rule. Worse, the rule book doesn't cope with the situation.

Hershberger says the gadget works via the absorption of microwave radio signals by the ammonia molecules. An earpiece filled with the gas may be placed in the quarterback's helmet. Better yet, simply pump the gas into the football.

Then, when the ball carrier fades back to pitch one, he hears his coach scream:

"Szalubrifzky, you idiot.. Run through that hole at right tackle."

The intriguing system wouldn't get far in Canadian football — unless the coach pulled it under cover. Ralph Adams, veteran Toronto official, pointed out the rulebook specifically says: "Coaching from the sidelines is prohibited in the rules because it is considered unfair practice."

FATHER OF MODERN BALL

Col. Abner Doubleday, who arranged the diagram of bases and position of the players in 1839, is credited with inventing modern baseball.

"LOOK . . . NO HANDLEBARS!"—August Paul of Munich, Germany, has switched the driver's seat of his motorcycle into the sidecar. Paul built the ingenious vehicle in his workshop and is demonstrating it to Marianne Zimmerman, United Press correspondent in Munich.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor.

On more than one occasion, we have pointed out the fine job of coaching senior PCVS football Bev Goulding has done. Today, we want to say (and we darned well will say) that Alex Londry is doing a fine job at PCVS as junior grid coach. In his fourth year here, and three years ago his squad reached COSSA finals, last year the boys won it, and now they're back in the finals again. Alex came to Peterborough from Port Perry, but didn't coach there. However, he previously coached the Sydenham seniors to the EOSSA finals ere they lost to Ottawa Glebe. He was grouped with Kingston and Regiopolis and had a small squad made up of seniors and juniors. A quiet-spoken likeable chap, Alex Londry knows football coaching.

* * * * * *

It is a rather thankless task, bringing alone junior high school gridders. You haven't much time to work on raw material ere it's on the assembly line toward senior competition. So you start all over again. Not nearly the glory in junior play as in senior, nor the fanfare. Nor the crowds at games. But it's a most important job, giving the husky youngsters the groundwork which pays off later. The present PCVS juniors came along faster than their coach expected, so that they have a good chance of taking the COSSA again. When they play at three Saturday aft in Port Colborne 'gainst a team not quite as heavy. And there'll be a dozen of this year's good team back next season, which is all to the good, eh?

* * * * * *

Starts From Scratch

At the start of this semester, there was but one first-string player of last year, Al McIlraith. Half a dozen second-stringers—though they aren't that now—in White, Howe, Facendi, Langhorne, Young and Fowler. These and many of the new chaps out have come on swell. Forbes and Facendi are okay linemen and Stewart is really clicking now. Not long ago, Alex told us Reg Fowler (just 155) is an outstanding plunger, one of the best he's ever seen in junior or senior high school play. That boy should go places. Young is another young ace, but then we're not going through the whole lineup. A fine, hefty young grid squad under capable coaching, and we wish 'em luck.

Montreal Alouettes came through, but the Riders gave them a great battle, and now they're as good as in the Grey Cup finals. We heard part of the games by air and would like to have seen it, though thoughts of Lansdowne Park as a wartime barracks aren't pleasant. In the winter, billeted in the made - over grandstand barracks, it was colder than a Hawaiian costume at an Alaska Hallowe'en party. Must have been quite a scrap there, and Filchock and his men deserved the win on the round—big dough does pay off, it seems. As a one-time working scribe in Ottawa, we leaned a little toward the Riders, but even that didn't help them against Alouettes.

Bill Was Pugnacious

A powerful Diesels puck outfit of Bella Villa took the Petes 12-7 in an exhibition senior "B" joust in the Quinte city on Friday, and the same teams play here Wednesday eve. A tight, high-scoring and rather rough joust. You'd think those crews were in playoffs, instead of just playing exhibitions. Big Bill McMaster of the Petes, who tosses the torso at the drop of a syllable, tangled with Wardhaugh and they drew majors. At the end of the game, Willyum picked himself the biggest guy in the arena—huge Vern Goyer—and they staged quite a tussle, too. Bill doesn't like wasting his fistic talent on small fry. Maurice Leforte, Quinte goalie, was hurt and may be out quite a stretch.

Picking up some loose pigskins after a lively week-end. Hamilton Tigers and Alouettes have a sudden-death Eastern Canada playoff next Sunday in Montreal. McGill beat Western 18-10 and Queen's blanked Varsity 9-0 in the intercollegiate setup, so now McGill and Western have a sudden-deather Saturday at Toronto Varsity. It might be that a guy could get a bet down fairly handily with Gordon Matthews—who likes Western—or Gordon Munro, who goes for the Redmen. Guelph Aggies beat Toronto Varsity intermediates 17-11 for their third straight title, and now meet McGill on Nov. 19 in Montreal for the Dominion crown. St. Catharines will be tough competition in the COSSA senior final 'gainst PCVS here Saturday, as they slaughtered Orillia 68-0 in their semi-final.

PMHA To Seek Convener At OMHA Meet

In order to facilitate contact with the OMHA, the Peterborough representatives to the OMHA convention in Toronto Nov. 26 will propose a motion that a convenor for the Peterborough district be appointed. Al Watkins, at present a vice-president of the PMHA, will be put forward as a logical man for the job. Al has been closely connected with minor hockey for a number of years and is familiar with the problems that come up from time to time. Although Bert Hick in Lindsay, at present convenor for this district, is a good man, it was felt that the convenor should be more closely located to save expense in contacting him when necessary.

All coaches, managers and league officials looking after the sale of season tickets are asked to turn in to the treasurer, Ed Faux, 397 George St., any cash that has been collected. Further tickets may be secured from Ed.

The season schedule will go off to a bang tonight at the Arena. Referees for tonight will be Bill Leggett and Bill Romanhyle, with Dick Ouimet and Tony Giardino taking the second game. The schedule for the first two weeks is:

Nov. 14, 6-7, Midget Marines vs. Trojans; 7-8, Juvenile Clappers vs. Oddfellows.

Nov. 16, 6-7, Bantam Optimists vs. Trojans; 7-8, Midget Southend vs. Optimists.

Nov. 18, 6-7, Bantam Keene vs. St. Petes; 7-8, Midget Keene vs. St. Petes.

Nov. 19, 6-7, Midget Trojans vs. Optimists; 7-8, Juvenile St. Petes vs. Trojans.

Curling News

By Herb Martin

Tonight the men begin their season's schedule. The ladies begin theirs this afternoon.

As the schedule runs right through until late in March, and by schedule we mean schedule games open bonspiels, Saturday bonspiels, Neill Trophy, vice-skips' bonspiel, leads and seconds bonspiel, friendly games with out-of-town clubs it looks as it we curlers are going to have a good season, at least plenty of curling.

We expect this evening all of the seven ices will be occupied on the 7:00 o'clock and 9:00 o'clock draws. We expect that No. 8 will be overcrowded by a group of "second guessers," and no doubt the hot stove league will be on hand to give advice to all and sundry. We're looking forward to a real opening night.

We are drawing attention to many of the skips, the entries for the Neill Trophy close on Thursday evening at 9:00 p.m. Act accordingly.

The Saturday night mixed rink bonspiel got away to a good start, almost a capacity entry. They played two 6-ends and the winning skips were F. Stinson and T. Doughty.

We picked this one up the other day: "Do your Christmas hinting early."

Hamilton Wildcats will leave tonight for Vancouver to defend their Canadian junior football championship against Vancouver Blue Bombers there next Saturday. The official green light for the trip was received by club officials Sunday night. It was announced that 35 players and officials will make the trip. Wildcats won the Eastern Canada junior title by defeating Montreal Notre Dame de Grace 31-0 in a sudden-death playoff. Bombers beat Saskatoon iHiltops 16-12 in the Western Canada final.

Wildcats have a remarkable record over the season. Unbeaten, they amassed a total of 368 points while having only 38 scored against them.

Wanderers, Toronto's new rugger club, qualified for the McTier Cup final playoff Saturday when they battled to an 8-5 win over McGill University at Montreal. The cup is awarded to the best club team in Eastern Canada. The Wanderers now are scheduled to play St. Francis Xavier University of Antigonish, N.S., at Sydney, N.S., next Saturday. But the problem of financing the trip has cropped up. Cost of travelling to Sydney, would be approximately $2,500. If Wanderers can't make the trip, McGill will take their place by default.

Cyril Hanover, owned by the Fabi Stock Farms of Sherbrooke, Que., Saturday took top honors in the featured open pace A class as the winter harness racing season at Toronto got under way. Driven by Jockey Ivan Pratte, Cyril Hanover placed first in the initial heat by covering the mile route in 2:17 4-5 and then came second to Director of the Morry MacDonald Stables, Detroit, in the second heat.

The touring Hull Volants whipped Amsterdam (the Netherlands) Isjvogels 12-3 Saturday night in the first game of their continental hockey schedule. A near-capacity crowd watched the Canadian club use their superior speed to advantage in piling up the big score. The Volants led 6-0 at the end of the first period and increased the margin to 9-1 in the second. Fast-stepping Marcel Legris led the Hull attack with four goals.

D. J. Higgins and L. F. Warby were indefinitely suspended Saturday by the Illinois Racing Board in the Misty Eight doping case. Misty Eight, owned by Higgins and trained by Warby, won West pace at Hollywood Park, the sixth race at Sportsman's Park last Wednesday and paid $43.40. A urinalysis showed the presence of procaine, a drug used to "freeze" legs of horses.

21-year-old apprentice jockey, Nicholas Restivo of Brooklyn, N.Y., pleaded innocent Saturday to a charge of attempted malicious interference with a horse entered in Friday's third race at Rockingham Park, Salem, N.H. Unable to raise $2,500 bail, Restivo was taken to jail to await a hearing next Friday.

Jerry the First clipped a full second off the track record Saturday in outstepping 13 others to win the $50,000-added Golden Inglewood, Calif. With his coowner, Eddie Cobb, in the sulky, the five-year-old chestnut stallion got up in the final strides and outlasted the hard-charging Brother Harmony who finished second ahead of Grattan McKylop.

Jerry the First paced the 1¼-miles in 2.31 and collected $25,000 for its owners. He returned $8.20, $4.00 and $3.40 in the mutuels.

Centre Eddie Sandford of Boston Bruins was operated on Sunday night in Somerville Hospital, Boston, after he suffered a severed Achilles tendon in the Bruins-Toronto National Hockey League game. The 21-year-old pivotman will be out at least until February, Dr. Thomas Kelly, team physician said. Sandford was hurt in the opening period when he collided with Bill Barilko in centre ice.

Leafs Divide Two Games As Habitants-Hawks Tied

By VIC MORRIS, Jr.,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Big Bill Durnan, of Montreal Canadiens has proven again he's just about the "hottest" goaler ever to don pads in the National Hockey League.

The big, six foot ambidextrous Durnan, who has captured the Vezina Trophy—hockey's highest award for netminders—five times during the six seasons he has played in the National Hockey League stopped the high-scoring Chicago Black Hawks dead in their tracks Sunday night.

Canadiens battled to scoreless tie with the fourth place Hawks.

At the other end of the ice Frankie (Mr. Zero) Brimsek came through with his best performance of the season to capture his second shutout. Durnan, who has three goose-eggs, was called upon to stop 26 shots while Brimsek handled 22.

Saturday night at New York Canadiens came from behind a two-goal deficit to defeat the fifth place Rangers 5-3.

Second Shutout

Walter (Turk) Broda was handed his second shutout of the season Saturday night as Toronto Maple Leafs practically watzed to a 4-0 victory over Black Hawks before a partisan crowd of 13,948.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings Saturday pinned a 7-5 defeat on Boston Bruins before 11,113 customers.

But the Bruins bounced back Sunday to trip Maple Leafs 4-2 after overcoming a first period 2-0 deficit.

At New York Sunday a disputed goal by Don Raleigh midway through the third period enabled Rangers to come from behind and tie Red Wings 1-1.

Montreal Canadiens gained their victory over Rangers in the last four minutes of play on goals by Norm Dussault and Ken Mosdell. Montreal came from behind in the second period to tie the count at 2-2 and all but skated the hapless Rangers off their feet in the third period with a three-goal rally Rip Riopelle scored two of Canadiens' goals while Murice Richard rapped home his 12th of the season in 13 games. Bill Juckes, Frankie Eddols and Pentti Lund were the New York snipers.

Lead Assault

George Gee and Doug Howe with two goals each led the Detroit assault against Boston. Ted Lindsay, Jerry Couture and Jimmy Peters notched the others Dave Creighton tallied twice for Bruins while Ken Smith, Jack Crawford and Pete Horeck notched the other Boston counters.

Ted Kennedy was the big gun for Leafs as they blanked Hawks. Kennedy hit the mark twice and Fleming Mackell and Bob Dawes completed the scoring. Broda had a fairly easy night in picking up his goose-egg, halting 26 shots to Brimsek's 34.

But Leafs were unable to halt the victory hungry Bruins Sunday night. Boston spotted Leafs two goals in the first four minutes and then took over command for the remaining 56 minutes. Bill Ezinicki and Ray Timgren notched the Leafs' goals. Then, impressive style, rookie Phil Maloney and Johnny Peirson pulled the Bruins into a tie. Dave Creighton broke the deadlock early in the middle session and Woody Dumart clinched the contest in the final period.

A crowd of 14,442 New Yorkers watched the Rangers, winless in their last seven games, take bruising punishment for two periods before they put on a sizzling show in the third period to eke out a deadlock. Sid Abel scored the Detroit marker while Raleigh rapped home New York's equalizer.

St. Paul Wallops Omaha Knights

By The Associated Press.

Saint Paul Saints, leaders of the United States Hockey League, finally have broken their habit of winning games by a single goal.

They walloped Omaha last night 8-1. Of their seven victories this season that was the first gained by more than one marker.

Joe Levandowski hit two goals for St. Paul. One major and two misconduct penalties were among 14 called in the rough game. At one point in the third period there were three St. Paul men and two Omaha players in the penalty box.

Minneapolis stayed within a point of St. Paul in the standings by bouncing Kansas City 8-3 last night. The score was 3-3 at the end of two periods, then the Millers cut loose with five goals in the last session.

To Give $2,000 Purses

Tanforan's horse race meeting will continue with a $2,000 minimum purse. The track owners and spokesmen for the California Thoroughbred Owners and the Jockeys' Guild reached that agreement Saturday. The track wanted to cut the minimum purse to $1,700 and horse owners and jockeys protested.

Art Duncan President Of Trent Valley Loop

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 14 — (ENS)—Art Duncan of Batawa was re-elected head of the Trent Valley Hockey League at a re-organization meeting in the Council Chamber on Sunday. Marmora, Campbellford, Hastings, Frankford-Batawa, Warsaw and Lakefield clubs were represented.

S. Stevenson, Hastings, was elected first vice-president; Hector MacArthur, Campbellford, second vice-president; W. Regan, Marmora, third vice-president and Herb Rankin, Frankford, secretary-treasurer.

The deadline for entry into the league was set at December 4. It is expected that at least seven teams will form the loop.

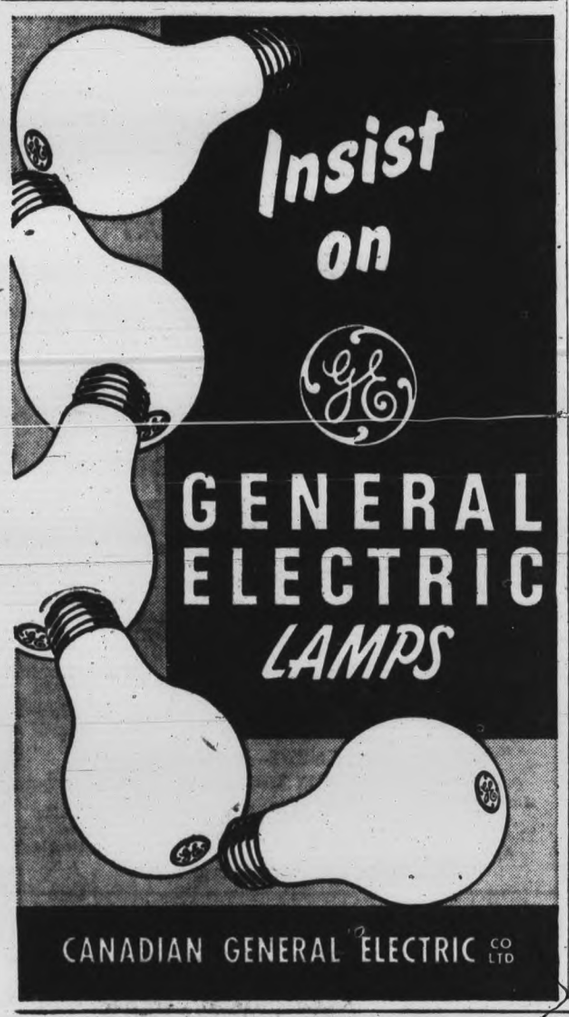
Warsaw representatives asked permission to affiliate with the league either as a separate club or with Norwood. They also pointed out that their home games would be played on Norwood ice. The matter was left with the executive.

Chief Samis of Lakefield predicted that his club would ice a team in the TVL this year.

The executive was given authority to expel any team that violated the rules and regulations of the league.

Legion Funds Stolen

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP) — Albert J. Swan, 44, treasurer of the College St. Branch of the Canadian Legion here, was arrested Saturday on a charge of theft of $3,000 from the Legion funds.



Plan Inquiry Into Shore's Hockey Methods

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP)—An inquiry is being sought into methods used by Eddie Shores' Springfield Hockey Club of the American Hockey League in signing young hockey players.

The request for an investigation originated with the Ontario Hockey Association and is being relayed through the Canadian Hockey Association to the AHL.

An OHA sub-committee Sunday night decided to press for the investigation after hearing from Eddie Crouch, of Toronto, a goalie suspended Nov. 1 by the CAHA at the request of Shore, who claimed Crouch did not live up to terms of an "A" form Crouch is said to have signed with Springfield. Crouch appealed the suspension.

Present at the committee meeting was Clarence Campbell, NHL president, who sat in at the invitation of J. J. McFadyen, of Galt, OHA head.

Crouch told the OHA committee, consisting of McFadyen, George Dudley, W. A. Hewitt, George Panter and Dinty Moore, that an "A" form he said he signed while at the Springfield training camp last year was represented to him as "a form of insurance" to protect him from injury during workouts.

Held Only 4 Days

He said the tryout camp was held only four days, that he attended two workouts and was excused by Shore from the last two. Later, he said, he signed a "C" form with Springfield and received $100.

"I wish I hadn't," Crouch said Sunday. "But I wanted to play hockey and nothing was being done about my suspension. Hap Emms (Barrie Flyers coach) talked to Shore, but told me the only way Shore would lift my suspension would be for me to sign a 'C' form. I was told that if I signed it in time, I could play (for Barrie) against Windsor Nov. 1. So I signed. But I still haven't been reinstated."

Crouch Sunday turned over to George Panter, OHA assistant secretary, the $100 he said he got for signing the "C" form. Panter will hold the money until the investigation is completed.

Rules Argument Seen Shaping Up

GUELPH, Nov. 14—(CP) — A rules argument appears to be shaping up over determining the Ontario intercollegiate intermediate football championship.

The schedule wound up Saturday with Ontario Agricultural Aggies of Guelph scoring a 17-11 victory over University of Toronto seconds. The victory tied Aggies with Western Colts of London, Ont., on game points, 10 each.

But Colts have 128 scoring points, compared with Aggies' 100. Colts claim that in the case of a tie on game points, the team with the most scoring points should have the title.

However, an Aggies official proposed Sunday night that the right to the title be decided by a sudden-death game between Colts and Aggies for the right to advance to the Canadian final against McGill seconds at Montreal Nov. 19.

The Guelph team waged an uphill battle to win Saturday.

'Caygeon Curlers In Friendly Game

The first big event of the curling season was held Friday evening when seven rinks from Bobcaygeon came and enjoyed a 10-end friendly game. Considering that it was their first effort this season, they did remarkably well. This is just the first of several friendly games that are scheduled for this season, and if the remaining ones go over as well as this one, it will be worth while. At the conclusion of the games the visitors were entertained with lunch in the club parlors. Fred Stenson and his committee did a fine job.

Providence Reds Take Two Weekend Games

By The Canadian Press

It took Providence Reds about six weeks to get started but today it would seem that last year's American Hockey League champions are rolling again.

The Reds find themselves atop the league's eastern division today for the first time this season as the result of a 4-1 victory over Pittsburgh Hornets Saturday and a 5-3 verdict against Cincinnati Mohawks Sunday.

The double week-end victory enabled them to take a one-point lead over New Haven Ramblers and Buffalo Bisons who are now deadlocked for second place.

Meanwhile in the league's western section Cleveland Barons made it six in a row with a pair of wins against Buffalo and New Haven.

The Bisons fell victims to Goalie Johnny Bower Saturday by a 5-0 count. It was his first shut-out of the year. The Ramblers went down 3-2.

Stamps Heading For Toronto On Thursday

CALGARY, Nov. 14 (CP). — Calgary Stampeders will leave for Toronto Thursday night to repeat the same week-long training in Eastern Canada that helped to cap their Grey Cup quest with success last football season.

Tom Brook, Stampeders' president, announced Sunday night the team plans to arrive in Toronto Sunday morning. They will pitch camp again at Appleby College in Oakville, 20 miles west of Toronto, where they tapered off the training last season that helped upset Ottawa Rough Riders 12-7.

This time, the Stamps will be defending their Dominion crown at Toronto November 26 against either Montreal Alouettes or the Hamilton Tigers, who meet for the Eastern Canada title in Montreal Sunday, November 20.

Taking Same Lineup

Coach Les Lear said he is taking the same lineup that won the Western Canada championship over Saskatchewan Roughriders, by a two-game score of 22-21.

All five United States imports with the Stamps will see action. They are quarterback Keith Spaith, ends Woody Strode and Ezzrett (Sugarfoot) Anderson, tackle Johnny Aguirre and guard Riley (Rattler) Matheson.

Spaith is the Stamps' triple threat offensive star. In his two seasons here the 195-pound quarterback won Jeff Nicklin Trophy both times as the most valuable player to his team in the league. Before joining Stamps he played two years with the professional Honolulu Warriors.

Strode and Aguirre also are second-year men. A former pro Los Angeles Ram, 223-pound Strode uses his 6 feet 4 inches to advantage as a pass-catcher par excellence. Aguirre, 28, and 227 pounds, came with Spaith from Honolulu Warriors.

Whirlaway established himself as winter-book favorite for the Kentucky Derby nine years ago today by romping through the mud to an easy victory in the Walden Stakes at Pimlico. The win boosted the earnings of Warren Wright's great colt to $77,276. He went on the following season to take racing's triple crown—the Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes.

A fuller training means a fuller pay envelope

A few hard facts about earning a living...

When the last few months of a Business Course seem to drag, it's only too easy to quit. When a friend who hasn't graduated lands a good-paying job, it's pretty hard to stay at a school desk. But in the not-so-very-long run, who wins out? People who hire and promote stenographers can't be fooled. They know the difference between a skimpy, not-quite-finished training, and a fully completed course to recognized standards. And that difference soon shows where it counts most—in the pay envelope!

Says the personnel manager of a large Canadian Company:

". . . I recommend promotions. And believe me, it's easy to spot the girl or boy who lacks finished schooling!"

". . . The record speaks for itself. There's always a better-paid job for the worker who can handle a better-paid job. And the secret of handling a job is—adequate training!"

". . . How can a typist or stenographer expect to rank high with top management if there's always another girl leaning over her shoulder and teaching her how to do something she should have learned at school?"

". . . It often saddens me to see bright youngsters doomed to mediocre jobs through lack of sufficient training."

Better training means better jobs at better salaries. Those last vital months often make all the difference between an accomplished student and a fumbling novice. It pays to stay at school for the entire, prescribed course!

Believes Brains Not Beauty Needed In Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 14 (AP) —This may be news to you, but Jeanne Crain claims that the important item for movie success is brains, not beauty.

Miss Crain, who has a good share of both, begs to correct the notion that all you need to be a movie star is a handsome kisser and a classy shape.

'I admit beauty will make it easier," she admitted on the "Cheaper By The Dozen" set. "An actress with a pretty face has a better chance of being noticed than one without it.

"But if a beautiful girls lacks the personality and talent to go with her looks, she will soon find herself out in the cold.

Beauty not Enough

"People soon tire of looking at just a pretty face. The really attractive women who remain in the public favor for years aren't necessarily beautiful women. They have a certain individuality that makes them charming and attractive.

"The great ladies of the screen are universally considered to be beauties. They really aren't at all. Joan Crawford, for example is the first to admit that she isn't a beauty. Yet she has been considered one for years—because of her personality."

Crawford Advice

Speaking of Joan Crawford brings me to some advice the film veteran handed out to newcomers. And when La Crawford ladies out advice, it's well to listen.

"The screen welcomes newcomers," she said on "The Victim" set. "The studios want new faces. In that respect, it is easier for an unknown to become a star than it was 15 years ago.

"But it is also harder. The cost of movie making has gone up Producers must make pictures as quickly and economically as possible. They look for dependable people to work with.

"So if a newcomer doesn't prove himself to be fast, cooperative and dependable, he'll find himself not called upon for another job."

Recommending Ban On One Anaesthetic

TORONTO, Nov. 14 —(CP)— Chief Coroner Dr. Smirle Lawson has recommended that ethylchloride be banned as an anaesthetic as the result of the death of a four-year-old boy under its influence four days ago.

Dr. Lawson, following the inquest into the death of John Shobbrook, advised hospitals and doctor's clinics to avoid using ethylchloride.

It is generally used, he said, to quiet a child before a main anaesthetic is applied.

Dr. Lawson said he had traced several deaths under anaesthetic and in each case involving children, ethylchloride had been used.

BIGGLESWADE, Bedfordshire, Eng.—(CP) — Frank Russell, 31-year-old motor mechanic, doesn't only keep vegetables in his back garden—he has built a submarine there as well.

Built of scrap steel, it is 16½ feet long and 2½ feet wide. The hull, of electrically-welded quarter-inch steel plate, weighs 700 pounds. Cost so far is £100 ($310).

When it is completed, Russell will test the submarine on the nearby River Ivel. If successful, he will use it for exploring the sea bed.

60 MPH Gale Lashes Area Near Watertown

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Winds up to 60 miles an hour lashed the northeastern end of Lake Ontario and the lower St Lawrence River Sunday.

The strong winds and heavy seas forced the ferry which runs between Morristown, N. Y., and Brockville, Ont., to shut down operations.

Attendants at the Watertown Airport here said the wind velocity was recorded at an average of 47 miles an hour with gusts up to 60.

The United States Coast Guard reported heavy seas running out said they had no reports of vessels in trouble.

Five In Hospital, Police Probe Two Accidents

Five people were injured in two car accidents in the Peterborough district investigated by Provincial Police over the week-end.

Most seriously injured was Neil McNaughton, age 24, of RR 4, Peterborough, in Civic Hospital with a fractured pelvis.

McNaughton's accident was on Highway 36, near Bobcaygeon. He was driving south from Buckhorn Saturday night and told authorities he could not remember what happened.

Extensive damage was caused to his car.

Hospital officials said today his condition was "good."

Provincial Constable E. G. Patterson investigated.

Four of a family were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital early Sunday morning when their truck hit a parked truck, half a mile east of the Brookside Pavilion on Highway No. 7 east of the city.

Four Taken To Hospital

Taken to hospital were the driver, William Hayes, 24, his brother David, 19, and his two sisters Margaret, 17, and Helen, 14. All reside near Indian River.

The truck parked by the side of the road was driven by Charles Ruttan of Campbellford and the other occupant was George Young of Toronto. Neither men was injured and the truck received little damage.

All of the Hayes had minor head cuts and lacerations but Margaret, the least seriously hurt, has been released from hospital. The car was heavily damaged.

Medical attention was given the quartet by Dr. Robert Young of Peterborough.

Provincial Constables D. W. Coffey and Roy Feeley investigated.

UKRAINIAN ARTIST Edward Kozak, one of Europe's greatest muralists and caricaturists, was found toiling as a street cleaner in Hamtramck, a Detroit suburb. Before the war Kozak won many honors for his murals, but he was better known for his caricatures and political cartoons. A widely-reproduced caricature of Stalin brought the wrath of the Soviet agents, and Kozak became a hunted man. Located by a Detroit architect decorator, Kozak was given a job painting murals and now his work is winning acclaim in Detroit. But, says Kozak: "Even if I have to sweep streets, I would be happy if I can remain in the United States."

4 Youths Held, Girls Sent Home In Taxi

Four Campbellford youths appeared in police court today on charges under the Liquor Control Act. They were remanded to Tuesday for trial.

Clifford Stillman, 20, and Thomas Iliffe, 18, were charged drinking liquor while minors. Wm Bertrand, 21, was charged with consuming liquor in a place other than a residence. Kenneth Campbell 19, was charged with having liquor in a place other than his residence.

The four, with four girls, were reported found sitting in a car on Armour Rd. by police early Monday morning.

The girls were sent to their homes in Norwood and Campbellford in a taxi.

Two Cars Collide

Two cars collided at Rubidge and Sherbrooke Sts. about 10 o'clock Sunday morning. H. E. Doughty, 387 Halloway Drive told police, driving east on Sherbrooke St., he stopped at Rubidge and proceeded across. His car collided with a car driven by W. T. McMahon, 217 Charlotte St., going north on Rubidge.

Police say the McMahon car was propelled sideways a distance and jumped over a curb. No one was reported hurt.

Memorial Plaque Unveiled At George St. United Church

In the memory of the 18 who sacrificed their lives and the 237 who served in the second world conflict a plaque was unveiled at the Sunday morning service at George St. United Church by Lt.-Colonel Maxwell Clarke, Commanding officer of the 50th Heavy A.A. Regiment, RCA.

Unveiling the bronze plaque, Mr. Clarke said the plaque was in memory of those who sacrificed their lives and to honor those who served.

Members of the Church in the Armed Forces who paid the supreme sacrifice and whose names are on the plaque are:

Anderson, Donald; Best, A. Gordon; Breckenridge, Douglas M.; Brenton, Edwin S.; Brenton, Kenneth S.; Burnham, Jake F.; Burrows, Bernard A.; Clark, Nelson; Fitzgerald, Gerald W.; McKenzie, Jack W.; McQuarrie, C. Allan; Metheral, Walter W.; Munro, R. Bertram; Rennie, Roland; Sorenson, F. Edward; Weese, Donald E.; White, Elgin C.; Yelland, Reginald C.

Dr. James Semple the minister dedicated the plaque.

The names of the fallen who were members of the church were read by Dr. Semple with former members of the armed services reading the names of their comrades who served in World II. Following each name a beat of a drum reminded the congregation of the sacrifice all had made.

Soft notes from the trumpet carried the Last Post throughout the church followed by a minute's silence and then Reveille.

On each side of the plaque during the service stood former members of the men's and women's divisions of the Army, Navy and the Air Force. Two bouquets of white mums were at sides of the plaque.

"The second world conflict originated in a bad theology and in a rotten philosophy which taught that might and militarism are right and only force, the conqueror," Dr. Semple said in his sermon entitled "Religion or Ruin". Dr. Semple was using as his text, verse 13 of St. John 15, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends".

"Christian love", said Dr. Semple, "might be described as a yearning for the best in life". Christian love at its best, he added, is always strong and always vicarious and is expressed in some form of sacrifice.

"The people of the world are faced with the choice of religion or ruin. A world that denounces what has been sneeringly called the abstract principles of truth, honor and righteousness and in their place enthrones godlessness is doomed to the ruin of its civilization."

Dr. Semple explained by ruin he meant the fruits of despair, lost ideals, lost enthusiasm and lost hope rather than destruction by an atomic war or by a biological attack.

Even as the virtues of religion are those qualities which are victorious through trial, so ruin for the individual and for humanity is despair in the face of trial, he added.

Through religion, Dr. Semple said, ruin can be avoided within people. By religion he meant the changeless virtues of personal integrity, of moral courage, of truth, of faith, of honor and of love.

"A religion that serves today's needs and holds tomorrow's promise should not consist of dying forms and cold rituals but of living hope and friendly righteousness. Justice, honor and truth will be found where righteousness is found. If all people return to religion and find peace, the world will find peace".

First Fatality Of Hunt Season, Hunter Drowned

BANCROFT, Nov. 14.—(ENS).—Haliburton County's first fatality of this year's hunt occurred more than 24 hours before the season opened. Dawson Reid, 54, of Coe Hill, was found Saturday lying dead in Paudash Creek, 10 miles west of Coe Hill.

A verdict of accidental death was pronounced by Dr. O. W. Anderson, coroner of Bancroft. There will be no inquest.

The dead man was found by a resident of Cardiff Township, Clayton Hilker, one of a large party of huntsmen who began looking for Mr. Reid Saturday night when he failed to return to the hunting camp after going for a walk.

Brush along the five foot high banks of Paudash Creek is described as very thick and it is thought by woodsmen that he may have lost his way. He is believed to have slipped on the creek bank and fallen, striking his head on a dead log in the water.

Force of the blow rendered him unconscious.

Coroner Anderson said it was possible he drowned as he was found partly lying in the creek. No autopsy was performed.

Location of the fatal accident is about half a mile from the hunting camp which he and his companions were preparing. The deer hunting season opened at dawn today.

Provincial Constables William Fitzsimmons and Douglas Ketcheson, both of Bancroft, investigated.

UE Left Wing Urge Unity Strong Action

A claim that the right-wing group at CGE had failed to secure the support of even a quarter of the membership at the plant was made Saturday in Toronto at a meeting of UE-GE Joint Conference Board.

About 40 members of the Board were present and they claimed to represent the 5,500 workers under contract with the UE in the six CGE plants in Toronto, Cobourg and Peterborough.

The meeting discussed the general situation in terms of Conciliation, negotiations and consolidation, and urged the Peterborough members to complete their work in obtaining signatures on the petition now being circulated by the left wing.

That would be "the greatest single factor" in convincing the Company "it would have to get down to business and bargain in a genuine manner," it was stated.

Want Strong Measures

Strong measures were also advocated against the Company at Peterborough.

The board called "immediate action" in the Peterborough plant to lay unfair labor practice charges against the CGE for permitting the activity in the plant of "the secessionist group" allegedly contrary to the terms of the collective bargaining agreement.

As well it called on members of other CCL unions to join with those of UE in demanding an end to raiding and "unity in the struggle for improved wage and working conditions."

Only Cobourg has refused to stand firm within the ranks of the UE, was the claim made at the conference board meeting.

"The forces of J. G. Morton, aided and abetted by the CCL representatives and staff, have failed to secure the support of even a quarter of the membership of Local 524," it was stated.

The conference board also heard reports from Brockville where the right-wing leadership was reported to be working closely with the Morton group in Peterborough and the Knipfel group in Cobourg.

C. S. Jackson, UE Canadian president, said the Brockville right wingers had received a strong setback last Wednesday when the membership, according to left-wing report, suspended secessionist officers and established a new committee to carry on the affairs of the local.

Loosened Wheel Blamed For Crash

A wheel coming loose from his car was the reason given by Howard Campbell, 101 Auburn St., for his crashing into guard rails and a fence on Armour Rd. south of Maria St. Saturday.

Traffic Officer Harold Mesley reported Campbell told him he was driving south on Armour Rd. As he was approaching the north end of the guard rail, the front left corner of the car seemed to drop and the car swerved to the left crashing into the guard rail and a fence.

Joe Wilson, also of 101 Auburn St., a passenger, cut his forehead when he was thrown forward against the windshield. There was extensive damage to the car, guard rails and fence.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

While one car was backing up, two cars collided at Antrim and Water Sts. Saturday afternoon Thomas Herbert Squire, 684 Water St., told police he was driving east on Antrim St. He said he stopped at Water St. When he proceeded across Water St., he collided with a car driven by Wm. Burke, Chemong Rd. Police reported Burke said he was parked on the north side of Antrim St. just east of Water St. He backed his car to Water St. and turned south in order to drive away north. It was then the collision took place.

The scheduled visit of the Hon. George Henry Doucett, Minister of Highways and Minister of Public Works, to the County of Peterborough has had to be postponed. Mr. Doucette was detained in Ottawa. He makes an annual visit to the various municipalities. His next stop after Peterborough is Victoria county.

Morton Declines Director's Job

John G. Morton, leader of the right-wing group in the union split at CGE, has declined an offer from the International Union of Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers (CIO) to become Canadian director.

A telegram received last week from James B. Carey, chairman of the new electrical union in the United States says in part: "This is to advise effective immediately you are authorized to act as Field Director for the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO)."

Mr. Morton's reply follows: "Do not want Canadian Directorship. Am acting temporarily. Appoint some one else as soon as possible. Thanks."

A leaflet issued by the right wing and distributed this morning to CGE employees makes this comment:

"In recognition of the importance of the Peterborough Local, Jack Morton has been offered the position of Canadian director of UE-CIO, until a proper election takes place at a District Convention of the Canadian UE-CIO locals. Jack Morton's telegram indicates his feelings. All he wants to do is to see Local 524 in a strong International Union."

Dane New President Ont. Recreationists

Sixty recreation directors from Ontario centres elected as their president Jack Dane, resigned recreation director of Peterborough and after December 1 recreation director in Forest Hill, Toronto. Election was made at the Recreation Directors Federation of Ontario annual meeting in London last week. Last year Mr. Dane was vice-president of the Federation.

The Extension Department of the University of Western Ontario in co-operation with the Community Programs Branch of the Department of Education was also holding its second annual training course for municipal recreation directors at the University. The course, started November 4 and ran to November 11 and lectures were given by professors from Ontario universities, officials from the Department of Education and recreation officials from the United tates.

Mr. Dane was chairman of the course for November 6. At the banquets that day, Professor K. Grant Crawford, of Queen's University, and Professor W. Alex Dewar, of the University of Western Ontario, were guest speakers.

This morning Mr. Dane said James Stevens, recreational director in the United States, told him that his city, which has a population of 36,000, is spending $80,000 for a recreational program plus an additional $190,000 for maintenance. Peterborough's annual expenditure for recreation is about $20,000.

Woods Full of Deer Hunters City Is Funnel Point Leading Into Deer Country

By NICK NICKELS.

Peterborough men in business, professions, manufacturing and municipal affairs, joined the general exodus to deer hunting camps. There will be 100,000 hunters out in Southern Ontario this season, it is estimated. Shooting opened this morning and due to a wet weekend which will kill scent for dogs, it is doubtful that luck will be any too good at the outset. The short season this year lasts nine days, until Nov. 23rd, and licence fee collections will be far in excess of last year, experts predict. At a cost of $4, Ontario resident and $25.75 for those from outside the Province, Provincial coffers will be heaped higher than in 1948 when 85,000 licenses were issued. An extra $4 licence may be issued to any party of four or more to provide one deer for eating in camp.

Hunters must match each doe and fawn killed with a buck, according to regulations which means that a party of eight hunters may bring out eight bucks or four bucks, and four does or fawns. The lone-wolf hunter may not bring out a doe but by teaming up with a partner, he and partner may take a doe and buck each. Statistics show that one hunter in four gets a deer.

Wardens, Police Alert

Shipping tags attached to each licence must be tied to each carcass brought or shipped from the bush and Game Wardens in their highway checks will see to this regulation, as well as to recording various statistics where the deer were shot, if they are diseased, and so forth. Ontario Provincial Police will also assist in carrying out their roying checks.

Deer hunting is expensive sport. At lodges they will pay from $60 to $200 for ten days in the bush. Small established hunt clubs which look after all details, including the hiring of guides and dogs, allocate their operating costs to each member and $75 per hunter will not be far from the cost this year.

Factory Exodus

Factory production will take a beating at the Outboard Marine for the next while, was personnel manager Rex Reid's opinion, as he reeled off a list of 55 foremen and shop workers who have taken from two to five days off work for the hunt. In addition to this figure the following group will go to Six Point Lodge: Hugh Campbell, C. B. Neall, L. L. Tremblay, E. E. Eslick, John Madden, F. T. Irgens of Milwaukee, Stewart Holland of Toronto, Sam Whitehouse and Hugh Carnahan. At Stony Lake George Kennedy and Bob Merrett will head another group and at Gull Lake there will be Bruce Payne, Hy Wood, Bill Milliken, Charlie Clarke and Jack Ferran.

Hunters off to the Catchacoma Hunt Club include Hugh Waddell, Thomas Gentles of Chicago, Jim Turner, Orley Degraw, R. Abbott, Clare Soothern, Max Comstock, Thomas McKay and Dr. N. H. Buchanan; Fred Gant is cook.

At McGregor's Hunt Camp on Gull Lake the following will spend some of the hunting season: Lorne Bateman, Michael O'Leary, Art Lewis, Ross Hood, John Russell, Joe Torpy, Howard Dolittle, and Joe Garvey.

His Worship the Mayor, Max J. Swanston, is off to camp between Long and Trout Lakes. With him are Drs. Ralph Honey, Harold Long and Bill Gordon and Wallace Shearer of Buckhorn, Roy Brown of Lakefield, Col. J. A. Dewart, Alex Elliott and Stan Payne; Chris Staples of Baltimore is the cook.

The group headed for the west shore of Catchacoma include Clare Collins, Herb Bradburn, John McCall, Ivan and Tom Lillico and Dd. Herb Young. These parties are only some of the few that were contacted.

ISLAND FUR BREEDING

Silver fox breeding is extensively carried on in Prince Edward Island, with chief markets in the United Kingdom and the United States.

By HARRY THEOBALD.

Dit Clapper has gone shunting, too, on the shuttle basis, out in the morning and back at night. He and his fellow nimrods took off this morning at 5 o'clock up through Burleigh and Anstruther townships.

Mr. Clapper was accompanied by Bob McClellan, Dick Jones, Meyer Levine, Dave Wilson, Harry Scriver of Hastings, Jack Dobbin, Don Clapper and possibly several others. Actual personnel of this party lacked confirmation because there was no one around who had seen them off.

The night police had gone home to bed and the other hunters abroad at that sleepy hour had disappeared into the bush.

The Clapper party had planned to get away at 5 o'clock each morning during the hunting period, or until the party has got its quota of deer.

Mr. Clapper told the Examiner Saturday that he had run out of licenses last week, after claiming enough for his own associates. Sale of furnishings was heavy—boots, jackets, caps, and a whole range of other paraphernalia of the he-man's way of life back where the deer and the antelope play.

Much Slower Travel

In the old days of Harry Winch, George Morrow, Harry LeBrun and the other men who hunted in the Ketchecum Lake country up in the east side of Cavendish township, it took most of a day to reach the camp. It was a long slow trip by horse power, and usually in weather that was frostier than this morning's mere 40 degrees.

According to their plan, the Clapper associates expect to be up in the woods before the deer open their eyes to a new day, or whatever the deer do. They go up the Burleigh Falls road, so it is understood, and somewhere along the line they turn west to scramble over the rocks.

Report from the north country for the first day of the business of beating up the bush was: weather clear, track slow.

The Clapper men are taking lunch with them, and according to the Sunday information around town they could do with a heavy-armored tank for assurance of security.

The Peterborough woods must be full of men with guns. A lot of them were waiting at the Churchill restaurant early Sunday morning. Apparently this city was the funnel leading into the deer country, where the parties fanned out in all directions. Some of them were probably bound for Haliburton.

"I never saw so many hunters out so early since I have been here," said John Mousmoulies of the Churchill. "Most of them seemed to be from out of town, Toronto, Hamilton, Oshawa and other places. That is what I gathered from their talk. Honestly, there were twice as many as we had on the same day last year.

They started coming Saturday afternoon, but only in small groups, and then that night there were more. Sunday morning brought them out, and I think Peterborough must be the doorway to the north country."

Want To Bring German Students To Universities

MONTREAL, Nov. 14—(CP)—An exchange program to bring European students—particularly from Germany—to Canadian universities for a one-year period was adopted Sunday at the fourth annual conference of the International Student Service of Canada.

Some 70 delegates and observers from 20 Canadian universities attended the three-day conference which ended Sunday at the University of Montreal.

The meeting recommended that scholarships be set up by Canadian universities to effect such an exchange on the understanding that students return to the countries from which they came at the end of the one-year period.

The conference resolved to increase if possible the number of scholarships awarded displaced persons in Canadian universities during the coming year.

Limit Representation

The conference adopted a resolution introduced by the McGill University delegation urging that representation on the ISS International Assembly — its governing body—be limited to ISS members.

In an address to delegates at a banquet tendered by the city of Montreal Saturday night, Dr. Leon Lortie, professor of chemistry, University of Montreal, and ISS vice-president, spoke on the need for continuing instruction in the humanities in Canadian universities.

"It is imperative that universities resume their intellectual and spiritual leadership," he said, "unless they wish to become glorified technical schools."

Dr. Norman MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, was re-elected president.

Cost-of-Living Index Dropping

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 (CP) — Cost of living indexes for seven of the eight cities for which regional indexes are compiled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics were lower at Oct. 1, the bureau reported Saturday.

The index for Edmonton, 156.8 remained steady where lower prices for food were balanced by increases for clothing and miscellaneous items.

The national index declined a tenth of a point to 162.2 for the same period.

In the seven cities with lower indexes, drops in food prices brought the index down despite higher costs for clothing and miscellaneous items. In eastern cities fuel costs were higher.

City indexes for the eight cities with indexes for Sept. 1 in brackets, were:

Halifax 155 (155.6); Saint John, N. B., 159 (159.4); Montreal 165.4 (165.7); Toronto 157.9 (158.2); Winnipeg 156.2 (156.6); Saskatoon 162.4 (162.8); Edmonton 156.8 (156.8); Vancouver 162.8 (163.5).

The bureau said its indexes, based on 1935-39 equals 100, show changes in the living costs for each city and compare the rise or fall between cities. They do not, however, compare actual levels of living costs.

Inherits Mansion Can't Afford To Keep It Up

By WILLIAM BOSS.

THORPE-LE-SOKEN, Essex, England, Nov. 14 — (CP). — A former lady-in-waiting in Rideau Hall, Ottawa, has inherited an English baronial mansion, but doubts whether she can afford it.

Eva Dettine Sandford, who was at Government House with Baron and Viscountess Byng of Vimy during Lord Byng's term of office from 1921 to 1926, is the woman with the headache.

Thorpe Hall, a luxuriously-furnished 26-room mansion set in 200 acres, fell to her at Lady Byng's death in June.

Besides the property, she acquired £490,000 ($1,519,000) willed to her by Lady Byng and the income from Lord Byng's estate, which he had provided would become hers on the death of his widow.

Death duties will leave Miss Sandford £100,000, which she figures will give her an income of £3,000 — about £30 a week after income tax— and she says it is hardly enough to keep the place and its staff of 10 going.

Nurse During War

Now silver-haired, Miss Sandford was a nurse during the First World War. She is a cousin of the Duchess of Northumberland and had known the Byngs during the war and afterward.

The years in Ottawa were happy, she says, "and when we returned the Byngs practically adopted me as a daughter."

During the Second World War, Lady Byng, then a widow, went to Canada and Miss Sandford became lady-in-waiting to the Duchess of Gloucester. Thorpe Hall was requisitioned for use by the services.

When hostilities ceased she and Lady Byng returned and restored order and beauty to the place. "It was very dirty. I did a lot of housework myself. I even scrubbed the floors."

Two minutes' sience was observed. The depositing of colors was carried out by Clayton Bedore and George Osborne.

The scripture lesson was read by Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie, chaplain of the branch. Beverly Young recited "In Flanders' Fields" and the junior choir sang "For All The Saints."

Mr. Young said that although the poppy had been worn with a certain amount of indifference as to its real meaning, the time was at hand when it would be worn as a badge of honor.

The benediction was pronounced by Rural Dean J. M. Brownlie.

MILLBROOK, Nov. 14 (ENS)—The Salvation Army Band of the Wychwood Citadel, Toronto, gave two concerts in the town hall on Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon. The band was in Port Hope for anniversary services where Lieut. Williams is in charge and shared its time with Millbrook. The varied program consisted of instrumental solos, a vocal male quartet, and a piano solo as well as numbers by the whole band. Band Major Swaddling himself gave a fine cornet solo.

Major Williams, who was in charge of the Toronto citadel, and who is a former missionary to China, plays in the band as does one of his sons. Lieut. Williams of Port Hope is another son.

Mr. Percy Stinson acted as chairman and Mr. George Burnham, a cornetist of many years standing, moved a vote of thanks. It was regretted that on account of rain the concert Sunday was not so well attended as last year.

Ask Field Marshal To Conference

LONDON, Nov. 14—(CP)—The Conservative Daily Telegraph speculates today in a front-page news story that there is more than coincidence behind the invitation to Field Marshal Sir William Slim, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, to visit Ottawa and Washington at the same time that Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Sir William's predecessor, will be in the United States capital.

The newspaper's military correspondent says it has been suggested that the invitation from the Chief of the Canadian General Staff, Lt. Gen. Charles Foulkes, stems from a desire to discuss standardization of equipment.

"More likely, the Field Marshal's visits are to be regarded as the culmination of a world tour undertaken with an eye to impending defence cuts," the Telegraph says. Sir William recently returned from Hong Kong, Malaya and other British strategic ceatres.

Britain has immediate military commitments in the current cold war and remoter ones which would come from mobilization under terms of the Brussels and Atlantic Pacts.

"Field Marshal Slim may take the opportunity to discuss with the Canadian and United States Chief of Staff, and the standing group of the Atlantic Military Committee, ways and means to meet the situation which would be created if Britain were unable to implement undertakings entered into under these two pacts," the the Telepraph says.

The newspaper's correspondent is the usually-well-informed Lt.-Gen. H. G. Martin.

Charge Shinwell With Stirring Up Business Hatred

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Nov. 14 (CP)—London's ancient City, citadel of Britain's big business, took it on the chin during the week-end.

Antagonism between socialists and so-called captains of industry, who have offices in the square mile of London known as the City, reached a new level of bitterness with a speech by War Minister Emanuel Shinwell.

Speaking Saturday at Gateshead, Durham, Shinwell referred to the annual Lord Mayor's banquet held last Wednesday at Guildhall.

"I attended the banquet as a member of the government—I should not have been invited if I had not been a member of the government," said Shinwell.

"Well, if that was a banquet—perhaps they ladled out the austerity deliberately—give me good old fish and chips wrapped in paper and if it is going to be wrapped up in paper let it be wrapped up in clean ones like the Daily Herald...."

The Daily Herald is a pro-government newspaper.

Shinwell said that when Prime Minister Attlee spoke at the dinner as guest of honor, "I heard sneers and disrespectful remarks, not on the part of everybody present—I would not say that—but on the part of many of them associated with the City of London."

Out For Themselves

"When I hear remarks passed about praising the integrity of the City of London, what happened on that occasion is, in my judgment, an ample demonstration of their desire not so much to improve the economic situation as to improve their own situation and to get rid as rapidly as possible of this Labor government."

Ill will between the government and the City first flared openly after the announcement of sterling devaluation. The trading in shares that followed in the City was described by the government as "obscene plundering."

The Conservative Daily Mail, first newspaper to register a reply, accused Shinwell of attempting to excite class hatred.

London's Lord Mayor, Sir Frederick Rowland, denied Shinwell's assertions. "It is simply not true that there were sneers and disrespectful remarks," he said.

"In a company of over 800 there may be a few fanatics. But if they did make any remarks, they could not be heard at the head table."

Say US Economy Can Withstand Production Loss

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

So far as can be seen, American business is in good condition to throw off the effect of the long steel strike, now virtually at an end, and of the coal strike, which is suspended for the time being at least.

American observers are encouraged by the ability of retail trade to swing away from the downward trend as soon as the strikes showed signs of ending.

The National City Bank of New York recently commented that when steel and coal production is under full swing again, "the prospect for a satisfactory fall and winter business should be considered excellent." It pointed to such sustaining influences as the currently strong opposition of electric appliance makers; textile and paper industries; and peak construction activity.

Throughout the strikes, comment has varied from the view that they might precipitate a depression, to one that they will make for increased activity in 1950 as efforts are made to catch up on lost production.

Strongest Force

Perhaps Treasury Secretary Snyder sized up the situation correctly when he observed that "the basic factors making for continued growth and progress have been far stronger than the forces tending to pull us back."

For in the post-war economy so far, the basic factors making for continued growth have been the predominating ones. So long as they continue to dominate and it looks as though they still do, the American economy can withstand considerable shocks.

These basic factors include extraordinary demand caused by increased population and higher standards of living, at home; by expenditures on European aid; and expenditures arising from international political pressures.

Vancouver Plans Large Terminal

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14—(CP)—A large-scale terminal development here by the Canadian National Railways, including extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from its present terminus at Squamish to North Vancouver, is reported under consideration by the federal government.

The Vancouver Sun in a news-page story Saturday said that the terminal development plan is under discussion in Ottawa.

It would involve construction of half-mile block of deep-sea piers in North Vancouver planned to give the CNR, says the Sun, equal terminal facilities to the CPR and provide a feeder line to the central interior of British Columbia.

The B.C. Government-owned PGE now is being extended from Squamish to Prince George, where it will connect with the Prince Rupert line of the CNR, leaving a 40-mile gap to Vancouver which the provincial authorities plan to span with a $3,000,000 highway. Freight trucks and passenger buses would be operated on the highway.

TODAY WE LIVE IN A GREATER CANADA

New Signs in the Sky...

A distant hum and a flashing streak in the outer sky announce another exciting Canadian achievement—a new jet plane designed and built by Canadians—one more example of the meteoric advances made by Canadian skills and manufacturing abilities.

In Canada, too, giant airliners, which have won international recognition, are now being built for the world's air routes of today and tomorrow.

Today our production—both in extent and variety—has attained heights undreamt of even ten years ago, creating new opportunities in every field of activity for the talents and enterprise of young Canadians.

Increase of air traffic: today Canada's commercial aircraft carry more than four times the number of passengers and three times the amount of mail they did in 1939.

"Countless New Opportunities..."

"I sometimes find it hard to realize the extent and rapidity of our plant's growth. It has all been based, of course, upon the tremendous expansion of Canadian industry in general, which has created countless new opportunities in every field of activity for the energy and enthusiasm of young Canadians."
—says HARRY J. SEHL of Kitchener.

The development of Sehl Engineering is a typical Canadian success story. Only 14 years ago, Mr. Sehl with one assistant, began operating a small tool and die shop in Kitchener. Its expansion has been spectacular, with new lines of production added, new departments established and new plants built. Today the company, with 90 employees, is fast becoming one of the leading metal producing concerns in the country.

TRINITY.

A sing song opened the meeting under the direction of Joan Henry. Gail Patterson presided during the worship service which was in charge of the junior group. A bowl of autumn flowers, flanked by lighted candles formed an attractive worship centre in keeping with the theme "Beauty" as chosen by Marjorie Bryden for her talk to the girls. In speaking of "Beauty," she likened our outward appearances to a celophane wrapped package, in that true selves show through. While having freckles and stringy hair, if one has a happy outlook on life and is kind, one appears beautiful to friends. The camp hymn "God Who Touchest Earth with Beauty" was a fitting close to the service.

Members of the group were interested in hearing of the doing at Girls' Council as reported by Margaret Burnside and Joan Krogh. A variety of Christmas tabel centres were demonstrated a snow man made of cotton batting sounded particularly fascinating, while a candle placed in a holder of cedar and bitter sweet would give a more formal table centre and an angel with pretty blue wings would be particularly appropriate for the Yuletide season.

The quilt made by members of the senior group was proudly displayed. The girls divided into their groups where they worked industriously on invitations for the forthcoming Mother and Daughter banquet.

Hillary Powell reported members of the intermediate group were given bulbs to take home and care for during the winter The girls decided to correspond with a C.G.I.T. group at Sault Ste. Marie and some of the girls will be writing to girls in Germany.

Record-Watkins Nuptials

A lovely wedding Saturday afternoon in All Saints' Anglican Church united Emily Mabel Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Watkins, Sr., and James Richard Record, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Record, all of Peterborough. Their vows were pledged with the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite officiating.

Chrysanthemums and ferns made a charming background for the ceremony, and Mrs. A. Watkins, Jr., played traditional wedding music. "O perfect love" was sung before the service by soloist Mr. Donald Landry, and at the signing of the register he sang "Through the years."

The bride was wearing a period style gown of blush slipper satin with long cathedral train. It was designed with high neckline and collar with petal points matching the points of the long sleeves and the bodice, buttoned to the waist, was pointed at front and back. A seeded pearl coronet held her veil of illusion which fell to finger tip length. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and baby 'mums.

Mr. Watkins gave his daughter in marriage. She was attended by her cousin Mrs. Robert Brooks as matron of honour, Miss Beverley Gibson and her sister Miss June Watkins as bridesmaids and her neice, Elaine Parsons as junior bridesmaid. Each of the attendants was wearing a pretty bouffant frock of taffeta, and a halo hat to match, Mrs. Brooks in lavender, the bridesmaids in gold, and the junior bridesmaid in pale green. The matron of honour carried a cascade of yellow 'mums and the bridesmaids had flowered muffs with streamers tied with flowers.

Mr. Robert Record was his brother's groomsman. The ushers were Messrs. H. Tasker, R. Mounce and A. Watkins, Jr.

The reception was held in All Saints' Parish Hall. Mrs. Watkins, mother of the bride, received in a gown of hunter's green crepe, grey felt hat and corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, was wearing a grey wool suit with matching felt hat and corsage of red roses.

For travelling the bride changed to a navy gabardine suit with which she wore navy accessories and a corsage of red roses. After their wedding trip in the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Record will live in Peterborough.

Christmas Cakes in Demand Recipes Wanted Varied

By MARY MOORE

It appears to be an ambitious year for Christmas cake bakers.

My correspondents not only want new and better and richer fruit cake recipes, but recipes for less elaborate cakes, too, that may be cut to add variety to their cake plates.

I am enthused over a Scottish recipe that I tried for Cherry Christmas Cake which is a good keeper and does not cost a fortune to make up.

The first recipe is for the fruit cake that I made for our family this year. To have it for Christmas I put most of it into the safe keeping of my neighbor's house. I left a small decoy cake at home to throw Peter off the scent.

Christmas Fruit Cake

One pound butter or margarine, 2 cups pale brown sugar, 7 medium-sized eggs, 4 cups unsifted flour, 2 teaspoons each mace, cinnamon, baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup crushed pineapple and juice, 2 pounds washed and dried currants, 1 pound nutmeats—either blanched almonds or walnuts or pecans, chopped—2 pounds seedless or chopped seeded raisins, ½ pound chopped dates, ½ pound thinly-sliced strips citron peel. Cream the shortening until very pale, then gradually beat in the sugar; five minutes' beating is advised. Beat the yolks until very light and fold them into the creamed mixture. Add crushed pineapple and juice, prepared nuts and fruits which have been rolled in a little additional flour. Sift in the sifted dry ingredients, and beat very well, then fold in the stiffly-beaten egg whites. I added 2 teaspoons almond flavoring, but this in addition is optional. Pour into cake pans which have been lined with 3 thicknesses of buttered brown paper.

Place large shallow pan containing water in bottom of oven. Place cakes on rack above it in oven of 275 deg. Fahr. and bake for from 3½ to 4 hours, adding water to pan as needed. Cool cakes in pans in which they were baked, then remove from pans and wrap in waxed paper, leaving paper lining around them. Wrap in heavy towelling and store in air-tight crocks for at least one month before cutting.

Cherry Christmas Cake

(Scottish recipe)

One cup white sugar, 1 cup butter, 4 eggs, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups flour, 3½ cups washed and dried currants, 2-3 cup glace cherries cut in slices, ½ cup mixed fruit peel or citron peel only, ¼ teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg; a traditional addition to this in Scotland is 2 tablespoons brandy or rum. Cream the sugar and butter together until very light, then add each egg separately, beating well between additions. (Since this cake contains no leavening agent except the eggs, all of these beating instructions must be carefully observed). Sift the flour and salt over the fruits and nuts, and stir them all with the grated nutmeg into the creamed mixture. When well-mixed, turn into well-greased paper lined loaf pan and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for about 2 hours. Test with clean straw from broom to be sure cake is baked thoroughly—when done the crust is a delicate gold. This cake must be stored carefully to ripen for at least three weeks before cutting.

Everyman's Fruit Cake

One cup shortening or margarine, 2 cups brown sugar, 4 eggs, 1 cup extra strong coffee, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup molasses, 4 cups flour, 1 teaspoon each salt, cloves, nutmeg, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 pound each cleaned and dried currants, and seedless or seeded raisins, or substitute some of this fruit with chopped dates. One cup chopped walnuts are a good addition.

Cream the shortening and sugar for at least 5 minutes. Then add eggs one at a time, beating well between additions. Stir in the coffee. Mix the soda with the molasses and add. Sift together the flour, spices and salt, and add a little of this dry mixture to the fruits—to keep them from sticking to one another. Add the remaining flour to the first creamed mixture, then stir the fruits in thoroughly. Line larg epan with 3 thicknesses of heavy brown paper and butter it well. Turn cake into lined pan and bake at 250 deg. Fahr. (very slow oven) for abut 2½ to 3 hours. A shallow pan containing water should be kept in bottom of oven throughout entire baking period. The flavor and texture of this cake is improved if ½ cup good quality apple juice is added to it by pouring over in small amounts during the 3 weeks it should be stored before cutting.

Audrey M. Bolton Marries

Pink 'mums formed the setting in St. Luke's Anglican church Saturday afternoon when the marriage was solemnized of Audrey Marion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bolton, 627 George St., and William H. Gadd, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gadd of Cobourg. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. J. Gilling. Mr. Morley Coombes played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was wearing a gown of white Duchess satin with long graceful train. Insets of lace trimmed the bertha collar and a panel of matching lace was in the skirt front. The fitted bodice came to a point at front, sleeves were long with lily points over the hands, and the skirt fullness was caught into a bustle at the back. She wore a veil of net caught in crown effect and carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

Only bridal attendant was Mrs. Byron Heath who was frocked in delphinium blue crepe. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and wore a bandeau of matching flowers in her hair.

Mr. Jack Bowen of Cobourg was the groomsman and ushers were Kenneth Gadd of Cobourg and Burt Boyce.

The wedding reception was at Club Aragon where the bride's mother received, wearing a grey taffeta dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother, also receiving was gowned in fuschia faille with matching hat and wore a corsage of bronze 'mums

The bride and groom left later on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and Buffalo. For travelling Mrs. Gadd wore a grey sharkskin suit with black accessories.

They will live in Cobourg.

Doris Magee Becomes Bride Of James Perryman, Orillia

In St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Saturday afternoon, white mums, with ferns and palms, formed the background setting for the wedding of Miss Doris Eleanor Magee and Mr. James Murray Perryman. The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Magee, 278 Prince St. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Perryman of Orillia. The Rev. C. G. Boyd officiated at the marriage.

Miss Jane Allan of Orillia was the soloist and sang "The Day of Golden Promise" before the ceremony, and "Because" at the signing of the register. Mr. Christopher Gledhill, organist, played the wedding music.

Mr. Magee gave his daughter in marriage and she wore a gown of ermine white satin fashioned with an off-shoulder band of soutache braid and seed pearls, enhanced by an inset yoke of net and finished with small satin collar. The slim bodice was slightly shirred and came to a deep point in front, long tightly fitted sleeves were pointed at the waist, and the full skirt fell beaneath a butterfly bustle to form a graceful circular train. The wreath of orange blossoms which held her embroidered veil had been worn by her mother. Her bouquet of roses completed the all-white ensemble.

Miss Audrey Magee as maid of honor for her sister was gowned in wine satin, Miss Jeanne Coulter of Orillia was bridesmaid in green satin and Eleanor and Marion Kemish, flower girls, were both dressed in gold satin. The attendants' dresses were all made similarly to the bride's and each had a matching hat and a muff on which she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mr. Allan Perryman was his brother's groomsman. Ushers were Messrs. Jack Butcher, Murray Emmons, Ron Johnston and Allan Croydon.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Magee chose a gown of carmel brown crepe, a dark brown hat and accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Perryman, mother of the groom, was gowned in grey crepe and wore grey and black accessories and a corsage of red roses. Both received with the wedding party at Club Aragon, following the ceremony, and were assisted by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. John Douglass of Woodville. The guests present were from Niagara Falls, Toronto, Oshawa, Orillia, Midland, Coldwater, Barrie, Thornbury, Markdale, Woodbridge, Woodville, Markham, Tweed and Peterborough.

When leaving later to catch the plane to New York for their honeymoon, the bride was wearing a mink tone gabardine suit with matching hat with ostrich plumes and dark brown accessories. She had presented her wedding bouquet to her grandmother and was wearing a corsage of gardenias.

The couple will live in Orillia.

Doll Draw Big Feature Of Purple and Gold Tea

Ever wish to be a little girl again? It happens at least once a year to the several hundred women who participate in the nurses' draw for a completely outfitted doll. Most of all, it happened Saturday afternoon to those attending the Purple and Gold Tea in the YWCA Green Room where the draw was displayed by the Civic Hospital Alumnae.

This year there were two dolls, one a nurse in uniform with her traditional red-lined cape embroidered with the PCH crest, the other a baby doll in a pink wooden crib. The baby's wardrobe was complete to the very last safety pin and included wee knitted bootees, size minus zero Less sophisticated clothes for the larger doll with curly blonde wig, included a very dainty embroidered dress and hat.

Mrs. M. B. Pringle, president of the Alumnae, announced the drawing toward close of the tea, and introduced Mrs. Earl Wellman, the general convener, who made the draw. The winner, Mrs. Fred Revoy, who is an Alumnae member who has no children of her own, but there is a little girl she has had in mind when buying tickets who is going to be very happy with her gift. Tickets on the draw were in charge of Miss M. Robson and Miss G. Calvert.

Another feature of much interest at the tea was the "Parcel Post" box from which guests drew nicely wrapped parcels that contained a surprising variety of articles. The large gold mailbox was attended by Mrs P Logan.

Purple skirted bazaar tables were laden with hand-made aprons, one member having contributed more than 40, and a wide selection of other fine hand made articles and home cooking. Mrs. Jack Thornton was convener of the bazaar and her helpers behind the tables were Mrs. Walter Jones, Mrs. Roy Taylor, Miss Alta Moncrief, Miss Jean Preston, Mrs. M. Forsythe, Miss Mary Greer, Mrs. C. Ruth, Mrs. T. Holyman, Mrs. H. Tranter, Mrs P. Young, Mrs. J. Yarn, Mrs. Wm. Clark and Mrs. F. Mason.

The tea table was eye-catching in its regal colour scheme, carried out in the candles and bouquet of chrysanthemums, highlighted with tall golden pencil tapers. High triple candlebra matched the silver flower bowl that was enhanced by a crystal reflector and the beautiful cloth in soft ecru shade was of Mansfield lace. Purple and gold candles and flowers also decorated the mantel and piano. Mrs. E. Brackenridge, Mrs. Don Hill and Miss Sara Armstrong were responsible for the setting.

Mrs. Ivison Walker, tea room convener, had selected as tea pourers, Miss M. Pickens, Miss M. Robson, Miss E. Crawford and Miss A. Thomson, and as servers Mrs. D. Snelgrove, Mrs. S. Cotton, Mrs. H. Coleman, Mrs. G. Oliver, Mrs. D. Stuart, Miss Hazel Fee, Miss M. Langmaid, Miss B. Greatrix, Miss J. Werry, Miss J. Cavano and Miss J. Pidgeon, with Mrs. Brackenridge in charge. The plates were replenished by Mrs Joe Mortimer, Mrs. G. Powell, Miss Sara Armstrong and Mrs. A. Wade.

Mrs. Roy Taylor was receiving at the door with Mrs. Pringle, and they were assisted by Miss A. Thomson, Mrs. E. Wellman and Miss Helen Anderson were hostesses in the tea room. Miss Jean Gillespie, treasurer, took tickets.

Husbands More Prosperous Happier Than Bachelors

DEAR MISS DIX: What inducements and advantages are there in married life compared with the bachelor state? I am a young man thinking of marriage, but my male friends say, "Don't be crazy." They claim no girl is worth it. They believe in the love-'em-and-leave-'em theory. How can I be reasonably sure that the girl I love now will prove to be the only one for me the rest of my life? I have known her five years and love her now more than I ever did.

Dorothy Dix

B. F.

ANSWER: The take-em-and-leave-em theory that your bachelor friends advance never yet has made for happiness. What a man wants is not these light loves of women who care as little for him as he does for them, but the deep, holding love of a woman who is his very own. He doesn't want the love of a day or an hour. He wants the love that will endure forever.

Married men are healthier than single ones because they live a more ordered life. It is because they are not so free to roam around at night that they spend their evenings quietly at home, that they eat home cooking instead of restaurant food, and that their wives nag them about keeping their feet dry, that gives them length of days.

Gives Him Children

Marriage gives a man children, and that gives him an interest in life that nothing else does. He lives his life over again in his boys and girls. Often he realizes his ambitions in them and he has a pride in their achievements that he has never felt in anything he has done himself.

Married men are, as a rule, more prosperous than bachelors because it is not until after a man is married that he really settles down to his job and puts his back and his heart in it. Nor do many men begin to save until after they get married.

If you have found a girl that you care for more after five years of acquaintanceship than you did at the beginning, I would say that she is a mighty safe bet, so go along and marry her.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is it better to let your husband know that you are good and true to him and that he has nothing to worry over or is it better to keep him guessing and make him jealous? I love my husband dearly and want to keep him forever.

ANXIOUS

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The techniques of courtship and marriage are entirely different. Before marriage a woman does well to disguise her feelings and not let a man feel too certain of her or know how much she cares for him, but after marriage a woman's strongest hold upon her husband is his certainty of her deep and abiding affection for him.

I can think of nothing that is more calculated to kill a man's love for his wife than to suspect her of having affairs with other men or of carrying on cheap flirtations. Nor can I think of anything that will do more to hold a man than his respect for her, his knowledge that she has rock-bottom principles that nothing can shake.

Don't make the mistake that so many women do in thinking that jealousy is the food of love. It is rank poison to it and it slays it quicker than anything else in the world. Faith and trust are essential to any real happiness in love.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: The girl I am going with wants me to marry her and keep it a secret. I have nothing to marry on, but I love her.

J. J. J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Don't let any girl persuade you to marry her until you are ready to marry and, above all, don't let any girl persuade you to marry her secretly. If you are going to marry her, be man enough to do it openly before the world. And don't marry until you are able to support your wife. It is selfish for a child to marry and expect its parents to assume the burden of supporting its husband or wife.

This dish of macaroni I want to describe is as good as I know how to make it. If some of you good cooks know how to improve on this dish I wish you would tell me. Six ounces of elbow macaroni are boiled in salted water until tender—a little over 10 minutes. Drain and rinse with hot water. While macaroni is cooking, melt 3 tablespoons margarine in top of double boiler, add 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, 2 teaspoons mustard (or less if you shy from mustard), mix well, then stir in 1½ cups hot milk until thick. Add ½-pound grated medium old cheese and stir until blended. Stir into the sauce part of ½ cup of buttered crumbs. Pour the sauce over the macaroni in buttered casserole. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes.

'Big-Time"—that is Marianne's name for this salad for it contains all of the things you can put into a salad that she thinks are tops: 2 or 3 slices side bacon frizzled-fried and chopped, garlic rubbed on the bowl, inside head lettuce leaves pulled apart to bite-size, chopped parsley, sliced little tomatoes—then the whole thing tossed with mayonnaise to which some fresh cottage cheese is added.

I bought a piece of cod weighing well over a pound for 41 cents. I sliced three steaks from it and broiled them for one dinner. The remainder I poached until just cooked through and broke it into pieces for the Cod Chowder. I boiled 3 potatoes cut into dice, added ¼ chopped onion to the water, and when tender drained. To this I added 2½ cups whole milk, the cod, plenty of butter, and salt and pepper to taste. I sprinkled chopped parsley on top of the soup tureen when I served this.

The Egg, Beet and Celery salad is a favorite with the Moore family—we often take it on picnics because it is durable. Add 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs to 1 can drained diced beets and 2 cups chopped celery. This requires plenty of mayonaise, salt and extra lemon juice.

The steamed Cranberry pudding can be made in top of double boiler and reheated over boiling water while you are eating the first part of your dinner.

Beans Inexpensive Food Nourishing Main Course

Do you know beans? Home economists are not trying to be facetious when they ask the question. They realize that very few homemakers are using beans in their meals as often as they might.

Beans are an inexpensive food and can be made into delicious and nourishing main course dishes. Being bland, they require the addition of some more flavourful food or special seasoning, to give them character.

Almost everyone likes baked beans but they do require a long time in preparation. Sometimes it is an advantage to buy ready-cooked, canned beans and and add one's own special extra ingredients when re-heating.

Here are several recipes featuring beans which may be prepared more quickly than the home-baked beans.

Cream of Bean Soup

1 cup dried white (navy) beans, 6 cups boiling water, 1 tablespoon fat, ½ cup chopped onion, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 quart (5 cups hot milk, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Soak beans, in water to cover overnight. Drain, add the boiling water and simmer until tender, about 2 hours. If a pressure cooker is used, cook the soaked beans in water to barely cover, for 50 minutes at 15 lb. pressure. Fry onions in fat until clear, add flour and blend well. Add hot milk, cooking and stirring until slightly thickened. Add drained, cooked beans and season with salt and pepper. Reheat and serve hot. Yield: six servings.

Super Beans.

2 cups dried white (navy) beans
6 cups water.
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped onion
4 or more strips bacon or salt pork (cut in pieces)
2 tablespoons molasses
2 tablespoons brown sugar.
1 teaspoon salt
2 cans tomato soup.

Soak beans in water to cover overnight. In the morning, drain. Add the 6 cups water and salt to beans and simmer until tender, about 1½ to 2 hours. Do not drain. Mix chopped onion, bacon molasses, brown sugar and the other teaspoon of salt and add to beans. Place in a covered bean pot or baking dish and bake in a moderately slow oven, 350 degree F., for 1 hour, then add tomato soup and continue baking, uncovered, until brown, about ½ hour. If necessary, add water or vegetable water to beans during baking to prevent scorching. Yield: six to eight servings.

Bean and Cheese Roast.

2 cups cooked white (navy) beans
1½ cups grated "medium" Cheddar cheese
1 small onion, finely chopped
¼ cup finely chopped celery or apple.
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper.
1 egg
2 tablespoons fat
2 cups soft, stale bread crumbs

Drain beans and mash. Add cheese, onion, celery or apple, parsley, salt and pepper. Add slightly beaten egg and mix thoroughly. Melt fat in a saucepan, add crumbs, mixing well and cook until slightly browned. Add sufficient crumbs to cheese mixture until thick enough to shape into a loaf. Roll the loaf in the remaining crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (300°F., until heated through and nicely browned, about 20 minutes. Serve hot with tomato sauce. Yield: six servings.

QUESTION: I have been watching the paper and missed a few but wondered if I had missed you page since I cannot find it. I am getting anxious for fear your cooking page was lost in the papers I missed. kindly send me all the different pages of yours you can spare. Thanks for the booklets.—Mrs. E. J. W.

ANSWER: I am printing this reply and sending you a private letter. This way we can be sure you get my message, and then you can let me know how you made out, or if the paper went astray again.

I have a recipe using cranberries that I would like to give you since cranberries are much less expensive than they were last year at this time.

Red Fruit Pudding With Cream (Danish Rodgrodmed Flode)

Two cups cranberries, 1 cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 stick cinnamon, 1 cup water, 3 tablespoons potato flour or arrowroot or cornstarch. Cook fruit, salt, sugar, cinnamon and ½ the water in a covered saucepan for 20 minutes. Cool then strain carefully. Return juice to low heat. Stir the remaining water into the flour or starch to make a smooth paste. Add to hot liquid stirring until thick and clear. Cook over boiling water 15 minutes stirring frequently. Pour into stemmed glasses when it is cool enough, and chill. Serve with thick cream.

Life Memberships Given Members St. Paul's WMS

St. Paul's Auxiliary WMS fall thankoffering meeting was held on Friday afternoon in the Sunday school auditorium. President Mrs. D. T. Diplock presided and conducted a brief devotional period. Life membership certificates in the WMS of the Presbyterian church of Canada were presented to Mrs. W. A. Cochrane and Miss Mary Lees. Presentations were made by Mrs. James Whitton.

Mrs. T. J. Carley introduced the speaker of the afternoon, who was Mrs. Heslip, wife of the Rev. M. W. Deslip of St. Peter's Presbyterian church at Madoc. Her address was based on the Scripture verses which depicted God's call of Moses and His dealings with Moses concerning that call. It was pointed out that many people are a bit like Moses and feel that they have neither the fitting nor the training for the work to which God calls them. That is where they fall short.

As Christian women of the Missionary Society, Mrs. Heslip urged the using of all one's talents for God's glory. Also she stressed the importance of reaching out to help the children in our Sunday schools and supporting the Mission Bands.

Mrs. L. Groombridge sang two beautiful numbers "Spirit of God" and "Beyond the Stars" She was accompanied by Mrs. W. L. McNeil at the piano.

Appreciation to the speaker and guest artists was expressed by Mrs. C. G. Boyd.

Tea was served at the close, the hostesses being Mrs. R. R. Hall, Miss Laura Davidson, Mrs Fred Hills, Mrs. J. H. Eastwood Mrs. Dickson Davidson and Miss Helen Munroe.

In thousands of recent reports from all over the country, dentists say the Ipana way promotes healthier gums. That's just as important as fighting decay, for dentists warn that you can't have healthy teeth without healthy gums! Try this dentist-approved Ipana care—for healthier teeth and healthier gums both.
DENTAL RESEARCH SHOWS HOW IPANA FIGHTS TOOTH DECAY!

Scientific research based on daily dental examinations now proves that every time, any time you brush your teeth with Ipana, it helps fight tooth decay by effectively reducing and keeping down the acid-forming bacteria. No other paste or powder is more effective for this purpose. And Ipana helps remove bacteria-trapping deposits that invite decay.
HERE'S THE DENTIST-APPROVED IPANA WAY—EASY AS 1, 2:
The Ipana way is doubly-effective 1. Between regular visits to your dentist, brush all tooth surfaces with Ipana after every meal. (Ipana's special cleansing formula helps prevent tooth decay—leaves teeth cleaner.) 2. Then massage gums the way your dentist advises. (Ipana's unique formula stimulates circulation—promotes healthier gums.)

Dentists warn that if you want to save your teeth, you must protect your teeth and gums both.
For not only does tooth decay cause untold misery and expense. Gum troubles cause even more tooth losses than decay, according to leading dental authorities. And gum troubles can strike anyone—even healthy youngsters and teen-agers—with little warning!
Now you and your family can help prevent tooth decay and gum troubles BOTH—with doubly-effective Ipana dental care.
For new dental research now proves that Ipana's own special formula effectively reduces and keeps down acid-forming bacteria—considered a major cause of tooth decay. Ipana fully meets these standards for an anti-decay dentifrice.
And more—Ipana is the only leading tooth paste specially designed to stimulate gum circulation—promote healthier gums.
IPANA for Both!
HEALTHIER TEETH, HEALTHIER GUMS

And refreshing Ipana leaves your breath cleaner, your mouth fresher, too!

One-Third of US Families Have Income Below $2,000

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (CP) —One-third of all the families and individuals in the United States received incomes of less than $2,000 in 1948, a Congressional committee was told during the week-end.

The totals were disclosed in a report drafted by the staff of a joint Congressional sub-committee on low-income families in preparation for public hearings next month on the general subject of low-income families and their relation to economic stability.

The report showed:

1. There were 9,600,000 families and 5,920,000 single individuals with incomes under $2,000 last year. These constituted one-third of all families and individuals in the United States. The family groups represented $2,000,000 persons and included one-fifth of the country's children.

2. Some 8,000,000 of the families and individuals dealt with received incomes of less than $1,000.

3. Of the 9,600,000 low-income families, 6,300,000 were in cities and 3,300,000 on farms.

4. Lack of education generally was one of the most important factors responsible for low income.

Not All Suffering

The report suggested that "not all the families and certainly not all of the individuals having incomes under $2,000 can be considered as being in financial distress."

"Many farm families could have got along quite comfortably on $2,000 cash income, whereas a family living in a high-cost city like Washington, D.C., or New York, and having the same income might have felt the pinch severely."

The report noted that the U.S. Bureau of Labor estimated that in 1947 the minimum budget necessary for a family of four persons to maintain an adequate standard of living ranged from a low of $3,004 a year in New Orleans to a high of $3,458 in Washington, in 34 cities studied.

Have No Prescription

Those who prepared the report emphasized that they endorsed "no prescriptions" for improving the lot of low-income groups. That was for the sub-committee to decide after hearings.

The report said "some low-income families live at levels below even the most conservative estimate of the minimum necessary for health and decency.

It was found that "non-white families" made up a significant group of the low-income families. Of the non-farm families with incomes below $2,000, about 800,000 —or one-eighth—were headed by non-white males.

"This proportion of non-whites in the low-income group is considerably greater than the proportion of non-whites in the general population," said the report, "and indicates that broadening educational and vocational opportunities for the Negro may be a constructive method of attacking the low-income problem."

Expect Pearson In Ottawa During Debate

OTTAWA, Nov. 14 — (CP). — External Affairs Chief Pearson is coming home from Lake Success in a few days to open a debate on foreign policies.

As chief of the Canadian United Nations delegation Mr. Pearson is so busy these days that it is virtually only by appointment the Commons can get him for discussions in Ottawa.

He will be here Wednesday and Thursday and everything else will wait while the Commons gets a chance to ring in any angle of foreign policy during consideration of External Affairs Department estimates.

Far East policy is high on the list and Opposition members are expected to press for information on where Canada stands on the shaky China situation.

Talks Over Situation

T. C. Davis, Canadian Ambassador to China, recently returned from the Far East, and has talked over the situation with the government. At present it is understood Canada is playing a waiting game on the question of recognition of the Chinese Communist regime.

It's fairly certain Canada won't make a move until the United Kingdom and United States indicate their positions. The reason is that Canada has few assets in China to put her on the spot in deciding whether to recognize the Communists. The UK, on the other hand, has a lot to worry about— security of Hong Kong, for instance.

For the United States there remains the consideration of whether to throw over the Nationalists who have cost the United States a lot of money in armaments and aid. Currently there is understood to be a difference of opinion between the two, the UK preferring immediate recognition —the United States wanting to wait.

Non-Communist Affidavits Given Leftists

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 14 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board apparently will be asked to step into the raging warfare between the left and right-wing unionists in the electrical industry.

That became apparent today. The left-wing group of one big Pittsburgh local (601) of the United Electrical Workers has ordered an election of officers.

More important, the left wingers have stipulated wingers sign non-Communist affidavits, something they have refused to do for years.

Signing of the affidavits under the Taft-Hartley Labor Law is compulsory if a union wishes to avail itself of the NLRB machinery.

The NLRB, among other things, conducts elections to determine which union holds collective bargaining rights in plants.

And persons close to the situation expect the right wing of the UE to call for NLRB elections.

Industry is watching the situation closely. In many cases it holds contracts with the UE but the right wing of the union is trying to obtain recognition.

Right wingers, led by James B. Carey, general secretary-treasurer of the CIO, contend their new right-wing union should be recognized.

Court Battles Star

Court battles already have been instituted in many cities to try and resolve the dispute.

Even churchmen are concerned. Roman Catholic priests at five Bristol, Conn., churches Sunday urged their parishoners who are members of Local 260, United Electrical Workers, to vote for secession from the U.E. The priests want the 1,200 members of the local to join the new right-wing electrical workers' organization of the CIO.

The new union was organized following ouster of the UE from the CIO at the CIO's recent Cleveland convention. Philip Murray, president of the CIO, led the fight for the ouster and got overwhelming support.

Dispute Claim

Murray's action was attacked Sunday night as the left wing of Local 601 called for an election. Right wingers said some 9,000 members of the Local voted last week to secede but the figure is disputed by Thomas J. Fitzpetrick chief steward of the local. Commenting on the action to sign the non-Communist affidavits, he said:

"We are not Reds and signing these affidavits won't clear us of that stigma in thep ublic mind but it will help us legally to organize the workers in that new Westinghouse plant at Irwin."

(Fitzpatrick was referring to a Westinghouse plan which calls for additional facilities and employees at a plant in nearby Irwin).

The UE claimed between 400,000 and 450,000 members. The latest unofficial tabulation shows approximately 125,000 have voted to secede to the new right-wing CIO union.

It probably will be weeks before the dispute is settled.

Parade To Cenotaph Norwood Observance

NORWOOD, Nov. 14—(ENS)—"Unless we live at peace with God, how can we live at peace with our fellow men?" asked Rev. R. D. Duncanson in the Armistice Day address in Norwood Town Hall, Friday. He went on to say that there is no peace in the family circle, the community, nation, or between nations if self comes first. He likened the degeneracy of the Romans to the men and women of today, with their self-indulgence and self-aggrandisement.

Rev. E. E. Pugsley conducted the services at the Cenotaph and at the Hall. Rev. P. A. Rickard, of Christ Church, Norwood, read the scripture and prayers that followed. Norwood Band, under the direction of Johnnie Hamblin, played several appropriate selections to and from the Cenotaph, and the hymns at the service in the Hall.

The Legion, under the command of Quartermaster Sgt. Major Harry Pearce, marched in company with the IODE, Mrs. W. H. Giffen as Standard bearer, the Girl Guides under the command of Captain (Mrs.) John Petterson, Betty Baker as Standard bearer, and the Norwood High School Cadets under the command of (Principal) Lt. S. S. Breckon.

Wreaths were laid by Mrs. Alec Innes for the Province; Mr. Gerry Martin, Legion; Mrs. Harry Pearce, IODE; Gail Baker, Girl Guides; Doris Mocee, Norwood High School.

Sees Sharper Control

HULL, Yorkshire Eng., Nov. 14 (CP)—Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster and former Chancellor of the Exchequer, said here Sunday night that remedies must be found "in due course" for "unpatriotic" speculations on the London stock exchange. He hinted that the government might be planning sharper control of the exchange.

Lose Provincial Grants

CANTLEY, Que., Nov. 14 (CP) The Ottawa Journal said in a newspage story Saturday that it was informed that the public school here has lost all its provincial grants. Six weeks ago French-speaking pupils in this one-room school, ten miles north of Hull, staged a walkout in protest against teacher Florence Trudeau, who does not speak French.

Mr. Follis conducted the installation. He complimented the outgoing officers on the work they had done in the past year and on the financial condition of the lodge.

Ask Date Delayed

TORONTO, Nov. 14 (CP) — Postponement of the effective date of rent increases to give the Ontario government time to set up a rent control system of its own was asked in a resolution passed at a week-end caucus of the 21 CCF members of the Ontario Legislature. Present rules permit landlords to apply after Dec. 15 for increases of up to 20-25 per cent of 1941 rates.

Orange Lodges In Havelock At County Meet

HAVELOCK, Nov. 14 (ENS)—John A. Carrigan of Ottawa, Grand Master of the Orange Order for Ontario East, was guest speaker in the Town Hall on Friday at a rally attended by representatives of all the lodges in Peterborough County.

German Ellis, of Havelock, county master for Peterborough East, was chairman. On the platform with the guest speaker were: Fred Bateman, of Stirling, Deputy Grand Master Ontario East; Richard Sanderson, of Havelock, Associate Deputy Grand Master Ontario East; Ernest Stevenson, of Seymour Township, Grand Lodge officer of the Royal Black Preceptory; James Diamond, of Madoc, County Master for Central Hastings; Rev. N. Cole, of the United Church, Hastings; Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, of Havelock United Church, and Reeve E. J. Leeson.

Since taking over the duties of Grand Master for Ontario East seven months ago, Mr. Corrigan has held open meetings in 21 ccunties and travelled 6,500 miles in the interest of the Orange Order. He emphasized the principles for which the Order was founded,

Supports Church

First duty of an Orangeman, he said, was to support a Protestant church and let the minister of that church know that he was an Orangeman, assisting in the work of advancing the Christian religion.

There was a big cry in the cities today that the churches were empty.

He pointed out that it was the duty of the Protestant people to fill the churches and that the clergymen owed a duty to the congregation to preach about Christ and leave the topics of the day for the politicians.

Speaking of church union, Mr. Corrigan said, "As an Anglican, I prefer to be konwn as a Protestant. It makes no difference to the Orange Order what church a member is affiliated with because members are banded together for union of churches."

The speaker referred to the 432nd anniversary of the Reformation marked recently in the U.S.A. and remarked, "We must go back to the Reformation and take a lesson from Martin Luther and streamline it for today, tomorrow and for the future generations.

"Many are looking for a third world conflict, for while man holds sway and will not conform to the laws of God, there will be that possibility.

Blue Print For Today

"There is no need for a new world order," he declared, "for the law given to Moses for the children of Israel on Mount Sinai is a blue print for the needs of the world today and conformity to those laws will solve the world's problems."

Reeve E. J. Leeson gave the address of welcome. Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh spoke on "The Home and Family Relationships."

James Diamond brought greetings from Central Hastings. He said he was convinced that a new day and better way of life was given to man at Bethlehem on that first Christmas Day and that a tired world would not find peace until it acknowledged that gift before God and man.

Short addresses were given by Rev. N. Cole, E. Stevenson, F. Bateman and R. Sanderson.

Two duets were sung by Lillian and Billy Toms, the latter playing the accompaniment on his guitar. Misses Shirley Anderson and Helen Robinson entertained with the Highland Fling accompanied by Gloria Seabrooks on the bagpipes. Mr. Cole led in prayer and Mrs. F. R. Vanderburgh was pianist.

Ex-U.S. Consul Dies

CALGARY, Nov. 14—(CP)—Charles E .B. Payne, 56, former United States consul here, died in hospital Sunday following a lengthy illness. He had planned to go to Sarnia today. Born in Marquette, Mich., Mr. Payne joined the U.S. foreign service in 1920 as vice-consul and was first posted to Fort William. Other posts to London, Ont., and Sarnia followed and this spring he came here to take over consul duties. He gave up his post a few months ago due to illness.

Criticizes Singing

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 14 (AP) —Margaret Truman sang with the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra yesterday. The first review said the President's daughter was lovely to look at but somewhat disappointing to listen to. "For assets, the soprano has a good size voice and a steady flow of tone," said one reviewer. "For liabilities there is the totally unemotional song speech, the unplaced production and the use of mechanical device, rather than mental, to accomplish range requirements."

Deliver New Plane

SEATTLE, Nov. 14.—(AP). — Boeing Airplane Company Saturday the United States Air Force of a day announced its delivery to new Superfortress with a 28,000-pound bomb capacity. Its top speed is reported at "more than 400 miles an hour," and its range at "more than 6,000 miles with load."

Two Wild Canaries

HAVELOCK, Nov. 14 (ENS) —Mrs. Frank Elmhurst who resides in the Preneveau district a few miles east of the village reports that she saw two yellow canaries in her garden on Saturday afternoon. She said it was very late for this type of bird to remain in this part of the country.

Two Cars Collide Strike Hydro Pole

A car ended up smashed against a hydro pole after a collision between two cars Saturday night about 10:15.

Albert Platt, R.R. 11, Peterborough, told police that while driving north on Aylmer St., he met in collision at Perry St., with a car driven by Louis Latour, 36 Stewart St.

Marks on the street showed, police said, that Platt had swung his car in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid the accident. His car hit a hydro pole on the north corner head on.

Latour told police he had stopped at Aylmer St. The fronts of both cars were smashed in with both radiators pushed back out of place. No one was reported injured.

Safecrackers Smash 2 Safes, Grab $1,000

TORONTO, Nov. 14 — (CP) — Safecrackers smashed open two safe at a west-end office during the weekend and stole $1,000. Police said it is believed to be the same gang of experts which blew open the safe at Seagram Distilleries, Ltd., last week and stole $3,000.

A second break-in over the weekend was reported when a west-end lingerie firm was robbed of hundreds of dollars of women's apparel. This is the second large-scale burglary of women's clothing in the last three days. Police believe the same gang is responsible for both.

Anti-Canadian Speeches Toned Down

By ALLAN HARVEY

LONDON, Nov. 14.—(CP).—A campaign by "Labor Left" to implicate Canada in Britain's financial crisis shows signs of softening.

The Manchester Guardian thinks so, anyway. That Liberal newspaper said Saturday that it is glad to note some leaders of what had been construed as an anti-Canadian campaign are beginning to talk a little more mildly.

The Guardian was commenting on a letter from Richard Crossman, Labor member for Coventry East and generally regarded as one of the chief spokesmen for the Labor party's Left-Wing elements. In his letter Crossman said he is not trying to make Canada a scape-goat for Britain's crisis, "but merely to face problems which are as much Canada's as they are our own." This statement, the Guardian said, marked a "conversion" from the more extreme views Crossman had expressed earlier.

Writing last month in London's Sunday Pictorial, Crossman said Britain is ruining herself to save Canadian farmers from bankruptcy. The obvious way to solve the problem would be to tell Canadians they must either accept sterling for wheat or "we shall be forced to buy elsewhere."

Few people can kill it singlehanded!

THIS IS THE PUT-OFF BIRD.

He usually appears just when you're deciding to do something that should be done without delay. Then he tries to talk you out of it.

When you're planning a trip, he'll tell you not to bother making reservations. Or when you have a slight toothache, he'll say: "Don't worry, pal — it'll soon go away. Besides, you're too busy to go to the dentist today!"

Oh, he's a sly one, this Put-Off Bird! And such a trouble-maker that he even tries to get fathers to neglect their family's financial security. But fortunately a deadly enemy of this bird often appears at such critical moments — and saves the day.

This enemy of the bird — and friend of fathers — is the life insurance representative. Aiming a few realistic facts at the mischievous creature, he kills it deader than its cousin, the Dodo. Its dangerous propaganda is silenced. And always the father then realizes why he should act to protect his family immediately.

Thus the life insurance representative helps prevent countless people from having to depend on charity or relatives for their support in years to come.

Life underwriters help people in other ways, too. They are trained to analyze all the facts related to the family's future needs . . . then build a sound life insurance plan that meets those needs exactly.

More than a million Canadian families have benefited by the services of the modern life underwriter. And he's always glad to help you!

A helpful citizen in your community

When a life insurance representative sells you a policy, he also helps to improve your community. For a large part of each life insurance dollar is put to work through investments to build schools, bridges, highways, industrial plants and many other projects that create jobs and make for better living. You share in these improvements, made possible through the efforts of your helpful fellow-citizen — the life underwriter!

Route Champlain Followed Remains Controversial Issue

From Orillia Packet Times.

In an article in Ontario History, the quarterly issued by the Ontario Historical Society, Dr G. H. Needler, Professor Emeritus in the Department of German in Victoria College, undertakes to dispose of the question of the route by which Champlain made his way from the Narrows and Lake Simcoe down what is now termed the Trent Waterway to Lake Ontario. Doctor Needler does not accept the theory that Champlain and his Huron allies made use of the portage from Lake Simcoe and Balsam Lake He attempts to prove that they went on down Lake Simcoe to opposite Sturgeon Lake and portaged from there into that lake. He also dismisses as "quite mistaken" the idea that the Champlain expedition portaged from Chemong Lake to the Otonabee river near Peterborough while Dr. Needler satisfies himself that he has made out his case in both instances his handling of the Champlain narrative and the local topography will be far from settling the controversy on the subject.

The Editor referred Dr. Needler's article to a friend who is familiar with the topography of the route and who has made a study of the Champlain Journal. He has kindly supplied this comment:—

I note what you say concerning Professor Needler's paper, which I have glanced over. His argument is quite unconvincing. It must be remembered that Champlain journeyed through the country only once. He gives a surprisingly accurate account of what he saw, but it should be borne in mind that this was an impression particularly as regards distance which should not be slavishly followed. Many of those who have tried to piece together his travels have stuck too slavishly to his estimates of distance, forgetting about the natural topography of the country. I think this error led the late Father Jones to too many wrong conclusions in his archives reports. One must try and put himself in Champlain's position when making these estimates. The trails run over hills and through swamps, involving the carrying of equipment and other things, and inaccuracies were inevitable. Persons nowadays going on canoe trips and things of that sort nearly always overestimate distances because of the rough nature of trails, which were probably a great deal rougher in those days. My comment are as follows:

1. Knowing the topography of the country between Lake Simcoe and Sturgeon Lake, I know that is was impossible to have a trail from Lake Simcoe to that lake. There was only one trail and that was the Talbot trail to Balsam Lake. There was no other trail possible or feasible.

2. In any event, why would any voyageurs fail to use Balsam and Cameron Lakes and take a long land trail to Sturgeon Lake even if it were possible?

3. The first Surveyor-General of Canada, John Collins, reported on the communications and the Trent Waterways in 1783. He describes in detail the portages and on his map shows in detail the course of the trail, and describes the trail from Balsam Lake to Lake Simcoe. This was the only trail in existence at that time and no doubt was the only trail that ever existed, Collins sets out which can still be followed from the Township of Eldon, where it was incorporated into the survey.

4. There are several translations of Champlains' account. One of these translation contains a good description of Fenelon Falls. It is the only falls on that portion of the route described and it is unmistakable. If Champlain passed Fenelon Falls then he must have come through Cameron Lake and obviously would have come down from Balsam Lake.

5. Champlain describes the lake he came to after crossing the portage as five or six leagues in length and three leagues broad. This description does not even remotely fit Sturgeon Lake. Sturgeon Lake is a long narrow lake, which in those days would have been more like a river. The dam at Bobcaygeon raised the lake six feet and eliminated the rapids which in the days of the first settlers were two miles west of Bobcaygeon. I have no doubt that Sturgeon Lake is part of what Champlain describes as "There here issues another river which makes its discharge into the great lake of the Entouhonorons." On the other hand the description of the lake five or six leagues in length and three leagues broad does not suit Balsam Lake. Balsam Lake is the largest of the Kawartha chain, and as you know has a very considerable expanse in all directions.

6. Concerning the rapids between Cameron and Balsam Lakes, these are very slight. I have no doubt in those days they were practically non-existent. There may not even have been a portage there. They may have simply run the rapids. Balsam Lake and Cameron Lake are very close together. You can almost see from one to the other. At that time it is quite possible for them to have been regarded as one lake.

7. To sum up, I think you have to regard the natural lay of the country, what was found in Collins' survey and what would be the natural and logical route. I have never heard of any suggestion than the Talbot River portage, which in those days was through a low, swampy country and must have been quite difficult.

8 Concerning the Chemong portage, I have no doubt that that was the course. The route down the river from Stony Lake is quite impassable. Again Collins' survey does not show any route on this part of the river. When Champlain says that he constantly followed the course of the river, this is quite consistent with the Chemong portage, which is the natural and logical way to go and clearly follows the course of the river. He does not mean that he never took his canoe out of the river or lost sight of the river. Again this is too slavishly following the general description.

Many Weaknesses

These are the solid arguments in support of the Balsam Lake and Chemong Lake portages Against them Dr. Needler advances theories full of weakness and inconsistencies. For instance when it suits him he sticks literally to Champlain's statement of distances, but when otherwise admits that they "are not those of a leisurely land surveyor, but the rough estimate of an explorer through a forest wilderness." Thus Champlain says that "we made some five or six miles through these lakes" (Couchiching and Simcoe) which from the Narrows, was a reasonably good guess. It was a case where the estimate could be accurate, as paddling was in the open, probably along the shore. But Dr. Needler is content to carry the party two or three leagues further, to get opposite Sturgeon Lake. He lays emphasis on the six to seven leagues in length (15 to 17 miles) as near Sturgeon's 13 miles (which it wasn't in those days); but has "difficulty in accounting for Champlain's excessive estimate of the width" —three leagues, whereas actually it isn't that number of miles. To make Champlain's estimate apply to Sturgeon he suggests Champlain took the bend up to Fenelon Falls as the breadth Now, doctor, do you really think that is objective diagnosis? Much easier to suppose that he counted Balsam and Cameron as one lake, with only a narrows between. As a matter of fact, Champlain would otherwise have to guess at the length of Balsam Lake as he would enter it half way down, and could only see its upper reaches in the distance. which he probably took for breath when he made it three leagues across. Counting what are now two adjoining lakes as one, his estimate of the distance they paddled was fairly accurate, closer than Sturgeon. Having crossed "this lake," (which we take to be Balsam and Dr. Needler Sturgeon) "we passed a rapid and followed the course of the river," says Champlain. In those days the only rapid worthy of special mention between the head of Balsam Lake and the foot of Chemong would be at what is now Fenelon Falls. where it would be necessary to portage. The rapids at Rosedale and above Bobcaygeon would almost certainly have been "run," by the Indians, who were skilled in the art.

As to the route following from Pigeon Lake on, Dr. Needler's argument is equally forced and unconvincing. Champlain's description is: "On our way we portaged round five rapids, some from four to five leagues in length. We also passed through several lakes of very considerable size." If to Pigeon, Buchhorn and Rice Lakes, leaving out Chemong, are added Deer, Lovesick, Stony and Clear (not to mention as separate Katchewanooka) then Champlain certainly was conservative when he said there were "several lakes." And if the war party went by that roundabout route they certainly made more than five portages, for between Buckhorn and the Otonabee there are now ten dams and locks, marking spots where in most cases canoes would have to be carried; to which would be added rapids on the Trent River, some of which would be quite formidable.

Dr. Needler has only to look at the sketches which accompany his article to see how much more sensible it was for an expedition to portage from Chemong to the Otonabee when there were no dams on the river to render it navigable. As a matter of fact the Chemong portage was in use down to the pioneer days, and the Hurons almost certainly were acquainted with that short cut Dr. Needler rules it out "absolutely" by the two words of Champlain's text: "tousiours aual —downstream continually." The Chemong portage, he says, "involves going up and over a separating height of land. It is quite impossible to admit this into the interpretation of Champlain's text." Surely a very heavy conclusion indeed to hang on so thin a thread. The fact that he bases his rejection of the Chemong portage on such a finical interpretation in itself exposes the weakness of his grounds for doing so. Any portage several miles long will have ups and downs. And this 8 mile portage landed the party over 30 miles and 180 feet or more "downstream," a saving, as Dr. Needler admits, of 27 miles and of a number of portages.

Dr. Needler quotes a number of authorities who have written on the subject — Parkman, Dione, Grant, Colby, Guillet and Bishop — but only succeeds in showing that their knowledge of the topography, derived in most cases from maps or from one another, was very hazy. Among those who have studied the questions on the basis of local acquaintance with the terrain and its history the opionion is general, if not unanimous. that the Hurons must have led Champlain across the portage from Lake Simcoe to Balsam Lake and from Chemong Lake to the Otonabee. And the only effect of Dr Needler's article, as far as we are concerned, is to still further confirm that belief.

By the way, where did Dr. Needler get the information that the Huron army which accompanied Champlain numbered five hundred? We have searched the Journal in vain for confirmation of the statement.

Truman Tells Europe To Cut Prices

Must Double Effort To Reorganize, Meet Competition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP) —President Truman today sent to Congress a Marshal Plan report declaring that Europe must lower its prices to compete in the United States market for the American consumer's dollar.

"The United States, of course, must be willing to accept greater competition from European suppliers in order to help Europe pay its way," said the study prepared by the Economic Co-operation Administration.

Even if European sales in the United States were doubled—thus restoring Europe's pre-war share of this market—the volume would represent less than one per cent of the total U.S. output and would "only be scratching the surface of the American market," Congress was told.

Intensify Exports

"The participating countries must intensify their export drive to the dollar areas if they are to attain independence from extraordinary outside assistance," the report said.

"This will require on the part of many European business men a reorganization of factory methods, installation of new and more efficient machinery in order to reduce costs, greater attention to merchandising and advertising, redesigning of products and packaging to suit American preferences, and a determination to serve American customers with the care and attention they receive from American producers."

The roprt covered ECA operators up to July 1 of this year. It also emphasized the warnings voiced by ECA administrator Paul C. Hoffman two weeks ago before the Council of Marshall Plan Countries in Paris: that recovery is imperilled by import controls and exchange restrictions which act as barriers to trade.

Martin Lashes At Russians

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 15 (CP)—Paul Martin of Canada today told the United Nations that the Soviet rulers are creating in Russian minds a false distrust and fear of western peoples.

Speaking in the debate on Russia's peace proposals in the Assembly's 59-member political committee, Martin delivered what veteran observers described as one of the sharpest indictments of the Communist system ever heard in the UN.

Martin said there is little hope of getting beyond the stage of distrustful watchfulness between Russia and the western world if Russia continues to cling to the apparent attitude that she is always right.

He answered the slashing personal attack made Monday by Andrei Y. Vishinsky on L. B. Pearson Canada's External Affairs Minister.

Plan $20,000 Home For Quads, Family

SAULT STE. MARIE, Nov. 15 (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hargreaves, parents of the quadruplets born here recently, have chosen a site for the building of a new $20,000 home for the quads, Engineer A. H. Russell said today.

The home will be built with monies of the Community Quadruplet Fund and gifts of material and volunteer labor.

Tentative plans for the new home call for a 10-room residence with special arrangements for the accommodation of the four baby girls.

City council was told Monday nigh: that the babies will be leaving the incubators shortly in which they have been confined since birth and will be taken to the Hargreaves' small house about the middle of December

The site of the proposed new home overlooks the city's Bellevue Park.

Hint Pen Fire Not Accident, Gibson Silent

KINGSTON, Nov. 15 —(CP)— The Whig-Standard says in a newspage story today that it had learned from reliable sources the fire at Kingston Penitentiary Nov. 7 was set by convicts.

The fire in the upper section of the east cell block destroyed the roof, and earlier reports attributed it to defective wiring. R. B. Gibson, the commissioner of penitentiaries at Ottawa, said there was no sign of incendiarism and no one was injured.

R. M. Allan, warden of the penitentiary, would neither deny or confirm the Whig-Standard report. The newspaper quoted him as saying: "You will hear a lot of stories."

The fire started in late afternoon and was not extinguished until 5 a.m. It started in the south end of the attic and burned most of the heavy rafters supporting the east cell block roof.

The Whig-Standard said that Kingston Fire Chief V. C. Brightman is not quite satisfied as to the cause of the fire. He was quoted as saying: I would like to have an electrical inspector check the wiring before I would say what was the cause. There was all clear up there so far as rubbish was concerned."

The newspaper added that Gen. Gibson was queried on the incendiary report and replied: "The cause of the fire is still under investigation." He said he was not planning a further report.

Labor Government Suggests Delaying Steel Seizure

LONDON, Nov. 15—(CP)—The government today put forward a parliamentary resolution postponing the effective date for nationalization of Britain's iron and steel industry until next Oct. 1, 1950—after the general election which must take place by next July. A Labor party caucus accepted the resolution without strong protest. It will be debated in the House of Commons tomorrow.

The resolution was the result of a compromise reached by the Cabinet Monday with the Conservative-dominated House of Lords, which demanded that the voters be allowed to give their verdict first.

The compromise probably has paved the way for an early general election—possibly in early March.

The government postponed the bill's operation by providing that no member of the state iron and steel corporation will be appointed before next October. The Lords were expected to accept the government resolutions and end their protracted opposition to the Bill, which they have fought more fiercely than any other Socialist measure.

The effect will be that the government can make the bill law as soon as it likes—but with operation only after the election provided Labor is returned in 1950.

Can Be Law Soon

Under the new Lords Reform Bill, given third and final reading by the Commons Monday night, the steel bill can become law next February.

By a vote of 340 to 187 the Commons approved the reform bill which cut the Lords' delaying powers on commons-proposed legislation from two years to one. The measure automatically becomes law next month.

The steel bill has already been passed once by the Commons. It can become law over the Lords' objections if the Lower House approves it again next February, a year after it first was passed.

The main reason why the Lords wish the delay is to give the Conservatives, if they win, a chance to repeal the law before it takes effect.

The Labor government wants the nationalization program passed so it can call the election without breaking any of its last campaign promises. One of these was steel and iron nationalization.

College Fires Wartime Nazi

CHICAGO, Nov. 15 (AP)—A wartime Nazi radio commentator, ousted last week as a professor at Michigan Tech College, said Monday he has no prospects of a job at any other college in the United States and he may hunt for one in Canada, South Africa or India.

Professor Edward V. Sittler, 32, father of six children, was fired last week from his $4,000-a-year job as a teacher of German at Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

The ouster came after Representative John Bennett (Rep. Mich.) called for deportation of Sittler. Bennett said, and Sittler confirms, that Sittler, a native of Delaware, Ohio, gave up his American citizenship in 1939 while a student in Germany, became a German citizen and a Nazi party member, and broadcast as a German radio commentator during the last two years of the war.

Sittler left the college Sunday and came to Chicago to look for a new job and talk to lawyers about the severance of his Michigan Tech contract, which was to have expired in June. He says his firing was illegal.

Train Grinds To Halt In Middle Of Nowhere Passengers Join Search For Engineer's Teeth

PALMERSTON, Ont., Nov. 15—(CP)—The Owen Sound-London passenger train ground to a halt in the midst of nowhere. Startled passengers rushed out to see what was wrong.

Engineer William Bailiff gave it to them straight. Gazing intently back over the unending miles of track, he said: "I lost my uppers when I sneezed."

The train backed up to the approximate point of the sneeze. Passengers and train crew alike joined in the search.

Passenger H. R. Ford of Owen Sound pounced on an object lying on the roadbed. The teeth!

Engineer Bailiff washed off some bits of grass and cinders and slipped them back in his mouth.

Two toots of the whistle and the train was away to complete the last half of its 110-mile southwestern Ontario run to London.

Two Brothers Escape Collins Bay

Guards Halt Cars On All Roads Till Pair Captured

KINGSTON, Nov. 15 (CP) — Two brothers who escaped from Collin's Bay penitentiary early this morning were recaptured by prison guards shortly before 11 a.m. They were seized near Kemp's Hill on the Division St. road, three miles north of Kingston. They did not put up any struggle.

The escapees were Russell John Hobday, 19, Toronto, serving five years for armed robbery and car theft, and Ronald Hobday, 18 Toronto, under sentence of three years for armed robbery. Russel Hobday was sentenced last September, and John Hobday last January.

Working in the penitentiary kitchen, they reported for duty at 6 30 a.m. as usual but at seven o'clock their absence was discovered.

Stop All Cars

Guards immediately spread out over the district and all cars on the highways were stopped for inspection.

The brothers were said to be clad in the white garments worn by kitchen help. They were believed to have scaled a wall under construction on the south side of the prison, which is some distance from the federal penitentiary at Portsmouth. Apparently they left the kitchen and used a ladder to gain the roof from where they crossed the prison yard and went over the wall.

A railway sectionman at Cataraqui reported seeing the convicts and the search was concentrated in that area.

The Collins Bay penitentiary has about 800 prisoners, being smaller than the Portsmouth penitentiary.

Rescue 15 Men Trapped In Mine

MAHONOY CITY, Pa., Nov. 15 —(AP)—Fifteen miners emerged uninjured Monday night after being trapped more than six hours behind a fall of rock at the bottom of the Maple Hill colliery of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company. The men were down some 600 feet and 3,000 feet inside the shaft.

Edward Fox, general manager, said the men were trapped when a mine car jumped the track, knocking down supporting timbers and sending tons of rocks cascading down the passageway The entrance to the shaft was blocked.

A crew of some 25 fellow miners with picks, shovels and any other digging tools they could lay their hands on rushed to the rescue.

Fox and George A. Roos, a company vice-president, said rescue workers were able to communicate with the trapped miners by tapping the rail leading into the buried section. The rescuers tapped on the outside and received an answering echo from the rock trapped miners.

Ontario Betting Up $1,210,555

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP)—A Toronto paper said in a newspage story today that wagering on Ontario race tracks this year increased by $1,210,555 over 1948.

The paper estimated the 1949 total at $38,578,770 compared with $37,368,215 in 1948, contrasting with the decline in betting totals on United States tracks this year.

There were two more days of racing in Ontario this year than last, the season ending at Toronto's Dufferin Park last week. The Ontario Government later will issue the year's totals.

Of the Ontario total this past season it was estimated that about 75 per cent, or $27,890,059, was wagered at the four Toronto tracks, with 27 days of racing at Woodbine, Thorncliffe, Long Branch and Dufferin.

Will Share A-Secrets

LONDON, Nov. 15—(CP) Chapman Pincher, Science reporter for the Daily Express, in a news story today says the United States government has agreed on a 100-per-cent exchange of information on development of atomic weapons among Canada, Britain and herself. The story, which gives no source, said British experts will be invited to study at Hanford, Wash., techniques which have been denied them for six years. One of the United States' great atomic projects is at Hanford.

Hunters' Guns Recovered From Creek Bed

MARMORA, Nov. 15 (ENS) — Six guns left in Beaver Creek after Herbert Wright and James Allan McGarvey narrowly escaped drowning Sunday, were recovered Monday evening, after an all day wait for the waters to calm.

Wright and McGarvey tumbled into the water when their boat capsized during a hunting expedition and McGarvey was placed in an oxygen tent in Belleville Hospital, after being recovered from the water.

In search of six guns valued at approximately $200, which were abandoned after the incident, Wright and Hilliard McGarvey, cousin of James Allan McGarvey, left Marmora to be at the scene of the capsizing at daybreak. They intended to search the creek for about 200 yards.

Seeing a newspaper in about three feet of water close to the bank where the two immersed men had been taken out the previous afternoon, McGarvey had the feeling they were on the right scent. Paddling out a little way, he then spotted a haversack in the botton of the stream.

Returning to shore, he got a stake which he drove down beside the haversack as a marker round which they would search for a radius of 50 feet.

The haversack was pulled up from a depth of eight or nine feet with the use of an oar. A few feet further upstream, McGarvey sighted the gasoline lantern that had belonged to the kit, and near it, the six guns. Two of these he raised through putting a nail through a pole to serve as a hook.

After drawing up two guns the waters became ruffled and it was impossible to see the remaining four. They abandoned their attempts until the evening, staying at their camp until nightfall, when two more of their party, Harold Sandra and Henry Empey joined them from the village, bringing lamps and a gaff.

The waters having calmed, the guns were recovered.

Londoners Grope Way Through Dense Fog

LONDON, Nov. 15 (CP)—The worst fog blackout of the season, with visibility nil in many parts, today sent Londoners groping about their business.

In a real November "pea-souper" buses, trains, automobiles, ships and aircraft were slowed down or brought to a halt.

Conductors walked in front of buses and trolley buses, guiding them with flares made from newspapers. Cars followed each other bumper to bumper and some got lost at road junctions.

96,000 Housing Units Finished This Year, Cut Backlog Winters Says

Believes Building Costs Levelling Off
More Supplies Available;
86,000 Houses Will Be Started This Year

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP)—Reconstruction Minister Winters told the Commons today that an estimated 96,000 housing units will be completed this year, the first in which some reduction will be made in the backlog of housing needs. Opening debate on second reading of a bill amending the National Housing Act, Mr. Winters reported that building costs are levelling off and said an estimated 86,000 new houses will be started this year. "Complete figures up to the end of August and partial figures during September indicate that 62,500 new housing units were completed in the first nine months of 1949," said Mr. Winters. This is an increase of 24 per cent over the corresponding period of 1948.

"If the last quarter of 1949 follows the pattern of the last quarter of 1948, completions of new units will amount to approximately 92,000. Adding conversions to new units, total completions of all kinds for 1949 would under these conditions be of the order of 96,000.

"Starts in the first nine months of 1949 were about 71,000, almost the same as in 1948. Units under construction at the end of September, 1949, amount to 65,800, as compared with 63,700 a year ago. Projecting new starts for the balance of the year on the same basis, a total of 86,000 might be expected."

Strike Effects

However the United States steel strike and weather conditions might have some bear on the new starts.

Reviewing the government's housing program, Mr. Winters said that on July 22, 1946, his predecessor—Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, now Trade Minister—had estimated that some 480,000 housing units should be built during the five years ending March, 1952.

Mr. Howe set a target of 80,000 units for 1947-48, and 100,000 in each of the following years. Up to the end of September, 1949, his estimate was 230,000 units. During that period completions amounted to 212,134 units.

Britain Will Attend Ceylon Conference

LONDON, Nov. 15 (Reuters)— Britain has accepted the Ceylon government's invitation to attend a conference of Commonwealth foreign minister in Colombo early next year, the foreign office spokesman announced today.

He refused to say whether Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin would attend in person. A usually reliable source said, however, he is expected to make every effort to be there.

The Colombo conference is considered likely to take place in January, but the spokesman refused to give further details. He did not say whether all Commonwealth governments have yet accepted.

The conference is to make plans for concluding a peace treaty with Japan and to take a definite decision on recognizing the Chinese Communist government.

Bridge Collapses Train In River Report 74 Dead

PRETORIA, South Africa, Nov. 15 (AP)—A passenger train hurtled off a bridge into the Crocodile River 50 feet below, killing at least 70 natives and a European, it was reported today.

Another 100 natives are said to be severely injured in the wreck which occurred at Waterval Boven in the wilds of the upper Transvaal.

Casualty figures given out later by P. O. Sauer, South African minister of Transport, and the railroad conflicted.

Sauer said that 74 bodies so far have been recovered, 85 natives were severely injured and 90 were missing. It was feared that many of the missing had perished.

Passengers were workers from Portuguese East Africa who were returning home after a period of service in the Transvaal gold mines.

Seven coaches of the train plunged into the river about 100 miles north of here when the bridge collapsed. It had been undermined by the flood-swollen waters.

Two South African air force DC-4s were dispatched to take out the injured.

The train, carrying 500 natives, was drawn by two locomotives.

Two Engines Drop

Both locomotives crashed into the river. The engineer of the first locomotive was killed.

Rescue workers struggled for hours to release those trapped in the wreckage. Doctors, nurses and ambulances rushed to the scene from nearby towns and an ambulance train was sent from Johannesburg, 17 miles away.

Young Hunter Wounded By Gun

CAMPBELLFORD, Nov. 15 — (ENS)—While hunting rabbits Monday afternoon, five miles northwest of here, Dave Smith, 18 received shot gun wounds in the right thumb and right cheek.

His two companions, Charlie Cowell and Dave Heath, rushed him to the local hospital where he had his thumb amputated and two pellets removed from his cheek by Doctors W. N. Grant and J. R. Anderson.

At the time of the accident Smith and Heath were sitting on a cultivator with Smith holding his gun in an upright position. It is believed the gun discharged when the hammer caught on a crossbar of the machine.

Bassinets May Be Standard Plane Gear Second Baby Born On Atlantic Crossing

PRESTWICK, Scotland, Nov. 15—(AP)—If this keeps up Transatlantic airliners are going to have to start carrying bassinets as regular equipment.

A baby girl was born—halfway across the Atlantic between Prestwick and Gander, Nfld.—to a Polish woman today aboard a Scandinavian Air Lines plane carrying 60 displaced persons to New York.

She was the second Transatlantic "air-born" baby in less than a month. Mother of the girl was Mrs. Leokadia Rolbiecki, already a mother of three.

She began feeling labor pains about 1,000 miles out to sea.

Norwegian pilot T. Stensrud radioed back to Prestwick for medical advice. The airport doctor was hustled out of bed to rush to the radio to give the instructions.

Next message from the plane was "baby born .0555 hours (NGT) 1,003 miles out to paggenger No. 15. Mother and child doing nicely—it's a girl."

Set Off Dynamite Blast At Union Men's Homes

PONTIAC, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP) —Terrorists set off dynamite blasts at the home of two AFL Teamsters Union officials Monday night.

No one was hurt, and police said the intent apparently was to frighten and not kill anyone.

Initial investigation failed to disclose any motive.

The blasts were set off at the homes of Dan Keating, 48, business manager of Local 614 of the Teamsters Union, and Louis Linteau, 35, secretary-treasurer.

Linteau said there had been "no trouble from left-wing elements" and that he had received "no threats."

Farm Prices Need Boost Kennedy Says

OAC Scientists Trying To Improve Quality And Lower Food Cost

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP)—How to put more money in farmers' pockets while prices stay high is a problem receiving study from the Ontario Agriculture Department.

Agriculture Minister Kennedy said Monday at a press conference that something should be done to give the farmer a larger share of the money the consumer pays for agricultural products. He declined to say what action could be taken but said that, when the Ontario food terminal market in suburban Etobicoke Township is opened in the near future, there should be a change.

He said an investigation made at his request in Toronto Nov. 2 showed that certain farmers received 59 per cent on carrots, 22 per cent on celery and 42-59 per cent on potatoes.

It was discovered that when a farmer packed apples in six-quart baskets, he obtained 76 per cent of the selling price. But when the apples were sold by the pound out of a bushel basket, the percentage fell to 45-49.

Make Little Money

"We are determined to bring into proper proportion the ratio between what the farmer receives for his product and what he has to pay for non-agricultural products," said Mr. Kennedy, who himself operates a farm at nearby Dixie. He added that, due to increased production costs, farmers made little money this year.

As a result of research work financed by the Ontario Government, farming methods in Ontario are due for a general face-lifting, Mr. Kennedy continued. Scientists are seeking to help the farmer to concentrate on producing quality food at decreasing cost, with grading to ensure a proper return to the producer.

Progress is being made toward finding a cure for mastitis in cattle. A campaign is under way to encourage more calf vaccination as a safeguard against Bang's Disease. Scientists at the Ontario Veterinary College have worked out a method of determining the sire of a calf by a blood test.

In all its research, Ontario is co-operating with the federal government, the universities and industry, Mr. Kennedy added.

U.S. To Ignore Danube Group

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The United States served notice on Russia and five Soviet-bloc states today that it considers invalid their new commission to control shipping on the Danube River.

The commission was set up Nov. at Galatz, Romania. It replaced a control commission dating back to 1921 on which five Western countries were represented.

An American note today said that the new agreement, coupled with the device of Soviet-controlled joint shipping companies on the river, is 'clearly designed to enable the Soviet Union to maintain a monpoly of Danubian commerce."

The Soviet-bloc commission, it was charged, violates the peace treaties signed with Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania and "violates the concept of international waterways which has been recognized in Europe for more than 130 years."

4 Campbellford Youths Fined For Drinking

On written pleas of guilty, four Campbellford youths were fined $10 and costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today.

Police reported the four were drinking while parked in a car on Armour Rd. early Monday morning. Four girls from Norwood and Campbellford who were with them were sent home in a taxi.

Clifford Stillman, 20, and Thomas Iliffe, 18, were charged with drinking while minors. William Bertrand, 21, was charged with drinking in a place other than a residence and Kenneth Campbell with having liquor in a plaque other than a residence.

Open Army School

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP) — A new Canadian army military intelligence school to replace five separate schools run by different commands, will be opened at Petawawa military training camp next summer, the army announced Monday. It will be an active force establishment but will operate in the summer months only.

Plan To Mark Kids' Day On Saturday

In conjunction with Kiwanis International and the National Kids' Day Foundation, the Peterborough Kiwanis Club is observing National Kids' Day on Saturday. That day nearly 3,000 cities in the United States and Canada will be participating in the Kids' Day celebrations.

Through a special proclamation by Mayor M. J. Swanston November 19 has been set aside for the observance of Kids' Day in Peterborough. Mayor Swanston called upon all residents to co-operate with the local committee.

A committee of Kiwanians, headed by Robert Bastable, has been appointed by the club to make preparations. Others on the committee are Ernest McWilliams, Ben Myers, Tom Rodger, Art Bacon, Walter Howell and Vincent McCabe president of the club.

The objects of Kids' Day are: (1) to focus attention upon the accomplishments of youth, (2) to seek additional interest from the public in the battle against juvenile delinquency and to help its victims into the paths which will lead to becoming useful citizens, (3) to provide additional impetus in assisting underprivileged children to enjoy some of the benefits normally accruing to more fortunate boys and girls.

Kids' Day is not a commercial device, it was pointed out, and the only ones who will profit from it are underprivileged children. Funds raised through activities in connection with Kids' Day in Peterborough will be spent to benefit underprivileged children in this community.

Opposition Charges Gov't Deliberately Breaking Law

OTTAWA, Nov. 15—(CP)—Charges of deliberate law-breaking and suppression covered by "lame" excuses were hurled at the government Monday as the Commons argued for 7½ hours on the principle of a bill to plug loopholes in Canada's anti-price-fixing legislation. In a debate heavily weighed by opposition speakers—10 took part as against two Liberals—the government was verbally rapped for withholding from the people for 10 months the report of alleged price-fixing in the flour-milling industry.

Moving towards adjournment by Dec. 3, the Commons for the first time this session added a two-hour morning sitting to the normal three-hour sittings in the afternoon and evening.

But even eight hours wasn't enough to conclude the opposition attack on the way the government handled F. A. McGregor's flour-milling report.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said the whole matter was clearly a case of the government breaking the law.

He said there were indications that the legislation now before the Commons is not all that the government planned to do. Mr. McGregor had suggested the government was considering a complete overhaul of combines legislation at the next session.

In view of this uncertainty, Mr. Drew said, there should be further study and investigation before the House is expected to approve this bill in principle.

Moves Amendment

He promptly moved an amendment proposing that the bill be sent to "the Standing Committee on Banking and Commerce with instructions that they have power to send for persons, papers and records and that . . . they shall also have the power to report upon the extent to which the effective administration of legislation relating to restrictive trade practices has, or is being, prejudiced by the action of the government in failing to carry out the mandatory requirements of the existing law."

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said his party will support the Drew amendment. He regretted, however, that the terms of the motion did not call for a vote of censure of the government for breach of the law.

Mr. Coldwell said there was nothing in the McGregor report to support the government contention that price-fixing by flour mills during the war was the result of government and prices board direction.

96,000 Housing

"This is a substantial accomplishment of the target of completions, and full accomplishment if allowance is made for the increased number of houses presently under construction," said Mr. Winters.

He recalled that in a statement to the Commons Sept. 21 he had stated that housing construction was barely keeping up with current needs and making no important inroads into the backlog.

"In degree this is less true in 1949 than in any previous post-war year," he said. "Our housing completions this year are likely to be about 20 per cent higher than in 1948 and yet family formation is likely to be about 10 per cent below that of last year.

Exceed Families

"On this basis new housing would exceed net family formation by about 20,000 units. Two years ago net family formation exceeded the number of new housing units by a large margin. Last year new housing was just about in balance with net family formation.

"This is the first year that some progress will have been made to reduce the backlog of housing needs accumulated both during the war years and the depressed 30's. It is not an important inroad considering the magnitude of the backlog, but it is nevertheless a significant reduction of the overall housing need."

Mr. Winters dealt at length with the proposed changes in housing legislation. The National Housing Act will be amended to reduce by approximately half the down payment required of persons buying homes.

The program also envisages a Dominion-Provincial partnership on a 75-25 per cent. financial basis to undertake a potential three-point program of land assembly, construction of low-cost houses for sale and construction of both low and subsidized rental units.

Little Change In Costs

Mr. Winters said there was very little change in the weighted index of residential building costs during 1949. The weighted index of materials is approximately one per cent under that of last Jan. 1. This is offset by a weighted wage increase of approximately three per cent.

This meant that the index was only fractionally higher than at the first of the year. In 1946, the index rose 11 per cent, in 1947 it went up 22 per cent and in 1948 it increased another 11 per cent.

"Furthermore, a more regular and adequate supply of materials, together with increased productivity of the house-building labor force, has had the effect of reducing costs," said Mr. Winters.

"I am not suggesting that the price of new houses has decreased appreciably because under present conditions it is the sale price of a house rather than the cost of construction that is the governing factor."

A year ago the Crown-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation was having difficulty in getting contractors to build veterans' rental units. The Corporation was only able to obtain prices subject to an escalator clause.

Keen Competition

"This year there has been keen competition in bidding for jobs in all parts of the country with the result that comparable houses are costing about three per cent less this year than last," he said.

"These reductions are not large but they do represent a cessation of the continuous upward cost trend experienced since the end of the war.

"In 1950 we may expect further improvement in the supply situation. As a result there is reasonable prospect that building costs will not be higher than in 1949."

Mr. Winters added "the greatest part of housing completions in 1949 will be by private endeavor. Housing on direct government account such as veterans' rental units, married quarters for the Department of National Defence, and other activities resulting in government ownership, will account for about 14 per cent of all completions. Another 25 per cent is financed under the National Housing Act. The remaining 61 per cent of the completions will be without government sponsorship of any kind."

Land Needed

Much has been said about steps which the federal government might take to promote the building of more housing units.

Mr. Winters said it was hardly necessary to remind those familiar with housing problems that the first and foremost need is for land on which to place houses.

Some municipalities were having trouble in financing services for new housing projects. Other municipalities had no undeveloped land within their boundaries. These matters limited the volume of new housing that could be built.

Mr. Winters said some people believe that the only solution to the housing problem is a subsidized public housing program to look after those who cannot afford to pay economic rentals. Others believe that the only way is for the government to sponsor large quantities of modest dwellings to be sold to potential home owners on a rent-purchase plan with little or no down payment.

Still others believe that if enough houses are built for those who can afford them, in due course the filtering or "hand-me-down" process will work so that everybody will be comfortably housed.

Nothing Exclusive

"It seems to me that there is nothing mutually exclusive in various methods of making progress," said Mr. Winters. "There is great merit in, and certainly it is the policy of the government to encourage as much new housing by private enterprise as possible."

Dealing with details of the legislation, introduced in the Commons Sept. 21, Mr. Winters said that the National Housing Act provides that a basic loan of 80 per cent of the lending value shall be made available to a builder or to a home owner.

"Provided that the purchase price to the home owner is a fair and reasonable one, provision is made for an additional advance in amount of one-sixth of the basic loan," said Mr. Winters "Depending upon the price at which the house is sold by the builder to the home owner, the down payment required will range between one-sixth and one-tenth of the purchase price."

Included In Act

The fair and reasonable price provision was included in the new act because previous experience indicated that increased mortgage financing tended to increase sale prices. Little purpose would be served if, by providing an extra mortgage loan of $1,000, the sale price of the house went up a part or all of this amount.

"I would like to make it perfectly clear that the fair and reasonable provision is not a limitation upon the sale price of houses to be financed under the National Housing Act.

"A house with a lending value of $6,000 will qualify for a basic loan of $4,800, and a further advance of $800 to a home owner who has purchased the house at a price not exceeding $6,720 which is the total loan of $5,600 plus 20 per cent. This would be considered the maximum fair and reasonable price.

"The builder may sell the house at any price he desires. If however, the price is above the fair and reasonable price, the basic loan of 80 per cent will be made, but the additional advance to the home home owner is not available.

The new legislation provides for a 25 per cent increase in the amount that can be loaned for home improvement and home extension purposes. Increases in building costs made the loan increase necessary.

Mr. Winters outlined a few types of arrangements which might be undertaken by the Dominion and a province.

Toronto Labor Council Backs Right Wing Element Of UE

The UE has been ordered by the Toronto Labor Council to join the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO) or stand alone.

This ultimatum was handed to the left-wing union at a meeting of the TLC Monday night. The UE was expelled from the CIO at the recent convention in Cleveland and the Congress of Industrial Organizations which established the new electrical union in Canada is expected to follow suit.

Three Peterborough men received a hearing from the Council. They were top members of the right-wing group in Local 524—John G. Morton, Joseph Murphy and Cyril O'Donnell.

Mr. O'Donnell told the Examiner that Mr. Morton outlined the struggle in Peterborough for the Council and received an excellent reception.

Ellis Blair, an official of the UE, said the Council was engaging in a policy of raiding, splitting and disruption of his union. And he stated the UE had no intention of voluntarily leaving the CCL.

"The UE have made great gains through their union and we have no intention of allowing any one to undermine the union," he said.

Clash at Davenport

Earlier in the day the president of the Toronto Labor Council, Murray Cotterill, had been knocked down when he and a group of Steelworkers attempted to circulate leaflets outside the Davenport CGE plant. The Davenport works is generally considered a UE strong point, and a number of the rival factions started a scuffle.

Larry Bennett, organizer of the United Steel Workers (CIO-CCL) also was involved in a fight with UE members.

Jack Bettes, UE Toronto organizer, accused the CCL men of Fascist and "goon" tactics. One of that group had pulled out a length of pipe as a weapon, he charged.

Counter-charges of goon tactics were hurled back by CCL men.

Murray Cotterill, ridiculed the charge.

"Apparently every leading official of the CCL is a goon," he said referring to the fact a large number of Toronto right-wing labor leaders were backing the project of handing out leaflets.

To prevent any recurrence of the fighting on Monday squads of city police were on hand today outside the Davenport plant gates. No trouble has been reported so far.

Winter Fair Opens Today, Full Of Color

TORONTO, Nov. 15—(CP) — The Royal Winter Fair starts today amid all the color and excitement that over the years have made it one of the top agricultural shows om the continent.

External Affairs Minister Pearson will declare the Winter Fair officially opened tonight. But hours before the opening ceremony, thousands of farm folk and city dwellers will have streamed through the great Coliseum at west-end Exhibition Park. And many thousands more will tour the exhibits during the eight-day display of livestock and agricultural products.

Much of the judging was done Monday. Judges were at work on various grain classes, including the international championship groups. Junior farmer competitions went on all day long and the young men and women from many parts of Canada received their awards at a banquet Monday night.

Traditional Display

Visitors will see many traditional displays including the flower show, the poultry and stock, the fruit and vegetables and the display of tropical fish. A new feature this year will be Miss Canada IV, speedboat owned by Harold Wilson, of Ingersoll, which this fall came close in an attempt on the world speed record.

Expected to attract the white-tie-and-tails crowd again this year is the horse show. Two horse show teams will be on hand from Chile, including an army team scheduled to compete against Canada, Mexico and the Republic of Ireland in international military events.

The RCMP group will stage its famous musical ride nightly at the show.

The first of six world titles to be awarded at the Fair was decided Monday. The world rye championship was decided, with the title going to Albert Kessel, of Rosetown, Sask. The other world titles are given for wheat, barley, oats, potatoes and corn.

Lake Athabaska Area Centre Of Great Uranium Deposits Peterborough Airman Says

By HARRY THEOBALD

"The people of Canada have little appreciation and knowledge of the importance of uranium deposits in the area north of Lake Athabaska," said Norbert Millar, one of Peterborough's first commercial airmen, at the home of his mother, Mrs. W. Millar, 1077 High St., Monday. "It is possibly the most important uranium area in the world," Mr. Millar said. "People who have been reading about the potential uses of atomic energy in the field of industry and generally for purposes of peace rather than of war, do not understand something of the values of uranium ore."

Mr. Millar ventured a layman's opinion that the atomic bomb will not be used again as a destructive agency of war. He suggested that the consequences as illustrated in Japanese surrender to the forces of the United States and her allies four years ago were too terrible to contemplate.

Graduate of Ayres School

A graduate of the flying school that was organized by H. P. Ayres in Otonabee township in 1927, Mr. Millar flew home for a visit to his mother who has been unwell of late. The Ayres field was on the east side of the Bensfort Road, south of its junction with the road to Wallace Point Road. It is several miles from the city.

"Seven or eight competent pilots were turned out of that school," Mr. Millar recalled. "Private flying clubs sprang up around the country, and the Ayres field was abandoned."

During the war he was chief pilot at an air navigation school in Toronto.

His first flying was for Col. C. H. Ackerman of Peterborough into the Waite-Montgomery section of Rouyn. Subsequently, Mr. Millar bought his own plane. His interests in recent years and even in his first experiences in the north country, have been directed more to prospects of minerals in the ground, particularly uranium, than to prospects of the vastness of the Canadian northwest viewed from the air.

Mr. Millar secured a property in the Lake Athabasca area last spring from the government of Saskatchewan. It was one of a number of concessions granted by the government to attract eastern prospectors into that section of the province.

Uranium mining operations are continuing at the El Dorado property far north in the Great Bear Lake area. Considerable work is being done at the Nicholson, north of Lake Athabasca.

"There is a wide sweep of country, several hundred miles to the north, and extending easterly to the edge of the pre-Cambrian rock indicating the same geological conditions that have been found at the Nicholson property," Mr. Millar said. "More or less the centre of activity up there is the old Goldfields site, which is showing signs of coming back to life again. It was originally prospected for gold."

One of the Pioneers

Mr. Millar mentioned the name of John Rogers, consulting geologist, as one of the expert pioneers in the northwest mining country. Mr. Rogers was doing exploratory field work for the Dominion government in the thirties, and confirmed the identity of the original Labine pitchblende discovery. Development there is continuing. The government expropriated one million dollars for expenditure this year, and shafts are being sunk on two properties of radium active ore. Mr. Rogers was also active in the Athabasca territory which has now been broadened easterly to Black Lake 100 miles from Nicholson.

"There is another prospect at Camray, 70 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, but that is a rather long story. Reports that were prepared 102 years ago mentioned uranium possibilities there, but, of course, there was no knowledge of its present day values."

Briefly, Mr. Millar said that four years were spent in search of definite location of that property, first in the archives and finally on the ground. It was found by a man named Campbell.

"I had Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., interested in that search some years ago," recalling the quest that may result in a development in northwestern Ontario.

Interested In Uranium

Mr. Millar's major interest these days is obviously in uranium prospects, and in the hope that Canadians will become aware of them as promise of development in their own country. He showed the Examiner a sample of ore from the Athabasca Lake area, and their effect on the Gieger machine that is part of his own equipment.

The ticking of the counter when he placed the samples near it, and turned on its switch, was immediate and sharp. It is a new equipment in prospecting that has come into general use since the end of the war.

Mr. Millar landed his sea plane at Chemong Lake, was planning a short hop to Bobcaygeon to see his brother and after the plane is overhauled he is tieing it up for the winter.

United Automobile Workers president, has been chosen to head a C.I.O. delegation to an international conference of trade unions in London starting Nov. 28. The conference has been called to form a new international organization of free, democratic trade unions, a U.A.W. statement said.

Dept. Rules Out Sewage Rental

COBOURG, Nov. 15—(ENS)—A bylaw imposing a sewage rental in the form of a surcharge on the water rate, to pay for the new disposal plant, is not acceptable to the Department of Municipal Affairs, town council was informed Monady.

After a letter from the Department was read stating such a bylaw did not comply with the requirements of the Municipal Act, council decided to take the matter up with the Public Utilities Commission and later with the Department.

Drive Home Cost Him $50 in Court Fines

COBOURG, Nov. 15 (ENS) — Arthur Roddy, 58, of Bewdley who was involved in an accident while driving a friend home, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and was fined $25 and costs in police court. On a charge of careless driving he paid $10 and costs.

Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine said he was investigating an accident which occurred near Port Hope on Nov. 11 in which a truck was struck by a car, which it was later learned had been driven by Arthur Roddy. The truck driver, James Scott, told police that the car had one headlight and was weaving back and forth on the road.

Roddy testified that he and a friend had had some beer in a hotel the night of the accident and that his friend did not appear in shape to drive. While driving him home with one headlight and a weak battery, he found it hard to keep on the highway owing to the poor illumination and ran into the truck.

"I don't know why, but I just left the scene for no particular reason," said Roddy.

"You help your friend to get home and then when you get in an accident, you leave him in the lurch," observed Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

20 Turkeys Stolen While Farmer Hunts

COBOURG, Nov. 15 (ENS) — Provincial police are investigating the theft of some 20 turkeys from the farm of Jack Reymes. Two of the pens were opened during the week-end, the screen in one having been pulled up and the other one cut.

The theft occurred after the owner had left for his deer hunting camp. The farm is located north of Grafton and the flock of turkeys numbered about 120 birds before the 20 were stolen. Provincial Constable Don Nicol of Cobourg is investigating.

ECA Needs 5 Billion

DETROIT, Nov. 15—(AP)—The economic co-operation administration needs at least $5,000,000,000 more to complete its program, administrator Paul G. Hoffman said Monday. "It cost $350,000,000,000 to $380,000,000,000 to win the war," he said. If $15,000,000,000 will help win the peace it will be a bargain."

Irish Go At It Again Fight Over Man's Hand

By MICHAEL O'MARA.

DUBLIN, Nov. 15 — (CP). — Another cloud of trouble between the Republic of Ireland and Northern Ireland is on the horizon—this time over a postage stamp.

Remember the cliche about "no bigger than a man's hand?" That is what the quarrel will be about—a man's hand.

The hand originally belonged to Red Hugh O'Neill who led one of the invasions of Ireland in that country's pre-Viking past. His men did not relish the idea of fighting the Irish—who even then had quite a reputation for rough-and-ready scrapping.

O'Neill took a look at their pale faces, strode to the bow of his boat, chopped off his left hand and hurled it on to the shore, shouting "Follow the red hand."

Blood-stained Hand

Eventually a blood-stained hand became the provincial symbol of Ulster. Now, as every Irishman in the North and in the South knows, six Ulster counties form Northern Ireland. Which sets the scene for the postage-stamp squabble.

The Republican government here has announced that it will issue November 21 a stamp to commemorate international recognition of itself. In each corner will appear the symbol of one of the four ancient provinces of Ireland—including the red hand of Ulster—"Thus symbolically asserting Ireland's claim to the whole of its territory without division."

When Belfast officialdom heard of this impending impertinence, its spokesmen were "quite shocked." A formal statement of protest is expected when the stamp appears.

And just imagine the wigs on the Green when a letter bearing one of those stamps arrives in Belfast from Dublin.

Around Ireland

Aer Lingus, state-owned airline, made a profit of £88,000 ($224,880) during the first six months of 1949—its first profit since nationalization. The black ink came into use largely through a £123,000 slash in expenditures.

Three hydro-electric stations on the 82-mile-long River Liffey will be in full operation this winter for the first time and will help to light the streets, shops and houses of Dublin. The stations are at Leixlip, Golden Falls and Poulaphuca.

Southern Irish emigrants in 1948 totalled 40,075, all but 9,785 of whom went to Great Britain. Most of the rest went to the United States.

James Dutton Retires

After fifteen years on the Board of Health James Dutton has announced his intention to retire from public life. He has served Peterborough as an alderman during some of the most critical periods of the city's later history, and he is remembered for the particularly fine job which he did during the depression years, when he was in charge of public relief; his devotion to duty and his iron integrity were completely at the service of this city during that trying time. As a member of the Board of Health he has done more than any other man to make the Peterborough health services a model for cities of this size in Ontario. He has earned rest, and the warmest good wishes of his fellow citizens will be with him in his retirement.

• • •

Not all the great public servants find their way to Ottawa or to Toronto. There must be men in every municipality to carry the burdens of local government, and to fight the battles which are inescapable in all progressive movements. They are expected to give up countless hours in the public interest, and their reward is the thanks and good opinion of the community which they serve.

• • •

Too often this reward is meagre and grudging. When a man is very near to us we often fail to measure his full stature. We are ready enough to give our admiration to the men who are called the Makers of Canada. Let us have the grace now to recognize that if a list of the Makers of Peterborough were to be drawn up, the name of James Dutton would have a high place upon it. Let us not neglect, collectively and individually, to thank a first-rate man for many years of first-rate work.

Peterborough, 1949

It's green, this year, the new city directory. Last year the cover was blue. In 1947 it was green; in 1946 blue. The discreet monotony of the variation covers quite a lot of information, and indeed some considerable change. There are the personal histories in barest outline; the removals by death or desertion of the city, the additions through coming-of-age or into occupations, and the newcomers to town. The pagination of the Directories of the last four years tells the story of steady municipal expansion.

This year's directory has 279 pages of names; last year 274; in 1947's 259 pages. For some strange reason—perhaps the names are spaced more widely—there were 269 pages of names in 1946. The increase in the number of names is proportionately less than the increase in the number of streets and houses on them, an indication that people are getting more living-room in the city. In the 1946 Directory there were 73 pages of streets and house numbers; in 1947, 76 pages. Last year the street directory section had 79 pages; this year it has 82 pages; a significant jump. Since it takes months to compile and print a directory, the 82 pages of street names and numbers go back to last autumn.

For many years cities have been gaining in population at the expense of the rural areas. But as the cities gain, so do their outskirts expand. Despite recent annexations, Peterborough's rural postal route population has increased slightly; in 1946 the names of the 11 routes occupied four pages. Now they take nearly four and a half.

The types of jobs in which Peterborough folk engage do not seem to change much with the years, according to the Directory's alphabetic explanation of the abbreviations: acct-accountant, agt-agent, bldr-builder, blksmth, on through carp, clk, com mer (commercial merchant, a curiously redundant expression), drsmakr, gdnr, lab, mus tchr (music teacher), pimbr, plstr, sec hd gds, and down to wdwkr and whol. There must be a large number of slsldy and slsmn, and in this day very few sdlr-saddlers or harnessmakers. Our old friend Prop takes as large a place as ever in the Peterborough scene.

In the present dispute within the local union of the United Electrical Workers the term Right Wing is being used to describe the group which follows Mr. Morton, and Left Wing is the term applied to the followers of Mr. Jackson. These expressions are confusing, and demand some clarification. They cannot be understood in their ordinary political sense, for both groups contain men of widely divergent political views. There are men in the Left Wing who are Conservatives and Liberals, and also some who are supporters of the C.C.F. Mr. Morton, the leader of the Right Wing, has run in the Peterborough riding as a C.C.F. candidate, and he has many adherents who are not of his political outlook. As for Communism, we have not been able to find much evidence of it among the C.G.E. workers. The people in Peterborough who hold frankly communist views are few, and they are not confined to any particular group.

Right and Left, then, as applied to the members of the U.E. local, are terms with a particular application, implying adherence to a leader rather than to any shade of political opinion. We feel, however, that both groups must bear some responsibility for the tags which have been put upon them on the grounds of their national and international leadership. The "local" is autonomous in a high degree, but it is also directly associated with the international organization and the issues which are being fought out in that sphere. It can hardly be argued that national and international leadership has no influence in local unions.

Let us recognize, however, that there are men on both sides of the argument here in Peterborough who are owners of homes and taxpayers in this city; many of them are ex-service men; their children are growing up here. In our interest in their union dispute we must never lose sight of the fact that they are our fellow citizens.

U.S. Presidential Manners

President Truman of the United States has been using his particular set of political manners increasingly in all his contacts with the general public. Since these manners have paid off handsomely to date, it is virtually certain he will keep on using them. They are neither new nor complex, but simply the act of becoming (or being) one of the people, the average man, or the little fellow, whichever of those worn phrases is preferred. The U.S. President talks to the crowds as plain Harry Truman, bounces around with his old buddies, gathers his old friends around him, plays the traditional poker and drinks the traditional bourbon and branch or tap water. So far, voting results indicate that the electors like it very well.

One must go back about eight terms and four Presidents to find another who identified himself as closely with the people. He was the late Warren Harding, but while the manners were identical, the comparison ends there, for Harding was inept and incredibly gullible. The friends he gathered around him in Washington betrayed him and the nation, in what was perhaps the most barefaced looting campaign in modern political history. There is a faint parallel the present-day reports of the so-called five-percenters of Washington, who are said to have been involved with friends of Mr. Truman's, but the resemblance is pale indeed.

The personable Harding was followed by Calvin Coolidge, his Vice-President; he may be described as a man of few words who seldom used them. At that time, however, the United States was slightly nauseated when confronted with anything resembling personal charm and eloquent, if slightly ungrammatical, oratory. Coolidge suited them well and his successor, Herbert Hoover, was another man of reserve, although less markedly so.

Then came Franklin Roosevelt, easily the most personable of the five men under discussion and one of the greatest Presidents in United States history. He, too, was the friend of the people, but he was the friend of the famous fireside chats rather than the folksy friend of the whistle-stop. Roosevelt never identified himself as one of the crowd as Truman has done; at the height of his popularity, he was still the Squire of Hyde Park.

The elections of 1948 and 1949, however, show that Mr. Truman, either by natural bent or design—and we think the former—has a set of political manners that drag in the votes. They will next be tested in the Congressional elections of 1950.

Rising Sun Of Japan's Exports

By O. M. GREEN

ALTHOUGH the new trade agreement between Japan and Great Britain and the Commonwealth, to succeed the one that expired on June 30, has not actually been signed, trustworthy reports from the Far East are that by it Japan will import £55 millions worth of goods and export £45 millions. Last year's agreement ended with a balance of £9 millions in Japan's favour due to General MacArthur's heavy restrictions on imports not conducing directly to Japan's recovery. The new agreement is designed to absorb this balance and put the exchange of goods on a more even footing.

❖ ❖ ❖

FURTHER reports are that Japan will receive wool, petroleum, rubber and iron ore, and pay for them with textiles, steel products, raw silk and rayon. Australia, it is stated, will send at least twice as much wool to Japan as she did last year. Compared with pre-war levels, Japan has still a long way to go; her industrial production now ranges from about one-third to three-quarters of the 1938 figures. Her progress in 1948 is none the less impressive and far greater than that of any other Far Eastern country.

❖ ❖ ❖

IN the years 1946-48 her exports totalled, progressively, U.S. dollars 103 million, 258 million; and in the first half of the present year she has already made contracts worth U.S. dollars 304 million — 46 million more than for the whole of 1948. It is true that in this first half of 1949 her imports amounted to 391 million dollars. But the devaluation of the £, which lowers its value from 1,450 yen to only 1008, should lower the costs to Japan of her purchases from the sterling area. The possibility of devaluing the yen from the present 360 to the U.S. dollar is now being studied (America is still Japan's biggest customer and supplier). The whole question of exchange is under review. But a total of U.S. dollars 679 millions worth of exports for 1950-51 is the programme, and there seems no reason why it should not be reached.

❖ ❖ ❖

TEXTILES still form the largest part of Japan's exports, amounting to nearly half the expected total (U.S. dollars 577 millions) for 1949-50. This is the industry which General MacArthur favours as the quickest means of recovery for Japan; and she is to receive 500,000 bales of American raw cotton in the year ending next June 30. She still, however, has only 3,630,000 spindles installed compared with 12,000,000 before the war; and not all of these are yet operating.

What is remarkable is the output of pig iron, steel and machinery. This begins with the coal mines, the restoration of which has been a "top priority" with the result that coal production in 1948 reached 33.7 million tons or 24 per cent. above 1947. Japan exported 1,190,000 tons of coal in 1948; but her imports of coal and coke from U.S.A. and Canada were only 1,170,000 tons. The monthly output of coal per miner had risen by last April to 7.37 tons, or 26 per cent. more than in the same month in 1947.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE native output of iron ore rose by only 18 per cent. last year above that of 1947 (Japan's own deposits of iron ore are notoriously poor) but she got 550,000 tons of ore (mostly from South China) and her production of pig iron rose from 360,000 tons in 1947 to 805,000 tons last year. Between the same years her production of crude steel (helped by scrap) increased from 936,000 to 1,705,000 tons.

The result is visibly shown in foreign contracts which Japan has recently secured. Thus a trade mission to Argentina, Brazil, Peru, Uruguay, Venezuela and Mexico resulted in agreements for 83 million U.S. dollars' worth of exports by Japan to these countries; against 74 million dollars' worth of imports from them; and these Japanese exports include rolling stock for railways, mining, spinning and agricultural machinery as well as textiles.

❖ ❖ ❖

IN India machinery for cottage and small-scale industries ordered by the Government from Japan began to arrive last month; and several Japanese technicians have been engaged for a training and work centre near New Delhi in which the use of these machines will be taught.

Motor vehicles built in Japan in 1948 numbered 20,000, including 127 buses; in 1937 (the year of Japan's invasion of China) she built only 11,000 trucks and no buses. She hopes before long to be exporting motor-cars.

Most striking performance of all was Japan's capture, in August, of the order for all the locomotives needed for Siam's railways, against keen British competition. The Japanese tender (under pressure, it is said, from General MacArthur) undercut the British by 25 per cent.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE increasing production of soda ash and caustic soda—more than double last year that of 1947, though still far below the pre-war figure—is also notable, while most of the light industries—paper, bamboo, glass and ceramics—show an upward move. A very good Japanese miniature camera of the Leica pattern was favourably reviewed by a British photographic paper some weeks ago.

Besides the trade agreements mentioned, Japan has since April signed others with Pakistan, France and Finland. In the near future it is expected that Japanese trade missions will be sent out round the world, as a preliminary to establishing trade agencies in some dozen of the world's chief cities, as decided on by General MacArthur.

❖ ❖ ❖

ONE question much exercising the Japanese business world is that of trade with Communist China. General MacArthur is said not to object to barter arrangements; one such, for a large supply of peanuts from China against motor vehicles from Japan, was reported in August; and some parties of Chinese business men have recently arrived in Japan. China and Japan are obviously designed by nature to deal with each other. But what politics may do to hamper nature's designs has still to be shown.

The two weakest points in Japan's position are (1) shipping: the war left her with only 450,000 tons of ocean-going ships, most of which are still lying idle; and (2) food, which represents about a third of her imports. In this respect, the loss of Formosa, Korea and Manchuria has dealt her a heavy blow.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE question of dumping is too big and complicated for treatment here. One fact, however, cannot be ignored. Japan's population today is nearly 80,000,000. The annual increase is at least 1,000,000, possibly 1,500,000. And there is no outlet anywhere by emigration while Japan's own islands are, for practical purposes (after deducting uncultivatable mountains) no bigger than Great Britain, already sufficiently crowded with 50 millions.

The tendency in Japan to drive down wages and conditions of labour to the scale that excited so much adverse comment abroad before the war seems inevitable.

Letters To The Editor

IMPORTANCE OF PUBLIC SCHOOL EDUCATION

Sir: With burning enthusiasm I read the recent editorials which appeared in your paper a few days ago regarding the revision of Ontario's system of education.

By the abolition of High School Entrance examinations one might think that the standard of education is being lowered; this I sincerely hope is not so. As like most students I dislike examinations, but now that I'm on the threshold of graduation I've taken a different view as they seem the only way to make one study. How often would one review a course in History or any other subject if it was not being followed by an examination? I'm afraid that there would be very few, if at all any, who would spend the time and effort to review the previous work. Certain subjects, however, could be taught without an examination in view. These are languages as they are a building up of what one already knows. In order to understand today's work one must know yesterday's, thus it is necessary to keep brushing up vocabulary and constructions.

I firmly believe that Public School education is a very important stage in schooling and unfortunately it is the one which is handled the most poorly. The secret of success is knowing how to study and it is, therefore, in those early grades of school that one should be taught how to study and get along temporarily by himself without being continually spoon-fed.

When I entered High School, my chief criticism with Public School was the teaching of English. Although it is a shame, I can truthfully say that I've learnt far more English through my study of French and Latin than by the actual studying of English itself. I refer chiefly to grammar and vocabulary and not necessarily to literature. I fully realize that perhaps Public School is far too early to introduce a foreign language but surely with the introduction of this new system a revision of subjects in the junior grades could be made.

Perhaps there are numerous people who cannot see any value whatsoever by studying a foreign language as it will probably never be used in later life. True this is. But tell me, does one ever use his physical training which one has taken at school? Of course not; yet these physical exercises helped to develop their bodies. Similarly language study is mental exercises and helps to develop one's mind.

Another subject which creates a great deal of controversy is Geometry. Evidently to some, it is useless; but indirectly Geometry is of great importance. Its merits are numerous but the fundamental purpose is to enable one to think for himself, draw his own conclusions and be less ready to accept the opinions of others.

To some who have never taken an academic course and thus refuse to listen to its merits, how clearly their philosophy is summed up in the following quotation: "He who knows not, knows not that he knows not." Incidentally, it is interesting to note that the farther one goes in school the more one finds out he doesn't know.

Since I am not an authority on education, I trust that I'm not developing any prejudiced ideas about primary and junior grades of school. I am merely endeavoring to explain my conception of Public School and the results it has produced on me.

Yours sincerely
A FIFTH FORMER.

ANOTHER LANDLORD'S COMPLAINT

Sir: After reading some letters in the Examiner, I would like to write one.

We bought a house and lot almost five years ago, and as far as the law goes, we are not able to have possession of our own property. In some cases, rent control is O.K. but we bought this house with intention of doing some repairs and painting, to have a homey place to live. We have had court orders, but without any result. There have been windows broken, boards chopped up for fire wood, which belong to property. The lawns and garden are just let grow wild. There are weeds and burrs there three feet high. When there's anything said about it, they just ignore us. They won't do anything about it. The children are let run wild and they haven't made any attempt to do any fixing to the damage that has been done.

They have been told to clean up the dirt around there, but they don't pay any attention. Is that the law? Where tenants are not made to pay for damages to property?

A TAXPAYER.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them. And devils also came out of many, crying out, and saying, Thou art Christ the Son of God. And he rebuking them suffered them not to speak: for they knew that he was Christ.

And when it was day, he departed, and went into a desert place: and the people sought him, and came unto him, and stayed him, that he should not depart from them. And he said unto them, I must preach the kingdom of God to other cities also: for therefore am I sent. And he preached in the synagogues of Galilee. (Luke 4: 14, 40-44.)

❖ ❖ ❖

And it came to pass also on another sabbath, that he entered into the synagogue and taught: and there was a man whose right hand was withered. And the scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether he would heal on the sabbath day; that they might find an accusation against him.

But he knew their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Rise up, and stand forth in the midst. And he arose and stood forth. Then said Jesus unto them, I will ask you one thing; Is it lawful on the sabbath days to do good, or to do evil? to save life, or to destroy it?

And looking round about them all, he said unto the man, Stretch forth thy hand. And he did so: and his hand was restored whole as the other. (Luke 6: 6-10.)

Form-Filling Gone Mad

"Scratch Pad" has recorded several examples of the ludicrous extent to which form-filling has grown under statism in the United Kingdom. Now we are slightly stunned by a statement made by Walter Chamblin, Jr., vice-president of the U.S. National Association of Manufacturers, in a speech to a hardware association convention at Atlantic City.

Mr. Chamblin was opposing the trend toward the setting up of the Social Welfare State advocated by President Truman; referred to the terrific cost and waste of time caused by some things already introduced. He said that in connection with dental work being done for ex-soldiers, the dentist has to fill out a form containing 510 question. Even in cases where all the questions don't apply it takes the dentist 15 minutes to fill out the form, though he may only be doing a 10 minute X-ray job.

Mr. Chamblin shuddered to think of what the result would be were similar measures expanded to the medical profession, for State medicine to a population of 148 million people.—Toronto Financial Post.

Sails For Canada

LONDON, Nov. 15—(CP)—The Daily Graphic's column, "Inside Information," said today that a Dr. Novack, described as a Czech delegate to the Inter-Allied Reparations Agency in Brussels, has sailed for Canada instead of returning home to Prague as ordered. The column gave no source for the report, and no additional details.

OUT OF THE PAST—These ruins, on Cornwallis Island, 1,200 miles north of Churchill, Man., are the remains of the whalebone walls of houses built some 1,000 years ago by Thule (pronounced Tooley) Eskimos after their long trek from the Western Arctic. Only the whalebone and the rock floors—shown in this photo by the National Museum of Canada—remain. The ruins, discovered almost 100 years ago, were studied last summer by archeologists of the Museum and the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, DC.

ANCIENT RUINS—Dr. Henry P. Collins, Jr., of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, DC, headed a group of archeologists who last summer investigated Eskimo relics —up to 1,000 years old—on Cornwallis Island, inside the Arctic Circle. The study was a joint undertaking by the Institution and the National Museum of Canada. This photo by John P. Michea of the Museum shows Dr. Collins unearthing the stone floor of one of the stone-and-whalebone houses. Pieces of wood in the ruins suggest trees once grew on the now-barren island and carvings indicate caribou once thrived there. In the right foreground is the entrance to the house. Along the wall at right is the stone sleeping platform.

Pilots Walk Out On Investigation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP) —An angry walkout by representatives of the Airline Pilots' Association (AFL) Monday marked the end of five-day federal hearings into the 55-death collision between an Eastern Airlines passenger plane and a Bolivian P-3 fighter Nov. 1.

The six-man investigating panel of the civil aeronautics board, which has been conducting the hearings, recessed indefinitely shortly after the APA group strode out.

The panel's report on the disaster—worst in civil airline history —is not expected to be ready for two or three months.

APA representatives took a walk in obvious disgruntlement over the board's policy of limiting oral testimony to the crash itself. The board ruled that any statements widening the scope of the inquiry to cover a general survey of air safety regulations could be submitted for the record, but not read aloud.

Actress Admits Dead Man Father

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15—(AP) Actress Ann Rutherford said Monday night that an elderly man who died Nov. 5 in Seattle was her father.

"My mother was able to verify that he was her former husband," Miss Rutherford said.

The elderly man penned a death-bed note for hospital attendants in which he identified himself as John Dufferin Rutherford, 68, a former Metropolitan opera singer and father of the film actress. Rutherford was forced to write a note because a cancer had made him mute.

When first informed, Miss Rutherford, a native of Toronto, discounted the statement, saying her father would have been about 55 years old. She added that her parents separated when she was a child and that she toured with her mother, Mrs. Lucille Mansfield, before entering the movies.

HE HELD IT TOO!—Calgary Stampeders' outstanding end, Ezzard (Sugarfoot) Anderson, latches on to a pass from quarterback Keith Spaith literally by a finger in the last game of a two-game, total-point series which saw the Calgary team cop the Western Interprovincial Rugby Football Union title by a single point. Anderson, wearing a double zero on his sweater, didn't have a chance to break away for a major on this play. Saskatchewan Rough Riders' quarterback, Doug Belden (12) closed in on him from behind. The Roughies won the game 9-4 but lost the series 21-22.

Seelie Samara and Hi Lee have been rematched in the main pro mat bout at the Brock Arena this Thursday night, and it should be a sizzling scrap. They staged a wild brawl here last week, with Referee Bunny Dunlop disqualifying the chunky Negro after Seelie—infuriated at illegal tactics Lee was getting away with—floored both Lee and the ref. He was holding his own in hot going with the 290-pound giant and a big crowd thoroughly enjoyed it all but the finish. Wladek Kowalski, large and handsome Polack, faces Goon Henry in the semi-final this week (the Goon always being bad medicine), while Al Korman has the prelim spot with Bill Stack. A promising program.

At the annual meeting of the Provincial Women's Softball Union, Mrs. William (Dot) Millar of Peterborough was re-elected treasurer for 1950. Her second year on that job, and her sister—Gladys Mortimer—previously was president of the Union. Mrs. Millar's son, Jim, plays for the junior "B" Oddfellows, following in the puck footsteps of three uncles with Legion and Petes, Doug, Jack and Freddy Mortimer. An athletic family. Heading the PWSU this coming year will be Betty Macleod of Welland, vice-presidents being Mae Brown of Galt, Gerry Copps of Hamilton and Hilda Smith of Toronto, with Gladys Ross of Toronto the secretary. Local lasses' loop is affiliated with the PWSU.

From A One-Pipper

Scribe George Carver pens an open letter in the Belleville sheet to us, starting off: "Dear Sgt. Major, (brother, de we love that! We ranked the guy in Petawawa, but in the army alone) you sent a hockey team here on Nov. 11 and we took 'em to our bosoms but were forced by sheer necessity to send them back defeated, though not disgraced. It's been a long time since we of the Quinte district have had the pleasure of seeing a Peterborough team leave without the fire and the glory of victory." And he chuckles his way along for several paras, discussing the Diesels' close exhibition win o'er the Petes there last Friday. Ah, well, let him have his brief day of triumph.

* * * * * *

Surprisingly enough, that same edition (published on Saturday) carried no word of the double victory of PCVS Friday over Belleville teams in COSSA semi-final playoffs. Not a peep on games that really counted. But a hefty rave o'er an exhibition joust. Tch, tch, George, to what have the mighty fallen... However, the Petes promise to avenge that loss when Diesels play the return exhibition here tomorrow night, and it no doubt will be a rousing struggle, with no holds barred. The bard of Bella Villa hopes Diesels will be grouped with Legion and Petes—and he says Belleville will have but one senior "B" squad this winter, a strong one. He'd like also to see the Quinte junior "B" club grouped with Peterborough.

Red Makes The Grade

Red Sullivan, local junior puck ace who went to St. Kitts—and led the "A" loop in scoring—has signed with Boston Bruins and will see action tomorrow night. Great stuff, and his friends here will be pulling for the Ashburnham redhead. George is a real comer and, even if he isn't ready to go all season in NHL play, he'll be with the pro Hershey outfit and eventualy hold down a spot with Bruins. He might even do it his first year up, though he's not quite 20 yet. Frank Buckland points out that the pro clubs turn back about $500 to amateur clubs for each amateur taken into the moneyed ranks. St. Kitts will get the bigger part of it in Red's case, but the local junior "B" Oddfellows will have a legitimate claim to part. However, that's not settled till about a year after the pro contract is signed.

* * * * * *

A quick glance at the grid scene. PCVS juniors are in COSSA finals this week-end at Port Colborne, whilst St. Catharines play PCVS seniors in the COSSA final at 2.30 Saturday in the Oval. Oshawa Raiders and Sarnia tied 1-1 in ORFU intermediate "B" final play and settle it the end of the week in Sarnia. Dundas beat Cobourg's Ghosts 15-6 to open intermediate "A" finals, and the return tilt in Cobourg on Saturday should be a swell scrap. Alouettes should take Hamilton handily on Sunday, even without Reese and Anderson—two of their seven imports having to be dropped in CRU playdowns. McGill and Western will have their big sawoff Saturday in Toronto. Calgary Stampeders have 28 players ready for the east-west final in Toronto on Nov. 26. An exhibition tilt here yester aft with St. Peter's defeating Lakefield High by a 15-5 count.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

An open revolt against Commission Abe J. Greene of the National Boxing Association faded Monday and Greene was given a unanimous vote of confidence.

The smouldering internal dissension burst into the open after Greene completed his commissioner's report to the opening session of the NBA's annual convention at Miami Beach, Fla.

Spearheaded by the Illinois and Colorado delegations Greene was accused of "grabbing too much publicity" and conducting NBA business without the consent of other organization officers.

Greene offered to resign. He told the convention he had heard seven States would withdraw from the NBA if he was re-elected commissioner.

"I'm not going to be the cause of the NBA breaking up," Greene said.

As tempers flared, reporters were asked to leave the meeting. After adjournment, reporters were told by executive secretary Harvey Miller of Washington, D. C., that Greene was given a unanimous, rising vote of confidence.

More than 33 entries are expected for the third annual Ontario Schoolboys' Bonspiel, to be held at the Galt and Guelph Curling Clubs Feb. 2-3. Bob Sutherland of Guelph told a meeting of the executive Monday that letters will go out to all high schools in the province this week with information about the bonspiel.

Joe Louis, retired heavyweight boxing champion, dropped aggressive Johnny Shkor of Boston for three nine-counts during their lively 10-round no-decision boxing exhibition Monday night before a cheering 8,471 crowd at the Boston Garden.

The 35-year-old Louis, weighing 229¾ pounds, had the 220-pound Shkor, six years his junior down once in the second round and twice in the third. Shkor dropped under two-fisted barrages to the head and body but never appeared in dire distress. Twice the bell intervened before Louis could resume his savage attack.

But after the sixth round, during which Louis suffered a slight scrape near his right eye, the retired titlist started slowing down. From then until the 10th, Shkor landed frequently and several of his blows to the head appeared to pack plenty of steam.

Several changes in baseball rules will be up for acceptance or rejection here by organized baseball's rules committee at Cincinnati Wednesday.

One provides that a base runner shall not be automatically out if he is hit by a batted ball while standing on a base. Warren Giles, general manager of Cincinnati Reds said the rule still would hold if the player were running.

Another recommendation would do away with the so-called curfew law about not standing an inning in a night game after 12:50 a.m.

Stakes for the 1951 running of the King's Plate at Toronto's Woodbine Track are boosted to $15,000-added, plus the 50 guineas from the King, the Ontario Hockey Club announced at Toronto Monday.

The increase of $5,000 makes the 1⅛ mile race for Canadian-bred three-year-olds the richest in Canada.

The jockey club also ruled that horses entered in the race will no longer be permitted to train in the United States as three-year-olds. Since this rule was relaxed five years ago, four of the five winners were trained under better winter conditions in the US.

Horses entered in the race must still be Canadian-owned and bred in Canada. They are not permitted to race as three-year-olds until the Plate trial.

The condition of Eddie Sandford, Boston Bruins' centre, was described as "very good" Monday night at Boston's Somerville Hospital where he was operated on for a severed achilles tendon suffered Sunday night in the Bruins-Toronto hockey game.

Dr. Thomas Kelly, Bruins team physician, said, however, that the 21-year-old pivot man "might conceivably be out for the rest of the season."

Sandford was hurt in the opening period when he collided with Bill Barilko in the centre zone. The injury was located above his left heel between the shin guard and heel plate.

St. Peter's Win Grid Tilt Over Lakefield

Expecting a thorough trouncing at the hands of the St. Peter's High School football team, Lakefield High came close to taking the Peterborough boys Monday afternoon at Nicholls Oval.

In a rough, tough game full of fumbles and interceptions the St. Pete's crew put across two touches in the final frame to win 15-5.

A lapse in play of two weeks for the St. Peter's High team and nearly a month for the Lakefield squad took all the polish away, leaving a dull finish. Passing, kicking, plunging and blocking were far below average for both teams.

Punches, holding, and tripping mingled with fumbles and interceptions featured in the first half of the game with both teams drawing equal penalties in yardage and each fumbling.

Both teams had opportunities to score but just at the last moment an intercepted pass or fumble prevented either from breaking the goose-egg.

Harry O'Neill along with little Johnny Armstrong, the St. Pete's quarterback shared the starry honors for their offensive work in the last half of the game. Calberry and Coyle were the pick of the Lakefield High boys.

Play jostled from one end of the field to the other in a wild first half with plenty of rough play and poor ball handling. Two minutes of play in the second half passed before Calberry intercepted at St. Pete's at the Lakefield 45. He scampered up the side of the field flanked on each side with two St. Pete's tacklers who dwarfed him. Just as he crossed the touchline the Peterborough boys managed to tackle him. The convert was missed.

First Score

Harry O'Neill played a large part in getting the first St. Pete's touch late in the third as he plunged once for eight yards, then received a 15-yard pass from Armstrong, finally received another 18-yard pass to go over easily for a touch. The attempted pass for a point failed. Early in the fourth Picard shook off two tacklers who managed to squeeze through the St. Pete's line. He faded back to the Lakefield 23 where he flipped to Tom Cavanagh for the second major score. This time the extra point pass was knocked down. On the last play of the game after St. Pete's recovered a Lakefield fumble on the Lakefield 5 Johnny Armstrong hit J. Jones with a pass for the third touch. His attempted kick for point was low. St. Peter's High School took both of the exhibition games from Lakefield having won in mid-season by a score of 35-5.

Lineups:

Lakefield High School—flying wing, Sloan; halves, Calberry, Coyle, Blake; quarter, McCracken; snap, Burger; insides, Campbell, Pearson; middles, G. Burger, Pearson; outsides, Knox, Wilford; alternates, Wingett, Darling, Pue, Charlton.

Greenberg Promoted

CLEVELAND, Nov. 15 (CP)—Hank Greenberg is scheduled to move up from vice-president to general manager of Cleveland Indians once the ball club changes owners, the Cleveland News reports today. And Bill Veeck, the paper says, expects to sell the Tribe tomorrow or Thursday to a syndicate headed by insurance man Ellis W. Ryan of Cleveland. The News says Veeck is selling the Indians for $2,200,000.

Gilzenberg Ace In Drawing Newark Crowds

NEWARK, N.J., Nov. 15 (AP)—How can a wrestling show draw 8,300 persons in the same town where 300-400 was a normal crowd at an International League baseball game?

For the answer to that one, consult Willie Gilzenberg, one-time boxing manager, boxing promoter and now a pillar of the wrestling business.

Gilzenberg, who is almost never at a loss for words, advances several reasons why his match pitting Gene (Mr. America) Stanlee against Antonio Rocco drew more than 8,000 last Oct. 28, while Newark's Bears had crowds in the hundreds.

"If you have what the customers want, you have to turn them away," he said. "Guys come to the ticket window at my wrestling match and say, 'what the—— am I doing here? My wife (or girl friend) wants to see these bums—so give me two tickets'."

"Another thing is showmanship," Willie continued. "One time I'm in Boston with my wrestler, Tony Galento. The bout is a little dull, so I jump into the ring and take a poke at one of the biggest gorillas in the wrestling business. Of course I don't actually hit him, because I'm not crazy, but the crowd thought it was wonderful."

A native of this industrial-shopping centre city just across the meadows from New York, Willie claims that his formula includes an ability to "feel the pulse of the people in Newark." He pointed out that Parke Carroll, Newark Bears' general manager, was greatly handicapped in his efforts to get out patrons because of his newness here. Carroll was transferred from Kansas City to Newark by the parent New York Yankees.

Curling News

By Herb Martin

The curling schedule got away last evening and judging from the scores handed in, we would say that the seven months' layoff has done no harm to curlers. All the games played, at the early hour, were close and one game, Williamson and Wiliams, went into overtime.

The ladies also got away to a good start, all of their games that were scheduled were played.

We wish to remind curlers once more—the Neill trophy bonspiel begins on Tuesday, Nov. 22 and entries close Thursday, Nov. 17. Up until late Monday evening there were only 35 rinks entered or half the club. A lot of the boys are going to be disappointed.

Today's thought—Man learns little from victory, but much from defeat.

Men's Scores

F. Batten 8, Dr. W. D. Clark 4, T. Doughty 7, R. F. Downey 9, G. Green 10, K. Hamley 12, V. Selkirk 5, O. Steer 8 E. Williams 8, R. Williamson 9.

George (Red) Sullivan Signs As Pro With Boston Bruins

Word from Boston last evening stated that George (Red) Sullivan, Peterborough hockeyist, who has been playing junior "A" for St. Catharines Teepees, has been signed to a professional contract by the Bruins of the NHL. The Bruins' office issued the report that Sullivan would take the place of the injured centre Eddie Sandford in Wednesday's game against the Rangers in New York.

George Sullivan is five feet nine, 165 pounds, and will be 20 years old in December. A left-hand shot, he is first string centre for St. Catharines and the leading junior "A" scorer so far this season. He was born and raised in Ashburnham, son of Mrs. R. Sullivan—and the late Jack Sullivan—of Rogers St. He started in school hockey with the Immaculate Conception School in Ashburnham, later playing in the wartime minor loop, which was coached by Petes' players, then had a year in OHA junior "B" with Lakefield, moving back to the junior "B" Oddfellows here before going to St. Catharines two years ago.

Fine Forward

Sullivan is a starry young forward, playing a hustling-up scrappy brand of hockey, with plenty of speed and conditioning. He also played junior baseball and senior "B" softball here last summer, returning to Peterborough each summer. A brother, Bill, plays hockey, baseball and softball here, also. George is the third local boy in the last two decades to make the NHL, Bill Calladine and Jake Wade being with Boston for a time during the war.

It is rumored that the working agreement Boston has with St. Catharines is likely to be broken any time, now, with Barrie taking over the Teepees' spot in the Bruin camp. Sullivan was on the Hershey (belonging to Boston) list last April and the pros had until Nov. 15 this season to call him up, permitting St. Catharines to apply for a replacement.

How It Works

Each year, the professional clubs turn over approximately $31,000 to the CAHA to recompense for taking up amateur pucksters. Of this, some $9,000 goes to the various associations to sponsor minor hockey, etc. The balance of $22,000 is distributed about one year later to the various clubs for which these amateurs played before turning professional, provided these clubs still operate. St. Catharines would have a claim to the approximate $500 Sullivan' step-up would bring (if he is a signed pro), the Teepees perhaps getting four shares. Another share might go to the local Oddfellows. This is a hurried estimate by Frank Buckland of the OHA, who points out that all factors have to be decided by the association officials before any recompense is made.

ON BRUINS—George (Red) Sullivan, Peterborough puck ace, who has been playing for St. Catharines Teepees in junior "A," has been signed by Boston Bruins of the NHL and is expected to play centre for them tomorrow night.

Alouette Loss of 2 Stars Makes Tigers Very Happy

By JACK MITCHELL,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The news of the two United States imports that Montreal Alouettes must drop for the Eastern Canada football final hasn't done anything to lower Hamilton Tigers' confidence of pulling an upset.

Alouettes disclosed Monday night that Chuck Anderson, big Negro end, and block-buster Bronco Reese are through under Canadian Rugby Union rules allowing only five American imports from here in. The news was welcomed by Jack McGill, Tigers' president.

"I'm glad that big fellow (Reese) won't be hammering at us," he said. "That Anderson is a great football player too.'

Alouettes still have a full house of imports to throw at the Tigers in the sudden death clash at Montreal Sunday for the right to meet Calgary Stampeders for the Grey Cup. Eligible are Frank Filchock, Virgil Wagner, Herb Trawick, Eagle Keys and Chet Cladchuk.

Only Five Imports

Under CRU rules, only five imports can be registered and they must be declared by the Sept. 1 residence deadline. The other two were permitted to play in the Big Four under league rules permitting seven.

Anderson was one of the standouts of Calgary's 12-7 cup triumph over Ottawa Rough Riders last season. He was the only import who didn't return to Stamps.

A consistent ground-gainer this season, Reese was an in and outer with the Alouettes last year That might explain why he wasn't chosen by Sept. 1 as one of the quota of five.

Coach Lew Hayman explained in Montreal that he based his nominations in relation to possible home-bred replacements as the situation looked at that time.

Haven't His Worries

The Tigers haven't any of Hayman's worries about replacing imports. They only used four throughout their Ontario Union campaign. One was playing coach Merle Hapes, the former New York Giants' running back who is on the sidelines for the season from a shoulder separation suffered against Sarnia Imperials on Saturday.

The other three all ready to play Sunday, are: Bill Damiano, 185-pound end who played with Hamilton Wildcats last season; Rube Ainsworth, 19-year-old, 203 pound end whom Hapes brought from his Mississippi high school team of last season, and Jim Caine 25, former Oregon State backfielder.

Nor do Lear's Stampeders have to worry about ineligible imports. They only used their quota of five in winning the Western Canada crown—quarterback Keith Spaith ends Woody Strode and Ezzrett (Sugarfoot) Anderson, tackle Johnny Aguirre and inside Riley (Rattler) Matheson.

Alan McFater KO's Juan Manuel In 4th

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP) — Alan McFater of Toronto, making his first professional start, Monday night knocked out Juan Manuel of Cleveland in the fourth round of a scheduled eight-round lightweight boxing bout.

McFater weighed 132 pounds Manuel scaled 128.

The Toronto boy put Manuel away before a crowd of 5,000 at 1.29 of the fourth with two left hooks to the stomach followed by a smash to the head. Manuel was down for seven in the third round after winning the first two rounds on points.

In the catchweight semi-final, Billy Fifield, 160 pounds, of Toronto, won an eight-round decision over Ed Zastre, 172½ pounds, of Winnipeg, winner of the recent heavyweight tournament in the same ring.

The verdict was not unanimous. One of the judges created a split decision by giving the nod to the Zastre corner.

Robert Walker Feeling Fine Since Treatment

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 15 (AP).—"I'm feeling fine," says Robert Walker, now working on his second film since his mental treatment at the Menninger Clinic in Wichita, Kans.

"I plan to go back to the clinic," he remarked. "Perhaps when I finish 'The Skipper Surprises His Wife.' That would be in about two months."

Walker said his return does not mean a "refresher course" because he is officially well. "I just want to go back and see everybody. It's a wonderful place. It's like taking a university course. They work on you, but you work, too."

Tuesday Topics

Fred Zinnemann is reviving his plans to make a film in Israel after he directs "The Men." The director, who first scored with "The Search," spent three months in Israel during the Arab-Jewish fighting.

They are calling Columbia Studios the West Coast branch of the Mayo Clinic. "No Sad Songs" concerns a woman with cancer; "The Killer That Stalked New York" is about a smallpox epidemic; next comes "The Unclean," about leprosy. Instead of "Quiet!" the directors are shouting "Scalpel!"

Joan Leslie reasons that she wants four children: "One would not be enough, two would fight, three would be confusing, but four would be just right." The only thing holding her back is the husband, whom she has not found yet.

Capsule Review

"All the King's Men" (Col.) is a thinly disguised life of Huey Long. It is a hard tale, filled with hard people; there is not a pleasant character in the lot. This may make the film unpalatable for some movie goers, but many will be fascinated with the sordid story of demagoguery. Broderick Crawford makes a strong impression as the demagogue, supported by John Ireland, Joanne Dru and John Derek. Strong stuff, aided by great photography.

Shinwell Sure of Win

LONDON, Nov. 15—(Reuters)—War Minister Emanuel Shinwell Monday night estimated the Labor Government will be returned with a majority of 80 to 100 seats at the next general election. He said the government's policy of full employment was among the factors which he thought would carry it through at the general election.

Beauty Unpopular

DIJON, France, Nov. 15—(Reuters)—When an unidentiffed beauty won the title of Queen at the local carnival here, the disgruntled Dijon crowd tried to strip off her clothing, it was reported Monday. The local crowd claimed the queen had been specially imported from another district and her election "framed." Officials succeeded in hustling the queen to safety.

Winchell's Mother Dies

NEW YORK, Nov. 15—(AP)—Walter Winchell's mother plunged to death Monday night from the 10th floor of a hospital where she was under treatment. The official report said Mrs. Jennie Winchell, 77, "jumped or fell." Mrs. Winchell had entered hospital for an operation and was suffering from a heart ailment.

Ship Total Wreck

VANCOUVER, Nov. 15 (CP)—The coastal ship Chelohsin was declared "a total wreck" Monday and will be scrapped. The 1,134-ton passenger ship ran aground in dense fog eight days ago a mile off the entrance to Vancouver Harbor. No one was injured.

CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN—These pups caused quite a stir in Vancouver. Veterinary surgeons say eight is the average Collie litter; 17 is the record. Mother of these 12 is Lady the Fourth; the father is Dunstrae's Timothy. They are owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall.

Many Canadians Approve Aims of Communists

Tomorrow's men will face a world vastly different than the present one, Stanley A. Darling, a past president of the Lions Club, told the Rotary Club at its weekly meeting Monday. His topic was "The Nature of Human Nature."

This new world he described to the Rotarians as a world of technology and business and a world where only trained ability can thrive and grow. The need for leadership in the new world would be great, he added.

Service clubs, such as the Lions and Rotary Clubs, will have the opportunity to extend to the community, city and nation that leadership which came from men who gave preference to spiritual rather than material things of life, said Mr. Darling.

Here in Canada, he said, there are forces at work that would change the whole picture. Referring to the speech of Foreign Minister Vishinsky to reporters on the anniversary of the Red revolution, Mr. Darling said the missing link to Mr. Vishinsky's beliefs will come when his Russo-American sleeping friendship is awakened. That day will come, he added, when each country is not interfering with the private affairs of the other.

Though the Soviet Government was established in Russia in 1917, after the Bolshevist revolution, said Mr. Darling, Britain did not give full recognition to it until 1927 and the United States in 1933. Even then, Mr. Darling explained, Roosevelt laid down stern conditions, one of which was "Each government agreed to respect the territorial integrity of the other and not interfere in the internal affairs of the other." Yet Communism continues to spread throughout North America, he added.

To prove his point, Mr. Darling said that more than 30,000 Canadians voted in the last federal election for professed Communists. In one municipal election, he added, 43,000 Canadians voted for a known Communist.

Sympathetic To Reds

All this points to the fact that many Canadians, who if they do not hold membership in the Communist party, are at least sympathetic to the aims of the Communists.

"We, leaders of this generation and parents of the next, will be blessed or cursed by the future generations by the choice of road we take."

Mr. Darling added that if the present generation stands idle and permits aesthetic Communism to force or lead to slavery the fault will not be the fault of statesmen but of the individuals.

Turning to another side of human nature, Mr. Darling pointed out that the population of the world at the birth of Christ was only 54,000,000 and since then has multiplied 50 times. He said it is estimated the population of the world in 70 years would be double what it is at the present time.

Mr. Darling added that he hoped the United Nations would overleap boundaries of language and latitude, prejudice and hate, creed and training, and build a new world on high principles.

Reminding the Rotarians that it is for the living to keep faith with the multitude of brave men who made the supreme sacrifice, he told them that the faith could only be kept by all working together.

Mr. Darling was introduced by Gordon Monkman and thanked by Claude V. Elliott.

Help Germans If They Continue Liberty Fight

BERLIN, Nov. 15 (AP)—State Secretary Dean Acheson told the Germans Monday the United States would support their battle for liberty just as long as they continue fighting for it.

The United States secretary delivered this message to Soviet-surrounded Berlin at a press conference held soon after he arrived here by plane from Frankfurt. Tonight Acheson concludes his four-day visit to Germany and returns by plane to Washington.

Acheson called the people of western Berlin the "living symbol of continual effort to nurture and develop liberty."

He also told the press conference he had been "constantly irritated" by expressions of opinion in America that U.S. policy had failed in China.

"It was not a failure of American policy," the top U.S. diplomat said. "It was a failure of Chinese policy in China."

But of both the Chinese and German problems, Acheson said:

Must Help Themselves

"All the help in the world from the United States will not help those who will not help themselves. The United States is determined to help those who help themselves."

The U.S. secretary said he was looking forward to renewing an old acquaintance with Gen. Vassily Chuikov, the chief of the Soviet control commission. But in response to a question, Acheson said he saw no immediate prospect of four-power meetings on the unification of Germany.

World diplomatic problems today fall into two general categories, Acheson said:

1. Those problems created by various Soviet-led "thrusts" which seek to interfere with the course of events in other lands.

2. Those problems, such as economic ills, which would exist regardless of the Soviet Union.

Soviet thrusts, Acheson commented, "must be met." He did not elaborate further.

VOL. XCIX. No. 114 — TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1949

Stony Lake Road Be Completed Before Weekend

Finishing touches are being put to the new Stony Lake Road, long advocated by residents of that region. The new road stretches from Hall's Glen to Clarina, a distance of about five miles.

Total cost to the County of Peterborough will be about $2,000, John D. Kean, County Engineer and Road Superintendent, told the Examiner today.

It is expected that the final load of gravel will be dumped on the surface tonight. The 50-foot reinforced concrete bridge spanning the continuation of Indian River between Stony and White Lakes will be completed Wednesday night. And traffic should be using the road freely by Thursday.

Work began on the project about the first of July and it has since employed an average of two dozen men.

Mr. Kean said the purpose of the new road was to eliminate many of the jogs and winds in the old one. Altogether it will cut off about half a mile.

The Department of Highways and Public Works financed 100 per cent of the cost of the road, 80 per cent of the bridge at Gilchrist's Park, and matched dollar for dollar the purchase of the 66-foot right-of-way by the County.

Part of the road followed the route of the old, but other parts had to be cut fresh through the bushland.

DISCUSS UE MATTERS

A membership meeting has been called by the UE at the Brock Street Summer Gardens tonight to discuss several matters of UE policy. They include: one, a roundup of the general strength of the union in Canada and how to immediately bring contract negotiations to a close, by C. S. Jackson; two, the possible prosecution of the Company for not implementing the Induction Motor Award; and three, to present formal charges against the Morton group, whom left wingers claim violated the obligations of office.

On the right hand side is a slot for a nickle. The stands are operated by storekeepers and permission to place them on the streets was granted by the city council. Local Juniors Place Second In Royal Judging

Donald Milburn, of Smith township, turned in the highest scoring card in the heavy horses class of the inter-county livestock judging competitions at the Royal Winter Fair Monday, in which the Peterborough team finished second, only five points behind Perth county, winners.

The Peterborough team was composed of Mr. Milburn, Lorne Pimmett, of Indian River, and Burritt Mann, of Bridgenorth.

Thirty-seven county teams, each of three junior farmers, competed for provincial honors, judging heavy horses, beef and dairy cattle, sheep and swine.

Perth county team compiled the highest score of 2,652 points. Peterborough was second with 2,647 points; Peel third, 2,629; Elgin 2,612; York 2,578; Durham 2,564.

The 37 teams of three men each, comprised 111 contestants. In the individual awards, R. J. Stewart, of Bolton, and Frank Stenger, of Inniskillen, Durham, tied for first honors with 933 points. Don Milburn, of Peterborough, was third, and Lorne Pimmett, of the local team, was sixth.

Mr. Stewart finished on top in the judging of dairy cattle and sheep.

Coach of the Peterborough team was Robert E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, who has been devoting much of his time to junior work since he joined Frank C. Paterson in the Department's extension program.

ALD. J. DOUGLAS MILLER

Two Aldermen In Field For Re-election

Ald. J. Douglas Miller and Ald. P. J. Anglesey have announced that they will accept nominations for re-election to the city council.

Two of the members are retiring from the service, Ald Dick Raine and Ald. Grant Miller.

The fifth of those whose two year terms are expiring at the end of the year is Ald. Hugh Waddell who said a few days ago that he was not yet decided whether he would be a candidate.

Ald. Waddell said he was not certain about matters affecting himself, and for the present he could not say definitely whether he would seek re-election.

Peterborough's municipal nominations are Friday, Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the city council chamber. They are for twelve posts: mayor, five aldermen, five members of the Board of Education and one vacancy on the Utilities Commission.

Mayor Swanston is offering himself for re-nomination, and whether he receives a second term by acclamation remains in the will of the municipal voters.

Two members of the Board of Education have announced their retirement. They are Mrs. F. W K. Harris, a former chairman, and Dr. H. G. Carleton. The other three of the five members whose mandates are running out and who will probably seek re-election are Albert Borland, G. Wilson Craw and Arthur Pitchford.

Mr. Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Utilities Commission, is expected to offer himself again with acceptance of nomination. The Commission is now completing probably the heaviest year's work in its long service to the public. And that observation applies with equal force to the two other administrative bodies, the Board of Education and city council.

Growth of Peterborough has imposed increased work on those in charge of municipal business, and has also required additional expenditure. The building activities in Ashburnham are second only in extent to the expansion in the south end that has carried rows of new dwellings to the place where the CNR crosses Erskine Ave.

These new houses are actually further west than is May's School. To most citizens it is a phenomenal development, and many of the houses are being occupied before the new streets are finished and surfaced.

Problems before the trustees of the peoples various properties, schools, utilities and the municipal estate cover a wide range of needs of a growing community. streets, sidewalks, sewers, water mains, schools, street lighting, boulevarding, and so on.

Both the Council and the Utilities Commission have reported recently that the pressure of demand has been lifting as their employees overtake projected works.

Preparing Estimates In Fall Permits More Experience Around City Council Table

By HARRY THEOBALD

This week's administrative lull at the city hall while aldermanic hounds are baying deer back in the north country invites a suggestion that the city council might relax its theory that it should not trespass on the business of its successor. It is not trespass if the council of one year tries to assist the next. One means of help could be a legacy of recommendation, particularly [illegible] proposed expenditure [illegible] new year. It is unlikely that the whole budget could be reviewed during the last six weeks of this year, but the affairs of some of the departments might be examined prospectively as a help to the incoming council.

All Have Experience

The financing of this year is fresh in the minds of the present ten members of the council and its mayor. All of them have had at least two years' experience. As a body they are better equipped to deal immediately with the city's business than is a new council, including the usual replacements. Ald. Dick Raine has announced his retirement after four years of service, and Ald. Grant Miller with two. They are going to be missing when the 1950 council sets to work on its budget in February, and they take with them an experience of expression and action that can hardly be acquired in two months.

Peterborough's system of electing five aldermen annually for two years provides a large measure of continuity of experience and of acquired information that tends to reduce dependence on the heads of departments.

That does not imply any reflection on the permanent staff It simply means that Ald. Raine, for example, has learned many of the details of the municipality's affairs which he did not know when he took office four years ago. Similarly it applies to Grant Miller, and as a fact it indicates an advantage of valedictory recommendations.

Another aspect of the proposal is that the continuing members of the council have to buckle down to budget-making eventually, and it is possible to do so tentatively now instead of waiting two or three months to get around to it as a primary of routine.

The program of the parks department could be considered in December just as efficiently as in February.

Fire Chief George Smith knows in December the needs of the fire department just as accurately as two months later. That appears to be true also of the health department, charity and welfare, market, municipal government and so on. Councils have been leaning backward in their respect for the principle of leaving full responsibility for the new year to its own council. That is the customary and proper attitude, but there is still something to be said of a policy of this year's council reviewing its affairs and drafting recommended financing for its successor.

Councillors know that they could lay out much of the work and spending for 1950. But precedent raised a deterring hand. That policy has come down through the years without change from the period of comparatively small expenditure for the city's annual requirements. Some council some time is going to begin in November the preparation of the budget and its successor will accept the proposals as the basis for determining the appropriations it will have to approve. New members would have ample opportunity for expressing themselves in the business of compiling the budget.

If procedure is fixed and static the financial needs of the city are not. According to the audited statement, the expenditures in the budget of 1940 amounted to $983,708.52; and the corresponding total in 1948 was $1,721,721.90. That increase recommends a change in determining the year's spending. It points to the value of the outgoing council's preparing a tentative budget to guide the new council.

Union-Raybestos Agree Contract Terms

A verbal agreement on the continuing contract between the Canadian Raybestos Co. and Local 527 UE has been reached, the Examiner was informed today.

The Company offer remained a "five cent package" but the split between the wage increase and the contributory hospitalization plan was changed.

Company officials say the verbal agreement calls for a four-cent wage boost and a one-cent contributory hospitalization and surgical plan. Previously the ratio was about three cents and two cents, respectively.

The Union rejected the original offer claiming that the wage offer, in particular, was too small.

A Conciliation Board recently recommended no wage increase, no cutting of the work week from a standard 45 to 40 hours with the same take-home pay, and it even recommended some of the currently-held union gains be withdrawn.

During the past two weeks there has been at least a couple of work stoppages at Raybestos, and a strike vote was taken by the UE membership. About 120 production workers would be affected.

Details of the new agreement have still to be drawn up and the ultimate document signed by the respective parties.

CCF Charges Employers Curb Workers' Politics

Employers at a Peterborough factory where there is no trade union organization, are interfering with the rights of their employees to take part in political activity, CCF members charged at a meeting of the Peterborough Association.

After discussing the issue the Association passed the following resolution:

"Peterborough CCF Association condemns the intimidation of employees by their employers for the purpose of prohibiting or limiting such employees' exercise and enjoyment of their duties and privileges as Canadian citizens and in particular interfering with their right to participate in political and trade union activity.

"The Association further urges the workers and others who may be subject to such intimidation to organize themselves into trade unions or other appropriate associations for their own protection as well as for the advancement of their interests in other directions."

Our Spotter Hunts Hunters, Finds Them Game For Game

By NICK NICKELS

HAULTAIN, Nov. 14—The best way to keep out of trouble, and out of shooting range in the deer-hunting country north of Haultain, is to stick to the Highway these days. You can see plenty from there any evening when the boys are bringing their game back to camp and hear plenty of tales, too.

Parking our car beside the Eel's Brook Tourist Park on Monday afternoon, the first man we met was Mike Wideman of Millbrook setting out on a western trail and pushing an oddlooking bicycle-wheeled rack. "It's a new idea, I though up," said Mike as he trungled his contraption over rocks and windfalls, "but I think it will be easier than back-packing." We saw him an hour later coming out to his tent camp with a large buck roped on his carryall. He had made four miles, in and out, and looked quite fresh. His camp companions, Johnston Rowland and Ernie Powell, were convinced the rig was all right, and they hoped to get a chance to use it, if their luck was better on Tuesday.

Cars Deep in Bush

There were at least 50 cars and trucks pulled off the highway or parked deep in the bush on the west side on the clearings. Hunters came in about dusk in pairs. They all reported seeing quite a few deer and a survey showed that at least 25 animals had been shot, and a few wounded. Cars from Lake Huron to the Ottawa Valley and from several of the Northern States indicated the large section that is attracted to the Eel's Brook country.

A group of eight hunters from Petrolia had one doe to show for

District Governor Visits Lions Club

Peterborough Lions Club Monday night received its annual visit and message from the District Governor. This year he is Robert Little of Richmond Hill

Mr. Little confined his remarks to business and matters of interest to members of Lions International. And he laid particular stress on the aims of the club.

Besides being District Governor Mr. Little is chairman of the Board of Governors for Ontario and Quebec. He succeeded Stan Darling of Peterborough to that post in July.

First vice president Bert Sisson thanked him on behalf of the club and made a presentation. He was introduced by Mr. Darling.

Arnold Deyell won the draw prize.

All chairmen of committees gave a verbal report of their various activities.

QUICK DEER BAGGING

This deer hunting business appears to have acquired the immediacy of an automat in its results. Sam Carpenter was telling this morning of a CGE man whose expedition into the haunts of district wild life was a brief morning. He took off early Monday and was back to work in the afternoon with his legal limit of one deer. "That's nothing," says Walter Ramsey of the Bus Lines. "I saw two deer on a car going south on Aylmer St., Monday morning at 10 o'clock. We have to suppose they were shot early on the opening day."

RC School Board Move Elections

Separate School Board has advanced a month its nominations and elections to coincide with those of the municipality.

Nominations will take place at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 25, in the board room at St. Mary's School, and elections, if required, will be on Monday, Nov. 5 at the same time and places which have been set for the general voting.

These changes have been announced by Mr. J. S. Black, secretary-treasurer of the board.

Nominations are for two-year terms, constituting the board of 12 trustees. Those whose present terms are expiring are: Wm. J. Grady, Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, M. F. Doris, Rev. P. P. Butler, Arthur Primeau, and this year's chairman, John G. McCarney.

MISS ROGERS' FUNERAL

Funeral service for the late Miss Mary Winnifred Rogers will be held at St. John's Anglican Church on Wednesday at 2 p.m. and not at the Comstock Funeral Home as reported previously.

Two Old Horses Make Final Bid For Freedom

A final bid for freedom by two old horses taking their last ride Monday ended in death for one and prompt recapture for the other when they jumped from a truck.

They were the two most spirited of five horses purchased by Samuel Siegel, R.R. 2, Ennismore, and they were being taken away to eventually become food for foxes.

Perhaps they felt the indignity of it all: that after years of faithful toil their ultimate reward should be nothing more than foxmeat. Anyway, they thought they saw their chance to escape and took it by jumping over the tall back rack.

As the crowded stake body truck reached a point on Highway 7 three miles east of Norwood, one jumped followed by the other. The first managed to land on his feet and was uninjured but the other was killed in the fall.

Even the most prosaic of businessmen could not help admiring this last courageous bid for freedom.

"I guess they had more spirit than we imagined," said Mr. Siegel.

University Women Hear Speaker From Film Board

The composition, policies, purposes and work of the National Film Board were outlined Monday evening by Mr. Tom Daley, of Ottawa, speaking at the University Women's Club meeting in the YWCA.

Some 35,000 communities of Canada are now being reached by these films, many of which have no other way of gaining the information they contain. About 2,500 films have been made since organization of the Board May 2, 1939. This includes war films, many of which are now obsolete. All are made in French and English, and the average production hoped for is about 150 a year, about 80 being of one or more reels. They are now distributed through Film Councils and other organizations set up by the field representatives who cover the Dominion as far north as Yellowknife.

Mr. Daley said it is believed that one million people are seeing the non-theatrical films each month. They have already gone to 50 other countries and 10,000 prints are now in United States informing them of Canada. He advised that the Board has won awards on the great variety of films, some of which are civic, cultural, news, agricultural, health, labor, trade and commerce, travel and tourism. Emphasis is being placed on conservation this year. The films are classed as theatrical, non-theatrical and foreign. Canadian theatres are showing more of their own Board's productions than those of any other country. In fact, he said, others are seeking the Canadian methods of distribution and have asked for people to set-up and train similar organizations in other countries. A considerable number of students are coming here on fellowships to train with the Board.

Besides films, the Board makes posters, film strips and stills of which there is a library of 100,000 negatives in Ottawa. It has been getting suggestions from audio-visual educators on making films for classrooms covering history, wild life and community services.

Make-up of the Board was carefully worked out to assure check and balance. There are nine members one ex-officio, Ross McLean. Two from the Cabinet, appointed by the Prime Minister, are Robert Winters, chairman, and Dr. J. J. McCann, minister of revenue. Three are permanent senior civil servants, selected to keep the continuing interest of the government, and three are public citizens, to give the non-governmental balance.

The films take months to make and require persons for research, writers, directors, technicians, others. At the beginning most of these had to be imported and they worked hard to meet demands sometimes all night in the barn-like building then used. Mr. Daley said that with the general cutting-down since the war ended it has become increasingly difficult to produce. Subjects have to be dealth with more subtly and with more profound comprehension. However, total costs have been reduced about 40 per cent, to about 20 per cent per person, and they are still being successful. The Board is a non-revenue organization but the present system is providing a small profit, he said.

Experimenting in the field of animation the National Film Board has produced an animated cartoon depicting the history of Canada. This was shown to the audience which gave approval of this type rather than the Disney cartoon which is much more costly. Part of another reel on children's concerts was also shown with Mr. W. L. Graff operating the projector.

Appreciation to the speaker was expressed by Mrs. J. L. McKeever. Miss Earl MacVannel, president conducted the regular business meeting, prior to Mr. Daley's address.

Tea was served by the social committee.

King Approves Margaret's Hats

LONDON, Nov. 15—(AP)—The King has the last word on Princess Margaret's choice of hats.

That fashion item comes from the designer of the newest bonnet worn by the King's younger daughter. She wore it to a millinery show Monday.

The hat was a black felt fez with a plume of ermine tails. One reporter said it looked like a guardsman's helmet.

Aage Thaarup, Danish-born milliner who whipped up the exclusive model, said the King liked it.

"He always has to see her hats before she wears them in public," Thaarup added.

Mrs. Argue is the former Jean Fairbairn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Fairbairn, 224 Park St. N., Peterborough.

Remember Dead Of World Wars

YOUNG'S POINT, Nov. 15 —(ENS)—St. Aidan's Anglican Church Young's Point, was the scene of a Remembrance Day service on Sunday evening, when Canon F. J. Fife, minister in charge, led the congregation in a service to honor those from the parish who served in the Second World War, and also to remember Pte. Roydon Victor Wilson, who paid the supreme sacrifice in the war of 1914-18.

Special organ music was played by the organist, Mrs. Dave Darling.

Standing before the flag-draped altar, Canon Fife read the names inscribed on the honor roll from the last war, and also the name of Roydon Wilson, which is inscribed on a memorial plaque, and two minutes' silence was observed. Both the plaque and the honor roll were placed at the altar railing.

Canon Fife asked his congregation "Are we worthy of the sacrifice the men and women of the both wars made for us?"

"To keep it by asking God's help in time of difficulties by prayer. When all else fails, only God can help us out of our worldly troubles." To close his remarks Canon Fife read a message which was written by a bishop of the Church of England and which seemed very fitting at a Remembrance Day service and also in the thought that just the day before he had conducted the funeral of one of his parishioners a young man of 22 years of age, who was killed in an accident. It was entitled "Death."

DOROTHY DIX

Let Father Marry Again Later Years Can Be Lonely

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man 55. Have been a widower for fifteen years. When my wife died leaving me with three children, I resolved to dedicate my life to them until they were grown and capable of making their own way. I have done this, and as I have been a real prosperous businessman I have given each one of them every advantage. Now the two oldest are grown and out on their own, having successful careers, and the youngest is in college About nine months ago I met a woman with whom I have fallen in love and whom I want to marry, but my children are bitter against it. No objection to the woman in question, just that they don't want me to marry anyone. What shall I do?

UNHAPPY HUGH

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Say no more to your selfish and ungrateful children, but go off quietly and marry the lady. They will probably raise ructions and say many things for which they will be sorry, but the storm will pass like a summer shower and the time will come when they will be thankful that you have established your own life instead of being a hanger-on on theirs.

In Prime Of Life

As things go in these days you are in the prime of life and can confidently look forward to many more years. These last decades should be the happiest time of your life. You have come to the time when you can slack down in your work, when you can travel and enjoy things, but you can only find happiness in this latter part of the journey if you have a loved and agreeable companion to bear you company.

Widowed fathers or mothers must do one of three things. They must live alone when their children have left the home nest, and this is a dreary and forlorn state for those who are growing old and who need companionship. Or a son or a daughter must give up marriage in order to stay at home and take care of widowed father or mother and be left solitary and alone in his or her old age.

Or the widowed father or mother must go and live with his or her married children where he or she may be miserable and discontented.

Far far better for all concerned for the middle-aged widow and widower to marry and maintain their own homes, have their own interests and the companionship of one of their own age. And foolish are the children who do not give papa and mama their blessings.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: When my husband and I were married we were about on an average in appearance, and handsome youngsters at that. Now that we are middle-aged I have lost all of my good looks and he gets better-looking every year. Everywhere we go women say to me something about how good-looking he is, and it is getting on my nerves and giving me an inferiority complex. I feel that he deserves a prettier wife, but he seems satisfied and he, isn't in the least vain and conceited. What to do?

SYLVIA

ANSWER: The only thing you can do is to meet the situation with philosophy and thank Heaven that your husband's good looks haven't turned his head and started him out on a career of philandering.

Many a gawky, lanky boy with an Irish-potato face, turns into a handsome and distinguished-looking middle-aged man. But time doesn't deal kindly with a woman. It changes her from a sylph to something that, at its best, we speak of as being "well preserved." And the cruelty of the thing is that so often the middle-aged woman needs beauty to hold her husband, whereas no middle-aged wife cares a rap whether her husband has lost his figure and his hair if he is good and kind to her.

Of course, no woman ever really enjoys knowing that she presents an invidious comparison with her husband, but what of it? All that matters is that she suits him, and if he is satisfied with her it is nobody else's business Few men ever take a really good look at their wives after they are married and so they don't perceive the changes in them. The chances are that you look just as good to your husband now as you did on your wedding day.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I have a little sawed-off wife. Every time I go to town she raises Cain and the way she talks to me is something awful. What can I do about it?

O. B. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The smaller a woman is, the bossier, O. B. D. So if you can't get ahead of her, the best way to do is to mind her and save yourself trouble. If you had wanted a woman you could boss, you should have married a great big Amazonian lady.

Community Folk Help Family Set Up House

BETHANY, Nov. 15 (ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Wood and family of Newfoundland, who have purchased the farm of Mr. Mansell Wright, were welcomed to the community in the Town Hall, Bethany, on Friday.

Mr. Wood's newly-built home in Newfoundland was burned in a forest fire this summer when the family's furniture and clothing were totally destroyed. Mr. Ralph Wood and his wife, and a brother Noel came here from Newfoundland three years ago and have made many friends since their arrival. Another brother, Rev. Shirley Wood is rector at Thornhill.

Rev. T. S. Gault extended the good wishes of the community to the newcomers and a shower of many useful gifts including bedding, linens, dishes, kitchenware, jars of fruit, hampers of apples and bag of potatoes and vegetables were presented from the community.

Join St. Paul's

The family will be members of St. Paul's Anglican Church, and the Ladies Guild of that church presented them with a setting for eight in dishes and crystal as well as some table linen. The gift of the Women's Auxiliary was a large clothes basket of bedding and a box of groceries. The merchants in Bethany were also liberal in their assistance and donations.

In expressing his appreciation, Mr. Wood said he was quite overwhelmed by the generosity and was most grateful for the welcome party and the opportunity of meeting his new neighbors.

The remainder of the evening was spent playing progressive euchre. First prizes were won by Mrs. T. E. Shea and Mr. Roy Jarvis. Consolation prizes went to Miss Winnifred Nesbitt and Mr. M. Wright. The women served lunch.

TWICE YOUR MONEY BACK

If you are not satisfied that Calumet is the finest baking powder you ever used, send tin containing unused portion, along with your name and address and a note of the price you paid — to General Foods, Limited, Cobourg, Ontario. You will receive back twice what you paid for Calumet.

FOR EVEN, fine-textured baking, without holes and without tunnels, depend on Calumet Baking Powder. Quick loaves, cakes, biscuits—all baking—is feather-light, moist and even-crumbed when you use Calumet. For Calumet's double action protects baking from start to finish.

Myriads of tiny, even-sized bubbles are formed in the mixing bowl when liquid is added. The second action takes place in the oven, where thousands of new little bubbles continue raising the mixture to feathery, tender perfection. Follow directions on the tin for any recipe.

6—In Memoriams

HOCKADAY—In loving memory of Mrs. Mabel Hockaday, who passed away four years ago today, Nov. 15, 1945.
Calm and peaceful she is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain,
We who loved you sadly miss you,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Always remembered and sadly missed by mother, sisters and brothers.

JOHNSTON —In loving memory of Mrs. William Johnston who passed away five years ago, November 15, 1944.
My thoughts wander as daylight fades
To the land of long ago,
And memory paints the scenes of old
In the gold of the twilight glow,
I seem to see in the soft dim light
A face I loved the best,
I think of her when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off west.
—Ever remembered by niece, Mrs. Ross Larmer.

McTague to be the third member and chairman of the Board of Conciliation established in connection with negotiations between Ford Motor Co., of Canada Limited, Windsor, and Local 200, UAW-CIO.

Other members of the Board are J. C. Adams, K.C., Central Ontario Industrial Relations Institute, and Drummond Wren, of the Workers' Educational Association.

Say More Money Needed Boost Culture

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP)—No country can claim a well-rounded culture if it is reduced to the position of a temporary, spectator sport, the Royal Commission on National Development in the Arts, Letters and Sciences was told today.

The statement was contained in a prepared brief submitted by the Sculptors Society of Canada as the commission opened public hearings in the University of Toronto's Simcoe Hall after a swing through the four western provinces

The sculptors criticized the fact no provision was made for the installation of permanent works of sculpture in the projected national library and national art institute, both part of the National Capital Plan. They deplored the general over-emphasis in Canada on what they termed "transient art."

Other submissions were presented at the commission's opening session by representatives of the Canadian Authors' Association; Royal Canadian Academy of Arts; Art Gallery of Toronto; Art Gallery of Hamilton.

Need Larger Sums

The sculptors defended the principle that the government should set aside larger sums for the encouragement of the arts and letters in Canada, and should give grants-in-aid to the learned artists organizations upon which both government and public depend for various services.

The S.S.C. brief said the many Federal government agencies operating in the cultural fields should long since have been gathered into one comprehensive department for the arts, letters and sciences. The work of these agencies was clearly related, and it was "uneconomic" and "confusing" that they should continue to be scattered among a dozen different government departments.

In its nine-page brief, the Canadian Authors' Association entered a plea for the rights of creative arts, including literature, as an expression of the national life of utmost importance to Canada.

Building Heads For Record During 1949

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadian construction is hitting a fast pace towards the $1,000,000,000 mark for 1949, a figure never before reached. At the present rate it should be close to, if not above it, by the end of November.

MacLean Building Reports, Ltd., recorded October contracts at $89,307,000, up $18,500,000 from October last year; and the 10-month figure at $901,387,200, up $86,300,000 from the same period of 1948.

Last year November contracts were $83,032,200; December $55,991,700; and the 12-month total $954,082,400.

All classifications were up in October, over October, 1948, with housing accounting for just over half the total. The figures, with October a year ago in brackets, were:

Residential $44,688,300 ($32,122,200); business $33,180,100 ($28,358,100); industrial $5,264,900 ($4,435,000); engineering $6,173,700 ($5,905,900).

Large Projects

Large apartment projects in Montreal continue to mark the housing awards and leading October contracts included:

Quebec—Sports palace, by city of Quebec, $1,349,652.

Montreal area—100 duplexes, $1,500,000; 44 apartment houses, $2,750,000; 54 double duplexes, $1,728,000; 240 cottages, $1,200,000.

Toronto area — Mount Sinai Hospital $2,000,000; Canadian S-K-F Co., Ltd., plant, $1,000,000.

London, Ont. — Diesel plant, General Motors Diesel, Ltd., $1,000,000.

Newfoundland building figures are not yet included in the MacLean Reports.

Men's Clothing Sales Show Slight Decline

A slight decline in the sales of men's clothing is not great enough to cause much worry to Peterborough stores.

Retailers offer a number of reasons for the drop during the past several months. Most of them place the blame on the recent strike threat which has been hanging over the city while others believe the high cost of food has forced men to buy only the necessities in clothing.

Another dealer said people are becoming more cagey and just cannot be sold anything.

"Retailers have to offer quality now or the people won't buy," he said.

Mild weather which has allowed men to wear topcoats instead of overcoats has caused a drop in overcoat sales say the retailers. One dealer went as far as to say that some men are expecting a mild winter such a last year and are refusing to buy overcoats. Even in the coldest weather, he added, some insist they are warm enough with just a topcoat.

Referring to the Christmas rush a retailer explained that some people are already buying their gifts and that he expects the rush sales to equal that of other years or perhaps surpass them.

His explanation for the coming Christmas rush was that there have been no wage cuts yet therefore people are still making as much money as before.

JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 15 (CP) — The ocean-going tug foundation Josephine hauled the wallowing freighter Scottish Prince into St. John's harbor Monday after a five-day tow through a seething Atlantic. LONDON Nov. 15 (AP) — A three year old girl has been fitted with a set of false teeth under Britain's national health plan. Dentists say the child, Anne Smith of Birtley, is the youngest person in Britain wearing dentures. "Anne's own teeth came through all discolored and caused her much ill-health," said her mother. "Doctors said they had to be taken out."

Priests Urge Secession From UE Ranks

BRISTOL, Conn., Nov. 15 (AP) Priests in two of this city's five Roman Catholic churches Sunday urged members of their congregations who also are members of Local 260, United Electrical Workers Union, to vote to secede from the organization.

A meeting of the Local's 1,200 members will be held here this week at which the men will decide whether to remain in the UEW or to join the new Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers Union (CIO). The new union was set up by the parent CIO at its recent Cleveland convention after the UEW was expelled for left-wing tendencies.

Clergy in two other churches merely called attention to the fact such a meeting would be held, while the pastor of a fifth church said he did not make the announcement.

The churches at which secession was urged were those of St. Ann and St. Anthony. At the latter, Rev. Vincent Iannetta, assistant pastor, told his congregation that the basic question to be settled by the meeting was one of "anti-communism or pro-communism."

An earlier report was that speakers at all five Roman Catholic churches here had urged workers to vote for secession, but Monday Rev. Leonard White, of St. Matthew's Church said the announcement at his church as well as at St. Joseph's had been confined to the fact that such a meeting would be held.

Ontario Voting Safely Guarded

TORONTO, Nov. 15—(CP) — Changes recommended to the Federal Elections Act to prevent violating the secrecy of the ballot will not be necessary in Ontario provincial elections, it was stated Monday.

(At Ottawa the chief elections officer, Nelson Castonguay, recommended that the poll number of voters in federal elections should no longer be written on the backs of ballot counterfoils. The recommendation followed a report on the probe in the Regina City federal voting.

An assistant to Major Alec Lewis, Ontario's chief electoral officer, explained that in Ontario voting the number of the ballot is printed both on the ballot and the ballot counterfoil. The attendant in the polling booth notes the poll number of the voter on the back of the counterfoil. These are kept just long enough to ensure that the same voter has not voted twice.

When the ballot is turned in to the deputy returning officer, however, the counterfoil is removed and is destroyed.

"We are satisfied that under the Ontario system it is not possible to identify the voter," the official added.

Senator Seeks More Trade In West Indies

OTTAWA, Nov. 15 (CP) — A plea by Senator J. J. Kinley (L-Nova Scotia) that something be done to revive dwindling Maritime trade with the West Indies, Monday night launched a Senate debate on the general trade picture.

A former mayor of the fishing village of Lunenburg, N. S., Senator Kinley recalled the days when hundreds of square-riggers plied the waters of the Eastern Atlantic selling salted cod and bringing back molasses, rum and tropical fruits.

Trade figures now showed an alarming drop. Imports were increasing and exports to these countries decreasing during the last two years. Worsening the situation was the Canadian purchase in 1948 of a great deal of sugar from the Fiji Islands which might have been bought in the West Indies and encouraged trade there.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, rose after Senator Kinley with a denunciation of government trade policies.

Senator Haig said he had been seeking for some time a government statement on what was to be done about the trade situation.

The fact was that Canada and the United States had a high standard of living and must sell their products at high prices or lose that standard of living. They could not continue to sell at high prices because other countries of the world did not have the money to buy.

the first day. Bill Taylor was the lucky marksman, and his pal George Campbell took solace in helping him to carry the animal out to the highway.

Disgusted Trailer

Tom Curvin was at his usual camp and came down the home trail disgusted. He had been on watch all day, but being used to using hounds, his luck was not so good because his best dog had been stolen last summer. Gordon Trennum and Bill Stanbury were not feeling too chipper, either, but with the optimism of all good hunters, hoped for a better day to come

Above Curvin's camp were five men from the Whitby district in a neat shack called Three Pine Lodge. They were no newcomers and said they had built their camp 12 years ago and used it not only for trout fishing in the Brook, but during partridge season as well.

How was their luck?

Good Luck But Weary

They took us around the back of the shack where Wilbert Smale was just finishing butchering operations on four fine animals, two bucks and two does; they would each dress more than 175 pounds. Although the weekend and early morning had been wet, they had used two dogs, a Walker and a Beagle-Redbone. The dogs had made about ten runs on Monday, their owners said and were footsore and weary, too tired to eat much, but they would have a day's rest before more trailing. A tasty supper, including fresh deer liver, was being cooked by Harry Moore as Ed Villeneuve, R. Bailey and H. Bartlett sat on benches with their mouths watering.

They were quite pleased with their day's luck but regretted that their stay, if they completed their quota by Tuesday, would be short. "We have lots of friends who are waiting to use the camp," said one, "and the sooner we clear out the better for them There is deer here for everyone this year."

Toronto Appears Forgotten City

TORONTO, Nov. 15—(CP) — Toronto appears to be left out of the $5,000,000 federal program for tax relief for municipalities and Mayor Hiram McCallum Monday night charged that discrimination had been shown against the city.

For a municipality to qualify under the plan, federal property in the municipality must have a total assessment of more than four per cent of the entire municipal assessment. Federal property here is assessed at $13,000,000 on the basis of the 1947 assessment, or only one per cent of the city's total assessment.

Finance Commissioner G. A. Lascelles left Monday night for Ottawa to discuss the situation with Finance Minister Abbott.

Mayor McCallum said in an interview following the grants announcement:

"I'm not making any threats, but I wish it were possible to cut off services from government property in this city. How can a minister make a statement like that? If such payments are to be made, they should be made equally across the dominion."

Break Traditions

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 15—(Reuters)—Five hundred Australian doctors, breaking with Medical Association traditions, will broadcast for a minute each on commercial stations in their fight against the country's national health scheme.

Many Gather Round Memorial

APSLEY, Nov. 15 (ENS). — Remembrance Day service was attended by a larger number than in former years.

Members of Apsley Branch of Canadian Legion No. 381 and members of the Women's Auxiliary gathered at the Legion Hall and marched to the war memorial, where the service was conducted by Rev. C. A. G. Spence, honorary chaplain.

Mr. Spence read the names from the memorial, and wreaths were placed by Mrs. Charles Smith, president of the Women's Auxiliary for Branch No. 381; Mrs. W. Dingman for Province of Ontario; Reeve Glen Nichols for the Township of Chandos, and Reeve N. H. Wilson for the township of Burleigh and Anstruther. Several attended from Mount Julian.

On Thursday evening the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion sponsored a hot chicken supper in the parish hall.

Hitler Called Piker

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP) — Senator Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma Democrat, told the Canadian Club Monday that Communist aggression "makes Mussolini look like a muddler and Hitler like a piker." Communist aggression in the Baltic states, in Eastern Europe, in the Far East, the explosion of the atom bomb, and unceasing campaigns of propaganda continuous vetoes in the United Nations make the Second World War dictators take a back seat by comparison.

Present Labor Planks

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 15—(CP)—The Labor Party Monday night presented its platform designed to gain it another term of office in the Dec. 10 general elections. The appeal is basically on its record, which it contends has prepared Australia's economy to meet a possible world depression. The platform is essentially the same one which in 1946 won a thumping majority.

COAST CONSERVATIVE — Howard Charles Green, tall, scholarly lawyer from Vancouver, has represented Vancouver South and later Vancouver Quadra as Progressive Conservative member of the Commons since 1935. Declare J. McDowell Iberville Winner

WINNIPEG, Nov. 15 (CP) — John McDowell, an opposition Independent Progressive Conservative, was declared the winner Monday in Iberville constituency in Manitoba's Nov. 10 general election to give the opposition 13 seats against 42 for the coalition

A winner still has to be declared in Morris riding while voting will not be held until Dec. 14 in the far-northern constituency of Rupert's Land. McDowell, elected in the 1945 general election as an Independent Progressive Conservative supporting coalition, beat two other candidates in Iberville.

Returning Officer Oris Aquin said the second count gave Mr. McDowell 1709 votes against 1482 polled by Raoul Allard a Liberal-Progressive supporting coalition. This count came after dropping—as is done under the single transferable vote system—of the third candidate, H. Robertson of the opposition CCF.

Granted Stay Pending Appeal

WINNIPEG, Nov. 15 (CP) — J. S. Sinnott of Beausejour, Man., Liberal Member of Parliament for Springfield, Monday was granted a stay on a $34,410 judgment pending the launching of an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada.

The judgment against him was made by the Manitoba Court of Appeal. It resulted from a hunting accident Oct. 25, 1947, in which Lloyd Demko, 19, of St. Owens, Man., was blinded by a blast from a shotgun fired by Mr. Sinnott.

A. M. Israels, counsel for Mr. Sinnott, said Monday that certificate of entitlement had been filed against substantial holdings of farmland owned by Mr. Sinnott. He asked that the execution be stayed until an appeal could be made to the Supreme Court.

The stay was granted until perfection of an appeal, to be made within 60 days of the delivery of the judgment Oct. 25.

In Parents' Custody

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 14—(AP) —Richard Elliott, 15, who said he fired a "mercy" shot into his 10-year-old brother, Robert, after the latter had been accidentally wounded, today was found sane and convicted of involuntary manslaughter. Judge A. A. Scott declared the boy a ward of the court, but released him in custody of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harold M. Elliott. Richard told juvenile officers he accidentally shot his brother in the head while showing him a pistol, then said: "He was moaning, I just couldn't stand it, so I shot him again to end his agony."

Coffee Shortage A Myth But Prices Have Increased

If the recent spiral trend in the price of coffee continues Canadians will be forsaking their national beverage and, like the English, become a nation of tea drinkers. That was the prediction of a city grocer today. Increase of 15 and 20 cents a pound during the past few weeks is not due to any shortage of coffee, Peterborough grocers said. Shortage is only a rumor, they claim.

Talk about shortage and resulting high prices started when reports indicated that in 1950 there may not, for the first time, be a surplus of green coffee in the coffee producing countries. Price increases, which came into effect about the same time, but for quite different reasons, started a shortage and $1 a pound scare which has not yet subsided.

The report that consumption is catching up with the supply, which has always been greater than the world need, has been followed by announcements from experts in the coffee trade that there is nothing to worry about. In some parts of the country, however, coffee has been bought from the stores for hoarding and the result was an upset in the normal flow of supply and demand. The stores ran short and this served to accentuate the rumor.

According to W. F. Williamson, secretary of the National Coffee Association, there is nothing to be afraid of concerning supplies. Robert H. Bennett of a large coffee firm says there may be less green coffee next year but at this stage, no one can be sure.

Devaluation of the pound sterling could alter the predicted lack of coffee surplus, Mr. Bennett says. In the past few years England has become a big coffee importer but a spokesman for a major American importer believes that devaluation may seriously cut England's coffee purchases next year.

Prices are skyrocketing and coffee is now selling in Peterborough at prices ranging from 60 to 80 cents a pound instead of 49 to 69 cents.

Reason for the increase, explained a city grocer, has no relation to the amount of coffee available. Devaluation of the Canadian dollar has boosted the price 10 per cent, there has been an increase in freight prices; eight per cent sales tax is levied and two cents duty is paid for every pound imported from the States. In addition to this high cost accumulating after the coffee is bought from the grower there is a 16 per cent loss on every pound owing to shrinkage as the green coffee is toasted.

Stating that he does not consider there will be a coffee shortage, the city grocer says that even if less green coffee were available, unless prices are lowered, the demand will drop so low that there will be a surplus. He said people were already buying more tea and less coffee. Coffee at 80 cents a pound is a luxury which few can afford, he says.

Another city grocer, who still has some at the old price left, says he has not noticed a change over yet.

There seems little hope of a let out. Mr. Bennett warns that when prices do settle, they will be at a point considerably higher than for a long time. There must be an adjustment in coffee prices just as there has been in meat and other commodities, he says.

Whatever happen to the coffee situation, hoarding is not the answer. Apart from upsetting the normal flow of trade, it does the hoarder no good, says the president of Pan-American Coffee Bureau. Whether it is in the whole roasted bean or ground, it loses its flavor in a matter of days. Vacuum packed coffee, unopened, keeps for a much longer time but is not intended to be kept for months, he says.

Britain Calls For Volunteers

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP) — Britain called today for volunteers for a Civil Defence corps to be trained for service in case of war. Training will include preparations for defence against possible atomic warfare.

Home Secretary Chuter Ede said civilian volunteers who saw Britain through the blitz may have to cope with "vastly increased possibilities of destruction" in the future.

Announcing that active recruiting will begin tomorrow for the peacetime corps, Ede told a press conference:

"This does not mean that war is likely; it is a common sense way of ensuring that our system of national defence is complete."

In addition to volunteers for the new peacetime defence corps, Ede appealed for recruits for the Auxiliary Fire Service, the National Hospital Service and the Special Constabulary.

The Home Office declined to say how many volunteers it hopes to enrol. Both men and women are eligible to join.

Foresters Attend Church Service

MILLBROOK, Nov. 15 (ENS)— Addressing the Canadian Order of Foresters Sunday morning, in St. Andrew's United Church, Rev. T. Garnett Husser, Dominion High Chaplain, took as his text, "Now abideth faith, hope and charity, and the greatest of these is charity." He stated that this corresponded to the motto of the Order, "Liberty, Benevolence and Fraternity."

Concluding the opening prayer, Mrs. G. A. Spicer sang The Lord's Prayer.

The congregation was asked to sign the book of welcome placed in the vestibule of the church. Each person signing pays $1 to help defray the expenses of delegates coming from other countries to attend the world conference to be held in Toronto in August of 1950.

After the service, more than 60 members of the COF, who had occupied the front pews, were luncheon guests of St. Andrew's WA in the basement of the church.

Crack Down On Drivers

TORONTO, Nov. 15 (CP) — Motorists convicted in Toronto on drunk driving charges may be prevented from driving a car anywhere in Canada or the United States for a maximum of three years, it was learned today. The police said law-enforcement agencies in both countries would enforce the prohibition, provided in a section of the Criminal Code which has been invoked by Toronto magistrates in recent weeks.

Pearson Lashes At Soviet Charges Stamping Out Independence In Europe

Hopes US Congress Will Tackle Seaway Plan Without Too Much Delay; Wants Canada Have Voice In Jap Treaty

OTTAWA, Nov. 16—(CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today the flame of liberty still burns in eastern Europe and eventually will help to lift "the darkness" of Russian tyranny which now obscures it. He lashed out at Russia in initiating a Commons debate on foreign affairs with a statement that ranged around the world and maintained that the Soviet not only is bent on widening its area of power but on stamping out all remnants of independence within that area. He spoke 90 minutes to an attentive well-filled house.

Russia was "exerting every effort short of war" to bring Yugoslavia to heel and to reduce it to the "unquestioning and slavish obedience" that had engulfed Poland and other eastern European countries. Her "unswerving purpose . . . to impose her will on a wider and wider area" poisoned and distorted the aspirations of western Europe.

Mr. Pearson said an agreement with Russia on the control of atomic weapons had to be reached "before we are all blown to bits." Efforts to reach that agreement must be continued even though the prospects of agreement were not bright.

He said some way had to be found so that no country could "bamboozle" the rest of the world into believing that it was not producing atomic weapons for war.

The cold fact in the cold war was that the democracies did not trust the Russians to destroy atomic weapons.

He sarcastically termed Russia "that apostle of international co-operation" and said her conduct has made it clear that complete identification with her own views is the basic demand of Communist expansion.

U.N. Strengthened

Mr. Pearson told the House too, that:

1. A "round view" must conclude that the United Nations organization has been strengthened rather than weakened in the last year. In Kashmir, Palestine and Indonesia, the U.N. had contained conflicts which could have led to disastrous war.

Court Restores $200,000 To Spinster

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP) — A wealthy 77-year-old spinster from Windsor won an appeal court decision Tuesday which will restore her $200,000 fortune.

Hortense Francois was declared in an Ontario Court of Appeal judgment "mentally firm and capable of administering her own affairs" in a decision which reversed a court ruling given relatives Sept. 13.

Her closest relatives, Edmund Aloysius Vier and Marcel Edward Hude, cousins of Miss Francois, and both from Detroit, won a court order in September declaring the elderly lady "mentally incompetent" and appointing the Guaranty Trust Co. of Windsor a committee of her estate.

The appeal court ruled unanimously that "the material filed in support of this application is not only insufficient and incomplete, it is almost completely wanting in any proof whatsoever that the appellant is incapable of managing her own affairs."

C. C. Calvin, respondent's counsel, submitted there is proof of the appellant's "mental infirmity." He referred to affidavits of doctors and her former solicitor.

Mr. Justice Laidlaw said "it isn't proof at all; just statements of opinion."

2 Miners Killed In Rock Slide

NORANDA, Que., Nov 16 (CP) —Two miners killed Tuesday in a rock slide in the Noranda Mine "did not have a ghost of a chance," a rescue worker said today.

The worker was one of an 18-man squad which reached the body of one of the men Tuesday night and today worked to find the other.

"It is practically impossible to work fast on this kind of a job," the worker said. "There is little room and no foothold You've just got to work, sometimes with your hands, pulling the rocks aside. When we found one of the men last night it took us nearly two hours to get the rocks loose below his waist, he was wedged in so tightly."

The victims—Claude Guitard, 22, from Jacket River, NB, and Walter Alejinkov, a displaced person recently arrived here — were caught under tons of ore between the 1,000 and 1,100 foot levels of the mine on Tuesday mornign. It was Alejinkov's body which was found Tuesday night.

Signed, Blank Cheques Stolen From Office

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 16 (CP)—Eight signed blank checks and $1,000 in cash were stolen Tuesday night from a safe in Dalton Fuels Ltd., office on Rectory St.

Door of the safe was pried off in what detectives described as a "professional job."

Signed by the firm's president, Charles A. Dalton, now on a deer hunting trip in Northern Ontario the checks were left for the use of Mrs. Frances Wickware of Ingersoll, office manager.

The eight checks numbered from 869 to 876 inclusive are drawn on the Bank of Montreal, City Hall Branch. They bear the firm's name and Mr. Dalton's signature.

10 Inches Of Snow

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 16 (AP)—The heaviest snowfall of the season blanketed the Buffalo area today, leaving up to 10 inches on the ground in suburbs. No appreciable amount of snow was reported elsewhere in the State. At the Buffalo airport, where 10 inches of snow clogged the runways, all flights were cancelled or re-routed to Niagara Falls or Rochester. The Weather Bureau reported a total of 12.8 inches had fallen overnight at the airport but it was melting slowly.

Special Court Favors Canadian Rights

WASHINGTON, Nov 16 (AP). —A three-judge special court today ruled 2-1 against Colonial Airlines in its fight to stop parallel service by Canadian planes on its Montreal-New York flight.

Colonial Airlines attacked the constitutionality of the Civil Aeronautics Act and a new aviation agreement with Canada to expand flying rights between the two countries.

Judge James W. Morris of the United States District Court, and Justice James W. Proctor, if the Circuit Court of Appeals, upheld the constitutionallty of the Act.

Judge T. Alan Goldsborough of the United States District Court dissented.

T. Peter Ansberry, Colonial counsel, told a reporter an appeal will be made to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

This is the background of the case:

The Canadian-American agreement, signed last June 4 at Ottawa, granted Canada rights to fly Montreal-New York non-stop It granted the United States the right to fly to New York-Toronto non-stop, heretofore the exclusive privilege of Canada.

Gov't Chooses Plant Projects

LONDON, Nov. 16 (AP) —The government is reserving the right to pick and choose among the many projects for American-financed factories in Britain.

As a result, at least 30 such plans have been dropped, says the American Chamber of Commerce in London.

D. L. Gill, secretary of the Chamber, said all such schemes are judged by the British government on the basis of whether they will save the country dollars and manufacture essential products.

If they don't qualify, they come far down on the list for priority on scarce labor and materials.

20 Missing On B-29

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Nov. 16 — (CP). — A search was begun today for a United States Air Force B-29 missing on a flight from Riverside, Calif., to Bermuda. The plane carried 20 persons and was one of a number of B29s en route from California to England.

Two Vessels Collide In Thames Estuary

LONDON, Nov. 16 — (CP) — Two coasting vessels collided in the Thames estuary today as England's two-day fog began to lift in patches. Early reports that one of the ships sank were erroneous.

Road and rail traffic continued at a crawl and thousands reported late to work.

The small Netherlands coaster Mercurius was anchored off Hole Haven with a slight list after a collision with the 40-ton British coaster Sedulity.

Both ships were reported safe after two seamen from the Mercurius, knocked from the ship in the crash, were picked up from the water.

Dogs Modelling Paris Duds Take New York By Storm

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—(AP).—The swank Hotel Pierre opened its doors to a dog show today—about the doggiest dog show, in fact, that anybody ever dreamed up.

Among those present:

A Welsh terrier wearing a coat from Paris, with a little white handkerchief peering from the pocket.

A boxer wearing a red raincoat with a hood, and waterproof leather boots to match.

An afghan (name of "Jitterbug"), wearing a green peaked hat with a bird—yes, a complete bird—on it, to say nothing of an emerald green coat with a deep fringe.

Some 250 women, mostly from the social register, plunked down $3.25 each for a bite of lunch and a close-up view of these and assorted other canine specimens.

And Mrs. Olga Hone Rogers, president of Dogs, Incorporated, and chief-rounder-up of four-legged fashion models for the occasion, said their money was well spent.

"This," she said, "is easily the greatest collection of champions ever seen outside of a regular dog show."

The show is for the benefit of the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association, and the sponsors decided to run it perfectly dead-pan—just like a two-legged fashion show.

Spotlights were set to train on the prize-winning pooches as they descended a ramp—unclad at first, then all dolled up in their finery for a repeat performance.

Some of the costumes run into money.

A miniature pinscher, for instance, came wearing — brace yourself—a white angora sweater, a silver leash and a guaranteed genuine diamond collar.

RCAF Guard Lets Thief Make Escape

Burglar Just Misses $28,000 Pay Roll, When frightened Off

TRENTON, Nov. 16 (CP)—An unsuspecting guard was reported Tuesday to have aided the escape of an audacious thief who almost got his hands on a $28,000 RCAF pay roll.

Officials said the intruder was disturbed in his attempt to break open a portable safe in the accounting office of No. 6 repair depot of the RCAF early Tuesday. The man calmly walked out on to the air field, jumped into a military garage station wagon and drove towards the gate.

Thirty feet from the gate, the station wagon stalled. The guard on duty at the gate, said to be a new recruit, saw the wagon approaching and opened the gate, thinking the machine contained RCAF personnel. Then he ducked back into the entrance of the guard hut to escape the rain.

The thief managed to get the station wagon running again and drove out the gate at fairly high speed. Normal procedure would have been for the driver of a vehicle to hand a pass to the guard as he left. The guard wondered why the driver had not tendered a pass, but dismissed the incident from his mind.

Find Safe Moved

At 8 a.m. members of the accounting staff found the office safe in another room, its hinges removed. Attempts to pry open the door and get at the payroll had been made with a jimmy, police said.

Group Capt. Stanley A. Green, OC of the depot, said from all indications the intruder was familiar with the layout and routine of the accounts section. He declined to say it was an inside job.

Normally, the payroll is kept in a reinforced concrete vault, anchored six feet into the ground, but failure of the lock to operate properly caused depot officials to put it in the smaller office safe. This fact was known to the thief police said.

The guard in the building is able to see into the office containing the safe without going inside, a system of mirrors and a light over the safe making this possible. The burglar is thought to have been aware of this danger He man-handled the safe into an adjoining room and went to work with a hacksaw and a jimmy.

The stolen station wagon was found in Belleville several hours later. Cpl. Bob Christie, RCMP and Provincial Constable James Driscoll found fingerprints on the damaged safe.

Police Uncover Plot To Rob 50 Banks

MONTREAL, Nov. 16—(CP)—Police today charged the existence of a plot to rob systematically 50 branches of banks and credit unions throughout Quebec province and announced the arrest of four men on charges of conspiracy and burglary.

Deputy Director Hilaire Beauregard, of the Provincial Police, named the men as:

Maurice Plante, 28, of Louiseville, Que., former inspector of the Banque Provinciale Du Canada and Inspector for the St. Maurice region of Les Caisses Populaires, Credit Unions;

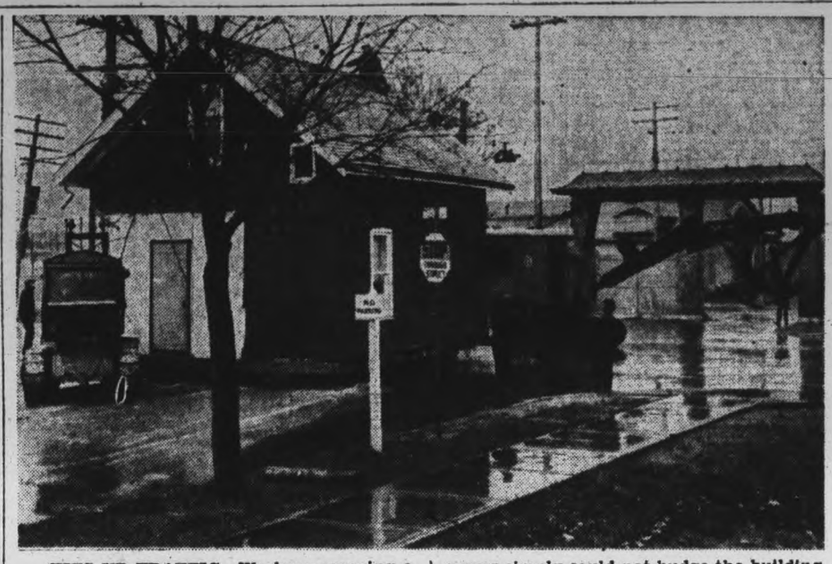
Guy Poliquin, 21, of Three Rivers, Que., employee of the Des Forges Street branch of the Banque Provinciale in Three Rivers;

Alex Buckzar, alias Bert Baxter, 25, of Montreal;

Paul Emile Larouche, 32, Montreal restaurant owner.

2 Planes Collide

CALCUTTA, Nov. 16 (Reuters) —A pilot and seven spectators were killed and 33 others injured when two Royal Indian Air Force fighter planes collided and crashed into the streets of Calcutta today. The planes taking part in a demonstration flight, were trying to avoid vultures cruising over the city. The pilot of the second plane escaped by parachute.



TIES UP TRAFFIC—Workmen moving a house from George St. south to Braidwood Ave. on Tuesday afternoon caused a traffic tie-up at George and Lansdowne Sts. when the building refused to move any further. The crawler shovel that was supplying the power simply could not budge the building. A power excavator was secured and between push and pull the house was edged around the corner where it sat all night. Today it completed its journey.

Chiang Troops Release 2 British Ships

HONG KONG, Nov. 16 (CP)— The Royal Navy today announced that the British merchant ships Tsinan and Wosang, held at blockade runners at the mouth of the Yangtze River, had been released by Chinese Nationalist warships.

The two British ships were reported proceeding to Hong Kong.

The Tsinan was detained by a Nationalist gunboat Nov. 5, the Wosang Nov. 8.

The release of the two vessels came on the heels of reports of shooting and bombing incidents involving both British and American shipping.

The South-China Morning Post said Chinese Nationalist planes raided a dock area where two British ships were unloading at Communist-held Swatow Sunday. Ten persons were reported killed and 20 badly injured.

Owners of the United States vessel Flying Cloud, held up by the Nationalists as part of their blockade of Communist - held Chinese ports, Tuesday informed State Secretary Dean Acheson that their vessels had been fired on by a Nationalist warship.

In the bombing at Swatow, the South-China Post said a Nationalist bomber and fighter apparently tried to hit the British ships —the Singhing and the Cloverlock—for defying the Nationalist blockade. Instead, the Post said, the bomber hit a pontoon wharf with one of three bombs.

Have Earlier Closing

TORONTO, Nov. 16 (CP) — Earlier closing of beverage rooms in all parts of Ontario with the possible exception of the larger cities was predicted today by high provincial government officials.

Dining room lounges which now remain open until 2 a.m. would be closed at midnight, and cocktail lounges in some of the larger cities would remain open until midnight, the officials said.

Cripps Orders Churches To Stay Out Of Politics

LONDON, Nov. 16—(CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told churches today to stay out of politics. "The church should not attempt to devise remedies for particular social, economic or industrial evils," he said. "That is the function of technicians such as politicians and administrators." The Labor Party is concerned over a series of recent speeches by Church of England prelates as to what part churchmen will play in next year's general elections.

The Archbishop of York, Dr. Cyril F. Garbett, told his diocesan conference Nov. 8 that "ruin is unavoidable" unless British industry can produce more goods to sell overseas. He called on the government to "make the facts known to all" on the economic crisis.

Sir Stafford spoke to church leaders at a luncheon session of the House of Laity. The House of Laity is the lay sector of the Church Assembly, law-making body of the Church of England.

Sir Stafford told the churchmen "we do not want politics in our religion; but we do want Christian standards in our politics."

Sir Stafford told the church leaders that youth is perplexed by the struggle between Christianity and Communism. Youth, which must be attracted to religion and away from harmful materialistic creeds, is presented with two alternatives.

"One is the passionate materialism of the Communist ideology which has already swept millions of them to their destruction with all the glamor of real and reputed accomplishments.

"The other is the Christian religion, not so spectacular, with no great visible achievements in recent times to record.

"If the inner quality of the two were the same Communism would drive out religion, but it is not in our Christian faith we have something far greater and better than any man-made ideology because our religion is divine in its origin."

Loot Bank Of $1,200

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que., Nov. 16 (CP)—Provincial Police early today were searching for two armed bandits who escaped with $1,200 from the Caisse Populaire (Co-operative Community Bank) at nearby Saint Gerard Des Laurentides Tuesday night.

The stolen taxi in which the pair made their getaway later was found abandoned in a ditch at Saint de Shawinigan, a neighboring parish.

Police said the bandits forced their way into the bank manager's home while he was out and ordered his wife, Mrs. Bruno Boisvert, to open the safe.

Strikers Build Comrade Home

OSHAWA, Nov. 16. — A new home in about 10 days is promised by General Motors employees for their fellow striker, 30-year-old, Clarence O'Connor, whose five-room bungalow was destroyed by fire November 9.

"It's like a dream to me," said O'Connor, whose wife and three young boys are currently living with her mother in Peterborough. He said close to 50 men thrown out of work by the GM strike helped pour cement for the foundation of the house on Sunday. They finished in four hours.

Backed financially by Local 222, UAW-CIO, which will later be reimbursed by a benefit fund already hearing $800 mark, the project is in the hands of strikers and a few neighbors. GM men are permitted time off the picket lines, although several building volunteers continue with their picketing shift.

Chairman of the building committee is Ed Boote of GM parts and service. From the same department comes Jack Black, who looks after purchase of all necessary materials. Black says his job is made easier by the generosity of a local lumber firm, which donated some lumber for the job.

The group of carpenters and handymen praised Mrs. Art Cole, a neighbor, who serves them sandwiches and coffee.

Snatches Child From Home, Man Nabbed

18 Police Cars Chase Kidnapper at 90 MPH In Detroit Streets

DETROIT, Nov. 16 (AP)—Police raced their cars up and down the streets of east side Detroit Tuesday night and rescued pert little Karen Keuchenmeister from an abductor.

An hour later a suspect was arrested.

Only "the grace of God and efficient police work" saved seven-year-old Karen, said Chief Assistant Prosecutor Ralph Garber. The girl was unharmed.

Garber said sex was the motive of the intruder who snatched the blonde, blue-eyed child from the living room of her home on fashionable Alter Road.

Police arrested William B. Mabrey, 35, manager of a small hotel and father of a three-month-old daughter.

Garber said Mabrey would be charged "at least with kidnapping."

Karen, daughter of Karl M. Keuchenmeister, a hardware salesman, was snatched from playmates at her home about 7 p.m.

The abductor, with Karen in his arms, fled to his parked car as Keuchenmeister gave vain pursuit.

Immediate Alarm

Given an almost instantaneous alarm, police in 18 scout cars picked up the chase. At speeds of 80 and 90 miles an hour the race ran a zig-zag course on east side streets.

When officers closed in, the abductor jerked his car to a halt and fled on foot.

As he ran with police in hot pursuit, Karen jumped from the auto and ran to a nearby house.

There officers found her, quite calm and unruffled. They said her clothing was disarranged, but she was not hurt.

Her panties were found in Mabrey's pocket later, police said.

Without hesitation, the wide-eyed child subsequently picked Mabrey out of a police line-up.

Police said Mabrey's arrest followed a telephone call from him to report two men had stolen his car and robbed him of $225.

Patrolmen Matthew Priesz and Larry Princinsky were sent to investigate. They arrested Mabrey immediately because he resembled the description of the abductor. Also, they said, the licence number he gave was the same as that of the pursued car.

Injured Man Seized At Station

Not Given Chance To Prove Innocence Hamilton Man Says

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP) — Paul Zuercher, 35-year-old Hamilton carpenter, said today that while he was waiting for a train after being discharged from a hospital at nearby Malton Tuesday, four plainclothes policemen accosted him in Toronto's Union Station, searched and treated him roughly.

Zuercher, who was treated at the Workmen's Compensation Hospital for a foot injury suffered on a construction job, said he arrived at the station late for one train and decided to wait for the next.

He went into a washroom and proceeded to dress his injured foot with material supplied by the hospital. A man approached him and asked him for 15 cents, he said.

Zuercher said he told the man: "Get out of here . . . if you were in Hamilton you would get your head split open after the way my kid was beaten by a drunken bum like you."

(Three-year-old Garry Zuercher was assaulted by a drunken man last Nov. 4, Zuercher said).

Approached By Police

Shortly after the incident, Paul said he went to get a bag he had checked. He was then approached by the four policemen.

"They surrounded me and ordered me to come along . . . I put my hand in my pocket by force of habit and one officer pulled it out."

When he was unable to walk fast enough to suit them, owing to his injured foot, Zuercher said the officers began searching him in the Concourse.

He said he explained about his injured foot and that he had just been released from hospital. He put his hand in his pocket again and an officer told him if it happened again he would "get a damn good clout on the head."

Poked By Officers

Then, Zuercher said, the officers led him along a corridor "shoving me and poking me as they went."

Senior officials in the City Police Morality Department said they had received only a verbal report of the incident and denied the Hamilton man was abused.

They said they received a call reporting a man in possession of a "large quantity of narcotics in the Union Station."

Members of the RCMP Narcotics Squad were notified and with City Police rushed to the station.

Babies Sleeping By Dead Parents

FORT WILLIAM, Nov. 16 (CP) —Bartell and Elizabeth Smith, both about 28, Tuesday were found shot to death in their small bungalow here.

The couple's two small children, Carol, three, and Grant, two, were playing in the house when Mrs. Smith's mother came to visit and found the bodies. The children had apparently been sleeping in the house at the time of the shooting.

Neighbors said Smith, a trainman, and his wife had been arguing and drinking Monday night.

Police, who classed the affair as a murder-suicide, said a rifle was found lying across Smith's chest.

Coroner J. W. Cook said an inquest is unlikely.

LONDON, Nov. 16 — (AP) — Film star Errol Flynn is engaged to marry Romanian princess Irene Ghica, friends of the couple said today.

The 20-year-old princess, slender and brown-haired, is the daughter of the late Prince Jean Ghica who was killed in a plane crash 12 years ago. She lives in Paris with her mother, Mrs. Ebi Donescu, who has since remarried.

The 38-year-old Flynn has been married twice before—to the French actress Lili Damita and to Nora Edington. Both marriages ended in divorce.

Pearson Says Army Costs Won't Be Reduced By Disarmament Talks

Warns Russians Not Yet Ready To Accept Any Practical Proposal, U.N. Constantly Trying To Solve Problem

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP)—Some 8,000 persons Tuesday night heard External Affairs Minister Pearson officially open the 21st Royal Winter Fair. Mr. Pearson earlier told a dinner attended by some 1,000 farmers from all parts of Canada and the United States that the burden of defence costs will not be reduced by current disarmament discussions in the United Nations. "I do not think that any practical plan for disarmament he put forward would be accepted by the Russians in present circumstances," he said.

Canada's military establishments are not large compared with some other countries, he added, but "the burden is increasing and will continue to increase so long as there is instability and insecurity in the world."

However, the UN is constantly considering the disarmament question, and "I am not sorry for the time and energy we put into discussing this subject. . . especially since I am confident that these discussion honestly reflect the constant concern that people have to find some means of relieving themselves of this great burden."

Interrupt Performance

Formal opening ceremonies interrupted the horse show performance in the Coliseum building of the Canadian National Exhibition Park. Mr. Pearson pulled a switch which released a Union Jack, hanging from the glass roof. As the band of the Governor-General's Horse Guards played the National Anthems of Mexico, Chile, the Republic of Ireland and Canada, military jumping teams from each country rode forward at the salute.

The Mexican team won its first victory of the Fair when it took the two-and-two event with a clean performance defeating Ireland in a jump-off. Chile and Canada were tied for third place.

Mrs. Amy Grace Kelsey of Erickson, B. C., won her third wheat title with her sample of Reward Variety. E. W. Doudet of Hanna City, Ill., won the world championship in corn with a hybrid sample. World championships are still to be announced in oats, potatoes and barley.

Yesterday was Children's Day at the Fair and the horse show matinee performance featured classes for young riders, some of them scarcely big enough to straddle a pony.

Ten Committees Seek To Guide Boys' Program

Besides co-operating with the National Kids' Day Foundation to help celebrate Kids' Day Saturday the Kiwanis have a varied youth program in operation throughout the year.

Ten committees are set up annually by the local Kiwanis Club to deal directly with boys' work in Peterborough. Some of these are: agriculture, church support, parks, music festival, public relations, sports, vocational guidance, underprivileged children, key clubs and little Olympics.

Probably the greatest work with youth in the city is shared by the music festival and the underprivileged children committees. Through the festival held annually in the spring the club gives encouragement to the young musicians of the city who would not ordinarily receive public acclaim. The adjudicators inspire the youths with helpful suggestions on possible improvement in tone and quality of their singing or playing. Through the festivals the Kiwanis Club has made a contribution to young Peterborough's cultural life.

In the work with the underprivileged children the club has assisted in sending children to summer camps. Fresh-air vacations for children of the Children's Aid Society have been provided by the Kiwanis.

Besides these forms of helping children the Kiwanis Club has played the role of Santa Claus to fatherless homes, provided wheel-chairs and corrective shoes for children, and has given medical assistance through doctors in many cases.

Considerable work is done by the Kiwanis in supporting the sports for youth in the city. The club has backed hockey and baseball teams as well as providing track and field meets. At Hamilton Park a modern wading pool and recreational facilities have been provided.

Right Wing Challenges Strength Of Leftists

WASHINGTON, Nov 16 (AP) — The CIO's new electrical union Tuesday petitioned the National Labor Relations Board for collective bargaining elections at all major electrical manufacuring firms in the United States.

It was a direct challenge for a test of strength with the left-wing United Electrical Workers Union which was tossed out of the C. I. O. at the labor organization's recent convention.

Westinghouse Electric Corporation already had asked the government to step in and straighten out confusion from the right-and-left-wing squabbles among its 70,000 workers.

A burned out transformer caused hydro-power cut-offs in one part of the city early today. The affected area included parts of Hunter, Brock, Donegal and Park Sts. Many of the residents in that locality ate their breakfasts by candlelight. The transformer burned out shortly before 7 a.m. and the power was off until about 8.30 a.m.

Keep 2 From U.S. As Hostages

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 16 (AP)—North Korean Communists indicated today two Americans they seized with an American ship last September are being held as hostages to force United States recognition of Red North Korea.

A radio broadcast from Pyongyang North Korean capital, reported the safety of Capt. Alfred T. Meschter and chief engineer Albert E. Willis, advisers to the South Korean crew of the cargo ship Kimball R. Smith.

Then the broadcast, in the form of a press interview with North Korean Home Affairs Minister Pak Il Woo, quoted him as saying:

"In event that the American government raises the question, the two Americans may be handed over to representatives appointed by the American government under provisions of the latest international law."

The U. S., which does not recognize the North Korean regime, had made two requests to Russia for aid in locating the two Americans. Andrei Gromyko, acting Soviet Foreign Minister, replied Oct. 14 it was a matter for the North Korean government, which the Russians recognize.

16 Centres Ask For Assistance In Sewer Plans

TORONTO, Nov. 16—(CP) — Sixteen Ontario municipalities are applying for assistance in financing sewers and waterworks projects valued altogether at more than $2,500,000.

The applications go first to the Ontario Municipal Board, which decides whether the size and cost of each project is reasonable in relation to the municipality's ability to pay for it.

Discussing the applications in an interview Tuesday, Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar said that when the Board approves an application the province then moves to buy up the debentures that are issued to obtain the necessary monies to do the work. The financing is done by a Crown Corporation, which will have $50,000,000 to work with.

The province has already taken up a $135,000 debenture issue of Mattawa's in order that the town could proceed with the construction of a waterworks and sewage disposal system. Because the government pays the full dollar value of the issue and charges less than four per cent interest rate prevailing on the open market, it has been estimated Mattawa would save $12,000 in its financing venture.

Other municipalities which have applied include Norwood, $100,000 for water works; Port Credit, $400,000, sewers and waterworks; Tweed, $75,000 for waterworks; Cannington, $120,000 for waterworks; Acton, $350,000 for sewers; Goderich, $5,000 for sewers; New Liskeard, $150,0000 for waterworks; Scarboro township, $450,000 for sewers and waterworks; Cornwall, $25,000 for waterworks; Morrisburg, $1,200 for waterworks; Oshawa, $210,000 for waterworks; Milton $300,000 for sewers; Sandwich East township, $6,000 for waterworks, and and Beamsville, $185,000 for sewers.

Raybestos UE Approve Company Offer

Though still contending it was inadequate, about 80 Raybestos workers, members of Local 527 UE, Tuesday night approved a company offer of a 5-cent package settlement for their 1949 contract negotiations.

The recommendation was made by the Negotiating Committee. Earlier in the day it was announced that a verbal agreement between the two parties had been reached.

A 4-cent-per-hour general wage increase, plus a 1-cent-an-hour grant for an improvement in the sickness, accident and hospitalization scheme now in effect, was the company offer.

The settlement is effective on November 15, and will run for a year.

John Whalen, chief steward, and a member of the negotiating committee, tied up the decision to accept the company offer with the present battle beween right and left wings in the electrical industry.

"The amount offered by the company was quite inadequate," he said, "but in view of the division and confusion created in the ranks of labor by certain so-called right-wing elements within the CCL, and because the Raybestos Company showed every sign of wanting to provoke a strike at this time, the only wise course was acceptance."

Mr. Whalen contended that the pressure of the union had caused the company to improve on the Conciliation Board recommendation. The Board advocated no wage increase.

Included in the preamble to the resolution of acceptance was a sweeping condemnation of the right-wing leadership among the CGE workers.

Pearson Lashes

2. It is to be hoped that the United States Congress will tackle the St. Lawrence seaway project legislation "without too much more delay."

3. No one can be "unduly optimistic" about the future as long as east and west "face each other in fear, misunderstanding and distrust."

4. Canada will urge that the economic pledges in the North Atlantic Pact be carried out "as quickly as possible."

5. Canada should be in on any treaty of peace with Japan and her government feels there may be greater danger in postponed attempts to draft the treaty than in making another attempt to draft one.

No Moral Approval

6. Recognition of China's Communists as the legal government will depend chiefly on whether they form an independent government accepted by the Chinese people. If it came it would not mean "moral approval" by Canada of the doctrines of that government.

7. In the midst of numerous references to the U.S., he said Washington must recognize Canada's desire to make her own contribution to world peace and development and not to be merely "a camp follower" but a "co-operative partner." He did not wish to imply that that desire was being ignored but it might be if it weren't kept in mind.

Mr. Pearson hailed failure of Communist strikes in France, Italy and Finland as "all to the good" and advised Canadians not to be impatient about progress towards European unity. Fear of war and economic uncertainties were the great barriers.

Live In Terror

Mr. Pearson said innocent and guilty alike in Russia lived in constant terror of detention and persecution. Even the minds of the humble "must be harshly disciplined to the narrow groove from which no one can deviate . . .

But Eastern Europe's flame of liberty was strong enough to withstand the siege. It still burnt but it was obscured and only in the west was it bright because Russia could not reach it.

Turning to the U.N., Mr. Pearson admitted that it has failed to solve the major problems of east-west relations, of atomic control, of disarmament but it had been strengthened. Its activities had reduced world tension and started something on which "we can build—and we must keep building."

Strong Economically

Mr. Pearson said "North Atlantic countries cannot be strong militarily unless they are strong economically."

"We have taken the first steps to make us militarily strong. Now we must take as many steps as possible as quickly as possible for the widest economic co-operation.

"It is a task that will call for all our reserve of intelligence, good will and imagination."

His statement about the seaway was pointed straight at Washington. He said the seaway project could swing into action quickly once Congress acts.

He stressed its economic and military importance and expressed "the hope that Congress will be in a position to deal with it shortly."

Completion of the power and navigation project would have "great strategic importance" because it would simplify the problem of buttressing Europe in any emergency and it would ensure the peaceful development of the Labrador iron-ore deposits.

Mr. Pearson praised the harmony of Canadian-American relations but said the U. S. "must realize that Canada wishes to play her own part, to make her own contribution and she can only do it as a co-operative partner and not as a camp follower."

He said he did not wish to infer that those wishes now were being ignored by Washington but he raised the subject "because if we don't keep them in mind they might be."

Housing Debate Criticism Constructive

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP)—An air of almost sweet reason—with occasional lapses — pervaded parliament Tuesday as the Commons wound through nearly seven hours of debate on housing.

Criticism, for the most part lacking fire, was almost wholly constructive in discussions initiated and concluded by Reconstruction Minister Winters.

The Commons found it unnecessary to register a formal vote in approving the principle of the government's new housing legislation.

About the strongest criticism voiced by the opposition was the length of time it had taken the government to launch the legislation.

Aside from that, most members on the opposition side devoted addresses to suggesting additional points which they thought should be included in the bill.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, thought the government's 4½ per cent interest rate on loans under the housing program was too high. He didn't say how much he thought it should be reduced except to point to the 3½-per-cent rate offered under the Ontario plan for reduced down payments on new homes.

Urges New Methods

Mr. Drew also urged the government to give more attention to encouraging new construction methods with the view to reducing overall housing costs. Mass-produced prefabrication was one method he mentioned.

J. W. Noseworth (CCF—York South) attempted at one stage to direct the debate into the field of rent control.

However, Speaker Ross Macdonald ruled out of order his amendment which would have delayed approval of the housing bill until the government rescinded recent orders for rent increases of 18 and 22 per cent on unheated and heated dwellings, respectively.

The general attitude in the Commons appeared to be that the legislation introduced by Mr. Winters contains the machinery to tackle the housing problem in a big way.

Changes His Mind Admits Being Guilty

Changing his plea of not guilty to guilty, Max Vincent was fined $25, and costs, on a charge of being a found-in in a common gaming house October 15, by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in Police Court today.

Kenneth Griffin, 198 Lake Street, was fined $10, and costs, after pleading guilty to a charge of having liquor in a place other than his residence October 30. A second charge of having liquor not obtained on his permit was dismissed when the Crown offered no evidence.
